ABOUT-PEOPLE..

A quiet but beautiful wedding ceremony was solemnized Saturday evening at the home of Col. and Mrs. L. C. Pace in East Lincoln, the contracting parties being their daughter, Miss Lewis Clarke, and Mr. Mark W. Woods, both residents of this city for many years. The wedding which was to have been a leading social event, was changed to a quiet unostentatious affair owing to the death of a brother of the bride. The floral decorations and wedding supper were dispensed with and it was generally understood by the invited guests that invitations were cancelled. Therefore the ceremony, which was delivered by an old friend of the bride's family, Rev. J. W. Alderman of Atchison, was listened to by but a few relatives and most intimate friends. A wedding trip which had also been planned was postponed and the happily mated couple have settled down to the realities of marital bliss in their beautiful new home at Twenty-sixth and L streets, the ground being a present from the bride's father. The list of tokens was large and embraces a line of beautiful articles, many of them being quite valuable and very useful. The bride is well known in Lincoln society, being one of its most attractive and handsomest brunettes, and an accomplished daughter of a highly respected and popular family. The groom is a genial companionable young business man, a son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Woods, and a member of the Woods Investment company. He is a shrewd business man and is popular with a large circle of friends. Rev. Lewis Gregory received a cordial welcoming reception at the church edifice Tuesday evening, which was in the form of a surprise. A large number of the members congregated at the church, after which a committee was sent to escort the popular pastor to his flock. It was a delightful affair throughout and it would be difficult to say who enjoyed it most, host or guest. Mrs. W. O. Jones rendered a beautiful piano selection, after which Mrs. A. W. Scott spoke, briefly welcoming their guest to his home and the place where he is so well thought of. Mr. Gregory's reply was pithy and listened to with unabating interest, and after Mr. C. W. Raymond sang a pretty vocal number the party sat down to enjoy a delicious repast which was under charge of Mr. Al. Haygroves, which fact in itself tells just how good everything must have been. Mr. W. J. Bell had charge of things generally, and the occasion was certainly a credit to him. One of the pleasantest events of this week was the wedding which took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Luke, 1305 O street, Wednesday evening, on which occasion their daughter, Alma E., was united in marriage with Mr. John M. Tompson. At eight o'clock, after a large number of friends had arrived, the happy couple proceeded to the parlor where Rev. H. B. Wansmaker of East Lincoln in an impressive ceremony made them man and wife. Numerous hearty congratulations were offered, after which an elegant wedding supper was served. Many useful and valuable presents were received. The bride is a well known Lincoln lady and is fully capable of being a worthy helpmate to her companion for life. The groom is a popular professional man, being connected with the State Journal's editorial staff. He has won the respect and esteem of a host of people who wish the happy couple every joy in the future that lies before them. Miss Cora Outcalt and Miss Brunson invited a few friends Saturday evening to meet their guest, Miss Nellie Post of Columbus, Neb. Among those present were Misses Nellie Post, Anna Funke, Clara Richardson, Messrs. Charles Burr, Oscar Funke, Sam Low and Harry Reese. Miss Post returned to Columbus Monday evening. Mrs. Lou Kennard Riggs' new art studio in the Kenard block, 328 South Eleventh street, will be formally opened today with a grand reception. A large number of invitations have been issued and each guest will be expected to call at the hour specified on their card. Mr. Morand has issued a number of invitations for an evening party next Tuesday at his new dancing academy in the Lansing Theatre building. The exercises will include a happy co-mingling of a promenade concert and dancing. Irvine's new orchestra will furnish the music. Miss Katherine V. Morrissey has returned after spending three years at the Cornell University, and accepted the position as principal of the C street school. She has many friends in the city who will be glad to see her again. Mr. Fred Rutherford, assistant ticket agent in the C. R. L. & P. city office, left for St. Paul Monday where he goes to assume the duties of travelling passenger agent of the Minneapolis and St. Louis railway. Rev. Coolbaugh has arrived from New Hampshire to take charge of the Episcopal school in North Lincoln. He preached a very impressive sermon at Holy Trinity church Sunday morning. Mr. Dick Berlin of Omaha, now in the scavenger business, was a Lincoln visitor Tuesday evening to contract with the city to take care of its scavenger work, but met with only limited success. Mrs. M. Spiesberger of Keokuk reached Lincoln Tuesday morning to see her first grand child, which arrived at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. M. Cohn, Tuesday night. Mr. Harry G. Bartruff returned to Lincoln this week after an absence of about two years. He now resides in Chicago and his old friends here are glad to see him home again. Worthington academy, the new Episcopal school for boys located north of the city, was opened Tuesday for the reception of boarding pupils. The formal opening occurred Thursday. Miss S. G. King and Mrs. O. Wilkenson returned to Princeton, Ill., today, after having visited two weeks in Lincoln as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. King, 2754 Apple street. Miss Bessie Hall, who has been entertained for several days by Miss Ledia Shover at the Lincoln, returned home to Omaha Monday. Miss Ethel Harding of Kansas City is here to attend the State University. She is stopping with her aunt, Mrs. M. H. Everett. Dr. J. O. Everett and family of Grant, Nebr., have moved to Lincoln to be in readiness for the opening of the Sauterian. Mrs. McMillan completed her visit with Mr. and Mrs. John Carson at the Lincoln Monday and has returned to Ogden. Miss Carrie C. Powers, after a pleasant visit with Lincoln friends, returned to Omaha yesterday. Miss Gertrude Laws, after a month's visit in Salt Lake City, is at home again. Misses Lena Dewees and Pearl Camp spent Tuesday in Omaha.

The palatial residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hammond Seventeenth and H Streets was thrown open to their many friends Wednesday evening the occasion being a piano recital by their daughter, Miss Maude, assisted by Miss Nannie Lillibridge, contralto, and Mrs. A. H. Owen Jones, accompanist. Miss Hammond has a remarkable clearness of touch and expression that compels the admiration of all. The wonderful accuracy and precision with which she executed the difficult Beethoven sonata shows clearly that she is a genius. For several years past Miss Hammond has been a pupil Mrs. W. O. Jones, to whom much of the success of the musical is due. Miss Lillibridge sang in her usual sweet manner which is so pleasing to Lincoln people. The audience was large and appreciative as was shown by their hearty encores. Miss Hammond wore pink silk with pink roses. Miss Lillibridge white silk with diamond ornaments. Mrs. Jones was charming in lemon colored silk. Mr. C. C. Burr returned Thursday from New York, leaving Mrs. Burr and Miss Bertie at the metropolis to continue enjoying themselves before returning. They will however start for home the latter part of next week accompanied by Mrs. Frank Sheldon. Mr. Sheldon will also visit Lincoln about the middle of October. Miss Gertrude Abbott having graduated from the Nebraska conservatory of music, left Tuesday for Owatonna, Minn. for a short visit with friends after which she goes to Chicago to further perfect herself in piano instruction. A letter received in Lincoln the other day states that Mr. S. H. Brown, formerly in the Burlington train dispatcher's office here, has accepted the position of head train dispatcher of the K. C. W. & N. W. railway at Kansas City. A party of three including General Cobb, Mrs. Amasa Cobb and Mrs. J. D. Macfarland, have gone to New York to meet Mr. J. D. Macfarland and Mr. G. M. Lamberton when they arrive from Europe. Mr. Frank Almy, late of the Alma & Big low Electrical Supply company of this city, was married to Miss Eva L. McReynolds at the bride's home near Ashland Tuesday. Col. W. W. Wilson, Lincoln's most extensive foreign traveler, has returned from another European trip just in time to escape quarantine at New York. Mrs. H. H. Wheeler after spending the summer with relatives in South Butler and other points in New York state, is again at home at 1517 H street. Misses Helen and Grace Burr left last week for Baltimore where they go to enter the Notre Dame of Maryland for a year's course of studies. Burlington beach trains on the B & M. have been discontinued for the season and will only be run hereafter on specially stated occasions. Miss Nellie Post after a pleasant visit with Miss Nettie Brunson and Miss Cora Outcalt, has returned to her home in Columbus. Mr. A. D. Benway, cashier Rudge and Morris Co., left Thursday for Rock Island and partakes on a trip of business. Omaha Excelsior: Miss Seligson of Lincoln is visiting relatives at 510 South Twenty-second street. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Babcock are tenderly housing a brand new daughter which arrived Tuesday. Edward Wesel visited his brother Lou last Sunday and returned Monday to Omaha. Mr. W. Devereaux returned to his home in Victoria, B. C., Monday. Mrs. Kate B. Cheney, teacher of singing, room 505, Brace block. Mr. A. D. Kitchen and family have returned from Colorado. Mr. Abrai Cook left last evening for Washington, D. C. Mr. G. W. Barnes left Monday for a bear hunt in Wyoming. Mrs. G. Adler of Seward visited Lincoln relatives Tuesday. Mrs. J. C. Davis is visiting with friends in Chicago. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. He drew the line. He played the races all day long With never falling zeal. And in the noble game of draw Much skill did he reveal. But when his wife entreated him, In voice both high and low, To view the new church festival, He said he would not go. -Clothier and Furnisher. What She Doesn't Do. She wears a yachting suit of white, And garbed in this, like Neptune's daughter, She talks of "yacht" from morn till night, But doesn't go too near the water. -New York Herald. IT RAINED. And They Had Only One Umbrella Between Them. It rained. The wind blew in fitful gusts. A man and a woman emerged from a doorway, glanced at the leaden sky and shivered. They had one umbrella. "Edwin." "Tootsier, how do you do?" She nestled nearer to him. "I don't mind it if you are with me." "What's a wetting with my sweet Tootsier by my side." They started. He held aloft the umbrella and stepped proudly. "Waugh." It was the woman who spoke. She had just discovered that one of the steel ribs above her was sending a stream of water into the flower garden on her hat. "Here, you jay. Let me hold it." With a vicious frown she jerked the umbrella from the man's hand. "Pity you don't know anything," she snarled. It rained. The wind blew in fitful gusts. The man and the woman advanced half a block in silence. "Woop." It was the man who ejaculated. He had found a rivulet of rain running into his neck. "Gimme that." Like a flash he snatched the umbrella from her grasp. "I'll give you some pointers," he growled. It rained. The wind blew in fitful gusts. The man and the woman proceeded twenty feet. "Will you kindly hold that umbrella so that a portion at least of the water will not run on my head?" She was decidedly icy about it. "Hold it yourself if you can do any better." He was dogged. "I'd rather have no umbrella." "Walk in the rain then." "Brute." "Umph." "I'm sorry I married you." "So'm I." "I'm going back to ma's." "Good." "I'll catch my d-d-death of cold." She was waxing hysterical. "Just as you like." They parted in bitterness who had loved devotedly. It rained. The wind blew in fitful gusts. -Detroit Tribune. Saved. Briggs-That was a marvelous escape of Miss Neatfoot from the top floor of a burning hotel at Barber's reef, wasn't it? Griggs-Why, how did she get out? Briggs-She tied all her neckties together and reached the ground without any trouble.-Clothier and Furnisher. Seeking an Opportunity. He-I have something to say to you, but there are so many people in the room I am afraid I won't have a chance. She-Wait a moment, and I will ask one of the young ladies to play on the piano.-Harper's Bazar. "Not in It." Down in the green orchard, cool and shady, A hammock swings dreamily to and fro, And in it is sitting the daintiest lady. And by her side is her summer beau, His glances with fond admiration are laden; He whispers his love in her willing ear; Now, would you believe it? That frivolous maiden Once listened to me in the same way last year. Yes, listened and promised her love to me only. And therefore I can't say I relish this show. Perhaps I'm a fool, but I feel rather lonely, For I'm "not in it" today, don't you know. Down in the green orchard, cool and shady, A hammock gives way with a terrible crack. Then all in a heap falls the dainty young lady; And yonder her lover lies flat on his back; His features a startled expression are wearing, His faculties at one beam many a stain. He's spitting out gravel and mentally swearing. He never will swing in a hammock again. And as for the maid, she's the picture of sad- And as for myself, I do nothing but crows. And inwardly chuckle with satisfied gladness, For I'm "not in it" today, don't you know. -Mary G. Heckle in Boston Transcript. Wanted. We want many more rooms for teachers and students, both furnished and unfurnished rooms and houses; we will want them September 12, 1892; call at once at the office of the Western Normal College, rooms 111 and 112 Brace building, and give location of houses and rooms, and prices asked for same. 9-14.
