Thanksgiving. From No. day's daily.

Governor Thayer has issued his proclamation, designating Thursday, November 27th, as Thanksgiving day, as follows:

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEBRASKA:

The time is drawing near when, in accordance with an established custom, the people are invited to assemble in their accustomed places of religious worship for the purpose of offering up their homage and gratitude to the Ruler of the universe for His manifold blessings.

Nov, therefore, I, John M. Thayer, governor of the state of Nebraska, do issue this, my proclamation, designating Thursday, the 27th day of the present month, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and ninety, as a day of thanksgiving and praise to the Most High. I trust that the people of this commonwealth will on that day cease from their usual avocations and gathering in the sanctuaries, offer up devout thanks and songs of praise and invoke the continuance of His blessings.

Let me most earnestly entreat all on that day especially to remember the poor and needy and to give to them of their abundance, and thus make their hearts glad, remembering that it is more blessed to give than to receive.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the state. Done at Lincoln this 6th day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and ninety, of the state the twenty-fourth and of the independence of the United States the one hundredth and fifteenth.

By the governor: JOHN M. THAYER. BEN COWDELY, Secretary of State.

A Serious Fall.

Gid Archer, brother of the city marshal, had a very serious fall Friday night about eleven o'clock, that might easily have been much worse than it was. Gid had been working on the Rock Island grade near South Omaha and was returning from that city to camp, when he drove over a bank, falling, team and all, over 26 feet. One of the horses was killed; Gid sustained serious bruises and fractured his right leg in two places. He laid there on the prairie two hours before he was taken up and cared for, suffering excruciatingly from the fractures. He was brought home on a stretcher Saturday night and is resting as comfortably as could be expected at his father's residence in this city.

According to Prof. Foster's predictions November will be a very stormy month. He predicts storms east and south and blizzards in the northwest. The storm period began Wednesday, and continues until the ninth, after which there will be a few days of fine weather, to be followed by more severe storms to the 25th. The month of December, he says, will be one of the pleasantest of the year. So far Mr. Foster has hit pretty near the truth and his predictions are therefore considered very reliable.

Both air and water abound in microbes or germs of disease, ready to infect the debilitated system. To impart that strength and vigor necessary to resist the effect of these pernicious atoms, no tonic blood-purifier equals Ayers Sarsaparilla.

Dr. Keniston, an old time citizen of this county and for many years a resident of Elmwood, but lately of Keyapaha county, has sold his property in that part of the state and will remove soon to Tennessee where he expects to hereafter reside.

The combination of ingredients found in Ayer's pills renders them tonic and curative as well as cathartic. For this reason they are the best medicine for people of costive habit, as they restore the natural action of the bowels, without debilitating.

The star of Bethlehem which was visible at the birth of Christ, and which can only be seen every 315 years, can be seen every evening at 8 o'clock. It appears just a little south of east and is a very beautiful and brilliant orb. It will only be visible about two months and those who do not see it this summer will be denied that pleasure unless, however, they live over three centuries.—Ex.

Fred Gorder has just received a picture showing a farmer mounted on a bicycle with pumpkins for wheels, making the dust fly along the highway as he rushes towards the White House, which is noticed temptingly near. Grover Cleveland is seen crawling up a spout, while the republican leader is crawling in a horn. Fred thinks the Farmers' Alliance is a winner and he and Judge Archer are talking of organizing an alliance here.

Thurston's Opinion. Judge Thurston was interviewed in Chicago yesterday and said, referring to the influence of the McKinley bill upon the result:

"The natural tendency of prices of all products was upward, among which can be named boots and shoes, iron, lumber and other commodities, although the tax was reduced upon these and other things. We struck a rising market with the passage of the McKinley bill and all this is laid to it."

Judge Thurston thinks Nebraska and every other western state will go republican in 1892. "I think," said he, "there will be a revival of stalwartism, in the republican party such as to make 1892 a great republican year. Republican workers all over the country did not take an active part in this campaign. They felt as though their services to the republican party had been undervalued. But in 1892 these persons will be at work in support of some candidate who will arouse enthusiasm, and these very men will lead to victory, as heretofore. The result of the recent elections has not put an end to the presidential chances of either William McKinley or Thomas B. Reed, but it has probably postponed their dates. Blaine or Alger would be winners at the head of the ticket in 1892."

In answer to a democratic correspondent we would say: No, the Speaker of the House of Representatives does not do all the speaking, hence the necessity of putting Mr. Bryan in for Speaker is not apparent.

Robert Riley, Johannes Peterson and Maurice Turney came in off the farm to rest up. They spent all their money for budge and in an effort to paint the town were run in by the police. Judge Archer called it a plain drunk, fined the boys $5 and costs, as they could not pay, they were sent to jail.

The winter evenings are growing longer, and to while away the time pleasantly a number of the boys have organized a club and fitted up the double parlors in the Riley block at the corner of Sixth and Pearl streets in elegant style. The club entertains its invited guests with music and all the popular games extant. The officers and membership of the club are as follows: C. Richey, Pres.; Elmer Cole, Vice-Pres.; Ed Dutton, Treas.; John Schultoff, Sec'y. Charley Valley, Sam Patterson, Willie Hyers, Frank Richey, Robt. Hayes, Frank Irish, Frank Johnson, Jno Young, A. V. Burk, Dick Grimes, Nels Murray, and Frank Morgan compose the membership. The cosy rooms, well furnished, without doubt will prove a pleasant place for the members to spend the evenings, where they can read, talk politics or take a hand at high five.

The difference between republican and democratic methods is well illustrated in the remark of Congressman Breckenridge, that his party will have to wait until the elections of next fall are over before they know what it will be wise for the democratic house to do. The republican congress picked out what it considered the best course for the good of the country and proceeded to carry out that policy regardless of its effect upon the elections to follow within a few weeks of the adjournment. This does not mean that the republicans will attempt to legislate in defiance of the wishes of the voters of the country. It means that they have the wisdom to plan and the courage to carry into effect a policy that may not be endorsed before it is understood, but which will in the end meet with the warm approval of the best people of the country.

The democrats, it is certain, would not have had the courage to put a new tariff bill into effect four weeks before the election. They will never have the sand to pass any measure that is not weak and temporizing for fear it may have a disastrous effect upon their members in close districts. The difference between the two parties is the difference between statesmanship and demagoguery; between clear headed, far sighted business methods and the cunning trickery of the ward politician.—Ex.

OMAHA and Liverpool join hands in celebrating the recent so-called democratic victory. The English appearing dude that edits the World Herald ought to have arranged for a few cablegrams of congratulations from the other side, "Gon'tcher know" it would have been a great hit.

THE old man of the Journal apologizes to Mr. Lemasters and suggests that the reason democrats did not elect him was his indifference as to the nominations at Wabash. Bah! McClintic was put up to drop, but at the HERALD's suggestion, he proved a stayer. That, and democratic interests in Plattsmouth, kept McClintic on the track and prevented the Journal from openly espousing his cause, as the so-called editor of that sheet secretly did.

THE London Times has proudly nominated Grover Cleveland for president in 1892. This means that British gold will be poured out for him in preference to any other man the English abettors on this side can name. Mr. Hill should cultivate the good will of London, Liverpool and Manchester and thereby undermine Mr. Cleveland in his greatest stronghold, if he cares for the democratic nomination in 1892.

CANADA has to be a poor export duties on logs, Brazil has to pay down the export duty on coffee to 20 per cent, Cuba is on her knees begging for a new deal with this country, and several South American republics are getting ready to accept the terms upon which reciprocity is offered as soon as they can get their houses in order. And yet the tariff law carrying the clause regulating reciprocity has been in force just one month today. A pretty good start, is it not?—State Journal.

THE Fremont Tribune is not feeling well. After pouring boiling oil all over Mr. Rosewater for playing into the hands of the enemies of the republican ticket, it says in an unpleasant, rasping way: "If Richards had gone to Omaha and got drunk as a boiled owl he would have run much better than he did; or he might have been nailed in at the Diamond gambling den by the police and carted off to jail, and thereby gained a few thousand votes of the sturdy Omaha citizens. This thing of being decent is such a novelty in politics that people are afraid to risk it."

TABLE TALK for November is on hand to cheer the body with its pleasing presence and delicious contents. Among the many good things to be found in this number, that will deeply interest the housewife, is a Thanksgiving dinner prepared by its editor, Mrs. S. T. THE at one time great and arrogant sugar trust is now in the hands of a receiver appointed by order of a court which has declared its existence illegal, and appointed him to wind up its affairs. The quotation of its shares at 50 cents means that Wall street understands the law and has no faith in the sugar trust ever again being able to earn a dividend. The assets of the company are such that 50 cents on the dollar will doubtless be realized out of a sale or a distribution of it. It is very clear, we may say with confidence, that the days of the sugar trust are numbered and that its receiver was demanded before the defeat of the republican party at the recent election. Now if the Standard Oil and a few other unholly combinations were made to disgorge it would be hailed with delight by the country.

THE English, French and German newspapers are delighted with the to them apparent downfall of the republican party. They construe it, that it means the downfall of American manufacturers and European control of our markets. And to them it means cheap labor in America, a thing very earnestly desired by all the tottering monarchies of Europe. As there is nothing gives them more trouble than the unrest and complaints of their underpaid subjects; as the workman compares what his brother workman receives for his days work in America with the result of his own labors. The wage question is a serious menace to the perpetuity of foreign kingdoms. Hence the importance of their joining hands with a political party which every fair, intelligent, disinterested party knows means lower wages in this country.

GIRLS AND THANKSGIVING.

The time has come for every girl to make Thanksgiving. Somebody sighs and wonders what they have to be thankful for; somebody else is very positive that it is certain she has nothing to be thankful for; but there isn't a human being on the face of God's earth who can't find something for which to say, "I thank Thee, Oh God. One girl has that greatest of all blessings—good health; another, the blessings of a bright, happy home; another, though she lies on an invalid's couch, the blessing of sunshine and the consideration of those who are less afflicted. One is glad because on her third finger is a bright ring that means she has become mistress of somebody's heart; and another is glad because worry and troubles are all swallowed up in that great pacifier—work. It will do more for you and for me when our hearts are full of sorrow, and our eyes sore with unshed tears, to feel that that the hands must be busy and the must be at work. If on Thanksgiving Day you can do nothing else, than get down on your knees and thank God for work. It is the best gift that out of His plenty he can offer you.—Ruth Ashmore, in Ladies' Home Journal.

THE alliance democrats made no mistake when they plumped for Bryan for congress. The republicans who voted for him perhaps did. That garulous tariff reformer, when skinned, is nothing more nor less than a bitter partisan democrat who, if the democratic caucus orders, will vote for Breckinridge of Arkansas for Speaker just as cheerfully as he would for the distinguished McKelighan. Since we come to think of it, the HERALD would be in favor of Breckinridge for Speaker. The northern democratic doughface press is announcing "another solid south" as the grandest feature of the democratic victory they are celebrating, and we rather guess it is. In keeping with the progress of the democratic party let us have Breckinridge for Speaker.

IT is too bad our democratic friends in the "east end" made the Lemasters mistake. They intended to land a democrat in the state senate from old Cass and it would have looked "real rocky," to use the appropriate slang phrase, had they voted Senator Thomas under the political sod in this city by electing the alliance democrats when republicans were voting Hon. Frank E. White into the house, on purely sectional grounds. So the job was relegated to Rock Bluffs and the outlying democratic precincts. When the democrats plumped for Lemasters under the belief that he was the strong democrat, the job miscarried. "It is too bad," in the language of an honest Plattsmouth precinct democrat, that we made the mistake." Senator Thomas an thank the HERALD for its miscarriage however, had we not punched the democrat machine of this city almost daily and kept the fact before Mr. McClintic, and our republicans that the cut and dried program was to quietly let him drop, Lemasters would be the senator today, and just as good a democrat as either, Messrs. White or Shryock. Senator Thomas is the result of a democratic blunder, that is all there is about it.

THE Journal brings the doleful news that certain canned goods have increased largely in price on account of the tariff which the McKinley bill places on tin. Now the necessity for democratic journals continuing to be about the tariff is not apparent. At present the duty on tin plate has not been increased one penny, the tariff is today what it was a year ago, and it will not be a fraction higher until July 1891, when the tin plate clause in the McKinley bill will go into effect. And after the new bill has become the law, the effect of the tariff, taking the most extreme free trade view of it, will be but to add so small a fraction of increase per cent to canned goods that the profits of the wholesale man and manufacturer alone will have to suffer, as the amount would be insignificant except in the aggregate.

LORD SALISBURY, the English premier, at the the Lord Mayor's banquet the other evening in London, said among other things that:

"The McKinley tariff in America would certainly affect some portion of British commerce. Free traders could rejoice in the result of the recent American elections as a protest against the savage and selfish protectionism, but conclusions must not be rashly drawn. The prospect of prohibitive tariffs must still be faced. England had no retaliatory tariff schemes. The premier expressed the opinion that the passage of an eight hour law would result in giving victory in competition to other countries where the labor situation was not embarrassed by such legislation. The government would not interfere in the pending labor disputes, which, it was believed, would finally adjust themselves.
