NEW YORK LOST TO CLEVELAND.

In a partisan sense the state of New York is divided by the Harlem river which is near the state's southerly extremity. North of that stream the republicans have always been largely in the majority, while south of it the democracy has been and is predominant. There are fifty-five counties north of the line and five south of it. One of these five—Suffolk—however is a republican county, although it gave a small majority to Cleveland in 1884. In 1885 and 1887 it gave a majority to the republican candidates, and neither democrats nor republicans doubt that it will be carried by Harrison this year. The other four counties—New York, Kings, Queens and Richmond—constitute what is known as the metropolitan district. This is the democratic stronghold of the state, and is the section implied when the term "below the Harlem river" is mentioned. New York City and New York County are coextensive, and Brooklyn forms almost all of Kings county. Queens county abuts against Kings, and Richmond adjoins both Kings and New York.

In 1880 Garfield came down to the Harlem river with 75,193 majority. This overcame the democratic preponderance in the four metropolitan counties, and gave the state to the republicans by about 20,000 majority. Blaine's majority above the Harlem was 61,635, or nearly 14,000 less than Garfield's. The democratic majority in New York, Kings, Queens and Richmond counties, however, was 62,685 which gave the state to Cleveland by 1047. It is conceded by all intelligent, fair-minded democrats that Cleveland is not so strong in the metropolitan district as he was four years ago. A republican majority of 60,000 north of the Harlem this year would undoubtedly place the state in the republican column. But nobody at all qualified to judge imagines that the republican majority in that region will be so low as 60,000. A discreet and trusted correspondent of the democratic New York Herald, who has made a personal canvass of the state, declares that the republicans will have a majority of 70,000 above High Bridge, which is on the Harlem. This would give Harrison a majority of from 11,000 to 15,000 in the state. There are the best of reasons for the belief, though, that the majority in the republican section will be 10,000 at least in excess of the Herald correspondent's figures. Without the vote of New York Cleveland can not win. Even though he should carry Indiana, Connecticut and New Jersey in addition to the solid south, he would be 18 votes short of the number necessary to elect. Cleveland will be overwhelmingly defeated if New York goes against him, and even the most sanguine democrats now begin to concede that New York will give its vote to Harrison.—Globe Democrat.

THE COBDEN CLUB SPHERE.

Here is what a Committee of the Cobden Club reported to the club after looking over the field in 1888: "Your Committee continues to afford all the assistance in their power to those who are laboring in the free trade cause in foreign countries. In America in the course of political events there is great promise. . . . The result of the turning of public attention in this direction is seen in the fact that revenue reform is becoming a leading question in the Presidential contest, and is on the winning side. Years before, the London Times of July 12, 1880, had declared: "How Free Trade will come some day in the United States must be left to the Cobden Club and to its twelve Cabinet ministers in their unofficial capacity to decide. . . . It is to the New World that the club is chiefly looking as the most likely sphere for its vigorous foreign policy. It has done what it can for Europe and is now turning its eyes westward and bracing itself for the struggle which is to come. So it will go on until reason has destroyed Protection in the great stronghold (United States) in which it has entrenched itself. . . . We intend to break down the protecting system in the United States and to substitute the British system. That done, our victory is complete and final." How much the Cobden Club is doing the present campaign we do not know; more than any one has any idea of, except those in the inner circle, we think. But of one fact we have no doubt: That there is no more interested body of men watching the events of this election and hoping for the election of the Free Trade party. American workmen, do you want to see this triumph of the British Free Trade Club?—Tariff League.

—As it takes time to set type the county treasurer is obliged to furnish copy of delinquent tax list to the printers a few days in advance of the issue of the paper, and thus it happens that an occasional piece of land or town lot will appear in the advertised list that may have been paid a day or two prior to the publication of the list. The treasurer endeavors, however, to have every piece of property on which taxes are paid stricken from the list up to time of going to press. But of course there is an occasional oversight. For example, at time of making out copy of list of Rock Bluffs Precinct, the taxes were unpaid on a lot of 32 ac. or 22, twp. 11, range 13, but before the issue of the paper the taxes were paid and the printers notified of the fact but they failed to strike it off. Of course it can work no injury further than that people do not like to see their land advertised especially after they have paid their taxes.

"A New Tea and Coffee House"

Located in Plattsmouth is the latest enterprise, and one which there is no question will be a great success, and a benefit to the lovers of choice Teas and Coffees. The circular supplement will explain the whole working of the well known American Tea Co. and its branches. The new branch opened in the Sherwood block, corner of Main and Vine, seems to be already the center of attraction for not only do you get teas direct from the gardens but you get fresh roasted coffee every day and a handsome Chida plate free of charge to every customer.

N. M. SACHELL, one of the nominees for representative, can point with pride to his record of the last session of the legislature. No man speaking from the record can say against him. He is an intelligent wide-awake farmer, a good financier and well worthy the confidence reposed in him by his neighbors and friends. Mr. Satchell will succeed himself without a doubt.

"She's Much Older Than Her Husband."

We heard a young girl make the above remark the other day about a lady with whom we are slightly acquainted. It was not true, yet the lady in question actually does look five years older than her husband, although she is really severing years his junior. She is prematurely aged, and functional derangement is the cause. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription would cure her, and should be recommended to her, and to all others who are in the same condition. If the reader of this chances to be a similar sufferer, let her get the "Prescription." It will bring back her lost beauty, and, better still, it will remove all those distressing symptoms which have made life a burden to her so long. Money refunded if it don't give satisfaction. See guarantee printed on bottle wrapper.

Well, Sarah, what have you been doing to make you look so young? Oh, nothing much, only been using Hall's Hair Renewer to restore the color of my hair.

N. A. S. E.

Members of the N. A. S. E. will please meet at their room, Saturday evening 8 o'clock. A full attendance is desired, as business of importance is to be transacted. By order of the Past Grand Workman.

The reduction from 47 to 42 per cent in the Mills bill is said to be small. So it is; but there was a small reduction in the tariff in 1883. Then the wool and woollen goods schedule was reduced a little. The little was just enough to let in from England about 1,500,000 additional pounds of manufactured wool last year. That importation gave English workmen just that much work that could have been done here. In Philadelphia hundreds of men have been idle that could have been busy. They would then have been purchasers; now they have nothing to purchase with. The Mills bill takes off still more of the tariff on wool and woollens. The result will be, more men out of employment, and English manufacturers correspondingly happy. If any one doubts this condition of things, he has only to go to Philadelphia and be convinced.

EDWIN JEARY, the west end candidate for the House of representatives, ought to receive the hearty and earnest support of all republicans. When Speaker Harlan was making up and appointing chairmen of various committees he appointed Mr. Jeary chairman of the committee of enrolled and engrossed bills, one of the most important committees of the house and one that required continual care and skill, and as a compliment to Mr. Jeary the Chief Clerk of the House has said more than once that he was well pleased with Mr. Jeary's work. As in Mr. Satchell's case speaking from the record no one can find fault with him. He was on the side of right and justice and worked for the interest of all Mr. Jeary must certainly stand well in the west as no democrat there seemed to be willing to take the field against him.

No higher compliment could have been paid to the young republicans of Cass county than the nomination of M. D. Polk, for state senator, and every young republican who will this fall cast his first should and no doubt will appreciate this compliment and heartily support their young friend.

Treatment of Whooping Cough.

The value of Mobin's treatment of whooping cough by sulphurous acid is receiving strong confirmation from many sources. Dr. Manly, in The Practitioner, expresses the opinion that, if it was carried out in every case, at the end of six months the disease would be unknown. The method used by him is as follows: The patient is in the morning put into clean clothes and removed elsewhere. All his clothes and toys, etc., are brought into the bedroom, and sulphur is burnt upon a few live coals in the middle of the room. The fire is allowed to remain in the room for five hours, and then the windows and doors are thrown open. The child sleeps in the room the same evening. About twenty-five grams (a little under an ounce) of sulphur to every cubic meter may be burnt; this is equivalent to rather more than ten grams per cubic foot. The other room is fumigated in a like manner during the night; the patient practically living in an atmosphere of diluted sulphurous acid gas for some days, while in several cases the process is repeated at the end of a week.—Science.

Plan for a Young Writer.

A young writer should not expect to be paid for the first articles he writes. He is lucky if he gets them into print at all. It is useful to him to have them printed, for an article in type has a different look from an article in manuscript, and faults and defects that a writer might overlook in written copy are made plain in the printed sheet. The best plan for a young writer is to spoil a good many sheets of paper before he thinks of having anything at all put into print. When he has written something which he thinks is really good enough to be interesting to the public, let him make his first experiments with printer's ink. If he has something to say that is worth saying, and says it in an attractive way, he will find means of getting his articles paid for after a time.—W. H. H. in The Writer.

"I WISH YOU HAD SOAP THAT WOULD FLOAT," a lady said to a clerk in a large grocery store. "You have no idea how ordinary soap is wasted. The servants let it remain in the bottoms of the wash-tubs, dish-pans, and scrubbing-pails, and when the water is poured off, the soap has the consistency of mush, and a new bar must be taken from the box. If the soap would only float, they would see it, and take it out of the water when they were through with it."

The "IVORY SOAP" floats, replied the clerk. Oil will float; and, as the "IVORY SOAP" is made of oils, and is 99 1/100 per cent pure, as a matter of course it will float.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory'" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.
