Amendment Notes.

REV. J. D. M. BUCKNER.

From Wednesday's Daily. Mr. Editor, in your HERALD a few days ago a gentleman who signed his name "A," said I was unfair in my comparison about personal liberty.

I then showed that all law is an infringement on my personal liberty, if I mean by personal liberty, the right to do as I please regardless of all others.

I then showed that the prohibition law is like many other laws which I have mentioned in characters and designs; and asked the question why there was not a protest entered against prohibition of the liquor traffic.

I then thought some anti-prohibitionist would jump up and say the laws you referred to are not parallel to the prohibitory amendment. So I put in this paragraph for him; You say they are not parallel cases for a man need not go into a saloon unless he wishes.

Now in the laws mentioned in the above paragraph, there is no difference between them and the proposed prohibitory amendment as far as personal liberty is concerned. A man wants to drink something that will injure him, his family, his country, and the law should say no.

Advantages of Imperfect Vision.

Few people probably realize how rare, optically speaking, is a really perfect or normal eye among human beings. Out of 200,000 persons examined by German oculists only one was found who had normal vision, and he, strange to say, saw nothing, as the generality of mankind see things.

May not the myope and astigmatic comfort himself, therefore, with the reflection that his vision, if in the strict sense defective, has compensations not to be lightly disregarded? Is it not better to see things in a picturesque way, with harsh outlines softened and with variations in curves and angles in harmony with one's sense of beauty, than to be held rigidly to the letter of nature and so find the external world an affair of blank monotony?—Boston Beacon.

Success in Life.

Dr. John Hunter, the eminent surgeon, adopted a rule which may be recommended to all. When a friend asked him how he had been able to accomplish so much in the way of study and discovery in his busy life he answered: "My rule is deliberately to consider before I commence whether the work is practicable. If it be not practicable I do not attempt it. If it be practicable I can accomplish it if I give sufficient pains to it, and having begun I never stop until the thing is done. To this rule I owe all my success in life."—New York Ledger.

Up among the Catskill mountains resides Eri Gray, who is 105 years old. He has been a resident of that locality over fifty years, and now occupies a cabin by the roadside. He knows no living relatives. For over twenty years kind neighbors have supplied his fuel, clothing and provisions.

The immaculate Bryan will grind out his grist of chestnuts at the opera house, Friday night. He has got scared about the speech he made to the farmers at Weeping Water, which was the only new thing that he said and hurries down here to explain the situation to the shop boys. The sudden change in his program will do him no good.

High School Notes.

Mr. Graves the recently elected principal of east 4th ward has resigned his position, the duties being too severe for his health. A lady from Iowa has been selected to fill the vacancy and Miss Agatha Tucker is substituting in the meantime until she arrives.

We are going to have a new mode of transportation up stairs. For further particulars inquire of Miss Sampson.

Miss Mary Berry was the winner of the banner last week and her school feels proud of their victory, and by the way Miss Mary Berry has charge of the Second primary and has a splendid school. She is a teacher who performs her duties in a business like manner and with good success.

The sheet in the basement known as the Journal had a representative in the building last Friday and wrote up our school in grand shape. Whether he got any points on the political issues of the day is as yet unknown.

Teachers this term are all pleasant but of all the schools in the state, we certainly have the crankiest janitor of the lot. A truant now and then, but the successful method our superintendent has of dealing out justice to the culprit, is fast making truancy a thing of the past.

We have a literary society in room 11 which is joined by Mrs. Halsey's room each Friday afternoon; the program consisting of essays, declamations and music is very interesting and is quite creditable to our schools.

An increase of 15 pupils last week and about the same this is filling some of our rooms too full for comfort.

The art of clay moulding is progressing finely, the pupils and teachers are doing work that would make the artists of Rome turn green with envy. This with many other new studies introduced by Prof. McClelland places our school in the front rank with the metropolitan schools of the east. Plattsmouth has always had a good school and it is evident that under the present management no backward steps will be taken.

A visit to the different buildings in the city would convince the most economical citizen that more school room is almost an imperative necessity; and that it should be met in a different manner than by erecting one and two room buildings. The rooms cannot be kept clean and it costs a great deal more for fuel.

The Electric Lamp Muddle.

The Electric Lamp Company seems doomed to nothing but trouble and disappointment. They had been very successful in making good lamps, which had a splendid reputation wherever they had been tried. This morning however the sheriff served notice on J. F. Schaefer, the superintendent and the two glass blowers, Marten Schwab and Henry Gutman, restraining them from entering the premises of the Electric Lamp Co., and naming Oct. 27th as the day for a final hearing of the case before Judge Field. From the reading of the petition which is in the name of the Plattsmouth Electric Lamp Mfg Co. as plaintiff, and verified by Charles Harris, it would seem that the defendants had been discharged the night before. We will endeavor to make no comments until a final hearing of the case which seems a very sudden and unexpected procedure.

One of the most delightful social gatherings of the week was the five o'clock tea given on Tuesday evening by Mrs. M. B. Murphy, in honor of her sister, Mrs. Thos. Carter of Salt Lake City. Among those who sat around the table, laden down with a bountiful supply of toothsome edibles, were Mesdames R. R. Livingston, Palmer, Miller, F. E. White, Byron Clark, J. T. and Ambrose Patterson. Mrs. Carter leaves on Friday for her home in Salt Lake City.

The Treibund finished its business session last evening and wound up with a ball that was well attended by many of the best Germans of the city, who were bent on furnishing a pleasant entertainment for their guests, the delegates from abroad. Everybody seemed to be having a good time and the crowd did not dig perse until near 4 o'clock this morning.

Mortar Spotted Skin.

Covered with Scales. Awful Spectacle. Cured in five Weeks by the Cuticura Remedies.

I am going to tell you of the extraordinary cure your CUTICURA REMEDIES performed on me. About the 1st of April I noticed some red pimples like coming out all over my body but thought nothing of it until a medicine later on, when it began to look like spots of mortar spotted on, and which came off in layers as I scratched with my fingernails. I would scratch every night until I was raw, then the next morning the scales being formed meanwhile, were scratched off again in vain did I consult all the doctors in the country, but without aid. After living up all hopes of recovery, I happened to see an advertisement in the newspaper about your CUTICURA REMEDIES and purchased them. I tried them and obtained almost immediate relief. I began to notice that the scaly eruptions gradually dropped off and disappeared one by one, until I had been fully cured. I had the disease thirteen months before I began taking the CUTICURA and in four or five weeks was entirely cured. My disease was eczema and psoriasis. I know of a great many who have taken the CUTICURA and thank me for the knowledge of them, especially mothers who have babies with scaly eruptions on their heads and bodies. I cannot express my thanks to you. My body was covered with scales, and I was an awful spectacle to behold. Now my skin is as clear as a baby's. G. E. GOTEY, Merrill, Wis.
