Skating and coasting has commenced early this year and the juveniles in the city have enjoyed its advent hugely.

The Chicago Theatre Company are booked to entertain Plattsmouth audiences tonight, tomorrow night and the night following.

The case of O'Donohue and Vanatta vs. Golding for attorney's fees occupied the attention of Judge Johnson's court last Monday morning.

Dr. Hall lost one of his valuable horses last Sunday night, the death resulting from injuries received from a runaway the Thursday night previous.

A number of Plattsmouth ladies defied the elements and witnessed the Boston Ideal Opera Company at Boyd's opera house, Omaha, one evening last week.

Mr. Tewksberry has sold his half of his mill property at Weeping Water to G. B. Crippen, possession being given the first of the month. The farm now is Kirkpatrick & Crippen.

Smith & Black Bros. present their announcement for the holiday trade through a HERALD extra this week, the crowded state of our columns making an extra a necessity.

The chemistry class in the high school are very enthusiastic over their work and Prof. Drummond is interested with many experiments that are instructive as well as entertaining.

The gallery on the north and west side of the opera house is being put in place and every effort will be made by Architect Thompson to have his new chairs in position before another entertainment.

The suddenness of the cold snap last week caused some of the school rooms to close for a half day on account of the impossibility to have the rooms comfortable; such will be watched for in future.

Anderson Boat, formerly superintendent of the agricultural farm, one of the best farmers in the state, now residing in the eastern part of Cass county, favored us with a call last Friday.—State Journal.

F. E. White's new elevator down at the foot of the depot grounds is an improvement of no small note, and increases the facilities for local grain shipment from this point which is the best grain market in the county.

A turmoil in a down town saloon last Friday caused the arrest of the two belligerents who were brought up before Judge Pottenger, each party pleading his own case, pouring their woes in the ears of the magistrate. A fine was imposed and an appeal taken.

Last Thursday the river closed over up from the bridge, and three men from the Iowa side started over to this city, when over the channel near the side one of the men broke through, but luckily the ice held him from falling below his arms and he scrambled out, the party returning to the Iowa side and afterward effecting a crossing higher up the river.

The case of Guthman Bros. vs. Stewart has been exciting attention for some time, the latter having been by them twice arrested for stealing a coat and each time the prosecution have failed to make a case. M. A. Hartigan is conducting the case for Guthman and Cosey, and Morrison, the first case for Stewart, and Morrison and Sullivan the second case. Stewart is a young man but little known in this city but well and favorably known in Omaha and Nebraska City, in the latter place having relatives. As the case now stands Stewart is commencing two damage suits against Guthman Bros., and the end is at present the beginning.

The post office is settled and located in the new Waterman opera house block, and the HERALD challenges any city in the state outside of Omaha and Lincoln, where they have government buildings, to show a handsomer post office room or a more complete office. P. M. Marshall has added a large number of mail and lock boxes and has ample facilities to accommodate the public in that line for some time to come. The office contains now 1045 boxes, nearly five hundred of which are lock boxes and a new general delivery has been put in that facilitates time there fully one half. The new room is large, light, heated by steam and lighted with gas, all of which adds to the comfort and convenience of officials and patrons.

"Home-coming" Recipes.
To give relief to a burn apply the white of an egg. The yolk of the egg may be eaten or placed on the shirt bosom. If the burn should occur on a body, she may omit the last instruction.

To remove starch or roughness from fabrics, hold the iron on a large grindstone for twenty moments or so, then wipe off carefully with a rag. To make this effective the grindstone should be in motion while the iron is applied. Should the iron still stick to the goods when in use, spit on it.

Woolen goods may be nicely washed if you put half an ox gall into two gallons of tepid water. It might be well to put the goods into the water also. If the mixture is not strong enough, put in another ox-gall. Should this fail to do the work, put in the entire ox, reserving the tail for soap. The ox-gall is comparatively useless for soap and should not be preserved as an article of diet.

The Bad Boy in Love.

George Peck: "Are you a Christian?" asked the bad boy of the grocery man as that gentleman was placing vegetables out in front of the grocery one morning. "Well, I hope so," answered the grocery man; "I try to do right, and hope to wear a golden crown when the time comes to close my books." Then how is it that you put out a box of great big sweet potatoes, and when we order some and they come to the table they are little bits of things, not bigger than a radish? Do you expect to go to heaven on such small potatoes when you use big ones for a sign?" asked the boy, as he took out a silk handkerchief and brushed a speck of dust off his nicely blacked shoes. The grocery man blushed and said he did not mean to take any such advantage of his customers, he said it must have been a mistake of the boy that delivers groceries. "Then you must hire the boy to make mistakes, for it has been so every time we have had sweet potatoes for five years, and you have ears stripped down to show how nice and plump it is, and if we order a dozen ears there are only two that have good ears on at all, and you get the rest of them and the rest of them are just a few ears of corn. Do you hope to wear a crown of glory on that kind of corn?" "O, such things will happen," said the grocery man with a laugh. "But don't let's talk heaven. Let's talk about the other place. How's things over to your house? And say, what's the matter with you? You are all dressed up and have got a clean shirt on, and your pants are not raveled out so at the buttons of the legs behind. You are not in love, are you?" "Well, I should smile," said the boy, as he looked into a small mirror on the counter covered with fly specks; a girl got smacked on me, and she says I'm good for a boy who hasn't got no sister to be in love with a girl, and so I kind of rambled to it myself, and she don't go no more without I go with her. I take her to the dancing school and everywhere, and she loves me like a house afire. Say, was you ever in love?" "Make a fellow feel queer, don't it?" "Well, sir, the first time I went home with her I put my arm around her, and she scared me. It was like when you take hold of the handles of a electric battery, and you can't let go until the current runs through you. It was just as weak as a cat. I thought she had needles in her belt, and I was going to take my arm away, but it was just like she was glued on. I asked her if she felt that way, too, and she said she used to, but it was nothing when you got used to it. That made me mad. But she is older than me, and knows more about it. When I was going to leave her at the gate she kissed me, and that was worse than putting my arms around her. By gosh, I trembled all over just like I had the chills, but I was as warm as toast. She wouldn't let go for much as a minute, and I was as tired as though I had been carrying coal upstairs. I didn't want to go home at all, but she said it would be the best way for me to go home, and come again the next day and the next morning I went to her home before any of them were up, and her pa came out to let the cat in, and I asked him what time his girl got up, and he laughed and said I had got it bad, and that I had better go home and not be picked up until I got ripe. Say, how much does it cost to get married?" "Well, I should say that you had got it bad," said the grocery man, as he set out a basket of beets. "You're getting in love with a great thing for you, sir. You won't have any more time to play any more jokes on him." "Oh, I guess we can find time to keep pa from being lonesome. Have you seen him this morning? You ought to have seen him last night; you see, my chum's pa has got a setter dog stuffed. Well, my chum and me took the dog and put it on our front steps, and took some cotton and fastened it to the dog's nose, and he looked just like a dog, and we got behind the door and waited for pa to come home from the theatre. When pa started to come up the steps I growled, and pa looked at the dog and said, 'Mad dog, by 'Giminy,' and he started down the sidewalk, and my chum barked just like a dog, and I kicked and growled like a dog that gets kicked and growled to get a run. He went on ground in the alley and was going to get in the basement window, and my chum had a revolver with some blank cartridges, and he went down in the basement and when pa was trying to open the window, my chum began firing towards pa. Pa hollered that it was only him, and not a burglar, but after my chum fired a couple of shots pa ran and climbed over a fence, and then we took the dog and I staid with my chum all night, and this morning ma said 'pa didn't get home till four o'clock, and then a policeman came with him, and he talked about mad dogs and being taken for a burglar and nearly killed, and she said she was afraid pa had took to drinking again, and asked me if I had seen any firing of guns, and I said no, and then she put a wet towel on pa's head.' 'You ought to be ashamed,' said the grocery man. How does you pa like your being in love with the girl? Does he seem to encourage you in it?' 'O, yes; she was up to our house to borrow some tea, and pa patted her on the cheek and hugged her, and said she was a dear little daisy, and wanted her to sit on his lap, but when I wanted him to give me 50 cents to buy her some ice cream, he said that was all nonsense. He said: 'Look at your ma. Eating ice cream when she was a girl was what injured her health for life.' I asked ma about it, and she said pa never laid out 10 cents for ice cream or any other luxury for long's months. She says he took her to a circus once, but he got free tickets for carrying water to the elephant. She says pa was tighter than the bark to a tree. I tell you it's going to be different with me.
