A distinctively fashionable and distinguished gathering of people crowded the First Presbyterian church Wednesday evening to witness the ceremony uniting in the holy bonds of matrimony, Dr. Charles Frank Ladd and Miss Minnie Belle Latta. The ceremony was announced to occur at half past six o'clock; but ere this hour arrived the large auditorium was overflowing with the youth, beauty and intelligence of the city; and the young people were but a part of the great throng.

The fair bride coming to Lincoln in childhood's days, has passed the greater part of her life here, and growing up to young womanhood has endeared herself to old and young alike, of all classes, by her charming ways and obliging disposition, her many and varied attainments causing her to be much sought after and necessitating a considerable sacrifice of time on her part, complying with sweet amiability to the many demands made upon her she has deserved and won the genuine gratitude and highest regard of all.

Hence it was that those who know her as a winsome girl, vied with each other in paying honor to her presence to the beautiful bride. Her young associates, too, in whose regard and affection she has ever held first place, evinced special pleasure at the good fortune of their friend, their familiar faces heightening appreciably the color and beauty of the beautiful scene which the interior of the edifice presented.

The ladies of the congregation unknown to anyone but themselves had bestowed decorations lavishly and with striking taste, the organ and pulpit platform being hidden from view by masses of foliage and chrysanthemums.

Guests were seated by Mr. Frank C. Zebrung, Mr. Frank S. Burr, Mr. John T. Dorgan, Mr. W. E. Clarke, Mr. George N. Foreman, and Mr. W. E. Hardy.

At 6:30 o'clock as the tuncful and inspiring strains of Lohengrin's wedding march filled the church in response to Mrs. Bagnall's delicate touch, the bridal party entered. First came the ushers named above, then came Misses Rose Foster and Florence Putnam strewing flowers in the path of the bride who followed.

Miss Latta, always beautiful, was a vision of loveliness indeed. She was attired in white falls silk adorned with white chiffon lace. She wore a veil, and as she moved gracefully down the left aisle, her queenly bearing and charming demeanor drew forth a universal exclamation of admiration.

The groom and best man, Mr. H. S. Freeman, emerged from the study on the right and met the bridal party in front of the altar, where at this moment the officiating clergyman, Dr. E. H. Curtis and Dr. W. S. Latta, the father of the bride appeared. The ushers were arranged on either side. Dr. Curtis used the Episcopal marriage service with an introduction and ending improvised by himself. Subdued melody emanated from the organ while the words were being pronounced and the ceremony was rendered, if possible, with more than the usual impressiveness.

The party retired through the right aisle, Dr. Ladd and his bride leading. Dr. C. F. Ladd, while his residence in this city has been comparatively limited, has in the few years which he has passed here, received the distinguished social recognition which his graceful accomplishments have merited.

Like his fair bride he is blessed with all those qualities which go to make a genial companion and no young gentleman in Lincoln is more generally liked and esteemed. He is a member of the leading social organizations and is well and favorably known throughout the city. In his chosen profession he has won marked distinction and is numbered among the brightest and ablest of his professional associates.

His high social position and business standing have given him special prominence and it is a pleasure to record that both he and his bride deserve equal congratulations, for never was there a couple so manifestly suited each for the other. In personal appearance the groom is manly and dignified and as they passed out of the church at the close of the ceremony, the newly-mated pair made an unusually handsome and striking appearance. The ceremony was followed by a brilliant reception at the residence of the brides parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Latta, 1128 L street, attended by nearly 300 guests. The house was tastefully decorated and the dwelling was thronged with people until after nine o'clock when, attended by a number of friends, Dr. and Mrs. Ladd left for the Missouri Pacific depot where they took the train for St. Louis, from which place they go to Whitehall, Ill., the old home of the groom. They will return to Lincoln in about ten days and after December first will be at home at Twenty-second and Washington streets.

The high esteem in which bride and groom are held was evident in the array of wedding gifts which were very numerous and costly. Such a collection has never before been seen in this city. At 8:30 the medical students of Cotner university of which Dr. Latta is dean, appeared and serenaded the bridal couple. Besides Governor and Mrs. Thayer and many prominent Lincoln people, the following from out of town were at the reception: Mr. Clarence E. Brown, of Omaha; Misses Minnie and George Hawke, of Nebraska City; Mrs. Will Rector, of Nebraska City; Mr. W. Farnham Smith, of Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Aikenberry, Miss Maunata Aikenberry and Mrs. A. W. White of Plattsmouth; Mrs. George Henton, of York; Mrs. Will Sapp, of Council Bluffs.

The first Pleasant Hour party of the season was held at Lincoln hotel Thursday evening and although the attendance was not as large as on some previous occasions the enjoyment realized was fully equal that of any party ever given in Lincoln. On this occasion many new and elaborate costumes made their first appearance and the scene presented was one of more than usual beauty and brilliancy. The participants were: Misses Louisa Shears, Carson, Fannie Smith, Katie Miller, Anna Funke, Gertrude Law, Georgie and Minnie Hawke of Nebraska City, Margaret Baird, Maud Miller, Martha Funke, Alice Cowdry, Dena Loomis, Maud Burr, Fay Marshall, Nellie Kelly, Rachael Brock, Fannie Hawley, Jeannette Wilson, Lulu Clark, Bertie Clark, Maude Smith, Hallie Hooper, Olive Latta; Messrs. Charles Burr, W. E. Hardy, Frank Hathaway, Clarence Brown of Omaha, Harry Knatt of Omaha, Will Clarke, Harry Krug, George Foreman of Omaha, F. C. Zebrung, H. S. Freeman, Oscar Funke, W. Morton Smith, Charles Hall, Martin Aitken, John Dorgan, C. R. Ricoter, Fred Howe, Charles Magoon, Fred Sholes, Robert Joyce, Will Hammond, Edward Fitzgerald, E. J. Fitzgerald, Frank Burr, Dr. Reeves and Lieutenant Pershing; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Buckstaff, Mr. and Mrs. K. K. Hayden, Mrs. Branfield of Barnsville, Ohio, Mrs. Rector of Nebraska City and Mr. C. E. Loomis.

Lincoln Lodge No. 377, I. O. B. E. gave a very successful hop at the new Turner hall Monday evening in celebration of the third anniversary of the lodge and there were about fifty couples in attendance. The hall was beautifully decorated and the music was excellently furnished by the Philharmonic orchestra, assisted by Miss Willoughby. Refreshments were served in the hall and the occasion throughout was a most enjoyable one. Following is a list of those present: Messrs and Mesdames L. Liberman, M. Kohn, M. Meyer, M. A. Newmark, L. Meyer, I. Friend, H. Ehrlich of St. Joseph, I. Oppenheimer, M. Oppenheimer, I. Brucks, L. Wessel Jr., Sam Wessel, J. Behner, L. Berkson, L. Heliwig, J. Shenberg, T. Wile, H. Goldsmith, S. Polwoisky, Misses Pauline Goldsmith, Ida Friend, Ida Gimason, Otten Friend, Pauline Friend, Amanda Kohn, Rosa Kohn, Sallie Berkson, Messrs Henry Mayer, E. Hecht, J. Oppenheimer, A. Eisner, C. W. Gunnison, E. M. Friend, Sam Rich, Louis Hase, Geo. Viola, Leo Guggenheimer, Willie Meyer, Meyer Barr, A. B. Spiesberger, Louis Cohn.

A reception was tendered Rev. and Mrs. John Hewitt Monday evening by, senior warden, Mr. J. H. Walsh, the vestry of the Holy Trinity parish at the residence of Mrs. Amanda Putnam, 501 south Twelfth street and was attended by fully five hundred people. Mr. Putnam, Mr. H. J. Walsh, Rev. and Mrs. P. H. Oakley presented the guests. Rev. Dean Gardner of Omaha delivered a brief address to the couple in which Mr. H. J. Walsh presented a beautiful case of silver given by the parish. Dr. M. H. Gardner presented a crown and cross in behalf of the Mount Moriah commandery. Rev. and Mrs. Hewitt were the recipients of numerous other costly presents and responded to the presentation speeches in a very happy manner.

Following from the New York Tribune of Thursday of last week will be of interest to the many friends of the groom: FOLSOM-MILLER-AT Nyack-on-Hudson, Wednesday, October 21, 1891, by the groom's father, Rev. Arthur Folsom, Anna, daughter of Dr. E. H. Miller, to Morris W. Folsom, of Lincoln, Neb.

Mr. and Mrs. Folsom arrived in the city Tuesday and were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Elder in East Lincoln for a few days but are now at home at 1225 K street. Mrs. Folsom is a lady of rare charms and many womanly accomplishments and will receive a warm welcome to the new home of her adoption.

Commenting on a recent musical fete given in Denver the Times gives the following complimentary notice to a lady well and popularly known in this city. "Mrs. Kate B. Cheney who sang so charmingly at the Broadway theatre Saturday evening has lately resided in Denver. She is the possessor of a pure, sympathetic and finely cultivated voice, and is a great addition to the musical circles of the city."

Mrs. Cheney is a sister of Mrs. Thomas Sewell where she has been visiting during the past summer. The lady's many friends in Lincoln will be pleased to learn of her success.

The East Lincoln Whist club was delightfully entertained Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. G. Roberts, 2926 Q street. The guests present: Mesdames Sawyer, Stevens, Charles Pace, Smith, Brown, Hale, W. B. Humphrey, Roberts, Holyoke, Beim, Tuttle, I. W. Lansing, Royer, L. C. Pace, Travis. At 5:30 an elegant luncheon was served after which the club adjourned to meet next Wednesday at 2 p. m. with Mrs. W. B. Humphrey at 2811 Q street.

A farewell reception was tendered Mrs. Jessie Welch Tuesday evening, it being the eve of her departure for New York. A large company of friends were royally entertained by the charming and efficient hostess, Miss Minnie LeGrand. The music for the occasion was delightful and was under the direction of Prof. J. Breese. High five was the leading feature of the evenings entertainment and their royal prizes fell respectively to Mrs. Weich and Mrs. Robert Kizer.

Wednesday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, Washington, Iowa, Mr. James Miller of this city, was married to Miss Ella Brindley, by Rev. Wing, directly after which the happy couple left for this city, and are now at home at 1601 B street. The bride is not a stranger in Lincoln, having visited here several times as the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. R. Cambridge, and her return is a source of much pleasure to her many friends.

The ceremony uniting in marriage Mr. Charles Kimmel and Miss Adah H. Vivyan took place Wednesday evening promptly at eight o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents, Twenty-ninth and N streets, and was performed by Rev. F. S. Stein under a beautiful marriage bell. Mr. and Mrs. Kimmel will make Lincoln their future home and number a host of friends in this city who wish them happiness and success.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Well, late of Clyde, Kas., are now at home at 1228 H street. Mr. Well some time ago purchased an interest in the Lincoln Paint and Color company, where he may now be found taking an active part in the management of that thriving manufacturing and jobbing industry. Mr. and Mrs. Well speak well of their newly adopted home where they have received a generous welcome.

The programs used at the opening party of the Pleasant Hour club were decidedly a novelty and a very pretty one too. It was neat and compact and very conveniently arranged for handling. Master of ceremonies, Frank Zebrung made the selection from the attractive line of new dance lists that were received only a few weeks ago at the COURIER office.

A reception was given by the members of the lodge K. of P. Tuesday evening at Castle hall in honor of Mrs. A. Young of Concord, N. H., supreme chancellor of the Pythian sisterhood. There was a large number in attendance and the evening passed very pleasantly with addresses from Grand Chancellor, W. S. Hamilton and others.

Hallett now has a beauty in a Lincoln souvenir spoon and one that bids fair to take rank with the finest specimens of work in that line. It shows the capital building in the bowl of the spoon and in such manner as to give an excellent view of a big part of the prominent structure. The engraving and raised work is artistically executed and shows much skill and careful attention to each detail. It is a beautiful souvenir and a most creditable representation of Nebraska's beautiful capital city. This spoon and design is the exclusive property of Eugene Hallett and he will accordingly retain the sole right to sell them at his own popular place of business. If you haven't seen this spoon, its time you were wending your way towards Hallett's.
