

A Rock Bluffer Speaks. From Rhurday's Daily. Mr. Editor: I see by last week's Journal that Mr. Sherman still insists on proving (we suppose unconsciously, for I have great compassion for that dull intellect of his) the claim of the friends of American industry. That the whole free trade theory is founded upon false assumptions, and false statements. Just listen to what he says in his article headed, "The Home Market a Humbug."

The attention of the farmers' alliances in the country and of the farmers that are invited to vote for the home market is called to the following list, showing that protected American manufacturers sell their goods cheaper abroad than they do at home:

Table with 2 columns: Foreign, Home Market. Items include Advance plow, Mower, Horse rake, Feed cutter No. 3, Feed cutter No. 2, Feed cutter No. 1, Clipper cutter, Lever cutter, Cultivator, Sweep.

The foreign prices are those at or under which foreign manufacturers sell their agricultural implements. The American manufacturers make a profit at these prices. All above prices is a clean gift to them by the tariff, which robs the farmer to that extent. And they are robbed to the same extent on every other thing they buy except their diamonds and precious stones.

I have taken the trouble to enquire of our local dealers the prices at which they sell the above named articles, and here is what they can be bought for in Plattsmouth

Table with 2 columns: Foreign, Home Market. Items include Advance plow, Mower, Horse rake, Feed cutter, Clipper cutter, Cultivator, Sweep.

If Mr. Sherman thinks that such misrepresentations are going to fool the people, he will wake up some day and find out that he is sadly mistaken. The facts are that our manufacturers do not sell to foreign markets any cheaper than they do to the home market, but foreigners come here and pay the full wholesale prices, ship the goods to their country and sell them higher than they are sold here.

Miss Bertha Wise stopped yesterday in the city with her mother returning to Omaha this morning.

About 600 undertakers will meet and talk over the secrets of the trade in Omaha on the 1st of October.

Many readers of the HERALD will be sorry that Henry Stout, son of W. H. B. Stout, has apparently lost his mind and on yesterday was placed in charge of officers at Lincoln, where he resides.

Los. Graves' little five year old boy fell from a corn crib yesterday and broke both bones in his arm. Dr. Schildknacht set the broken members and the little fellow is doing as well as could be expected.

A nice looking young business man of this city with a dark mustache is reported to be arranging for a matrimonial alliance with a young lady residing in Iowa. The happy event is said to be billed for the 15th of next month.

The Supreme court handed down quite a number of opinions yesterday, but none affecting Cass county clients or attorneys. Our judicial district will not be reached before some time next week, so that no hearing will be had for a few days on our court house matter.

The seventeen pound girl that recently arrived at the handsome residence of Dr. Siggins is pronounced by good judges to be the finest in the city. The HERALD was a little slow in telling the public about it, but the baby is a daisy and no mistake.

Wm. A. Sayles one of the B. & M's efficient engineers with head quarters at Plattsmouth, was married to a Hastings belle Tuesday evening. The HERALD extends congratulations and hopes the new couple will make Plattsmouth their future home. Mr. Sayles is the engineer that pulls the flyer for Frank Hall.

I. W. Lansing of this city has been designated to address a meeting tonight at Elmwood, and tomorrow will indulge in a joint discussion of campaign issues at Exeter with Mr. McKegan, as the 'democratic' candidate for congress from the Second district has been dubbed by the people who, in a misguided moment, elected him county judge. Dealers in hides and hair will do well to hover around in that vicinity, as it is currently reported that the Second district exhorter has been more successful as a capillary agriculturalist than in agrarian pursuits.—Ex

Dick McNurlin and Fred Gorder Jr., make up a pair of good natured Weeping Waterites in attendance at the fair.

The HERALD learns that there are just 22 pile bridges to be built between Plattsmouth and Union on the new line of the Missouri Pacific

C. C. Worrell the genial ticket agent and George E. Sayles, the worthy Post Master at Cedar Creek came down this morning to attend the fair.

Col. Gruesel and wife arrived in the city last evening, for a few weeks visit with relatives, and to see their 28th grand child, Miss Lillie Wortenburger.

A jolly surprise party was given Charley Cummins last evening in honor of his 32nd birthday anniversary at their pleasant home on Pearl street. Quite a number of Plattsmouth's best young people were in attendance and assert that a delightful evening was passed and a splendid supper was partaken of.

Of course every body is going to the great Louisville bridge barbecue next week, the 24th, and have a great time. The train leaves here at eight o'clock and will, returning, leave Louisville a little after four. And in order to make a creditable showing our people ought to take the B. & M. band up with them, a small subscription from each one going would foot the bill.

Our old time friend, James Toman, now of Uica, Seward county, but for many years station agent at Louisville, was recently remembered by the late Chas. Dewey of Omaha, who willed Mr. Toman and his wife a thousand dollars each, Mrs. Toman being a distant relative of Mr. Dewey's. The HERALD extends congratulations for so thoughtful a remembrance.

Johnny Fitzpatrick caught a suspicious character about the depot this morning and searched him, hoping to find Mrs. Buzzle's pocket book, but failed. He turned the fellow loose, as the train for the east was pulling out at a lively gait, and was almost paralyzed to see the young fellow throw himself under the rapidly moving train and crawl up on to the truck. John said he would not have taken the chances the bum did for the whole world.

Tom Wiles is disconsolate and refuses to be comforted. He appeared in the role of peace maker at the fair yesterday and was trying to smoothe things over when a policeman, whose acquaintance he had not heretofore made, stepped up and arrested him. Tom was never arrested before and he didn't like it, but by the time the cop had walked him a few yards he took a tumble and Tom was released, but at present writing he is very warm.

The Hon. James E. Boyd was getting his shoes blacked by the colored porter in the basement of the Hotel Riley yesterday, and to pass the time struck up a conversation with the porter on political matters which drifted around to the gubernatorial nomination, when he asked, "what's the matter with Boyd, can't you support him?" "No sah," said the gentleman of color, "he's no good at all." The Omaha statesman went upstairs without disclosing his identity, and had not a barber near by taken in the whole situation, the story would never have got out.

The Fair. What would have been the great day of the fair has been hopelessly ruined by the rain. There were no entries made last night and no races today. Union Medium yesterday won the 2:35 trotting race in 2:31 1/4, making one heat in 2:27. In the pacing race St. John won in 2:30. The fair closes today.

There will be a "called meeting" of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Mrs. S. A. Davis between 8 and 9 on Pearl street. All members are requested to be in attendance as there is important business before them.

Mrs. S. A. TRAVER, SEC.

Card of Thanks. ROCK BLUFFS, Sept 16.—TO THE HERALD: We wish to return our heartfelt thanks to the many kind friends who assisted us in our late bereavement to our dear kind husband and father, and especially to Dr. E. E. Reynolds for his ever kind and faithful attention in his last illness.

The Switch Was too Short

Gmaha Bee: Passenger train No. 6 on the Burlington due in Omahs at 9:10 p. m., met with a very serious wreck last night at Chalco a station about twenty miles down the road towards Lincoln.

The west-bound freight meets the passenger at that place, and last night the freight train was a very long one. It pulled onto the switch to let the passenger pass, but the switch was not long enough for the train. Seven cars and the caboose still stood on the main track when the passenger train came rolling along. Engineer Lyman of the passenger train supposed that the freight train was all on the switch and simply slowed up a little he intended pulling right through, as he says there was no signal for him to stop for passengers. When within a few rods of the back end of the freight train he noticed that the main track was not clear and whistling down brakes he and the fireman jumped for their lives.

The engine of the passenger train struck the seventh car from the caboose and knocked it into kindling wood. The next five cars were smashed up and thrown into a promiscuous heap on the depot platform and almost knocking the little depot off its platform. The last car hit the caboose and was pitched on top of the engine when the passenger train came to a dead halt. The caboose was not moved from the main track.

Fortunately no one was killed or seriously injured.

The passengers were considerably shaken up, but as none of the passenger cars left the track a severe shock was the extent of the damage to the passengers and some splintering and jaming was all the damage done to the passenger coaches. The engine was badly wrecked.

Engineer Lyman sustained a severe wrench in the neck and one of the brakemen who jumped received a bruise on the leg.

An engine and two coaches were sent out to transfer the passengers and returned to Omaha at 12:30.

The passengers improved the two hour wait by helping themselves to a car of fruit that lay spread out over the ground and depot platform as a result of the collision.

Letter of Enquiry.

Denver, Col., Sept. 9, '90. Postmaster, Plattsmouth, Neb., Dear Sir: Will you please write me if an old gentleman, Alfred L. Brown, is still living in your city; or if you know that any of his children are there, I would esteem it a kindness. Also the address of any of them if they are still in Plattsmouth. Very Respectfully, Mrs. G. A. TUCKER, 2455 Lincoln Ave.

Cass County Cattle.

From Friday's Daily. E. E. Day certainly has reason to feel proud of his fine herd of cattle, and the manner in which they are being noticed in journals devoted to live stock and agriculture, since they were on exhibition at the fall fairs.

At Creston, Iowa, these cattle received three first premiums; at Des Moines, four, and at Lincoln, five. "Mable," the two-year old heifer belonging to this herd, is considered one of the very finest female Herfords in the country. She was awarded first honors at Lincoln, but at Des Moines, owing to disreputable methods of the judges, she was relegated to third place.

In speaking of the abuse the Western Resources has the following:

One of the rankest abuses in the show yard at Des Moines was placing the marvelously good heifer, Mable, third, when we believe without exception that there was not a cattleman present but what declared Mable the premier Hereford female of the exhibition. Even those who were awarded first and second honors over this marvelous beauty did not value their prizes because they did not think they earned them.—W. W. Republican.

Jack Grace of South Bend was in the city yesterday, taking in the fair.

Wm. Osenkop of Louisville, and Sile Peterson of South Bend were with us yesterday.

O. B. Polk Esq. of Greenwood, returned home yesterday after a week's work in the new office of C. S. Polk in this city.

The HERALD is in receipt of a neat invitation to attend the Louisville bridge celebration. Thanks, we will be there.

McClintic, the horse doctor from Eagle, and democratic candidate for the senate, looked after his fences yesterday in this city. Col. McClelland of the Journal acted as pilot and helped him to paint the town.

Brother Mayfield and Brother Keithley appear to be somewhat critical. The HERALD trusts that the argument will not be carried too far, as the suburban editor of the Courier-Journal sometimes becomes fractious, and nothing short of pistols and coffee will satisfy him. He is a dangerous man, as we can prove by the editor of the Louisville Advertiser, and we warn Keithley now in good season, to keep out of range.

The Courier-Journal readers have evident proof each week that Mayfield don't know a typographical error when he sees one. This accounts for his ransacking the dictionary, encyclopedia, bible, etc., and calling on the saloon keepers to ascertain what the Republican meant by thanking a friend for a toothsome water melon, and the typo got an 'l' in the word where the 't' belongs. Mayfield concluded by asking, "What in horn-pipes did Keithley eat?" Well Mayfield it wasn't one of your shoats. Neither was it what you say modern Americans are full of, "Congeninity."—W. W. Republican.

Good News!

No one, who is willing to adopt the right course, need be long afflicted with boils, carbuncles, pimples, or other cutaneous eruptions. These are the results of Nature's efforts to expel poisonous and effete matter from the blood, and show plainly that the system is ridding itself through the skin of impurities which it was the legitimate work of the liver and kidneys to remove. To restore these organs to their proper functions, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the medicine required. That no other blood-purifier can compare with it, thousands testify who have gained from the tyranny of depraved blood by the use of this medicine. "For nine years I was afflicted with a skin disease that did not yield to any remedy until a friend advised me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. With the use of this medicine the complaint disappeared. It is my belief that no other blood medicine could have effected so rapid and complete a cure."—Andres D. Garcia, C. Victoria, Tamalulpa, Mexico. "My face, for years, was covered with pimples and humors, for which I could find no remedy till I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Three bottles of this great blood medicine effected a thorough cure. I confidently recommend it to all suffering from similar troubles."—M. Parker, Concord, Vt.

County Court.

George H. Holton vs. W. S. Ellicott. On trial yesterday to jury. Suit in replevin for possession of the Greenwood Gazette. Verdict for plaintiff and damages $1.00. Polk Bros. for plaintiff, Clark & Bar for defendant.

Application of Elizabeth Sheehan, administrator of estate of Michael Sheehan, deceased, for settlement. Hearing, October 4th, 10 a. m.

License to Mr. Mathew J. Zeder, aged 21, and Miss Annie C. Benham aged 20, both of Omaha.

Just how an alterative medicine cleanses the system is an open question; but that Ayer's Sarsaparilla does produce a radical change in the blood is well attested on all sides. It is everywhere considered the best remedy for blood disorders.

Mr. Treat the genial manager of the city mills, informed our reporter that he had bought of Mike Kennedy, one of our well-to-do farmers three miles north 1,000 bushels of wheat, for which he paid the magnificent sum of $1,525.20, or 80 cents per bushel. It pays to farm when prices are good. Mr. Treat says they are going to run night and day as soon as their other miller, who has been engaged arrives. With two sets of men they expect to keep the rolling going all the time. During the past three and one half weeks three and one half cars of flour and feed have been shipped from these mills.—Weeping Water Republican.

The case of Holton vs Elliott in the county court for the recovery of the Greenwood Gazette was one of the hardest fought cases Judge Ramsey has listened to this year. Polk Bros appeared for Holton and Geo. Clark for Greenwood D. K. Barr for Elliott. The case occupied the entire afternoon for a hearing. The jury was out but a few minutes when they brought in a verdict for Mr. Holton giving him right of possession to the Greenwood Gazette which is the fourth paper Mr. Holton is interested in.

It may interest the young ladies of Plattsmouth to know that our enterprising merchant M. B. Murphy is arranging with an eastern china firm which will enable him to offer to the first five young ladies who are married within the next six months, a very handsome gold band, gilt edge, Harilant china dinner and tea set. Now who says that isn't public spirited?

Dr. J. A. Hasemeier has purchased the rock preparatory to building a new drug store. The building is to be 24x60 feet square, and will be erected on the vacant lot just north of the old store. It will be completed this fall.—Louisville Advertiser.

Mr. Moore, an old man past seventy, was hauled up before the police judge night before last and fined $3 for being drunk and disorderly; without money he will have to lay his fine out in jail.

Betty Mostin made complaint today against her husband, the effervescent Billy Mostin, who was brought before Judge Archer and fined $10. To the astonishment of the court Billy promptly paid the fine and costs and went his way, remarking that he would live alone hereafter.

J. Q. Adams of Eagle, father of Mrs. Oliver Dovey was in the city yesterday. Mr. Adams is one of the old settlers of Cass county and used to own a farm up near Cullom which he sold, and then made a tour of the west only to be confirmed in his own opinion that Cass county was the garden spot of the whole country. Mr. Adams is an officer and principle stock holder in the bank of Eagle.
