I was persuaded quite against my inclinations to permit the use of the park for this picnic, because I disapprove of Sunday picnics and only consented on assurance from the committee supported by several responsible citizens of Plattsmouth that it should be a peaceable affair. Please state this for me."

CLOSE OF THE CONCLAVE.

Rev. Frank Evans' Speech the Event of the Day.

Yesterday closed the conclave of the Missouri, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska Odd Fellows. At the grounds a goodly sized platform had been erected and seats were provided for the large crowd of people, and to say that all who attended enjoyed themselves, would be putting it mildly, to say the least. First on the programme was music by the band. Grand Chaplain O'Neill, of Nebraska, then led in prayer.

The address of welcome was delivered by Past Grand Judge S. M. Chapman in a few well chosen words and the response was made by Dr. J. W. Humphrey.

The address of the day was delivered by Rev. Frank Evans, under the management of the Odd Fellows, was one of the ablest ever given in this city upon secret societies and its advantages, and after holding the audience fully two hours not one could be seen leaving, still anxious to hear how well he ran through the ritual of the order by beginning with the various degrees of the lodge and dwelling much upon the Rebecca's, the advancement they were making in their efforts, and gave much encouragement to continue as they should, remembering that they were the promoters of moral and christian advantages and while this was done a still farther teaching was given within the walls of the lodge rooms and from there a worthy number of the church circle. Along with his appeals for the fraternity and church his witty remarks, mingled with his eloquence was much appreciated and many times applauded. His explanation of those that oppose the various organizations was well handled and from his thirty-eight years in the ministry was able to take observations and balance their faith and labors. Then on the other hand their aims and teachings to which he complied to the vs of God, and appealed to all Odd Fellows to bear in mind the first principle teaching of the order, and that was "you cannot become an Odd Fellow in spirit and in truth unless you are grateful to your creator, faithful to your country and fraternal to your fellow man." With this in view, yet many claiming themselves an Odd Fellow was only a stumbling stone to the teachings. They disregard them, so do many of the members of churches for this reason, neither the order or the church should stand condemned for the acts of one member, but to continue to soften his heart by kindly acts that he may realize the duty he owes to God. Again to become faithful to his country he must be a law abiding citizen and to aid in its welfare and educate and train the youth into assisting the American future, comparing Prof. Edison in his great store of knowledge for the commercial field of the world and that of the lad who is wasting valuable time in yellow back literature and from that to still worse.

With his audience spellbound he again recognized the importance of such a gathering, that it brought forth that fraternal feeling in the fellow man, that the stranger from the eastern coast of America to the one in the northern and western mountains in the greatest continent on earth may meet and exchange friendly greetings.

Before dismissing this vast audience he impressed upon their minds the importance in FRIENDSHIP as being the means of uniting mighty nations into one great mind and subduing great wars as in olden days when mighty kings ruled the land, Cove united the family, the neighbor and its surroundings, while TRUTH was one of God's greatest laws, that anything but a truthful man was only a violation to the commandments of morals, religion and society. His teachings should be remembered by all that had the pleasure of hearing him. Too much cannot be said in favor of this gentleman.

The Rebecca's served dinner and supper to the visitors in Merges' old store and in the evening they served ice cream and cake to all Odd Fellows and their friends.

At 8 o'clock the special from Council Bluffs pulled out of the B. & M. depot, homeward bound and with kind words for their treatment while guests of the Rebecca's and Odd Fellows of Plattsmouth.

SHING NOMINAED

Cass County Recognized by the Democratic State Convention.

BOYD GETS FIRST PLACE.

Dr. Alex Bear Secures Second Place --Sprague for Secretary of State--Wahlquist for Auditor--Other Notes.

At 8:05 last night, Hon. John A. McShane advanced to the stage and called the convention to order.

The secretary then read the call, after which the selection of a temporary chairman was in order, William Neville, of North Platte, and Wm. G. Hastings, of Crete, were placed in nomination. Hastings received 273 votes while Mr. Neville received 266. Mr. Hastings nomination was then made unanimous.

The convention then selected Coggeshall, of Douglas, Weber, of Cedar, and Gatewood, of Dawson, as temporary secretaries. A committee of five was appointed on credentials and a recess taken to give them time to report. After an hour the committee reported. After the resolution committee had been appointed and reported, convention proceeded to ballot for a candidate for governor.

M. V. Gannon, of Douglas, presented the name of Hon. James E. Boyd. Senator John Dern presented the name John H. Shervin, mayor of Fremont.

The vote for governor was then called and the chairman announced the vote as follows:

Boyd	440
Shervin	100
Brown	92
Scattering	11

On motion of Mr. Shervin the nomination was made unanimous with a yell that shook the roof.

Loud calls for Boyd followed, and the chair appointed Mr. John E. Shervin and Mr. Frank Martin to escort the nominee of the convention to the rostrum.

Before Mr. Boyd made his appearance Charley Brown put on his coat and left the house.

The new nominee made his appearance and was ushered to the stage amid the most vociferous applause and addressed the immense audience as follows:

"Gentlemen of the convention--You have conferred upon me the highest honor within the gift of the democratic party of Nebraska, and for this very great mark of your esteem and confidence I am truly grateful, and sincerely thank you.

"On account of the present political situation, the distinction you have shown me may not be, as heretofore, a barren compliment, for I believe that, by hard work and united effort, our hopes will end in full fruition and the entire democratic ticket can be elected. [Applause.]

"The duties of a governor of a state are mostly executive and but little more is expected of him except that to see the laws are faithfully, impartially, honestly and economically administered, and, if elected, this shall be my earnest purpose. But, should occasion require my advice or co-operation in the shaping of new legislation or my interposition to prevent dangerous or detrimental legislation, my endeavor shall be to do the right and act on all matters for the best interests of the people.

"As most of you personally know, my life has been one of acts and works, not one of words; one of practice, not of theory, and if my fellow-citizens show their confidence in me and choose to place me in office all I can promise is, that I will do all in my power to give to the state an honest and fearless administration of affairs to the best of my abilities.

"Gentlemen, I again thank you for the honor you have bestowed upon me."

Dr. Alexander Bear, of Madison county, was placed in nomination for lieutenant-governor, also J. R. Burk, of Gage, was presented with the following result:

The name of M. P. Holland, of Custer county, was placed in nomination for auditor of public accounts.

Adams county presented the name of R. B. Wahlquist, of Hastings.

Butler county placed in nomination the name of C. D. Casper. Mr. Casper was paid a glowing compliment by Matt Miller, of Butler, as a man had been tried and not found wanting, and his county guaranteed that his nomination would add strength to the ticket.

Another candidate was John W. Ferguson, of Kearney county, and his nomination was followed by that of Charles W. Poole, of Johnson county.

The result of the first ballot was as follows:

Ferguson	40
Casper	39

Holland	68
Poole	134
Wahlquist	310

Mr. Wahlquist's nomination was made unanimous.

Hon. Frank E. White presented in a short and pointed speech the name of our fellow townsman, Wm. H. Cushing, and if it was not for the fact that Mr. Cushing is on the wrong side of the fence he would be elected this fall by a rousing majority. K. K. Hayden and J. V. Wolfe, both of Lancaster, were placed in nomination. On the first ballot the vote stood:

Cushing	270
Hayden	255
Wolfe	3

On motion of Calhoun Cushing's nomination was made unanimous.

CONVENTION NOTES.

When Will Hastings of Saline was placed in nomination for temporary chairman Mr. Gering of Cass thought it was George Hastings, republican nominee for attorney general. Mr. Gering fainted for a few moments, but was restored as the ballot progressed.

Frank White of the Cass county delegation, who is in the race this fall for state senator, explained the situation to the Dundy delegation which voted for Boyd for temporary chairman.

Lou May, Nebraska's democratic fish commissioner, was on hand, but did not take any lively interest in the matter. He had several German carp and wall-eyed pike with him.

Colonel Todd of Cass was not present, but many of the orators would have given worlds for the use of his lungs.

Mr. Bryan's free trade speech is getting to be like the tariff--it needs revision.

Plattsmouth has a Few.

The following is clipped from the Weeping Water Republican:

"Did you ever size up some of the young (men) things in our city that live and thrive on our streets. You can't call them men. They have stamped on their physiognomy everything except something good. In the use of profanity and smutty talk they are adepts. Not a merchant in the city but keeps his eye on them from the time they enter until they leave his store. They probably buy 10 cents worth of tobacco every week and steal 50 cents worth of this or that article. No farmer's wagon is safe from their clutches, and the only good they are to any place is once in ten years when the census is taken. They count then as much as a man.

Mrs. Fred Gorder and daughter, Miss Louise, returned yesterday from a four weeks' visit at Watertown, Wis., with relatives.
