Quite a serious accident occurred in the yards at Lincoln yesterday morning. As is usual, the engine on arrival was turned over to the hostler, whose duty it is to handle the engine in the yards till ready to proceed on the run From some cause the engine was driven into some loose cars, demolishing the engine considerably, breaking the hostler's leg and inflicting a scalp wound upon Engineer Sales.

We are inclined to think that an apology is due Mr. Race of the Weeping Water Eagle, for our former statement that he was a believer in the Darwinian theory, and was seeking further knowledge in zoology by climbing into a car of Sells Bros. great menagerie. Mr. Race returned this morning, and we are informed by the same attorney that he was offered by the manager of the great show, a lucrative position as ring master, but as there was no fancy costume in the circus wordrobe that would suit or fit him, his connection with the hippodrome was abandoned for the present.

The President Tells of the Cedar Keys Affair.

COTTRELL WARMLY DENOUNCED.

Senate and House Put in the Day in Discussion of the Silver Question—Paddock's Beef Bill—Col. Canaday's Successor—Other Capital News.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The president sent to the senate in response to a resolution of May 26, requesting information concerning the alleged landing of an armed force from the United States revenue cutter McLane, at Cedar Keys, Fla., and the alleged entry of the houses of citizens by force and their alleged pursuit of citizens of the United States in the surrounding country, a letter containing what he describes as all the information possessed by the executive department relating to the matter inquired about.

"It will be observed," says the president, "that the United States collector of customs at Cedar Keys had been driven, from his office and from the town, and the administration of the cussoms laws of the United States at that port suspended by the violent demonstration and threats of one Cottrell, mayor of place, assisted by his town marshal, Mitchell. If it had been necessary, as I do not think it can be, in any case, for a United States officer to appeal to the local authorities for in the exercise of his duties, the situation at Cedar Keyes did not suggest or encourage such an appeal, for those to whom the appeal would have been addressed were themselves the lawless instruments of the threatened violence. It will always be agreeable to me if the local authorities, acting upon their own sense of duty, maintain the public order in such a way that the officers of the United States shall have no occasion to appeal for the intervention of the general government, but when this is not done, I shall deem it my duty to use the adequate powers vested in the executive to make it safe and feasible to hold and exercise the offices established by the Federal constitution and laws. The means used in this case were, in my opinion, lawful and necessary, and the officers do not seem to have intruded upon any private right in exercising the warrants placed in their hands. The letter dated Aug. 4 last, which appears in the correspondence submitted, appealing to me to intervene for the protection of the citizens of Cedar Keys from it will be noticed, was written before the appointment of the new collector. That the officers of the law should not have had the full sympathy of every good citizen in their efforts to bring these men to merited punishment, is the matter of surprise and regret. It is a very grim commentary upon the condition of social order at Cedar Keys, that only a woman, who had, as she says in her letter, no son or husband who could be made the victim of his malice, had the courage to file charges against this man who was then holding a subordinate place in the customs service."

The papers accompanying the message included the correspondence between the department of justice and Marshal Weeks, and between the treasury department and the custom officers and officers of the revenue cutter McLane. The report of E. L. Defrange, the United States deputy marshal who was sent to Cedar Keys to search for Cottrell and Mitchell with warrants for their arrest, shows that Cottrell was not found but Mitchell was arrested and released on bail. He says that he and Capt. Smyth of the McLane were victimized by the people, who foiled them several times in their efforts to capture Cottrell. The attorney general, he says, has been misinformed in the matter of their searching dwellings unlawfully. In every case, he says, they asked permission, which was cheerfully granted. The reports of Capt. Smyth of the McLane, and J. H. Pinkerton, collector at Cedar Keys, agree with the reports that have been published.

Paddock's Beef Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Mr. Paddock, from the committee on agriculture and forestry, reported to the senate a substitute for the bill reported recently from Mr. Vest's select committee on the transportation of beef and beef products. The bill provides for the inspection of cattle at the place where they are slaughtered and for the inspection of canned beef and other beef products at the place where they are put up; the inspection to be made by Federal officers appointed by the secretary of agriculture. Mr. Paddock says the substitute reported by him has been accepted by Mr. Vest.

Col. Canaday's Successor.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—A Republican senatorial caucus has been summoned for Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, when the question of a successor to Sergeant-at-Arms Canaday will be discussed and settled. Col. Canaday's resignation takes effect on the 18 proximo. The fight for the position at present seems to be confined to but two candidates—Ex-Representative Valentine of Nebraska, and Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms Charles B. Read of Maine.

DEPEW IN CHICAGO.

The Champion Post Prandial Word Wielder Banqueted by World's Fair People.

CHICAGO, June 7.—The banquet tendered by the citizens of Chicago to Chauncey M. Depew in the grand banquet hall of the Auditorium, was the finest ever given in this city. The doubts about his indisposition preventing the distinguished guest being present were set at rest shortly after grace had been said, by Mr. Depew entering the hall and taking his seat. One hundred and twenty-five prominent gentlemen discussed an elaborate menu of twelve courses on tables ornamented with tastefully arranged flowers, while an orchestra rendered melodious selections. Chairman Lyman J. Gage opened the intellectual menu by a happy address of welcome, to which Mr. Depew responded in his most felicitious vein, pledging himself personally and officially as commissioner from New York that his state would do all in its power to contribute to Chicago's efforts in making the world's fair a success.

Edward G. Mason acted as toastmaster, and the following toasts were responded to in their order: "We, the People, "Justice J. M. Harlan; "Columbus," Franklin MacNeagh; "Site," Franklin H. Head; "America," Emil G. Hirsch; "Posterity," James S. Norton.

GRADUATION AT ANNAPOLIS.

The Exercises of the Day Followed by a Grand Ball.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 7.—The graduation day exercises took place at the naval academy. The cadets were marched to the front of the chapel, where they stacked arms. They then marched into the chapel, where Hon. William A. Northcott of Illinois, of the board of visitors, addressed them. The cadets then came out of the chapel and resumed their arms and were marched to the band stand, where the diplomas were delivered to the graduates by Admiral Kimberly, in the absence of Secretary Tracy. After the delivery of the diplomas three cheers were given for Admiral Kimberly and three cheers for those left behind. The usual large attendance was present to witness the exercises and each graduate was heartily applauded as he received his diploma. The June ball of the naval cadets was held in the armory. It surpassed all former efforts. The ball room was handsomely decorated. Around the walls bayonets, cutlasses, swords, and muskets were artistically arranged. The band stand was a perfect miniature fort. Eight brass cannons peeped from the green sodding.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 7.—The color question is causing trouble in the postoffice in this city. Miss Vorngesher, of the money-order division was, granted leave of absence and her place was filled from the civil list, Mr. Hollins Scott, a negro, being appointed. This so offended Mr. Sheppard Knapp, a clerk in that division, that he resigned his position, saying that he would not work with a negro. Scott was only put on temporarily, and had worked but a few hours when Mr. Knapp tendered his resignation. The government still conducts business at the old stand.
