

WOMAN

is the pivot upon which Trade Turns.

A number of years ago I suggested to one of my clients that he place an advertisement for goods used exclusively by men in a paper supposed to be read exclusively by women.

The Courier is the favorite journal among the ladies of Lincoln and adjacent country. Plant your advertisement in its columns and reap best results.

PHOTOGRAPHER Has at great expense replaced his old instruments with a new Hallemeyer, direct from London, and is now better prepared than ever to do fine work, from a pocket up to life size.

WOMAN AND HOME.

THE WAY TO DISINFECT IN TIMES OF CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

Interview with a Designer—Pin Money on the Farm—The Mistress of the White House—A Woman's Wonderful Work—Loyalty in the Home Circle.

A well known physician gives the following directions for disinfecting clothing and bedding used in contagious diseases: Soak the garments two hours in a solution made from four ounces of sulphate of zinc, with two ounces of common salt to every gallon of water.

All brooms and clothes used in sweeping and dusting should also be disinfected before they are taken to other parts of the house, and dresses and clothing worn by those having charge of the sick person should be changed before joining the family.

In disinfecting a room, after the bedding has been put in the solution given and well washed, and the tinware and crockery thoroughly cleansed, the doors and windows are thoroughly closed, the cracks are filled with cotton and sulphur is burned.

When the sulphur begins to throw off its fumes, go out of the room and fill up any crevice about the door with cotton. In twenty-four hours an outside window may be opened. The floors and walls are then to be washed with a disinfectant, and the furniture cleaned and polished.

Interview with a Designer. One of the successful dress designers of the city is a woman not yet thirty. She was telling me some days ago how her work is done.

Then I go home and make a wash drawing. It may not embody anything I have seen, or it may take hints from twenty different costumes. To be fit for use as a pattern supplement it must be original, it must be up with the times, but not too far ahead of prevailing ideas, and it must be practical; that is, it must be such that an ordinary dressmaker or a woman with a knack for cutting her own gowns can reproduce it without too much trouble.

The Question of Pin Money on a Farm. "I never have five cents even for postage stamps without asking for it." The speaker was a young wife, who in her girlhood earned regular wages as a seamstress, and when married found her financial position changed.

A Woman Who Has Proved Her Honesty. One of the first women who were assigned work in the treasury building was a colored woman, Sophie Holmes by name.

What Color to Wear. An artist's rule as to color is: Choose carefully only those tints of which a duplicate may be found in the hair, the eyes or the complexion.

ordinary times the White House is the center of a social life which fixes popular attention. The movements there are matters of the widest public interest, and many of them are of such character that the people in general feel as if they were themselves participants.

With all its temptation to ostentatiousness and gaudy display and personal exclusiveness, it has always been maintained apart from these. The wives of the presidents, like the presidents themselves, have come from the people and have taken the simplicity of their social life from the country into this most conspicuous social position as the lady of the White House.

A Woman's Wonderful Work. There is no more interesting story in the history of modern science than that of the career of Miss Marianne North, who devoted her life to the painting of pictures of plants and animals, and whose autobiography bears the suggestive title, "Recollections of a Happy Life."

Soft Water for the Face. An authority warns women who would preserve or enhance the beauty of their complexions—and what woman would not—to use rain water, if possible, to wash their faces in.

Medicine for the Hair. To brush and brush and still to brush is the best medicine for the hair, remembering always that it is the hair and not the scalp which is to receive this treatment.

Daughter of an Emperor. Princess Margarethe Beatrice, youngest daughter of the late emperor of Germany, is tall and strong, with a mass of fair hair, very pale eyes and very prominent lips.

Egg Improves Whipped Cream. Before whipping cream for the top of chocolate or coffee it is better to add the white of an egg and a tablespoonful of powdered sugar.

Tin Wedding Gifts. The favors at a recent uptown tin wedding were rather unique. Each of the twenty lady guests received a tin jelly pan on the reverse side of which the host, who is a talented amateur artist, had painted in a delicate landscape or marine view.

Nip and Tuck. Strawber—Do you expect to be married in a dress suit? Singly—if I can get home from the office first. My roommate is going to be married the same night.—New York Herald.

A Great Deal. Rob—is there anything your father doesn't know? Sam—Yes; he doesn't know where I hid his slippers last night.—Harper's Young People.

Fair Exchange. She—I am going to wear suspenders this summer. He—I am going to take mine off. Lend me your belt.—Philadelphia Record.

Evangeline. We sat in the swing in the twilight And talked of the beautiful to be, And the words that I murmured and whispered.

Modern belles may get a suggestion from a statement recently encountered that the Eighteenth century ladies carried a lemon in the left hand, setting their teeth in it from time to time to redden the lips.

One of the most effectual injections for constipation in young children is equal parts of glycerin and water. It is harmless and healing.

Lady Jenne estimates that there are 1,833,400 domestic servants in England, of whom 1,350,000 are women.

gray eyes and a thin, neutral tinted complexion is never more becomingly dressed than in the blue shades in which gray is mixed, for in these complexions there is a certain delicate blueness.

Women who have rather florid complexions look well in various shades of plum and heliotrope, also in certain shades of dove gray, for to a trained eye this color has a tinge of pink which harmonizes with the flesh of the face.

Japan women lead vessels. Warsaw has women car conductors. There are 4,500 women printers in England.

Phoebe Cousins acted as sheriff of St. Louis after her father's death. Queen Marguerite of Italy claims to have the sandals worn by the Emperor Nero.

Miss Pullman receives a salary of $1,000 a year from her father for naming Pullman cars.

There are some delicate skins, however, to which the grit and dust of travel prove irritants. Such may use a little cold cream well rubbed in and afterward gently wiped off with a piece of fine linen.

The Train Did Not Wait. When the Peoria and Eastern train pulled in last night at 7 o'clock, a man, woman and child hurriedly alighted and ran along the platform.

"What? Gone?" "Yes, sir." "That's strange." "Not very. That's the time for it to depart."
