PLATTSMOUTH HERALD. PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY. The Plattsmouth Herald Publishing Co. LOCAL NEWS.

The T. A. M. club despite the cold weather held their semi-monthly dance in Rockwood hall on last Friday night. Lent falls very early this year and in consequence amusements will be scarce.

A large number of commercial men were "born bound" in this city during last Thursday and Friday's storm. Trouble was experienced in crossing the river at Nebraska city during the storm period of last week.

Many of our subscribers at post offices in the county of the railroads find the HERALD badly belated this week, they must remember that it was hard times for mail carriers to get through their routes.

The man who shovels off his sidewalk when the thermometer is twenty below, is deserving of the thanks of pedestrians who are forced out in cold weather and who appreciate a place to stand and walk with safety.

With the bitter cold weather comes much tardiness in the city schools and much of it caused from the fact that there is always a doubt existing as to whether the school rooms will be half warmed if the children go.

Gen. Howard, who came down from Omaha last Thursday and was at the union meeting Thursday night, spoke for nearly an hour to the audience which on account of the very bad night was no, as large as it should be.

It is not too early to agitate city improvements for the coming year, and when it is borne in mind that the much needed improvement at Main and Fifth streets, the need of which has been a damage to the city and property holders thousands of dollars, has been under consideration for a twelve month and absolutely nothing accomplished, it looks as though there couldn't be any too much agitation on any subject, and that effort cannot be taken any too soon if any work is to be done the coming year.

The storm of last Thursday and Friday was the most severe of this winter by far, and it effectively closed up business in this city, and blocked roads in every direction in the country. On the railroad, trains were hindered and some were temporarily abandoned until the storm abated.

The rumor was about around this city last week that conductor Keagy, who runs a passenger on the A. & N. Division, and who has many friends in this city, had put a man off his train who had died from the injuries received in being put off.

To New York Soldiers in Nebraska. COMRADES:—The roster of these New York soldiers in attendance at the last reunion at Grand Island, is now published and will be mailed to each one therein named as rapidly as possible.

Capt. Marshall is taking orders for one of the most wonderful scientific books of the day. The book is a marvel in its way and one that cannot fail to interest the student. Notices are published elsewhere for the annual meetings of the B. & M. R. R. in Neb. and the Omaha & Southwestern R. R. in this city next month, at which time the directors of the roads will be named.

The "Q" trains east and west to and from the Junction these stormy times are pulled by two and three locomotives, and a locomotive and snow plow ahead stormy days; with all this effort it is hard to make regular running times.

Just bear in mind when you realize that business is dull, that the crop of last year is still unsold, and that the prices on all are gradually growing better. Merchants and others who are doing little now, will make up for it in the near future.

Fremont, Beatrice and other points in the state are making due efforts to secure the next G. A. R. reunion. Evidently if the post in this city ever entertained any serious views of obtaining the reunion for Plattsmouth they have been abandoned.

Sunday night was one of the penetrating cold nights, and many arose in the morning to find their houseplants that had survived all the winter weather heretofore, nipped with the frost beyond recovery.

The Missouri Pacific express, which left Omaha for St. Louis last Thursday evening, got stuck in a big snow bank five miles south of Papillon, from which it was unable to extricate itself as four engines "died" trying to get it out, and the passengers were obliged to return in sleighs to Papillon, and there take a Union Pacific train from Lincoln at 4 p. m., back to Omaha.

Frank L. Gayle, formerly of the B. & M. conductors list, now running a train on the northern Pacific, came down to visit old acquaintances in Plattsmouth last week. He reports a country up north abounding in cold weather, the mercury falling to 25 to 30 degrees below, and the wind blowing and snow flying at the same time.

Birthdays are being thick with the illustrious five these days, last Saturday the 20th being the thirty-fifth birthday of F. E. White. As prescribed by the laws and rules of the order of the illustrious five, the other four assembled themselves together to help the fifth celebrate, and to Mr. White the other four presented an elegant silver tea set of five pieces, appropriately engraved, the donors being Messrs. Livingston, Smith, McLaughlin, Strode.

Is there an ordinance or is there not which requires all stack owners to keep their cattle and horses from running at large. If there is why isn't it enforced, and if there isn't why isn't there one passed by the city. It is not very pleasant for a farmer who does not feel able to put his team in a livery stable and buy feed for them, to come to town and bring his hay and corn in the bottom of his sleigh, for a noon's feed, and have a half dozen hungry cows following him from hitching post to post, and eating the feed from the sled before he has an hitched team. It is getting so a man cannot hitch his team in town without there is some five or six hungry cows eating whatever they can find around and it does not make a farmer feel any the best to feel taken stock every time he comes to town.

The board, after hearing the evidence decided that all the complaints were sustained except the fourth, and that the company had violated section 10 chapter 77, Acts of the Seventeenth General Assembly, the penalty for which is a forfeiture of "three times the actual damages sustained, together with costs of suit and a reasonable attorney's fee, and a further attorney's fee if an appeal of the case is had."
