WOMAN

is the pivot upon which Trade Turns.

A number of years ago I suggested to one of my clients that he place an advertisement for goods used exclusively by men in a paper supposed to be read exclusively by women.

The COURIER is the favorite journal among the ladies of Lincoln and adjacent country.

Remember that the best route to Chicago from Lincoln (through Omaha) is via the "Rock Island."

Have a newer and better Sleeper, handsome Day Coaches, best Reclining Chair Cars, and the train is new and the handiwork that runs from Lincoln to Chicago (via Omaha).

IS IT A SAFE REMEDY?

A CORRESPONDENT QUESTIONS THE BICHLORIDE OF GOLD CURE.

How the Secret Formula Originated. What It is Composed Of—Disastrous Effects Alleged in Some Cases—Discouraging Evidence.

[Special Correspondence.] New York, May 12.—It is with no intention of disparaging the testimony of enthusiastic graduates of the "gold cure," that I propose to tell the result of my own investigation.

But it is pertinent and really necessary to look further into the matter before deciding on the testimony of one, or one thousand, or ten thousand persons who believe that they have derived benefit from it.

Doctors, however, have been unable until recently to even study these cases because the gold cure refused to tell what he was using.

What is it? Well, it would be a foolish thing for any man to publish to the world the exact formula of a medicine that is capable of doing much harm.

Some thirteen years ago Dobronravoff, a Russian physician of great eminence and the head of the Russian military medical service, was instructed by his government to study the subject of drunkenness.

What baby would look so sweet and altogether lovely if its delicate lace and filmy dresses were replaced by a man's dress coat?

have talked with these doctors and with their patients. The doctors declare that the insanity which they find in some of their patients, and which they fear in other cases, is a direct result of the introduction of atropine into their systems.

Certain patients like Mr. Mason, of Nebraska, extol the treatment and its effects. Certain others, like a prominent New York newspaper man who went west to be cured of the cigarette habit, and who had the same mixture pumped into him, have been forced to stop because they feared for their reason.

Our Fashion Letter. Olive Harper Describes Some New and Dainty Ball Dresses.

New York, May 12.—The beauty of woman's dress depends upon its daintiness and those deft little touches of ribbon and lace, of feather and flower, of embroidery and ornament, and it is on those trifles—trifles in themselves, but important factors taken as a whole—that women must depend for their greatest attractiveness.

And then she slips out with Jack or Fred or some one else to look at the stars and hear the dear old story that each girl somehow believes has never been told before.

PRETTY BALL ATTIRE.

A DRUMMER'S DIPLOMACY.

How He Got Even at the Expense of the Others.

He was a traveling salesman, and was telling his fellow employees about the trouble at the club.

"I think he will be admitted to withdraw," he said.

"Certainly. There's the cash. Now cover it and bring on your side," the bystanders grinned.

The drummer's words and the sight of the roll of bills he flashed overcame all scruples.

"Well, I'll be hanged!" groaned the chorus. "I never heard that before."

In one of the loveliest counties of old Virginia there still stands a stately mansion that was in days gone by the show place of all that section.

Every morning an army of nimble kneed young negroes fell upon these floors and rubbed and polished until each board fairly shone and glistened with the amber wax.

"No, 'm. Can't do housework. Dar wa' Jinny an Becky an Sa' Jane an Liz an Rose an Dinah an Salomy an Nancy to do housework."

"Well, maybe you could do laundry work?" "No, 'm, don't know nuffin 'bout washin nor ir'in. Karline an Matildy an Sooky an Hen'etta an Lydia did do washin an de ir'in."

"There," said the dentist, with an air of satisfaction, as he laid aside his instruments, "that didn't hurt you much, did it?"

"Quick nothing," growled the patient. "Who's that driveling essence of idioy in the next room?"

"The man who plays the cornet?" "The man who tries to play the cornet."

"What of that?" "Oh, when he's blue he makes noises that would make one resigned if he were to be burned at the stake. It's cheaper and more effective than anesthetics."

He—There isn't enough on this breakfast table to feed a canary bird.
