HON. JOHN C. WATSON for float representative is a strong nomination, and one that will be well received by this county, his record in the last legislature having been a credit to the counties of Otoe and Cass. It goes without saying that he will be elected by an increased majority.

ONE of the most extensive marriages on record was performed a few days ago at the Winnebago Indian reservation eighteen miles north of Bancroft, Neb. Sixty Indian couples were married as white people marry, in order to be entitled to their annuity from the government.—Meru Record.

VOL. ONE, No. one of the Alliance Knight, a new paper just issued at Blue Hill, Webster county, is before us, and is a very creditable paper, though Mr. Shields we opine will have his hands full trying to show the good people why they should support Blatherskite McKeighan as against an able man that has for years been fighting for the principles they pretend to cherish.

A DAM, to develop 20,000 horse power is to be constructed across the Missouri river, near Helena, Mont. It will be a timber crib structure, 47 ft. high and 800 ft. long, forming an impounding reservoir with an area of 429 miles. The water will be taken from above the dam to the turbines by a tunnel 15 ft. by 17 ft. cross section driven through a rock promontory. The total cost is estimated at $100,000. The power developed is to be transmitted electrically to Helena, thirteen miles distant.—Ex.

WE cheerfully announce the name of S. L. Thomas of Five Mile Creek for senator. Mr. Thomas is one of Cass county's oldest settlers, coming to Nebraska when but a boy. He has stood by the republican party for over thirty-five years, and to make his interest still stronger is vice-president of the Farmers' Alliance, and by the way is fully qualified to represent the people of old Cass. Mr. T. is a farmer and a stock raiser, lives on a farm and earns his bread by the sweat of his brow. He is the poor man's friend and should receive the full support of every son of toil, republican and alliance man.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

MR. BRECKINRIDGE has no need to protest against the action of Dudley's Floaters in the House. Arkansas has protested for him with some 30,000 Democratic majority.—St. Louis Republic.

Arkansas may have protested against the action of the House in throwing Mr. Breckinridge out of a seat to which he was not elected. Some of his old friends in the second district, which he claimed to represent, may have protested, but their protest did not prevent a majority 1,933 for the Republican ticket in that district last Monday. The official figures show this, and whatever the protests of Mr. Breckinridge, the St. Louis Republic, and Arkansas Democrats, the figures go to show that the district is reliably Republican, and that Breckinridge did not represent the district, but occupied the seat by the aid of murder and ballot-box thievery.—Inter Ocean.

THE 27th day of September has been fixed upon as the proper time for the adjournment of congress. No one is being in an early one of the Lodge bill here in land.

IS IT A TAX?

WHEREVER the facts are followed out the fallacy of the free trade argument is shown. The free trade advocate claims that the duty is paid by the American consumer, because, he argues, the protected product always costs at least the market price of the article plus the duty added. This was all there was of President Cleveland's celebrated message which cost him the Presidency of the United States. Take for instance the single article of steel rails, a favorite product of the free trader, when discussing the tariff, and what do we find? In 1867, only two thousand and odd tons of steel rail was made in this country. The duty at that time was placed at seventy four dollars and some odd cents per ton and the rails were worth $166 per ton. Under this high duty the production of steel rails increased inside of three years until there was over thirty thousand tons made in the year 1870, and the price had run down to $106.75 per ton. At this time congress listening to the free trader, who wanted to relieve the consumer of the oppressive duty (1), reduced the duty to twenty eight dollars per ton, and under this protection, which still enabled our manufacturer to continue in the business, the production increased until 1872, we produced 83,991 tons, and yet, the price instead of continuing to fall under the reduction of duties, rose to $112 per ton. In 1873 congress still following the clamor of the free trader, again reduced the duty to $25.20 per ton, and the following year the price rose to $120 per ton, and during that year there was over 115,000 tons of rails made in the country. In 1875 congress again raised the duty to $28 per ton, which duty remained in force till 1883, and we produced that year, 1,148,709 tons, and the price ran down to $37.75 per ton, only $9 in excess of the duty, which by free trade theory, the consumer was paying. In 1885 steel rails sold in this country as low as $25 per ton, or three dollars less than the duty which our free trade friends, as per theory, would have the consumer pay. After this, congress put the duty down to $17 per ton, and since then the price has run up at times as high as $38 per ton, and today is about $33 per ton in Chicago. This is the history of a single article, which the foreign manufacturer was continually besieging our government to destroy the duty upon in the name of the poor consumer; but, thanks to a stalwart republican party in congress, their plea for free rails was unheeded, and today we manufacture more steel rails than any other country on the face of the globe, and at the same time we pay our laborers double the wages paid for a like employment in other countries. This is FACTS against THEORY, and is pretty good proof that the "added duty" is not a tax.

THE Lancaster democrat is a democrat, as is a democrat, and as to the doctrine of democratic infallibility with becoming grace and meekness. Although that section of the great party of reaction and obstruction have been pretending to the prohibitionists of that county that they were "in it" with them and have been engaged with Bishop Skinner and other doctors of the total abstinence sanhedrin in running temperance tickets in times past, when the crucial test was applied in the county convention not long since, delegates were found who could exclaim, "I am a champion of temperance from a time when the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, yet I am in favor of not only swallowing the democratic platform but I am in favor of a resolution saying that it is our sentiments on the free whisky question and Editor Calhoun and all the rest of the martyrs who have boastfully voted the democratic ticket since Hec was a pup, and who have stood side by side with Bishop Skinner in the great and glorious work of founding and rebuilding the House of the Lord on strictly temperance granite, cast themselves down before the dogma of democratic infallibility and took theirs straight with the rest of the adherents of that church." Now these statesmen will proceed to elect strictly temperance advocates to fill the various offices in Lancaster county, and we suppose Bros. Skinner and Hardly will fall into line and help on the great reform.

THE Journal gives itself away by making a grand kick about the Mormons voting the republican ticket in Wyoming. Because the democratic party gets every socialist vote, every anarchist vote, every vote in the south, that is opposed to law, order and fair elections, the Journal thinks they of necessity are entitled to this other "twin relic of barbarism," the Mormon oligarchy, and then raves over a pretended failure to get the vote which by nature and instinct belongs to them. But it is only a pretense, for no man in all Wyoming has the hardihood to claim that the Mormons voted anything but the straight democratic ticket.

Hair Jewelry work.—Leave orders at Dovey's store or Mrs Wise's millinery store, on Main street.

E. A. STROPER will be one of the representatives from Cass; the democrats universally concede this, and a good one he will make too.

THE World-Herald is sawing wood these autumn days, instead of Mr. Richards. And it is a mighty sorry, sickly specimen of human intelligence behind that World-Herald buck saw.

WE would like a little consistency on the part of the democracy. Why do they charge up all the boodling to Speaker Reed? The returns show that it was "ketchin" up there in the pine tree state and that the democratic la grippe prevailed everywhere.

THE manner in which Wyoming offset Maine is especially cheering to our neighbor, the Journal. Yet if the whole country offsets Maine in the same vigorous manner, there would not be enough of the democratic party left to make a decent funeral.

W. B. SHRYOCK has resigned his position as chairman of the democratic county central committee and that old boosier war horse, Conrad Schlater has been put in his place. While the change may have lost the party a certain amount of cunning, it has gained in stalwart bourbonism. Conrad is not a locofo.

W. J. CONNELL starts from Washington this week and will be at home to his friends until after November 4th. For a first term Mr. Connell has without any question made a most brilliant record, and today stands side by side with ten or eleven of the leading men in congress. With the experience Mr. Connell has had we may rightfully expect much of him during the next term to which he will be elected November.

MAYBE the democratic press will come around in favor of the Lodge election bill yet. To hear the whimping of the World-Herald over the splendid majority of Speaker Reed and its gloomy predictions of the downfall of republican institutions on account of corruption which permeates American elections (in the republican states in the north). Something like the Lodge bill would be a good thing, wouldn't it?

THE Portland Oregonian says that the Oregon girl who disgraced her family by eloping with her father's hired man to the Palouse country several years ago, came back recently and paid off a big mortgage on the old man's farm, that was about to be foreclosed. What's the matter with changing the old adage about "giving the boys a chance" into "give the girls a chance," and see what would happen. We have great faith in the girls.

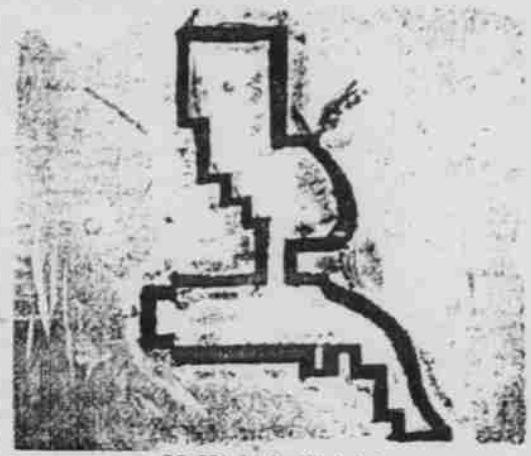

THE TARIFF is a tax! Poor benighted farmer in Maine, poor ignorant farmer and ranchman in Wyoming, you have been farming for years and ought to know all about it, what a pity you have not got the intellect of Col. Sherman of this city. While many of you are no doubt growing rich, yet you are robbed every day and don't know it,—suckers, suckers; but there are people who will enquire which is the sucker. A tariff is a tax, preacher, or a farmer who has grown rich under the beneficent influence of a protective tariff.

THE southern states have no cause to complain this year. The cotton crop amounts to 7,311,322 bales. This yield is 373,000 bales larger than the yield of last year, and a quarter of a million bales larger than the crop of two years ago. Prices have been satisfactory and an investigation into the condition of the southerner shows that he is prosperous enough this year to vote the straight republican ticket. He would do it, too, if it had not been born and bred into him to vote with the party of calamity and mossbackism.—State Journal.

NEWSTEAD ABBEY, which Washington Irving so lovingly and perfectly described, has been for many years a private residence. At one time the estate of Lord Byron, it was sold to Col. Wildman, who is said to have expended more than a million dollars in restoring the buildings and beautifying the grounds. It is now the home of Col. Webb, the friend and companion of Dr. Livingstone, and it was here that the great missionary wrote his books. Of course many interesting memories cluster around the historic old abbey. It was here that Lord Byron used to see ghosts at night in his looking glass, and his bedroom in the old haunted tower, is still pointed out to visitors. Not long ago, Joaquin Miller, being a guest of Col. and Mrs. Webb, in a spirit of romantic adventure, spent a few nights in this chamber, declaring that if the ghost of Byron did not appear, his faith in the reappearance of the dead would be greatly shaken. An account of what really did appear, together with much interesting information about the abbey, is contained in an article entitled "Nights at Newstead Abbey," which Mr. Miller will contribute to Harper's Magazine for October. The article will be illustrated from photographs and drawings by American artists.

McKINLEY'S DISTRICT.

THE sainted, (?) though unsophisticated Bryan thrilled his audience here sometime ago with stories of republican villainy offset with democratic purity. He took particular pains to show how the democrats of Iowa (which was in his mind) were gerrymandered out of representation. He forgot to mention Ohio. And as some of our democratic leaders might care to see the result of their own handiwork in Ohio we have placed before you an exact map of

McKinley's District.

THE democratic legislature of Ohio fixed this up a little more than a year ago to prevent Major McKinley from returning to congress. The district boundaries cut congress in two and reach out for democratic precincts. This is a part and parcel of the democratic reform which you hear their candidates rant so much about. How do honest, fair minded people like this species of reform which, as a matter of fact is on a par with the balance of the reforms practiced by the party of obstruction and hard times. It is not enough to say that republicans did as bad, for it is not the truth, but even if they had it would be no excuse for a reform party (?) to do the same thing. Off with bogus reforms and give us honest republican government.

REPRESENTATIVE CONNELL on yesterday introduced a bill carrying an appropriation of $100,000 to defray the cost of erection of a United States mint at Omaha, and there is no good reason why it should not become a law. The smelting works annually turn out more silver than the government can use at any one mint, while the gold supply would be very large. The reason for keeping the principal mint at Philadelphia is not apparent.

THE democracy of Wyoming might as well confess defeat and retire from business. To ascribe the result to an error in the law, which affected democrats only, is childish. The truth is that a majority of the people determined to cast their fortunes with the progressive party of the nation. Republicanism made Wyoming what it is, and the people of Wyoming merely expressed their gratitude at the ballot box.

THE democrats sold their votes in Maine and couldn't read the Australian law in Wyoming (?). What will become of that party we would like to know when it remodels the organic law down in Mississippi so the voter must be able to both read and understand the constitution before he can vote. In the language of the Elder Weller, "beware of the reforms smivel."

FROM a statistical account we notice that there are 700,000 pensioners enrolled on the pension rolls of the United States, who are paid 129 different rates, ranging from $12 to $2,500 per annum. There are about 2,400 persons in foreign countries who receive pensions. Of these 569 are in Germany, and 475 in Great Britain.

THE DEMOCRATS will hunt cover after the 20th, when the republican guns, which have been loaded and primed, will be unlimbered and turned upon the enemy.

AND the Wyoming republicans don't know that the tariff is a tax? Even the thick-skinned democrats have come to the same conclusion.

IF McKEIGHAN had a real personal friend in the second district he would pull him off the ticket, remarks a truthful contemporary.

CRITICAL. Henry Kennedy has the thanks of the Republican compositors and boss, for leaving a fine luthsome water melon with us on Saturday.—Weeping Water Republican.

AFTER reading the above we searched the entire realms of history, cyclopedias and almanacs, and finally we commanded all the wise men, magicians, astrologers, sorcerers and chaldeans to be brought and see if they could give an exegesis of the above named "luthsome." We are satisfied that Nebraska's soil is prolific but what in the name of horn-pipes did Keithley eat.

THE LADIE'S HOME JOURNAL.

Few better numbers of a popular magazine have ever been issued than is the October number of the Ladie's Home Journal. From cover to cover, the number bristles with an array of splendid articles, poems and stories seldom brought together in a single issue. P. T. Barnum tells, in a very entertaining manner, the secret of "How I Have Grown Old;" Mrs. Ulysses Grant describes her courtship with the General, and how the warrior proposed marriage to her; the methods pursued by the Vanderbuilts in the training of their children are freshly sketched; Mrs. Margaret Bottoms, the President of the "King's Daughters," begins most admirably with what will hereafter be a regular department, entirely devoted to the "King's Daughters;" Robert J. Burdette has a first class humorous article on old people who try to be young; A. Bogardus, the pioneer New York photographer has an exceedingly bright sketch on "Presidents I Have Photographed;" Dr. Talmage has some very bright things for women; Emma V. Sheridan, the Boston actress, tells how to conduct private theatricals; "Curl Papers and Husbands" is the unique title of a bright paper by Felicia Holt; Florence Howe Hall gives valuable hints in an article telling how to celebrate "Wedding Anniversaries;" and then come contributions almost without number, from Harriet Prescott Spofford, Mrs. Lyman Abbott, Lee C. Harby, Sarah K. Bolton, Edward W. Bok, Ellen LeGarde, Kate Tannatt Woods, and a score of others. The Oct. Journal is truly a perfect model of what a popular magazine should be. Published at one dollar a year, by the Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia.

Pants

Don't say pants to Frank Morgan or any of the Mayor firm, gentle reader, or you may get into trouble. It happened this wise; Saturday was a windy day and an 88 pair of pants blew off of the dummy in front of Mayers and fell through the area into the barber shop below about that time D. K. Barr and Ed Oliver happened along and Barr stuck his head in at the door and gave the alarm, one of the clerks flew to the door, and Ed Oliver said he thought the thief had gone down through Waterman's lumber yard, away went the vigilant clerk as fast as he could run, the whole store was at this time at white heat, Frank Morgan summoned the police. Jack Denson was sent up the truck, the marshal was to go west and Johnnie Filzpatrick was to stir up the game generally; when Johnnie asked for a description of the man Morgan remembered that Ed Oliver was the only fellow that had seen the thief so Johnnie went to see Ed for a description, and Ed then told the policeman all about it and where the pants could be found. Johnny then goes back to Morgan and tells him he believes if he could set up the cigars to some of the bums that they would give it away and the pants might be recovered. "Cigars," says Frank; "of course I will set up the cigars." The policeman then went into the basement and brought up the missing pants; agents were sent out to call Denson back and the other guards of the city gates, and Morgan set up the cigars, though he did not feel as good at finding the pants as one might have supposed. The clerk has subsided and today everything moves along smooth as common until you say something about pants.

Skins on Fire.

With Itching, Burning, Bleeding Eczema Instantly Relieved by Cuticura Remedies.

Our little son will be four years old on the 20th inst. In May, 1888, he was attacked with a very painful breaking out of the skin. We called in a physician, who treated him for about four weeks. The child received little or no good from the treatment. We were frequently obliged to get up in the night and rub him with soda in water, strong liniments, etc. Finally we called other physicians, until no more than six had attempted to cure him, all alike failing, and the child steadily getting worse and worse, until about the 20th of July, when we began to give him CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, and the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and by the last of August he was so nearly well that we gave him only one dose of the RESOLVENT about every second day for about ten days longer, and he has never been troubled since with the horrid malady. In all we used less than one half of a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, a little less than one box of CUTICURA and only one cake of CUTICURA SOAP. H. E. RYAN, Cayuga, Livingston Co., Ill. Subscribed and sworn to before me the 4th day of January, 1889. C. N. COB, J. P.

CUTICURA REMEDIES.

Parents do you realize how your little ones suffer, when their tender skins are literally on fire with itching, burning, itching, and blotched skin and scalp diseases? To know that a single application of the CUTICURA REMEDIES will often afford instant relief, permit rest and sleep, and point to a permanent cure, is a relief (because so speedy) cure, and not to use them, without a moment's delay, is to be guilty of positive inhumanity. In all cases, CUTICURA should be bestowed upon a child that a clear skin and pure blood. CUTICURA REMEDIES are absolutely pure, and may be used from infancy to age, from pimples to scabies.
