PLATTSMOUTH HERALD, PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY BY The Plattsmouth Herald Publishing Co. LOCAL NEWS.

A large number of farmers visited the city Saturday and business was lively. The most teams were visible on the streets that day of any day in the last month.
An accident to a freight train at Ashland last Friday, caused a delay to all trains; No. 2 coming east, arriving here at 11 p. m., six hours late. The accident was an engine wreck, which was no easy job to overcome.
The train from the west comes now at 5:10 p. m. instead of 5 o'clock and the changes made in the running of the K. C. train from this city, brings the one from the south earlier mornings, and the one from the north earlier at night.
The Herald office is prepared to furnish all who may wish blank deeds, chattel mortgages, quit claim deeds, mortgage deeds, &c. We are printing to keep in stock a very large line of these blanks of standard forms. Orders from attorneys, justices and notaries throughout the county solicited.

The citizens meeting held in the opera house last Thursday night for the consideration of manufacturing interests, was very well attended by citizens, some three hundred being present at the opening of the meeting. Mr. Weeks was called upon to preside, and Mr. Sherman acted as secretary, and S. P. Vanatta made the address of the evening, his remarks occupying about an hour and thirty minutes. Other parties expressed their desire to see manufacturing institutions established and encouraged; and good will undoubtedly result from the meeting.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE Cass County Agricultural Society. The members of the Cass County Agricultural society are called to meet at the court house in this city on the first Saturday in March (the 3d) at 1 o'clock p. m. A full attendance is desired, as at this meeting all accounts of the society will be settled, the date of the next fair will be designated and officers elected for the ensuing year.

The press throughout the state speak in the highest terms of Dr. Fishblatt, who is to make a visit to Plattsmouth Friday, Feb. 24th. The following is from the Fremont Tribune: —
"Dr. A. S. Fishblatt, of the Des Moines Medical Dispensary, will be in Fremont again on Sunday, the 12th inst., to remain two days at Eno's hotel. It is hardly necessary for the Tribune to introduce the eminent doctor to its readers, as he is already so well known throughout the west and north-west. However it will afford us a pleasure to say that he has established his enviable reputation by virtue of his acknowledged skill as a physician and for many years past his name has been familiar to the suffering public of a half dozen states. As will be seen by advertisement published elsewhere, Dr. Fishblatt has many strong testimonials of his efficiency, in some cases working almost miraculous cures. These, coming as they do from good responsible and reliable parties, are a sufficient guarantee that he is a man worthy of his high calling as an alleviator of pain, and entitled to the patronage and confidence of the people of this country."

The appearance of Charley Gardner, however, was the signal for loud and prolonged applause. Charley is the refined artist of old; graceful, a thorough appreciation of the ludicrous, while his voice is, if possible, sweeter than when he first appeared here. No one can sing these sweet melodies like Charley Gardner, and in connection with his distinct delivery is his charming and graceful acting.—Evansville Argus.

The Red Cloud Chief gives the following and the supposition is that his schedule of prices is made up from experience: —
"We learn from an exchange that hugging parties for the benefit of churches are all the rage in some parts of the state. Now why wouldn't it be a good idea to do away with the old time church festival and adopt the new project, and let the price rate as follows and be given to the church fund. Girls under fifteen years of age 25 cts for each hour of two minutes; from sixteen to twenty, 50 cts; from twenty to twenty-five, 75 cts; another man's wife, $1; widows according to looks, from 10 cts to $2; grass widows, few offered, but in active demand; old maids, three cents apiece or two for a nickel, and no limit to time.
In Demorest's Monthly Magazine for March we find a great variety of interesting articles. Among these are "Life in the Black Forest," "Henry Regnault," "Gastronomic Gossip," "Antique Gems," "Traveling and Other Matters" and "The Gooder Valley." Jenny June continues her pleasant articles, "How We Live in New York," and Carlotta Perry furnishes an excellent story, "How I Found My Freedom." Mrs. Alexander's serial, "The Admiral's Ward," keeps up its interest; and "Current Topics" is both entertaining and instructive. Every department is replete with useful and entertaining reading, and the contributions are remarkably good, the frontispiece being a fine steel engraving after the much admired painting "Willing," by the artist Metzinger. As a family magazine, Demorest's fulfills every requirement.

Many of the fine points of "Karl" were seen to better advantage, and Mr. Gardner's play was pronounced a positive success. Mr. Gardner is getting in better voice nightly, and his specialties are encored to the cello, while his acting is really great. His most ardent admirers, of whom he has a host here, did not deem him capable of such splendid work. He is a very serious and dangerous rival of Emmet.—Evansville Courier.

"Got any vaseline," said the bad boy to the grocery man, as he went into the store one cold morning, leaving the door open, and picking up a cigar stub that had been thrown down by the stove and began to smoke it.
"Shut the door, dum you. Was you brought up in a saw mill? You'll freeze every potato in the house. No, I have't got vaseline. What do you want of vaseline?" said the grocery man, as he set the strap keg on a chair by the stove where it would thaw out.
"Want to rub it on pa's legs," said the boy as he tried to draw smoke through the cigar stub.
"Why what is the matter with your pa's legs? Rheumatiz?"
"Wuss nor rheumatiz," said the boy, as he threw away the cigar stub and drew some ether in a broken tea cup. "Pa has got the worst looking hind legs you ever saw. You see, since there has been so many fires pa has got offed scared, and he has bought three fire escapes, made out of rope with knots in them, and he has been telling us every day how he could rescue the whole family in case of fire. He told us to be cool, wait, and to rely on him. If the house ever got on fire we'd all rush for pa, and he would save us. Well, last night ma had to go to one of the neighbors, where they were going to have twins, and we didn't sleep much, cause ma had to come home twice in the night to get saffron, and an old flannel petticoat that I broke in when I was a kid, cause the people where ma was did not know as twins was on the bill of fare, and they had only flannel petticoats for one. Pa was cross at being kept awake, and he told ma he hoped when all the children in Milwaukee were born, and got grown up, she would take in her sign and not go around nights acting as usher to baby matinee. Pa says there ought to be a law that babies should arrive on the regular day trains, and not wait for the night express. Well pa he got sleepy, and he slept till about eight o'clock in the morning, and the blinds were closed and it was dark in his room, and I had waited for my breakfast till I was hungry as a wolf, and the girl told me to wake pa up, so I went up stairs, and I don't know what made me think of it, but I had some of this powder they make red fire with in the theatre, that me and my chum had the 4th of July, and I put it in a wastebasket in the bath room, and I touched it off and hollered fire. I was going to wake pa up and tell him it was all right and then laugh at him. I guess there was too much fire or I yelled to loud, cause pa jumped out of bed and grabbed a rope and rushed through the hall toward the back window, and he went out on a shed. I tried to say something, but pa ran over me and told me to save myself, and I got to the back window to tell him there was no fire just as he let himself out the window. He had one end of the rope tied to the leg of the wash stand and he was climbing down the back side of the shed by the kitchen, with nothing on but his night shirt, and the hall toward the back window, that went out on a shed. I tried to say something, but pa ran over me and told me to save myself, and I got to the back window to tell him there was no fire just as he let himself out the window. He had one end of the rope tied to the leg of the wash stand and he was climbing down the back side of the shed by the kitchen, with nothing on but his night shirt. I didn't blame the hired girls for being scared when they saw pa and his legs coming down outside the window, but I guess they yelled I went down to the kitchen, and they said a crazy man with no clothes but a pillow case around his neck was trying to kick the window in, and they run into the parlor, and I opened the door and set pa in the kitchen. He asked me if anybody else was saved, and then I told him there was no fire, and he must have dreamed he was in hell, or somewhere. Well pa was astonished and said he would be run out of the house, and I left him thawing himself out by the stove while I went after his pants, and his legs were badly chilled but I guess nothing was froze. He lays it all to ma, and says if she would stay at home and let people run their own baby shows, there would be more comfort in the house. Ma came in with a bowl full of something that smelled frowny, and after she had told us what the result of her visit was, she sent me after vaseline to rub pa's legs. Pa says that he has demonstrated that if a man was cool and collected, in case of fire, and goes deliberately at work to save himself, he will come out all right."

"O, he didn't dance in church. He was a little excited that's all. You see, pa chewed tobacco, and it is pretty ever heard of," said the grocery man. "But what about your pa's dancing a clog dance in church Sunday. The minister's hired girl was in here after some codfish yesterday morning, and he said the minister said your pa had scandalized the church the worst way."

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE
FROM COL. L. T. FOSTER
B. J. Kendall & Co. Gents.—I had a very valuable, amputation which I tried very highly, but had a large issue spavin in one joint, and a small one in the other, which made him very lame. I had him under the charge of two veterinary surgeons, but failed to cure him. I saw one day reading the advertisement of Kendall's Spavin Cure in the Chicago Evening Post, and I decided to try it. I would give it a thorough trial, I used according to directions, I took them all and thought I would be lame, and the lumps had disappeared. I used four bottles and the cure was made as free from lumps and as smooth as my horse in the morning. I feel it is entirely cured. The cure was so remarkable that I let two of my neighbors have the remainder of two bottles, who are now using it. Very respectfully, L. T. FOSTER, Youngstown, Ohio, May 19th, 1880.
