ROYAL BAKING POWDER Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight adulterated or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER Co., 106 Wall St., New York.

HARRISON'S SOUTHERN POLICY

A Communication to the Editor of a South Carolina Paper.

GREENVILLE, S. C., Nov. 27.—The Greenville Daily News yesterday printed a letter recently received by its editor from General Harrison, and published by his permission. It was written in reply to a letter urging that the southern commercial interests would be relieved from the obstruction caused by doubts and fears regarding the southern policy of the coming administration of General Harrison, and asked that he make some general assurances of his purpose to follow a conservative course towards the south. After stating that he was not ready to make any public utterances on a public question, General Harrison said:

"I understand that you have yourself been satisfied with the expressions made by me in my public utterances to visiting delegations during the campaign. When the surprise and disappointment which some of your people have felt over the result has passed away, and they give some calm thought to the situation, I think they will be as much surprised as I am that they should in thought or speech, impute to me an unfriendliness toward the south. The politics in legislation advised by the republican party, I believe, are wholesome for the whole country, and if those who, in their hearts, believe with us upon these questions, would act with us, some other questions that give you local concern would settle themselves."

Miner Gets His Money.

An express package addressed to P. C. Minor, Omaha, containing $15,000, with $95 express charges, came in on a train from the south today. It was sent from New Orleans, and was one-twentieth of the capital prize of $300,000. Mr. Minor has kept his good fortune a secret, and many conjectures have been made as to who the lucky party is. Ticket 56,621 drew the prize, and was held by some one in Plattsmouth, which the prize list confirmed. The ticket was held by P. C. Minor, of the Burlington & Missouri supply department, and was probably purchased by him for a young lady friend in Omaha.—Omaha Herald.

Room for the Veterans of 1840.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—The inauguration committee proposes to reserve a place in the line for veterans of the election campaign of 1840, and the committee is desirous of hearing from all such persons who would like to be in the parade.

—The W. R. C. wish to return thanks to those who so kindly and creditably assisted at the concert last evening; also, to the public who assisted.

Mrs. M. A. Dickson, Sec'y.

W. R. C.

Every member of the Womans Relief Corps is earnestly requested to be present at our annual election which takes place Saturday Nov. 31st, at 2 o'clock. By order of KATE E. McMAKIN, Pres. EMILY DICKSON, Sec'y.

It is almost certain now that when the recount is made and the decision of the courts rendered, the electoral vote of both Virginia and West Virginia will be cast for Harrison. The fraud business has gone far enough, and Chairman Quay calls a halt.

Why pay big prices for sewing machines when you can get a New Howe at R. Sherwood's for $25.00?

Under the Hat, or the Terrors of Wild Life.

It was on a calm bright morning at the close of November 1888, that a peaceful farmer on the banks of the romantic Platte, that miniature river, which irrigates one of the loveliest parts of Cass county, became the scene of an excitement unusual to the locality in which it occurred, and quite foreign to the homely and unwarlike dispositions of the dwellers in that secluded and hitherto undisturbed region. The time had been, when the lowing of cattle, the quacking of ducks, or the sound of the busy flail, thrashing the grain, were the only noises which occurred to break the calm repose which brooded over its banks; but a sudden change came over that region when Capt. W. D. Jones, Col. Ammi Todd, Lieut. Jessie Richey and private in the rear rank O. P. Smith, entered that lonely spot called Cedar Island after a hard tussle with a tugboat which they dragged for a full half mile hunting for water to reach that lonely spot which is inhabited only with bears, wild cats and deer. At the sound of our iron nerve Capt. Jones' voice, the order was given to fall in line like rows of corn, and to shoot nothing but the pure and innocent deer, and to let wild cats, bears and all other game pass us all unhurt, and when the sound of our trusty guns was heard we could distinguish what game had been the victim of our well tried guns. One would think to see us as we crept through the bush and bramble, that Spotted Tail or Sitting Bull was in our civilized country. After wearing out the knees of our pants and scratching our eyes almost out, we reached the end of that lonely spot. Not a shot was fired, not a life was lost; but our company was somewhat disfigured. As we emerged from the brush we heard our captain's voice, which told us of a discovery he had made. It was the last resting place of a deer or Barnum's horned horse. As we tracked the animal across the rippling stream, we could almost smell venison frying. Our captain who was leading the van came to a stop in the middle of the stream—his eye caught sight of the supposed deer. As it was a long range shot he called his high private from the rear rank who carried one of those good old Winchester, the bullets of which was soaked in salt water in order that the game might not spoil before we reached the fatal spot;

but, before the deadly shot was fired, our captain made out the supposed deer to be the frame work of a well developed cow, whose life was spared on account of its docility. To give a full history of our hunt and the hardships we encountered would be impossible to imagine, suffice to say it was a blood-curdling experience. We at last reached home with a solemn vow to place our guns in a second hand store for sale. Parties who wish to make up a deer hunt can gain some very valuable information of Col. Todd, providing they will keep it under their hat. To be continued in the next annual hunt. Yours under the hat. ADAM HOHN.

Anarchist Sunday Schools

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—The executive committee of the newly organized local anarchist society, known as the Arbeiter Bund, has issued a circular calling a large mass meeting next Sunday for the purpose of devising means by which to found anarchist schools for children throughout the city. The circular was freely distributed today. It invites all anarchists to investigate the society's Sunday schools, of which there are six in Chicago, each located in the rear or in the basement of saloons. One of the schools, in the back room of Richey brother's saloon, at Lincoln avenue and Halsted street, was found to contain this afternoon 120 children, ranging from five to fourteen years of age, seated on long benches, listening intently to what a teacher was explaining to them about Johann Most. The teacher told the children that Spies and Parsons had been murdered by the capitalists, and referred to the dead anarchists as martyrs.

From Wednesday's Daily.

—Wm. E. Paul, who acted as agent for the Metropolitan Manufacturing company here a few months, selling household goods on installments, and who rented the room now occupied by Mr. Ed Threlkeld, as a storeroom, was arrested at Seward for embezzling $75 of the company's money. He was brought to the city this morning by constable Beach, of Lincoln, and placed in charge of Sheriff Eikenbary. He is now confined in the county jail here awaiting trial.

FOR RENT—Residence of C. P. Smith, one block west of Mr. Showalter's. R. F. THOMAS, Agt.

"While thus engaged on work so fine, Where skill and patience must combine, How oft the thought must pain the heart, That after all your care and art, The handsome work that charms the eye Ere long must soiled and ruined lie."

"Oh, no; you make a great mistake, As no such thought our rest can break; For should there come a soil or stain, No ruin follows in their train; However deep or dark they show, The IVORY SOAP can make them go, And all the brilliancy restore, And perfect beauty as before."

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory'"; they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

The city council of Reading, Penn., yesterday passed an ordinance which has become a law, making it unlawful and punishable with a heavy fine for any contractor to employ any persons not citizens of the United States on any city work, such as sewers, reservoirs, public buildings, etc. The ordinance emanates from the Reading labor organizations. The object is to stop the importation of foreign contract labor, and as such is commendable.
