Publishers & Proprietors.

CITY BRIEFS.

From Wednesday's Daily.

The base ball boys are making arrangements for a second game with the Council Bluffs which will be billed for a near date.

The music we furnish in our WEEKLY HERALD would cost you at the book store 30 cents a piece, and by taking the WEEKLY HERALD you can get 52 pieces in a year for $1.50.

We thank the citizens who so kindly donated yesterday and in that way assisted us in securing the dispatches from the Chicago convention. They can be seen on the bulletin board in front of M. B. Murphy's store as soon as received by us.

Mr. Henry Weckbach returned from his trip east. He spent a few days at Chicago, Milwaukee and other eastern cities. He thinks there is no use in remaining in Chicago now if you only go there with the intention of seeing the convention. It is reported that seats are selling as high as one hundred dollars each, and that would be too rich for Plattsmouth blood.

An old gentleman made a speech today of only a few words, but as we thought they were well chosen and struck the point exactly, we take great interest in giving them here. As is the case and has been for a number of days of late where men are in controversy, the coming election was the topic. The gentleman said: "The people who uphold democracy must have extremely short memories or be possessed of considerable boldness."

The following few well selected words appeared today in the Union correspondence, which strongly encourage us in our strenuous efforts to make THE HERALD a good live newspaper. We are receiving new subscribers every day, and with such brightened hopes of prosperity in every way we will put forth extra efforts to make the paper one of interest to all, and one that will soon find its way to every house and be read by all: "We are in search of a newspaper. We like THE HERALD. Can't you editors start a branch printing house here?"

Mr. Joe McVey has recently purchased an instrument which has never been introduced to the city before and which has created considerable excitement among men who are interested in novelties. It is called a "sausage grinder talkophone." The manipulation of the strange instrument is quite different from anything we have seen and is certainly worthy of due consideration and thorough investigation by those who may have use for such a machine. A column might be used in giving a full description, but as we are crowded for space today, further details will be omitted, but we earnestly request all to examine it.

Mrs. Florence Keesler, who has for the last two years been afflicted with consumption, died last night about 11:20 o'clock. Although she has not been enjoying good health for that length of time, yet she did not subdue herself until just a short time ago to the disease which at last conquered her. She was married to Mr. Keesler last August and is only a young woman of about 19 years of age. The funeral will take place tomorrow morning from her husband's residence, Valley place, situated at the end of the street car line. Friends and acquaintances are cordially invited to attend. She will be buried at the Oak Hill cemetery.

Dr. Burgess who arrived here last night to attend the party given by Miss Latham, returned this morning to Omaha. He recently graduated at one of the Omaha colleges and has since been remarkably successful. He was appointed to the rank of first Lieutenant and acting assistant surgeon of the U. S. army. He asked for a western location and thinks he will be stationed in Idaho. He is a son of Rev. Burgess of the Episcopal church here, and is well and favorably known by many of the Plattsmouth citizens. We are all highly pleased to learn of his success so soon after starting out on his professional tour, and wish him heartily every success.

The party given last evening by Miss Hattie Latham in honor of Dr. F. D. and Miss Lulu L. Burgess who have been attending college at Omaha, was a most enjoyable event and will ever be remembered by the young people who participated. Miss Latham proved herself to be an efficient hostess and those present feel very thankful for the enjoyment furnished by her. The following is a list of the names of those present: Messrs. L. A. Moore, Dr. R. R. Livingston Jr., Dr. T. P. Livingston, Dr. E. W. Cook, W. Crowthers, E. Schlegel, Bert Wheeler of Omaha, Byron Drew, W. A. Derrick; Misses Sherman, Edna Gering, Mira Gering, Mary Hawksworth, Irene Patterson, Etta Shepherd, Marian Crowthers, Cora, Wayman, Hattie Fulmer, Nettie Ballance, Leola Carter of Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. J. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. T. Patterson.

From Tuesday's Daily.

The picnic which was held at Dickendorfer's grove last Sunday by the German society of this city was reported a howling success.

A select party will be given this evening at the residence of Mr. F. Latham by his daughter Miss Hattie, in honor of Dr. and Miss Burgess, who have been attendants at the Omahacollege.

The canning factories are now in readiness, with the exception of being short of assistance, for a profitable season. They expect a rich harvest this year and are ready to open up and start to work in full blast as soon as the necessary assistance is secured.

Miss Edna Adams gave a party last night at her parents' residence, corner of 8th and Pearl streets in honor of Mr. Rob. Coverdale who took his departure for Missouri Valley today. A large number of young people were present and an enjoyable evening spent.

Mrs. Sarah A. Moore who has lived in Omaha on 24th and Ashland streets for some time, died Saturday from a lingering illness caused by malarial fever. The remains arrived here yesterday morning and were buried a short time afterward. She has three sons living in this city.

Mr. Myers, of the penitentiary, Lincoln, telephoned to Mr. Stephen Buzzell last night at 12 o'clock, stating that two prisoners named Tagle and Alleuger, escaped at about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and offered $100 reward for the capture of each. It was reported that two men dressed in convict suits were seen in a boat making their way down the Missouri river early this morning. No further information has been received as yet.

One of the officials of the B. & M. approached Mr. Sherman, editor of sister sheet, but he did not remove him from the platform this time. A large number of coaches were in the train which was standing near by just then and a large crowd of people rushed to get on in order to be first and find seats. The official said to Mr. Sherman: "Sherman, don't you think this is pretty good for a scab road? They seem to be crowded with business." In reply, Mr. Sherman said: "Yes, the people have to keep moving, anyway."

George Poissal, D. M. Jones, James Johns, Samuel Barker and Fred Kroehler left last night on the flyer for the Chicago convention. This is not a united delegation on any one man. There being two republicans, two democrats and a mugwump, it is thought by their friends here that they are revenue reformers, and that the prominent plank in their platform will be for "revenue only." It is possible that another presidential candidate may develop out of this little of five. Poissal has his speech all ready prepared to present Kroehler's name to the convention in case of a dead lock.

Judge Sullivan returned this morning from El Paso, Texas, where he was called as attorney in an extensive law suit which was being carried on there. Mr. Sullivan was attorney for plaintiff and, we are pleased to learn, won the case. The case was brought up against the Mexican Central & Santa Fe by the mother, widow and orphan child of Wm. Shean who was killed at El Paso some time ago while in the act of coupling cars which were improperly loaded. The jury promptly returned a verdict of $6,000 for plaintiff. Mr. Shean was a former resident of this city.

Messrs. George Mann and Charley Dabb, who were about to assume proprietorship of the proposed Evening News, took their departure for Sioux City this morning to seek employment at their trade in that quarter. Mr. Green, apparently is not feeling as well over their departure as he might, having made all arrangements to take part with these two gentlemen as his partners and issue the paper at once. But everything did not prove satisfactory to the boys and they made their exit this morning. They probably thought it more profitable to go sooner than later.

From Monday's Daily.

We are pleased to learn that Dr. Black is at present on the road to recovery.

Mrs. W. Boeck is able to sit up and is rapidly recovering from her severe illness.

Yesterday was about as warm as we care about having it. The thermometer registered 102° in the shade.

We were pleased to learn this morning that Mrs. Hampton, who has been so seriously afflicted with typhoid fever for the past few weeks, is at present on the convalescent road and if her recovery continues as speedy as it has for the last few days, she will, in a short time, be calling on her many friends who will be anxious to see her once more enjoying the luxuries which are attained by good health.

The following paragraph was clipped from the Omaha World, which certainly shows that our base ball boys did themselves proud with the Council Bluffs team which played here a few days ago: "Manager Kiplinger of the Council Bluffs club is highly pleased with the ball game played by the Bluffs boys at Plattsmouth. He considers the game the best of the season so far. At the close of the ninth inning the score stood 5 to 5. Three more innings were played and the score stood 6 to 5 in favor of the Bluffs club. During the whole game the Bluffs club made only four errors. The boys were highly pleased with the manner in which they were entertained by their Plattsmouth friends. The same night they were serenaded by the Plattsmouth Glee club. With this game Manager Kiplinger severs his connection with the club, not because of any dissatisfaction, but because his business duties will be such after July 1st, as to prevent his giving the club sufficient time and attention. It has not yet been decided who the new manager will be.

From Saturday's Daily.

Mr. Geo. T. Quinn was awarded a license today by Judge Russell to marry Miss Francis Gordon, both of the western part of this county.

Mr. Denson and wife who reside on Billings Row, are deeply bereaved today over the loss of their child. The child died sometime last night.

This afternoon the flyer will pass through here at the regular hour. The train will be made up in two sections, as this will be an excursion train and it is expected to be loaded.

The country in the vicinity of this thriving little city of ours is fast gaining a reputation as a garden of Eden. Mr. Murphy has purchased over 500 quarts of home-grown strawberries. We will not starve if the groceries do all go to Chicago.

Mr. George H. Palmer, son of Captain Palmer, of this city, who was elected as delegate from here to the meeting of the Sons of Veterans, at Tecumseh, has since been elected there with two others, to attend the state council and also as a delegate with two others to attend the national convention which will be held at Wheeling, West Virginia, which meets in August next. This young man has represented Plattsmouth in grand shape. We are glad to hear of one so young with such a successful start, and we take great pleasure in extending to him our hearty congratulations.

What strange things do come to pass. Only the other day (it is reported) Messrs. Mat. Gering and Byron Clark, two of our prominent legal men, were called to Pacific Junction. A case was being held there on which these two gentlemen had been employed. They took a witness from here (whose name we cannot learn) and after they had reached the great city in safety, the witness wished to take a rest and "prepare himself for the great duty before him. He dropped himself gently onto the platform at the depot. His coat was not brief and his pocket not very tight, so as it struck the sidewalk, a bottle filled with the good old spts. frumenti dropped out on the ground. They asked him what he was doing with such a think as that there. He replied: "I vos no spring sicken. Ven I come to Iowa I always bring something like dot wit me, and don't you forget it."

Today we have been called upon to chronicle an event, which will, no doubt, cast a shadow over many, and which will, through sympathy, if nothing more, cause many to drop their heads in deep regret when we inform them of the death of Mr. Solomon, of the well known firm of Solomon & Nathan, of this city, and we join in with the entire community in extending our sincere sympathy to those who have so unfortunately fallen into such unutterable sorrow. Mr. Solomon has been unfortunately afflicted with impaired health for a long time, and has exercised every means available to rescue himself from the death grip which had secured such a firm hold on him. The realization of his own severe illness was not the only source of trouble to him; but that, with the additional burdens he was compelled to bear of late, hastened or urged on the death monster which was slowly approaching. His wife, for some time, has suffered much with ill health, which helped to worry him considerably. They had both gone to Eureka Springs, Arkansas, for the purpose of recruiting their broken constitutions at the time of his death, and have been there about two months. Mr. Finley, manager of their business here, received a dispatch from there yesterday afternoon, stating that they would bring the corpse to Omaha immediately for interment, and it is expected that as soon as they arrive there that the funeral will take place. The doors of the store here will be closed until Tuesday morning. His complaint was dropsy. The community sympathize with the relatives in their sad bereavement.

From Friday's Daily.

Judge Russell issued a marriage license today to Mr. Taylor Allis, of Ogle county, Illinois, and Miss Celia S. Clapp, of Wabash, Cass county, Nebraska.

The Plattsmouth market has been higher for some than at any of the neighboring cities. Hogs are now selling at five cents per lb. and corn at forty cents a bushel, which makes it about five cents higher than at any of the other markets.

Mr. Ballou, who has recently erected a fine residence for himself in the vicinity of the city ordered, through O. P. Smith, the finest display of art glass for the doors and windows, ever seen in the city. It is valued at $520. This glass is on exhibition this week at the store of O. P. Smith & Co. All are invited to call and see it. It is well worth a little trouble.

It is reported that an old man who was in a hurry to pass a young man and his young lady friend while they were out driving a few evenings ago got real mad because the young man was compelled to stop in his way. He was promised that he should be allowed room in a short time, but was not satisfied with that and attempted to drive over everything. He got a "Hull" lot of hard slaps for it and did not like it a bit.

Mrs. Wiley Black, who resided in this city for a number of years and who is well and favorably known, died at Denver, Wednesday morning, and was buried at that city yesterday. She was 28 years of age. She has only been in Denver for a few months where she went for the purpose of finding relief in her struggle with that terrible disease, consumption. Her husband, Mr. Wiley Black, is the son of Dr. John Black, of this city.

The remainder of the Talon estate was disposed of a short time ago on a forced sale. The following gives the full particulars of the sale and the names of the purchasers: The w of block 9, lot 29, the property where Fickler's butcher shop now stands, sold to Mr. Fred Stadlemann for $1,625; the e of same lot, sold to C. J. Martin for $1,690; old Duke residence property, lot 7, sold to J. M. Craig; lot 8, sold to Mrs. Doyle, Talon's sister for $935; lot 9, sold to Miles Morgan for $267. This is a complete sale of all the old Talon property which has remained unsettled for some time.

The exercises at Bellevue college yesterday, passed off very nicely. There were a large number of visitors present. The exercises consisted of music, recitations, declamations, essays and original orations. Miss Nellie Lodge, of Bellevue, took the first prize in music which was a gold medal, and Miss Helen A. Lodge of Bellevue, took second prize which was a silver medal. In recitations Miss E. Maud N. Leslie, of Omaha, won the gold medal which was first prize, and the second prize, a silver medal, was won by Miss Roberta S. Brownlee of Atkinson; and James B. Miller, of Julesburg, Cal., took the first prize in declamations, and George S. Rawland, of Avoca, second prize. In original orations, Thomas J. Nalon, of Bellevue, took first and Harry A. Carnahan of Pawnee City, second prize, these were gold and silver also. While in essays Miss Jessie S. Plynt of Linnens, Mo., and Miss M. Elizabeth Klepser of Bellevue, won these prizes consist in $10 worth of books, art and music. Those who attended from this city report having a good time, and that the exercises all around were good and well worth the day spent in hearing them.

From Thursday's Daily.

Mrs. Margaret Shaffer, of Des Moines, Ia., is the guest of her niece, Miss Alice Wilson.

Mr. Homer Kohn and Miss Ann Butts, were united in marriage this afternoon by Judge Russell at his office.

Mrs. Edith Coyle, of Kansas City, cousin of Capt. L. D. Bennett, returned to her home this morning after a pleasant visit to her friends here.

The contract for the engineering and inspection of the sewerage, paying and other work of the city was awarded to Rosewater and Christie, of Omaha, by the council at their meeting last night. They agreed to do the work for 4 1/2% of the cost of the work. This firm was recommended to the council by the board of public works.

The printing committee of the city council recommended that the HERALD be awarded the printing for the ensuing year, last night, which was granted by the council. We are thankful to the councilors for their kind consideration of the bids from the two offices in showing their appreciation of honesty. The HERALD is the official paper of the city.

A small dodger has been circulated here today by some agent of the Police Gazette. The following is printed in prominent type: "Out Thursday June 14, will illustrate the sad death of Jed Vance at Plattsmouth, Nebraska, in attempting to save the life of his dog. We had better take up a subscription and send Jed Vance to see the artist. They are a little previous."
