

Married.
 From Tuesday's Daily.
 At the Swedish church by the Rev. Quist, Mr. Thoren and Miss Ida Peterson, on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. The groom is a carpenter in the B. & M. shops and the bride is a sister of Mrs. Gus Johnson, both parties being among our best citizens.

After the ceremony the bride and groom with their friends repaired to one of Mr. Hull's houses on Winterstein Hill, which had been nicely furnished by Mr. Thoren, where a splendid supper was enjoyed by all present. The Herald extends congratulations.

Plattsmouth had six passengers to Chicago yesterday and one from Grinnell, Iowa. The South Park band of ten pieces has fully organized and makes the third cornet band in this city.

Mrs. Despain, mother of Mrs. W. H. Picketts and Albert Despain, has been very sick today. As she is 76 years of age her friends appeared to be quite uneasy about her.

C. E. Wescott contemplates the erection of another house in South Park, this would make five. The thoughts suggest itself that we ought to have a few more C. E. Wescotts in town.

Bryan had as a background, on the stage with him, the following illustrious scions of democracy: T. T. Wilkenson, Pat. McCallan, Jacob Vallery, Sr., Alderman Gutsche, Wm. Neville, Wm. H. Cushing, Mathew Gering and Frank E. White.

Talk about the originality and logic of the tariff dia triba we listened to the other evening. We have a half dozen or more plain mechanics in the Burlington shop here who know more about the tariff and its history in a minute than Bryan ever knew or will know and they know it well too.

The output of the electric lamp factory has been increased to 300 per day. They ship in barrels containing 250 lamps each; the following points having been shipped to in one day last week: St. Louis, Columbus, Neb., Corning, Ia., Keokuk, Ia., and Eau Claire, Wis. The factory is a success and no mistake.

Pension Claims.

James S. Mathews, the pioneer and very successful pension agent of this city, wrote commissioner Raum some days ago as follows:

GREEN B. RAUM, Commissioner of Pensions—What does the new pension act mean by the provision contained in Section two of the act. "Mental or physical disability of a permanent character, not the result of their own vicious habits, which incapacitates them from the performance of manual labor in such a degree as to render them unable to earn a support."

In a case where a man practicing a profession and able to earn a living thereby, but totally unable from effects of army life and disability incurred thereby to earn a living by manual labor, can he come in for a pension under this act?

To which Commissioner Raum penned the following reply:

J. S. MATHEWS.

"In response to your communication of the 18th, ulto., herewith returned, I have to advise you that a soldier of the late war who is suffering from any disability not the result of his own vicious habits, has status to apply for a pension under the act of Jan. 27, 1890, without regard to his present financial condition, or income from whatever source.

The financial condition of any invalid claimant is not considered under any existing law." Very Respectfully,
 GREEN B. RAUM, Commissioner.

The above is a clear, liberal construction of the statute which will be of interest to many of our readers.

Famine in Ireland.

The following from the associated press dispatches gives a very gloomy outlook for the condition of the poor in Ireland: DUBLIN, Aug. 26.—At a meeting of the national league here today Timothy Healy, referring to the potato blight, said nothing stood between the people and starvation during the coming winter. The government was represented as being most anxious to provide employment through building new railways, but how could the railway act recently passed be held to 'prove the government's intention to meet the incoming famine? Besotted stupidity marked the conduct of the executive. It might not be legal for tenants to withhold their land rents during the period of distress, but the man who should pay his rent and leave his family to starve would be little better than an assassin. Let landlords support the rent-payers.
