Uncle Henry Shafer's latest addition to Shafertown consists in three nice neat cottages over in the west part of the 2nd ward south of the Fairfield Hill.

John Leech took his martial band up to Louisville yesterday with the excursion to the bridge opening. The boys helped very materially in entertaining the crowd during the wait for trains.

White and Black are using the canning factory as an apple depot for the storing and barreling of the Cass county apple crop, which they expect to handle this fall. They have already barreled up over three hundred barrels ready for market.

Mrs. Maggie Welch, whom the readers of the HERALD will remember was in this city visiting her uncle, Rev. Buckner, a few weeks ago died yesterday at her home in Pacific Junction. The remains were taken to Council Bluffs at an early hour where the funeral will probably take place today.

The 36th Illinois volunteer hold their 5th annual reunion at Aurora today. This was Col Greusel's old regiment and he only received his notice of the meeting today informing him that he was down on the program for a speech. As this is the first meeting of the regiment he ever missed The colonel is very much disappointed at not receiving his invitation earlier.

Joe Johnson and Joe McVey accepted the position of jurors the other day in county court and decided a case all by themselves according to the law and the evidence; but McVey says Johnson played off on him; that when they went into the jury room of course the first thing was to secure a foreman. At Johnson made a motion that McVey act as foreman, and without waiting for a second, he put the motion and voted for it himself, McVey voting in the negative, this made a tie which Johnson promptly decided in the affirmative, he then acting as chairman, in other words, he had two votes to McVey's one.

Arthur Lewis, Col Drak's typo on the Louisville Advertiser, sleeps in Flowers clothing store in that village. The other evening after he had retired, the boys got a key and went in, they took his revolver, and borrowed a fierce looking dummy with big eyes which they leaned over the bed. The crowd then got quietly outside the building and soon had the young man awake. He glared up in the dim light thrown up from the street lamp and his heart came right up in his throat and choked him so that he could barely speak as he enquired who is there and what do you want? About this time the dummy which had been propped up fell over on the frightened young man and his heart stopped beating for five minutes as he waited for the murderous assassin to do his bloody work, by and by he came to his senses and found it was only a dummy, and they say if he could have found the revolver just then that he would have used it.

Mrs. Abbott wife of Rev. Abbott, of Wynore, after a pleasant visit here with her friend Mrs. E. E. Hilton took the train this morning for David City.

Ed Dudley an old time Cass county boy has made a tour of the west only to find that nothing in the state equals Cass county. He has taken up his abode in Plattsmouth, the gem of the prairies.

A. W. McLaughlin informed a prominent citizen of this city in Omaha yesterday that he had the best of reasons for thinking that the Rock Island railroad would cross the river at Plattsmouth.

Handsome wedding invitations are out announcing the forth coming nuptials of Mr. Milton N. Griffith and Miss Laura Shipman, of this city, the ceremony to take place on October 1st, at the residence of the brides father.

DeVole-Grolle. At the court house Plattsmouth September 25th, at 2:30 o'clock p. m., Mr. Irwin DeVole and Miss Grolle were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Judge Ramsey officiating.

This evening at six o'clock at the residence of J. M. Schnellbacher, Rev. Witte officiating, Mr. H. Sievers and Miss Sophia Thode.

County Court. State of Nebraska vs. Henry Sitzman. Complaint for assault and battery and incorrigibility. Trial to court. Guilty, as charged in complaint. Sentenced to reform school. Mathew Gehring for state.

Mathew J. Burns vs. E. L. Lewis and John Lewis. Suit on note. Answer day October 6, 1890. Polk Bros. for plaintiff.

Bryan Will Be Scooped. Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 25.—[Special Telegram to the Bee.]—Tonight J. H. Ames, chairman of the democratic congressional committee of the First district challenged Chairman W. H. Woodwar of the republican congressional committee to have the republican nominee for congress, W. J. Connell, meet W. J. Bryan, the democratic aspirant, in joint debate in each county of this congressional district.

LOUISVILLE BRIDGE.

A Great Day for The Thriving Village on the Platte.

The opening of the great Louisville bridge across the Platte, was duly celebrated yesterday on the classic banks of that placid stream, in the shade of the stately cottonwoods that heavenwards rear their restless heads while a gentle breeze from the south kissed the upturned faces of the flowers that bloomed in great profusion on every side. A more delightful sylvan retreat could not be found, and the crowd numbering from five to eight thousand were in good spirits and enjoyed the day in a high degree.

The political program was somewhat marred owing to the absence of Mr. Lansing but Alex McIntosh jumped in to the arena and trimmed the Bryan chestnuts in fine style. Hon. L. D. Richards, Tom Majors and Capt. Hill, met a great many people and made many friends. The easy every day manners of Mr. Richards was in strong contrast with the aristocratic bearing of Mr. Boyd who was also on the ground. We took occasion to notice Mr. Lemasters, the people's Alliance candidate for the Senate, we also noticed that he appeared to be in confidential relations with the leading democrats and from what we saw we are of the opinion that certain democrats are still trying to force Mc Clintock, the regular nominee off the track in order to help Lemasters, whom we are assured by his best friends is a stalwart democrat.

The roasted ox was very fine but it would have taken several oxen to have fed the crowd. The Plattsmouth delegation, about a hundred strong, were three hours on the road and did not reach the grounds until after noon. Their train was nearly four hours late returning home, but aside from delays a jolly time was had by all. The oration of the day by Hon. John C. Watson was an able and entertaining speech, as we are informed, our crowd being too late to hear it.

The great bridge, which was the cause of the celebration, is about one hundred yards below the Missouri Pacific bridge and is 2,940 feet in length and cost the precinct ten thousand dollars, which we trust will prove a good investment for the enterprising people of Louisville precinct.

Hans Sievers and Sophia Thode of this city received a permit to wed last night.

A Long Trip.

Fridays Daily. The steamer Bozeman was launched at Bozeman, in eastern Montana, and yesterday Commodore A. C. Hitt started on a trip in her to the coast of Florida. The steamer was built of mountain fir, within the shadow of the mountain where the timber grew. She is twenty three feet long, five feet beam and thirty inches draught of hold. She has a screw propeller, with a marine engine and boiler one and a half horse power. She has cabin accommodations for three persons. The object of the trip is presumed to be connected with a scientific treatise on the subject of shallow river navigation and river obstructions. The Bozeman was launched at a point a stones throw from the fountain head of the Missouri, 400 above the head of navigation. The portage will be made around the great falls of the Missouri and then the vessel will have clear sailing to the Gulf. It had to be built to pass this city within four weeks.

Miss Mamie Coffey entertained quite a company at "high five last evening. Nice refreshments were served and a general good time had.

The new six wheel engines are to be used in the handling of fast freight. Two more of them numbered 245 and 246 came in last night.

J. V. Egenberger is now engaged at J. V. Weckbach's and will assist in disposing of a fine stock until it is all closed out.

Two nice brick residences are being erected for rent on fourth street between Main and Pearl, nearly opposite the opera house by J. C. Peterson.

John Uhrut sent another bill of furniture up to Greenwood today.

A round house column fell on W. H. Kinsleys foot Monday smashing it up very badly, though fortunately no bones were broken.

Eight cars of Missouri Pacific bridge material have been received here and Wm. Neville's teams are busy today distributing it along the line where needed.

Engineer Roberts got over his accident and has faded out of sight; no one seems to know any thing of his whereabouts, the presumption being that he has gone to Canada. Sid Wheeler now has his run on the flyer. His old engine 240 has been transferred to the fast freight run between here and Lincoln with that veteran of the foot board, Mart Cushing in charge.

THE HERALD acknowledges the receipt of an invitation to attend the Elmwood fair next week. We will be there in person or by proxy, as THE HERALD prints all the news.

MARRIED.—Hasset-Priest. At the City Hotel at Plattsmouth, September 20, 1890, Mr. Leelle L. Hasset and Miss Belle Priest, both of Omaha, were united in marriage by Judge Ramsey, this being the third ceremony performed by the Judge within a week.

Thomas Ryan, the head of a family residing in Kansas City, has been working on the grade here for several weeks; he got through yesterday, received his money and undertook to paint the town before he took his departure, as a result he was run in last night and was found to have $38 on his person. He was fined $1 and costs in police court, amounting in all to $7.55, on condition that he take the morning train for Kansas City, which he did without any delay.

CANADIAN OPINION.

That a desire for annexation to the United States is rapidly growing in Canada, is very apparent. The following telegram to the Inter Ocean would indicate that the feeling in Ottawa was very close to a revolution against Britain. The correspondent says:

The fact can no longer be disputed, the annexation question is fast becoming one of the two issues of the day, and will play an important part in the political future of Canada. The sentimental loyalists endeavor to belittle the movement, but nevertheless are whistling to keep up their courage. It matters not to what part of the Dominion one looks, there is to be evidence found of dissatisfaction at the existing state of affairs, while leading public men have not hesitated to call attention to the increasing popularity of the movement for closer trade and social relations with the United States; in fact, in some instances going so far as to espouse on the public platform political union. It remained for one of the government organs to come out squarely for separation from England. The Quebec Telegraph editorially describes its platform as follows:

If we are permitted to gauge current events in Canada, we think that annexation to the United States is making great headway among the people. It is coming and that before long. St. John may preach all kinds of doctrines; he may climb upon Johnny Bull's back and become the last man on earth to accept the platform, but "dollars and cents" will bring it about. The McKinley bill is passed by a large majority and that bill deals a heavy blow to the commerce of Canada. England, we are told, is as ready to give up Canada and Newfoundland as Heligoland. Now, what can we do in this part of Canada without the United States. We are positive that at least this part of the country would go on in a thriving condition, our water power and minerals are all in working order, if we had America merged in one general confederation. How would brother Johnathan meet us, but with an expression of joy and comfort. "Dollars and cents." Property would boom and commerce with the world would be carried on with a ring which would bring comfort and glory to the masses. A few days ago the stars and stripes were raised over a custom house in Montreal, and are now flying over the grounds of the Toronto Exhibition. What is to prevent them from being raised over this nation at some future period. Something must be done, because we cannot stand the tariff tinkering in Ottawa any longer. This country is, in plain words, going to Old Nick, and if at the general elections the reformers do not become masters of the situation, we will be starved out of existence by the United States tariff. England is neither a mother nor a friend to us. We have flattered her too much, and now is the time when one of her grand children is here that we should talk as plainly as possible of the situation. If the capitalists of London can buy up the great stock companies of the United States, if they can place millions of dollars in the wild lands of that country; if they are scared to invest a single dollar in this British colony because it is British, then let us annex so as to secure their aid and hand. Sir John ought to feel surprised at the enormous amount of money that Britishers are investing in the United States.

The article has caused a decided sensation here. Government officials state that such reasonable and seditious language should not be overlooked.

At the Louisville bridge celebration, we noticed some very choice specimens of apples and grapes; but the most notable exhibit was a cabbage head raised by Theodore Heim which, after the outside leaves had all been removed, measured 45 inches in circumference. It was a monster testimonial of good farming and rich soil. Mr. Heim's Priest wheat was as nice as ever we saw.

CONNELL should not interfere with Bryan's rail fence and ground chunk story as there are still a few people in the district who have heard it but twice. The same is true of several of his stories which must not be ruthlessly shattered. The fellow whom Metcalf compares to Lincoln and Douglas as an orator will see how it feels to have the bottom drop out after he has tackled Connell.

PHIL E. WINTER, the accomplished editor of the Wynore Union, made a most excellent impression as presiding officer of the congressional convention.

W. J. BRYAN delivored the 24th edition of his celebrated "tariff is a tax" speech at Louisville yesterday. The HERALD having heard the same speech four times feels qualified to take the stump and make a great hit for tariff reform, but as the cobden club is well supplied with paid agents, gratuitous ones might not be welcomed.

The republicans of Nebraska in the opening of their campaign, in the first district at Plattsmouth evinced a vigorous and healthy condition. With the alliance on the right hand the prohibitionists on their left hand and mugwumps in the rear, the representatives of the people battling for God and the right, the fundamental principle of true republicanism, presented an undaunted front to their democratic opponents, who, but once in a third of a century have tasted of accidental victory in national politics and represent in state politics an unknown quantity; but a quality that will not bear the searching light of truth. The democracy with all their adjuncts, posing as the friend of the honest republican farmers of Nebraska cannot hope to find a single vulnerable point in the republican armor for the lodgement of a single one of their nominees. The entire republican ticket, state, congressional and county will be elected in November next.

The Use Of

Harsh, drastic purgatives to relieve costiveness is a dangerous practice, and more liable to fasten the disease on the patient than to cure it. What is needed is a medicine that, in effectually opening the bowels, corrects the costive habit and establishes a natural daily action. Such an aperient is found in which, while thorough in action, strengthen as well as stimulate the bowels and excretory organs. "For eight years I was afflicted with constipation, which at last became so bad that the doctors could do no more for me. Then I began to take Ayer's Pills, and soon the bowels became regular and I cured in their movements. I am now in excellent health."—Wm. H. DeLancett, Dorset, Ont. "When I feel the need of a cathartic, I take Ayer's Pills, and find them to be more than any other pill I ever took."—Mrs. B. C. Grubb, Burwellville, Va. "For years I have been subject to constipation without using the figure 9. It stands in the third place in 1890, where it will remain ten years and then move up to second place in 1900 where it will rest for one hundred years. There is another "9" which has also come to stay. It is unlike the figure 9 in our dates in the respect that it has already moved up to first place, where it will permanently remain. It is called the "No. 2" High Arm Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine. The "No. 2" was endorsed for first place by the experts of Europe at the Paris Exposition of 1889, where, after a severe contest with the leading machines of the world, it was awarded the only Grand Prize given to family sewing machines, all others on exhibit having received lower awards of gold medals, etc. The French Government also recognized its superiority by the decoration of Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, President of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor. The "No. 2" is not an old machine improved upon, but is an entirely new machine, and the Grand Prize at Paris was awarded it as the greatest advance in sewing machine mechanism of the age. Those who buy it can rest assured, there is, of having the very latest and best.
