EDITOR ROSEWATER has threatened to emigrate to Africa if the prohibition amendment carries. Now look out for a big majority for the amendment.—Hastings Gazette Journal.

THERE are men scattered through Nebraska, who came here from Iowa, who are forever and eternally damning prohibition. Some way or the other the town they left because of prohibition, according to their say so, is killed dead—than a "door-nail" and yet they claim that more intoxicating liquors are sold there now than there were before the law passed, "queer haint it?" There are other gentlemen that come from Iowa that say that prohibition in Iowa does prohibit, criminal and prison statistics prove in that state that it lessens crime and lowers taxes.—Beat Pilot.

It is not generally known that Bismarck has an adopted son, now 20 years of age, and a Frenchman. It was one evening during the Franco-Prussian war that Bismarck entered his sleeping apartments, twenty-five miles from Paris, and was surprised to find a tiny baby boy curled up asleep on his pillow. The mother had left a note saying that her husband had been killed at Sedan, and despair and want had forced her to give up her child. Bismarck scratched his head over his doubtful prize of war, but finally accepted it and sent it by special nurse to Berlin, where he had it well cared for. He has given the boy a good education and he is now a model young man and devotedly attached to the old Prince.

THE colored people of the United States number upward of 7,000,000. Twenty-six years ago more than nine-tenths of them were slaves—persons incapable of acquiring or holding property of any kind. Statistics show that the people of that race now own taxable property of the assessed value of $270,000,000 or $29,000,000 more than twice the assessed value of the property of the three states of Mississippi, Arkansas and Florida. And yet the great democratic organs of the south, and many in the north, hold that these people, simply because they are not white, shall have no representation in the national legislature or in any other legislative body—shall neither be eligible to office nor vote for white men who are eligible. The proposition is simply to make 7,000,000 people perpetual hereditary aliens in the land of their birth.—Lincoln News.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR. The conference of our local columns it will be seen that the Cass County delegation to the state convention has been instructed for Hon. R. B. Windham for Lieutenant Governor.

Mr. Windham is one of Plattsmouth's most prominent and successful business men, having been in the practice of law here for the past seventeen years. He has always had the confidence of the public and particularly the farming class. Saturday's convention, composed principally of Alliance men, instructed the delegation for him without a dissenting vote. Mr. Windham served from this county in the 15th, 16th and 17th (extra) sessions of the Nebraska Legislature.

In the 16th and 17th sessions he served as chairman of the judiciary committee and speaker pro tem of the House during which period, when the speaker was absent, he presided over the deliberations of that body, to its entire satisfaction.

Mr. Windham has also been a member of the state central committee and filled other positions of trust and responsibility. Cass County as yet has never had recognition on the state ticket. With the fourth strongest delegation to the convention, she has a right to insist on recognition of her claims at this time and the HERALD hopes that the Cass County delegation will cling tenaciously to our rights to recognition.

It will cheer up the bachelors of Wyoming, Idaho and the Dakotas to learn that the census shows that the women of Massachusetts still hold out in great numbers. They outnumber the men by 75,000. The Massachusetts woman is a born school teacher, and if there is anything the males of the north-west want more than another it is plenty of school mistresses. They prefer beginners to experienced teachers every time.

An ingenious New Yorker has announced an invention that will perceptibly reduce the business of the divorce courts and add a very emphatic negative to the question concerning the failure of matrimony. It is an electric clock, connected by wires with the kitchen stove. At the proper hour in the morning the hands of the clock send an electric spark to light the fire that has been prepared beforehand. As soon as the temperature of the kitchen reaches an agreeable point the rising mercury sounds an alarm that brings the sleepers to consciousness. It is one of the great inventions of the century.

AT the big fire in New York the other day when the Western Union building burned, a "life gun" carrying a line was used to rescue some of the people in the tenth story. This gun carries a 44-caliber blank cartridge, in which is rolled a slender line, 500 feet long. It can be fired 300 feet into the air, and the slender line is used to carry a heavier rope up to the top of high buildings, when all other means of escape are cut off. It is similar to the torpedo guns used in the life-saving service to throw a line to a disabled vessel, and offers to be a very useful adjunct to the apparatus to the fire department where there are high buildings beyond the reach of ladders. This was the first opportunity the New York fire department had to test their torpedo gun, and it was successful.

ONE of the most famous printing houses that ever existed was that founded at Antwerp by Christopher Plantin in 1555, and which continued under the control of his descendants until 1867, a period of three hundred and twelve years. The buildings in which the business of this remarkable establishment was conducted, together with all the artistic collections of the house, its ancient presses, and its old furniture, are now the property of the city of Antwerp, and have been converted into a public museum, which, with its wondrous treasures of art and literature, may well be regarded as one of the most interesting and unique in Europe. In an article entitled "Plantin-Moretus," to appear in Harper's Magazine for August, Octavia Hensel will describe a recent visit to this remarkable museum. This article will be fully illustrated from photographs by J. Mease, of Antwerp.

FRIENDSHIPS OF GIRLS.

If you write a letter to a man friend, don't put in black and white that you are "his forever," or that you send a great deal of love, even only in jest, but remain either his "very cordially" or "very sincerely". Sincerity and cordiality are possible even with acquaintances that do not demand either love or an affection that does not last forever. I wish girls knew how very ill bred it is to give, or permit familiarities in word or pen from either men or women. Learn to keep your personal affairs to yourself. Learn to believe that your first name can only be used by those connected with you by ties of blood, or having the right given by a deep love. Believe me, you will never regret your self respect as shown in this way, and you will never cease lamenting permitting a too familiar intercourse, that in the future will rise up before you like a skeleton at a feast. A perfect friendship is like a rose, after the time of its glory is passed the leaves may be thrown into a jar, covered with spices and salt to bring out the fragrance forever, and be a delight to you wherever it is. A friendship that is too familiar may also be likened to a rose, but one that early loses its leaves; they fall upon the ground and no one treasures them enough to gather them up and keep them as a memento of days that have gone by. For a while there is a sickly sweet smell and then they are blackened and discolored, and no odor comes from them. Conclude then, in forming your friendships, to make those only that can, when time separates you two, make a pleasant memory for the future, and one that will not cause a blush to come upon your face.

The republican convention held at Weeping Water Saturday, was a harmonious one and it nominated a strong ticket.

FASHION'S NEWEST COLORS.

A long time ago people used to think that blue was essentially a color for blondes and angels. Nobody can dispute its being the color for angels, but it certainly is not the one to be chosen by a blonde. The fair skin looks cold enough, and where blue, specially pale blue, is put near it, the effect is very undesirable, because what was clear white before becomes a palor now. Blondes had much better wear any of the rose shades, bright scarlet, warm brown, or dark green, leaving the very trying pale blue to the brown-haired lassie with a bright color, or the warm brunette whose skin does not know the unsightly touch of sallowness. Everybody likes a rose-colored lining, and, to be in vogue this season, everybody ought to have a rose-colored frock—in cotton, or wool, in silk or tulle, it is always most charitable in bringing out one's best features and toning down one's worst. Combined with white the pink shades are as dainty as a bit of old china, and will suggest the pretty pink and white ladies, whom Watteau painted on fans, who played at little Trianon with Marie Antoinette, laughed and jested, and yet did not fear when they had to face death on the guillotine for the sake of the king and the queen.—Ladies Home Journal.

The United States is bigger than was supposed. Surveyors have just discovered that the eastern boundary of Alaska should be twenty-eight miles further east than has been claimed heretofore. The new strip takes in some valuable gold mines, which will add to the wealth of the United States.—Sidney Telegraph.

Iowa's democratic governor has committed an unjustifiable offense against law and decency by pardoning Fred Munchrath, sentenced to the penitentiary for four years for his connection with the conspiracy for the murder of Had-dock. Governor Boies has by this act won the merited scorn of every honest man and woman.—Kearney Hub.

From Monday's Daily. There were eight of the Western Union Telegraph operators down to attend the funeral of the late Mrs. Dalrymple Jones yesterday.

Good services were held at the Christian church yesterday, there being three candidates for baptism. The pulpit was occupied in the evening by Prof. James A. Beattie, of the Cotner University at Lincoln.

This morning a large elderly gentleman stepped off No. 4 and made inquiries for Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Wise; but upon being informed that they had left the city he again boarded the train, as he was intending to call on them for a few days. A reporter learned his name was Ezekiel Brown, and an old friend of the Wises, and lived at Crooked Creek, Ind.

We are in receipt of the annual catalogue of Cotner University 1889-90 Lincoln. Among the college students of that institution we note the following from Cass county: Nettie Foster, Union; Chas. Hart, Elmwood; Jos. Morrow, Alex. Walker, Murray; Grace Wiles, Lorin Wiles, Alba Young, Howard C. Young, Plattsmouth.

Everybody knows little Ed Pfeiderer the 13 year old lad that sells the Omahs Bee for Messrs. Lehnhoff Bros. Ed sleeps in the store and Saturday night he says he heard some one at the back door and also saw a man at the window; and just to frighten him away he fired his little 32, the ball taking effect in the door. The boy thinks it was some one intending to make an entrance into the store and that his firing the shot put the would be burglar to flight. The burglar that does enter that store while Ed is in there would better be bullet proof for that boy has the nerve to shoot.

Eli Perkins. From Tuesday's Daily.

For a sweepstakes prevaricator comment us to the Eli Perkins of the Journal. For further particulars see report of the county convention at Weeping Water, Saturday, in last night's issue of that paper. The only confusion in the convention, if confusion it might be called, was occasioned by a number of the delegations arriving late, owing to a heavy rain the night previous and the forenoon of the day, which cut the time short for the transaction of the business of the convention, and in consequence the chairman was compelled to hurry the work along, and in order to do so he was compelled at times to wield the gavel quite heavily, and also to be a little abrupt in shutting off debate.

The only way we can account for the Journal man's peculiar report of the convention is either that it was his first experience in a political gathering, or he must have sampled a little too often the beer and whisky which he declares was plentiful and on tap. So far as the strength or weakness of a republican ticket is concerned we think the prevaricator not the best authority. We are in possession of the fact that one of the defeated candidates at the convention has already been approached by the "ancient enemy" to try to array that gentleman against the ticket but the old trick failed and you'll find the party will support the ticket, and it will be elected by the old time majority.

License to wed was issued by Judge Ramsey today to Mr. Lon Miller, aged 21, and Miss Lizzie Rice, aged 17, all of Plattsmouth. The parents of Miss Rice were required to give their consent before the county judge.

The 24th annual session of the national encampment G. A. R. will be held at Boston, Mass., on the 12th day of August next. The B. & M. will sell, for this occasion, round trip tickets to Boston at the one way limit first class rate.

The second ward school is to be furnished with 33 new double desks, which were ordered yesterday of the Burlington Company. This is a needed improvement, as the old furniture was not at all suitable for small pupils, the desks being so high that the little ones could not reach the floor with their feet.

Pneumonia and Bronchitis carry off One-Third of the Human Race. It is not generally known that Pneumonia and Bronchitis carry off one-third of the human race, but such are the facts, and what is more surprising, both of the above diseases result from neglecting a common ordinary cold. A Cough should never be neglected. If it is, every time you catch cold you cough harder, and it sticks by you longer. Ballard's Horehound Syrup is the best remedy in the world for Pneumonia, Bronchitis and all Throat and Lung troubles. If you have any Throat trouble, call for Ballard's Horehound Syrup and take no other.
