In 1880 Mr. Dana said Cleveland was a good man weighing 250 pounds; ten years later, he says, he is a bad man weighing 350, it evidently agrees with the ex president to be bad.

"The Farmers' Alliance, of Georgia, is issuing pronouncements telling how it is going to "revolutionize" affairs in that quarter. All of which means that the Bourbons will roll up their old 50,000 or 60,000 majorities in the coming elections."

The Massachusetts legislature has just passed the amendment providing for state elections every two years instead of every year as at present. The idea of electing a governor every year would be rather hard on some of these old third terms.

"The German Empire, in its latest shape, has been in existence nearly twenty years, and when the anniversary comes, if Bismarck be alive, he will undoubtedly, for that day at least, hold a bigger place in the minds and hearts of the people of his race than any of the potentates of the nation."

FRIEND KEITHLEY, of the prohibition republican at Weeping Water, speaks very highly of ex-druggist Barnes, and says he is "all right on the liquor question." We don't care much about consistency, but if Mayor Barnes is all right we can prove there is something the matter with Keithley.

The Journal is greatly disturbed because we defended a democratic councilman; we will defend any man be he democrat or republican, from the foul charges of the Journal if we believe him innocent of them; and we think we are minding our own business pretty successfully to, when we do it.

"The senate anti-trust bill has been reported to the house, and there is no doubt of its early passage through the body and its signature by the president. Between the assaults which the trusts will receive at the custom houses and the attacks which they will sustain in the courts, the present republican administration will come very near winding up these gigantic menaces to public weal."

The Burlington route made two very important changes in the official management in Chicago yesterday. Geo. B. Harris was appointed to the second vice presidency of the great system to succeed H. B. Stone. While the resignation of Mr. E. A. Ripley, the general manager, was accepted at the same time Mr. Ripley has earned the reputation of being one of the best railroad men in the country and his place will be filled with great difficulty, it is understood that he resigned to accept the vice presidency of the St. Paul road; this will still leave a vacancy at Chicago which Mr. Geo. H. Holdredge could probably fill better than any one else, though in common with hosts of other western people, the Herald hopes the position may not be tendered him.

This appropriation of $150,000 for the relief of the flood sufferers is the kind of federal interference that the south never objects to; and the north is always willing to vote such success in the Christian spirit of returning good for evil.

The farmers of Cass county are already greatly worried over the continued drought. The stalk ground is fairly dusty while small grain that came up nicely is in bad condition and will die soon if we are not blessed with copious showers.

DAVID CAMPBELL is giving Rush Fellows and W. S. McGrew, of Auburn, a great deal of grief just now. Mr. Campbell is the democratic postmaster of that city and insists on holding down his job, while Rush and McGrew present petitions and memorials with out effect, to the powers at Washington.

G. M. HITCHCOCK, of the World Herald, paid his respects to Rosewater in a very scathing review, in Monday's paper but Rosey came back at him yesterday in the Bee, with his old time vigor. The World Herald is a good paper under the Hitchcock management, but it is not improved by making personal attacks on Rosewater.

JUST as farmers of France are demanding protection, free trade papers like the New York Times, are urging American farmers to embark in free trade. The Times says: "French farmers have long been protesting that they were being ruined by American competition." Our mugwump contemporary is crazier than usual in its long winded harangue.

The Chicago republican National convention resolved that "the gratitude of the Nation to the defenders of the Nation can not be measured by laws. The legislation of Congress should conform to the pledges made by a loyal people, and be so enlarged and extended as to provide against the possibility that any man who honorably wore the Federal uniform shall become an inmate of an almshouse or dependent upon private charity. In the presence of an overflowing treasury it would be a public scandal to do less for those whose valorous service preserved the government." The long lists of pensioners daily reported shows that the promise is being kept.—ex.

The recent revelations in the courts force the democratic New York Star to say: "These disclosures are certain to be injurious, even though they are denied and disproved. They are calculated to increase the suspicions abroad that 'the Grant ring' is quite as domineering and arrogant as the Tweed ring' was, and that only the presence in the controller's office of a political opponent of 'the Grant ring' prevents a wholesale looting of the city treasury such as was witnessed in 1870." No city in any other quarter of the world has been so frequently and persistently looted by its officials as New York. From Tweed and Tammany and Mayor Grant the looters have been good democrats.

The New York legislature, after spending the almost in calculable sum of $18,000,000 on the state capital at Albany has just appropriated $365,000 for repairs on that building. The New York Journal gives a half column, any time to a western stage robbery, and talk about the reflection on the civilization of the rowdy west therefrom, without thinking about the condition of civilization at home. To an outsider who reads of the stolen millions on aqueduct frauds, capital steals, paving steals, official steals from the sheriff, now in the penitentiary, down to the dog catcher, one is lead to believe that the western civilization is the best after all; a little of it in New York just now would certainly be refreshing to the tax payers who have to foot the bills.

The following from a special correspondent of the New York Tribune, residing in Montreal, teaches a lesson on the tariff, that any one except a hide-bound free trader, can comprehend.

"MONTREAL, April 12.—The Canadians are every day becoming more panic stricken over the prospects of the adoption of the McKinley tariff bill at Washington, which they fully realize will result in a financial and industrial, if not a political, crisis here. Farmers and grain dealers realize that the increase of duty on barley will shut the present stock entirely out of the American market, and they are consequently rushing it to the border with all haste. Hundreds of thousands of bushels will be carried across the border within the next week and stored on the American side.

Another curious episode is the publishing of what is known as the alien labor law. This is really an attempt at retaliation against the United States for its contract labor law. The origin of the measure is this: Every year about 25,000 pleasure seekers visit the Thousand Islands. A few of these islands, perhaps one-tenth of the whole number, belong to Canada. But the best boating and fishing waters and picnic grounds are on the Canadian side, and these have always been open to all visitors. With such a large influx of guests from the United States there is of course a great demand for help, both household servants and boatmen. This demand has not been supplied from the American side, and consequently hundreds of Canadians have every year obtained profitable employment on the American islands. Indeed, a large proportion of the population of half a dozen Canadian villages have for years depended upon this patronage for support. The operation of the United States contract labor law, however, has stopped all this, and there has consequently been a loud outcry for retaliation against the United States. The Canadian alien labor law, which will probably soon be passed, will be similar in its provisions to that of the United States, but that it will have any important effect is doubtful, for the number of Americans who seek employment in Canada at any point is very slight indeed.

Public discussion of the motion made by Mr. Charlton in the house of commons some weeks ago has by no means yet subsided. He called attention to what he termed "the alarming exodus of native born Canadian and settlers in Canada of foreign birth to the United States." This exodus, he declared, had amounted in the last twenty years to a total loss to Canada of more than 3,500,000 people. Although his motion for a select committee to inquire into the causes and possible remedy of this exodus was defeated, the matter has been taken up by the press and public, throughout the country. A leading member of parliament expresses the opinion that this emigration, including as it does many of the ablest business men and politicians of the dominion, is due to the fact that Canadians find some difficult or impossible in their own country and to gratify their ambition must go elsewhere. No matter what business they may engage in, the United States tariff shuts them out of the best possible market.

UNCLE SAM TO BUY AT HOME.

New York Press.
There will be no British blankets bought for the war department, or building material imported for new government quarters under the McKinley tariff bill. The present tariff act places on the free list "articles imported for the use of the United States, provided the price of the same did not include the duty." This is omitted from the McKinley bill, and the effect will be to discourage government contracts with foreign contractors, who, under the present law, have an advantage of both the American producer and the honest importer. "The government," says Major McKinley in his report, "ought not to buy abroad what it can buy at home." This is very sound doctrine for people as well as government.

Moreover, the change referred to stops a peculiarly mean sort of fraud. Foreign contractors who are supplying the government under the present law take advantage of their freedom from duty to bring in an extra supply of the kind of goods contracted for to sell in the market in competition with the products of American labor. The McKinley bill is good in what it does not as well as in what it does contain.

The company of eastern gentlemen who invested their means with us largely, giving us the best system of water works in the whole state outside of Omaha, and who have never been able to realize two per cent interest on their cash investment, we are told by the Journal, are to be raided, and water rents that are already unremunerative are to be lowered. This, gentlemen of the council, would be a nice way to induce eastern capital to come among us; to cramp or bankrupt our water company would be a great advertisement for the city. If the water company were even realizing five per cent on their investment they would reduce rates of their own volition, as it would increase consumption somewhat and a reduction could be borne but at the present time it is out of the question.

POSTOFFICE CLERKS.

The estimate for clerk hire has been reduced $300,000 in the general appropriation bill. This is a serious wrong, the men who do the work are the poorly paid clerks; and in no department of the government is this so palpably true as that of the postoffices throughout the country. The kind of economy that asks the laboring man to work for meagre pay is not a kind that will commend itself to fair-minded people. The wages of postoffice clerks, many of whom would be delighted with a day shortened to ten hours, ought to be increased; it would not only keep in the ranks the efficient and well schooled men and women but it would be a matter of fairness and good policy for the government. There are a thousand places where a cutting down of expenses could better be made than in this department of clerk hire, and where it would work a far less hardship. We trust the congressional appropriation committee will look at this matter in a fair manner and will attach to it the importance it deserves.

Health Better Than wealth.

The above advice appeals to all persons, especially to those who to all outward appearances seem hale and hearty, but on whom the impression is daily made that their health is not what it should be.

Many ailments that may be relieved for a short period, only to appear again are as certain in time to undermine the health, as a break in the levee of the Mississippi river, which is hardly seen at first, daily enlarges with the pressure of the waters, and at length lets in a raging flood.

To guard against or to remove disease is the one and most important thing to remember in health or sickness.

To know whom to advise with should be our foremost duty, many do, but the public at large should demand and receive good medical advice for the preservation of health.

The Arakoff Medical Co., with its worldwide reputation in seeking to follow out the principles and aims of the eminent Russian physician, Dr. Arakoff, of Moscow, and his celebrated Russian Hospital treatment, has secured the services of an efficient and experienced medical corps, who will upon application give advice by letter free of charge to persons suffering from any form of disease.

Write and describe your complaint and its symptoms, also give your full name and address on a stamped envelope, and by return mail receive advice for treatment free of expense. Address all communications to:
