

High School Notes.

From Thursday's Daily.
New pupils are coming in each day and there is now about 500 enrolled in the central building.

Room No. 13 has 78 pupils enrolled making it the largest school in the city.

Miss Nannie Moore holds the reins in South Park. She is a bright, pleasant and successful teacher and the patrons of that building can rest assured that the training of the youth is in competent hands.

Visitors to room two should notice the oil painting on the wall, it is certainly grand, to draw it mild.

Miss Gensel is doing good work in No. 1, her methods of teaching are first-class and she will make one of our best teachers.

Visitors to our schools do not want to think that our teachers are old because some of them are grey headed. Grey hair in this day and age of the world are tokens of honor and not of age.

Edna Adams is in our schools faithfully at work. She was one of the brightest among last years graduating class and thinks that Plattsmouth schools are good enough for her even after graduation.

Mrs. Halsey is the teacher in the 8th grade. She is giving good satisfaction and is a very intelligent lady. Pupils of that grade are highly elated over their teacher and well they might be.

A few of the boys are inclined to play truant and a word to the wise should be sufficient. Don't persist in this for if you do you will get into trouble. Our superintendent means what he says and he will have no pupil in the ranks of that kind. When you are sent to school be sure you come and make a man of yourself.

Prof. Halsey and his pupils were at the building Tuesday evening taking a view of Jupiter and its moons through the telescope. They all went home well pleased with what they saw. The Prof. will spare no effort to make our schools a success and his efforts in that line are commendable and by the way we have a fine telescope. Come up some evening and take a look at the stars.

The experiments in chemistry are all a success. Prof. McClelland thoroughly understands the best methods of teaching that important study.

When the class gets to natural history it is hoped that some of the boys will bring a rat. Experiments of this kind in the past have been both amusing and instructive.

When our citizens realize the fact that discipline must be maintained in order to have successful schools, just that soon parents will cease to find fault with our teachers when it becomes necessary to punish, teachers never punish without cause. Parents as a rule think their children perfect and that they can not do wrong. This is human nature the world over. Just pause and reflect on this boys are boys the same as in days of yore and you should know how it is yourself.

CLARA WILSON.

H. C. McMaken and wife and Mrs. G. W. Fairfield are at the fair today.

Lawn Wiles begun his school year at Cotner University at Lincoln today.

Will Holmes and wife and Gust Holmes were visitors to the state fair today.

The republican is knocking democracy out in Wyoming today at their first state election.

Sol Osborn on Monday purchased Jas. Rieger's residence and two lots on Wintest Hill.

Charles W. Sherman, Esq., editor of the Plattsmouth Journal, tore away from his friends this morning to take in the state fair.

A pick-pocket with a coat over his arm tried to work M. B. Murphy last night coming down on the train but our Mike was too fussy for him. The villain got in his work on another party however and secured five or six dollars just as the train pulled into Omaha and escaped into the darkness.

The box rent receipts at the postoffice under the careful management of Mr. Streight, for August of this year, shows an increase of $60 over the receipts for the same month last year. This would indicate that about 200 more boxes are being used by the patrons of the office.

The many friends of Lou Valley ne Nieman will be glad to know that her condition is improving, though it appears very tedious. It requires two ladies to care for her, yet if careful nursing is of any moment she will certainly recover.

Sol Osborn is just finishing a nice two story cottage 27x30 for W. N. McLennan in South Park. It will be one of the nicest residences in that part of the city. He also has in course of erection a neat two story residence for Fred Range 26x28, just north of Capt. Bennett's, and a two story and a half addition with basement for Mr. Lylelynn Moore to the family residence in the second ward.

The Independent Eagle.

Is the name of the re-christened organ of the people's party that will be owned and operated to the tune of L. G. Todd's $500 by that old stalwart republican H. G. Race of Weeping Water. THE HERALD believes that the alliance as an organization is a most excellent thing, and that it will be of great benefit to the farmers, but in order to receive any good results the political hack must be relegated to the rear. The promotion of worn out politicians will not gain them any prestige or be of any practical value.

Hon. J. M. Patterson's watch mysteriously disappeared while he was asleep on the train last night, but his loss did not trouble him, he knew the crowd he was with and when W. D. Jones returned the time piece the laugh was not on Mr. Patterson although there were genuine pick pockets on the train.

Geo W. Shefer the new secretary of the Y. M. C. A. made the HERALD a pleasant call today. Mr. Shefer is a young man full of life and vigor and with an apparent desire to do some good work in this field and we shall be disappointed if he does not succeed.

Miss Lida Patterson entertained a large company of her friends last evening in honor of her guest, Miss Lucy Wolcott. The spacious parlors of the Patterson mansion were thrown open and brightly illuminated for the occasion. The evening was partly spent in social converse and in games and charades. Miss Fulmer took the prize among the ladies as being the best talker in a four minute contest, while Will Streight, Henry Gering and John Davies were a tie in a like contest among the gentlemen. Fun and merriment ruled the hour until refreshments selected with splendid taste were served to a crowd that could not appreciate the many good things set before them. At a late hour the company broke up feeling that a real social success had been achieved and thoroughly appreciated.

From Friday's Daily.

White & Black will buy red, white or green apples and pay the highest market price.

Why is Sherman like a turnip? All answers may be addressed, Agricultural Editor of the HERALD.

The new Horn church out in the Good win neighborhood will be dedicated next Sunday, a nice time is anticipated.

White and Black have purchased over 3,500 bushels of apples at 75 cents per bushel. They have received two car loads of barrels and will soon be ready to make their shipment.

The arch on lower Main street came down yesterday. Frank Morrison appeared to be the man in charge and should at once, in the absence of any thing better, be presented with the freedom of the city.

Jim Antill took the first premium at the state fair with his candy exhibit over all the big wholesale men. He will open up a first class factory for the manufacture of a fine line of confectionary in this city within a few days.

Several important weddings are booked for the latter part of this and the first part of next month. The first one will probably take place about the 25th of September of which the HERALD will have more to say later on.

A party of men on a hand car attempted to keep up with the M. P. passenger train when it was leaving the depot at Louisville Monday afternoon. They struck a switch before going far that sent them spinning in every direction. None of them were seriously hurt. . . . The Rock Island Railroad Co seem to be pushing their new Lincoln line along rapidly, at Louisville the grade on the north side of the river is done, piles drove for the bridges and ties struck out on the grade. That is how it looks to passengers on the M. P. as they pass along.—Weeping Water Eagle.

Pulled Their Purses.

As the crowds were coming from the ball game on Tuesday the wife of a local traveling man had her pocket picked of a purse containing about $12.50 on a street car. A runaway attracted the attention of the passengers in the car and the lady took pains to push the pocket book partially in under her, but some thief nipped it in spite of this precaution.

Yesterday afternoon Allen Coleman of Weeping Water was going to the fair grounds on the Standard line and had two pockets picked. From one his watch was taken, and from the other his pocketbook containing $5 and his pension check for $24, payable to his own order. Some time checks on a stone quarry were also taken. He hopes the thief will be unable to cash the check ere he can stop the payment at Washington.

Miss Stella Traver will leave this evening for Union where she has been engaged to teach the fall term of school in school district No. 12, one mile and a half north-east of Union.

Race Has Flopped.

Weeping Water Republican
During the eventful career of the Eagle under the present management it has at times descended as it were from its lofty perch on the topmost bough of the giant oak, and has been found on the fence. Of late it has been astride the pickets. But all this time a weather eye has been open looking for something in the distance. At last the bog felt want (a feathered nest) has been discovered.

On Saturday last for a consideration Editor Race pledged his influence, support and other appurtenance, enumerated as chattels connected with the establishment, to the independent party, and the old bird will be drawn off of the fence this week. The republican ticket will come down from the mast head where it has been seen so long, and on top of the independent ticket where it has floated since our contemporary has been on both sides of the fence. The independent ticket will climb a round higher and will occupy the honored position formerly held by the republican ticket.

After this the people will know where to find the Eagle in political matters, an advantage to its patrons that will be appreciated.

The Eagle will assume a new form come out in new clothes, and will be printed on a new press. The party we are told, loans Mr. Race $500 and takes a mortgage. This may be termed an independent paper but how can a man be independent when bound by such ties?

The Republican has only good wishes for the financial success of the enterprise and hopes the paper may be a blessing at the world.

The delusion so tenderly huggd by an ancient citizen of Plattsmouth, and shared by many others, to the effect that the B. & M. had stopped building their shops at Hayelock, was only of fleeting turn. It vanished with the next breeze from the west.—W. W. Eagle.

Pooled again Mr. Eagle, you probably took your cue from the Journal of this city which would print something against its home town rather than own up that the HERALD was the newspaper of this city. The statements made in the HERALD were true, and on Wednesday not a dozen men were employed on the great shops(?) where near a hundred were employed in the start. This looks like quite a fall down to a disinterested person.

J. Barrett, of the old Camp Creek neighborhood, is now living in Lincoln with his family to school the children, having rented his fine farm.

A. Hastie's stolen hogs, after remaining in the Lincoln stock yards four weeks, gained 60 pounds net, advanced 50 cents per hundred and made him money on 75 cent corn.—Elmwood Echo.

Plattsmouth is organizing a mounted police force. The mounts will be on jack-asses. The Plattsmouth Journal says that this is to be a fact. We give the above news for what it is worth, but would suggest that if they are not a success, to try Sherman a whirl.—W. W. Eagle.

M. L. Thomas, an old settler of Cass county, having been raised partly on the old Livingston ranch which for years was the first house west of Four Mile creek on the old freight road, after starting six or eight newspapers in the western part of the state, has recently removed to Lincoln where he has purchased a job printing office and may be found at home to his Cass county friends.

As Johnny Fitzpatrick came shivering up through the rain from the depot this morning his eagle eye caught the apparition of a man in a store eating a watermelon; Johnny was about to have a congestive chill when he hailed the astonished young man with the remark, "I ought to arrest ye, and if it were not for your mother's bein' a woman I'd do it too." The crowd laughed and John passed on up the street with the remark that a man who would eat watermelons as cold a day as this ought to have the ague every day for ten years.

As a sample of the condition of the down trodden farmer that according to the Journal gets poorer every day, our attention was called to the fine $2,500 residence being built for Will Wagner three miles south east of Louisville. About twelve years ago Will was a farm hand, today he owns as nice a half section of land as there is in the county highly improved and well stocked. He has in his cribs over 3,000 bushels of old corn and other grain in proportion, and what is more he doesn't owe a dollar. If the fellow who works his mouth trying to breed discontent talking about farm mortgages etc. would work with his hands he too might grow rich. The race is to the man who labors and saves his means, he does not need to be a speculator.

Married.

Wiswell, Pleatherly.—At the court house at Plattsmouth, September 11th 1890 at 11:30 o'clock a. m. Mr. William H. Wiswell and Miss Kate Pleatherly were joined in the holy bonds of wedlock by Judge Ramsey.

In the matter of the estate of Frederick Baumister, deceased, application for license to sell real estate. Beeson & Root attorneys.

There are some itinerant horse traders on the streets this afternoon trying to convince John Karns, the local horse trader, of the superior qualities of their beasts. From the lean condition of some of the animals they must have been driven from the factory as soon as the frame work was erected, and without the siding having been put on.

County Court.

Petition for appointment of John Jackson administrator estate John Bringman, deceased. Hearing Sept. 29 at 10 a. m.

Daniel W. Foster appointed administrator de bonis non, estate Maria E. Jones, deceased.

Application of A. A. Dickson and Delle Denier, executors last will and testament of Francis H. Williams, deceased. Hearing Oct. 13, 1890, at 2 p. m.

Father Carney was called to the bed, side this afternoon, of John Lambert, Sr., of Rock Bluffs, who is thought to be in a dying condition. Mr. Lambert has been quite sick for several weeks. His son John has been telegraphed at Valparaiso, and also his grand daughter Miss Minnie Smith and Mrs. Sam Smith at North Platte, who are expected to arrive this evening.

The two young men that stole the watch from the Nebraska house, night before last, were captured yesterday afternoon at Pacific Junction. They were brought before Judge Archer and plead guilty to the charge of petty larceny and were fined $10 and costs apiece, amounting to $11.15 and in default were sent to the city bastile. They gave the names of Edward Healy and Harvey Outman.
