

From Thursday's Daily.

Simeon Rector of Weeping Water is in the city today.

H. D. Travis and D. O. Dwyer electrified an audience out at Murray last night.

Advertising pays. Only a few days ago a man advertised in these columns for a lost knife, and two days afterwards he found it in his pocket.

John Buttery returned from a trip up through the sand hills the other day. He says there is lots of stock being shipped from up in that country.

Bryans chestnuts are too old, they have an ancient musty flavor, in fact the avidity with which Sherman gulps them down has led some people to hint they were wormy.

The Herald office has just completed the poll books, and a neater job of work has never been done in the county. The names of all the candidates are printed on the books, which will save much time for the election boards throughout the county.

Dr. Cook is greatly improved and can sit up a little. But as rest and quiet are necessary for his recovery, his friends may know that he is not yet ready to receive them, as he is very weak and cannot bear the slightest exertion or excitement.

White & Black, the apple merchants, received a car load of barrels Sunday morning which were filled up and shipped, and today another car containing 300 barrels came in. They have purchased, up to the present time, 6,000 bushels of the best apples ever shipped out of Cass county.

Isaac Pearlman's team got scared at some paper while standing at the rear of his store this morning and started up the alley at a lively rate; just as they got to the rear of Doyey's store the wagon struck six inch telephone pole that had recently been erected and broke the pole into two places and somewhat demoralized the wagon. The horses went on, but were soon caught and appeared to be unharmed.

The editor of this paper has just received an elegantly engraved invitation to the "Old Roman banquet" being a celebration of Allen G. Thurman's birthday at his home in Columbus, Ohio. There must have been some mistake, while we do not object to the "Old Roman" having a birthday party, we certainly would not feel at home with the company of bourgeois that will be present on that occasion.

Mrs. Thomas Carter, Mrs. H. E. Palmer Mrs. W. W. Drummond, Mrs. James Patterson, Mrs. H. M. Gault, Mrs. A. M. Patterson, Mrs. D. Miller, Mrs. M. B. Murphy, Mrs. B. Clark and the Misses Maggie and Amelia Vallery, were the guests of Mrs. F. E. White, last evening at a five o'clock tea given by Mrs. White in honor of Mrs. Thomas Carter, of Salt Lake City. The elegant home of Mr. and Mrs. White was brightly illuminated, and the tables radiant with a handsome service, and a rare assortment of all the delicacies of the season, which with the kindly attentions of the hostess made the evening one of rare pleasure for those present.

District Court. Goo. F. Mastin vs Fidelia Mastin, divorce granted defendant on her cross bill; Polk Bros for defendant, Clark and Barr for plaintiff.

Fred Gorder et al vs Plattsmouth Canning Company; trial to court, mortgage held valid and made first lien and judgment allowed plaintiffs in the sum of $11,438. A N Sullivan for plaintiff, Beeson & R o. for defendant.

Bank of Cass County vs F. M. Striplin and Wm Buster, judgment for plaintiff in the sum of $1,500; B. S. Ramsey for plaintiff.

L. G. Todd vs the Omaha Southern Railway Company, appeal from right of way appraisement is on trial to a jury to day; Beeson & Root and J. R. Webster for plaintiff, A. N. Sullivan for defendant.

The jury in the celebrated case of Oswald Baier, administrator of the estate of Katherine Baier vs the M. P. Railway came in last night with a sealed verdict about 11 o'clock which was shown this morning to have been in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $3,500. This was the case where a woman was killed by the train at Weeping Water and her husband sued for $5,000 damages. The attorneys for the plaintiff were H. D. Travis, E. H. Wooley and John C. Watson.

A Serious Accident. John Finisher is an old citizen, having been a resident of this place for over 30 years. This morning as he was loading a wagon with dirt (he being in the employ of Street Commissioner Hemple) at the corner of 8th and Vine streets this morning, the bank, which is about 8 feet high, suddenly caved down on him and caught him in such a manner as to break the thigh bone and otherwise injure him very seriously. He was brought down to the Nebraska House and Dr. Thede Livingston called, who dressed the fractured limb and otherwise made him as comfortable as possible. Mr. Finisher owns a house and acre lot in Happy Hollow, where he kept house for himself. Owing to his age and other bruises, his condition is considered critical.

An Interesting Relic. The following is a true and correct copy of the ticket that was voted for by both parties in Nebraska Territory in 1850, which was kindly handed us by Mr. L. J. Griffith, who was here then and voted the republican part of the ticket himself. Mr. Griffith says that Avoca precinct that year contained 28 votes and that the boundary extended from the Missouri River to the west line of the county, taking fully one third of the county within its limits.

The election was held in a log cabin on the south branch of the Weeping Water. The land was owned by Jeremiah Carr, it is now owned by G. W. Harshman:

A CONVINCING ARGUMENT. Free Trade Heresies Brushed Away by Hon. J. C. Tate at the Opera House Last Night. For Friday's Daily. A splendid audience, composed of the best and most intelligent class of people to be found in our city, greeted the able exponent of a protective tariff, Hon. J. C. Tate, at the opera house last evening. The meeting was presided over by Mayor Richey, who introduced the speaker of the evening in a few well chosen remarks. Mr. Tate did not begin by abusing anyone, but in a pleasant agreeable manner he started in on what turned out to be the most eloquent and convincing argument we have heard during the campaign. His logic was clear and his premises were based on the facts that largely came under his own personal knowledge. His telling points against the demagoguery and lying tactics of the Omaha World-Herald were received with deafening applause. He showed how the democratic press had wantonly and by wholesale, lied about the McKinley bill, and clinched his statements by reading from the papers and then from the bill. Mr. Tate grew eloquent in showing how this country had grown since the war, on account of the tariff, in strong contrast with what it was before the war, although enough gold had been taken out of our mines from 1848 to 1860 to have made us a rich nation; yet we were poor at the beginning of the war, and were almost without credit, and all on account of free trade, which had taken our gold out of the country to pay for the immense purchases the country was making abroad. The balance of trade had been millions against us, until the republican party in 1861 closed the gates; and from that very day, notwithstanding the natural results of a dreadful war, the country began to improve until it has stripped and outgrown every other nation on the face of the globe. L. G. Todd, who bubbles over at the slightest opportunity, took issue with Mr. Tate on some tariff point and was invited upon the stage, where he was allowed to give his views in a rambling manner, that amounted to nothing except that the financial policy was all wrong and he, Todd, had a sure cure for all the ills we suffer from over production of cereals by issuing greenbacks. The crowd listened good naturedly and laughed heartily at Mr. Todd's position. Mr. Tate replied in a five minute speech, completely answering every point Mr. Todd tried to make. Mr. Adams of Lincoln, was then introduced, but the hour was so late that he refused to detain the crowd, they showed a perfect willingness to remain. All in all it was a great meeting and we believe fully and satisfactorily explained the republican position on the tariff.

Married. Cobb Brown. At the Court House at Plattsmouth, October 24, 1890, at 10 o'clock a. m., Mr. Alexander J. Cobb and Miss Annie Brown were united in marriage, Judge Ramsey officiating. W. J. Hesser, the popular florist fruit grower of Plattsmouth, left at this office this morning a basket of fine apples and some very fine bunches of lettuce. This morning's papers report a bloody race riot in Georgia. According to the latest reports, the governor has ordered out the state militia. Four men are reported killed. One of the features of the G. A. R. fair to be held here November 18, 19 and 20 is the zouave drill by twenty young ladies who are now being drilled by Col. Ginger. It was amusing to see C. W. Sherman shake hands with L. G. Todd, warmly congratulating him on his speech last night, saying: "we have downed 'em once and can do it again." The democrats love the independents, for they think every vote for that ticket counts one for them. Notice is hereby given that there will be a special meeting of the county commissioners on Tuesday, Oct. 28, 1890 for the purpose of making arrangements for the immediate completion of the county bridges now under course of construction by the contractor, C. D. Dundas & Son. BRD CRITCHFIELD, County Clerk.

District Court. At the time of going to press the closing argument in the case of Levi G. Todd vs. the Omaha Southern Railway is being made. This is one of the several appeals from the condemnation committee and is contested and watched with more than usual interest. John R. Webster and Beeson & Root appear for the plaintiff, while A. N. Sullivan and Byron Clark represent the defendant. The case has been on trial since yesterday morning and both sides have contested the ground gone over closer than in any case yet tried, Baier vs. the Missouri Pacific not excepted. The committee allowed Mr. Todd one thousand dollars damages and he appeals therefrom asking $5000. As there are several other cases similar to this, the result is anxiously awaited.

Nebraska. Work commenced yesterday on the new Episcopal church at Galloway. From all parts of the state comes the reports that the ground is in excellent condition for plowing. The distance from Kearney to Calloway over the new K. & B. H. railway is sixty five and one-half miles. Thomas Poe, residing near Odell, has husked his corn and reports forty bushels to the acre of good quality. The workmen engaged in digging sewers at Hastings have struck for an advance in wages from $1.25 to 1.50 a day. Hastings is alive to her interests and is working for the best sugar factory. One man has agreed to give $1,000 and another goes him 250 better or $1,250. At Superior last Monday night the rain poured gently down for twelve hours. It was the best rain this year, and will greatly help the farmers in fall plowing. An old man named Hildebrand was arrested at Beatrice Wednesday for passing a counterfeit dollar. Some one gave him the money, telling him it was spurious. Rev. N. L. Hoopengartner, who succeeded in converting nearly two hundred persons at the Methodist revival at Hastings, is now besieging the stronghold of sin at Juniata. The West Point Republican says the nimrods of that section have a very expensive passion for hunting and that the average score at wild game is two men with six shots each at one snipe. Cost of ammunition. 15 cents; value of snipe, 5 cents. They had a colt show at Valley the other day. One colt weighed only 100 pounds and another suckling 650 pounds. A yearling weighed 1,055, pounds, a two-year-old 1,320, and a three year old weighed 1,575. Several parties at Utica have lately received circulars about "green goods." The writer is Charles Wilson of New York. The man who answers such a letter deserves to be swindled. Such letters should always be turned over to the postmaster. At the shooting tournament in Omaha they are doing some wonderful shooting. The best shots of the west are there. Parmelee of Omaha, and C. W. Budd, of Des Moines, lead so far in the tournament in eight matcher, singles and doubles. Parmelee has killed seventy seven birds out of a possible eighty one, while Budd follows with one less. A prairie fire swept over a portion of southeast Adams county near Negunda postoffice last Saturday. R. C. Laird lost his stable, granary containing farming implements and grain, and a large quantity of hay. W. W. Elsworth, Samuel Wilson and C. C. Barger also suffered from loss of hay, about 100 tons being consumed. There was a strong wind prevailing at the time and it is believed that a prairie fire was the cause of the damage. The loss falls very heavily upon Mr. Laird. The management of the big poultry show, to be held in the grand opera house annex, Omaha, Neb., November 23 to 30, 1890, has arranged also for a bench show and ask dog fanciers to join them. Accommodations will be provided for all classes of thoroughbred dogs, and premiums awarded as follows: Fifty per cent of entry money to first, thirty per cent to second, and twenty per cent to third. Dogs will be classified in their respective classes and entrance money divided equally. Entrance fee for each and every dog, $1. All dogs will be returned free from Omaha if accompanied by certificate from the secretary that they were on exhibition at Omaha and have not changed hands. For all information address J. R. Megahan, Lincoln.

E. A. Stopher, candidate for representative from Cass county, was in the city today renewing old acquaintances. A Mr. Kuntz from Elmwood accompanied him. L. G. Todd is a hard man to please; in talking with him at Weeping Water the other day, we thought he was a free trader, but since hearing Tate's speech last night, he wants to outdo Tate and says that he wants a tariff on hides. He says when his stock dies as a great deal of stock does it is not worth skinning on account of their being no tariff on hides. Weckbach & Co., Larson & Peterson and Bennett & Tutt, each have received a thousand pounds of the Grand Island sugar, and we but voice the sentiment of those who have tried it, when we say that there has never been any sugar brought to this market that was as pure and clean. Nebraskans should take pride in this new industry, that will rank here long with our corn and wheat crop.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria. When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.
