Prehistoric Man.

Special Dispatch to Globe-Democrat : GAINESVILLE, Tex., Dec. 13. - Great excitement exists in the Era neighborhood, ten miles west of here, over the discovery of an ancient sepulture con A taining many catacombs, which have been unearthed by Dr. Fears and Major Fidler, of the town of Era, and Prof. Ashley, a well known geologist of Springfield, Ill. It appears that the doctor made his first discovery six years ago, since which time he has spent much of his time in the region making investigations. Some months ago he took Major Fidler into his confidence. The exhuming of the ancient resting place of the dead began in a very quiet way. It was soon discovered that something of an historical nature had been brought to light, when Prof. Ashley had wired will be the event of 1890-91. to come at once. The Professor arrived last Friday. It is learned that the cata comb contains many petrified remains of human beings, some very ancient sculpt ures and weapons of war. The Professor claims that there is some clew to dates that will be of great historical importance. It is further stated that considerable treasure has been found. The place has not been located yet by the public, but it is supposed to be in the vicinity of Rock Bluffs-Fun For Farmers.

Here is some of the fun that farmers have: J. F. Marshall has lost thirty-four head of his fine hogs by cholera, and Joseph Sans' hogs are dying with the same disease. F. M. Young jr. has lost four head of cattle from eating too much corn stalks, and not getting water enough to drink; and J. B. Holmes has lost seven head in the same way. F. M. Young jr. had some corn stolen out of hie crib near the new railroad grade, last Wednesday or Thursday night. It was hauled away with a mule team and a large load was taken.

How little the sidewalk farmers, who live in cities and run agricultural societies, know what real practical fun there is in getting up at three or four o'clock in the morning, with the mercury twenty degrees below zere, lighting the lantern, and taking the scoop shovel to shovel snow for an hour or two to hour of each day for four weeks to learn a calf to drink milk; and feed it on the best the farm affords for a year and then finally sell it for four or five dollars. Not much do they know of what profitible fun there is in paying twenty dollars for the services of a fine horse to raise a good colt from, keep the colt a year and then sell it for twelve or fifteen dollars.

How little the sidewalk farmers know of what real exciting fun there is in going out in a rainy time to milk the cows, and have the first cow that they set down to, kick them backwards heels over head into the mud or a large cake of concentrated grass.

Not much do they know of what real enjoyable fun there is in sitting down to milk in fly time, and have the cow not only fill their eyes and mouth with dirt, but leave great streaks of finely chewed grass across their face. .

Talk about fun, if they want to know what real magnificent fun is just let them spend half an hour three times a day in the spring of the year, for about two weeks, in holding up a weak celt by the side of its mother to let it get something to eat. or spend a whole day in trying to get a twenty-five cent lamb to suck its mother, and then have that fun provokingly enlarged by having their wife ask deal cheaper next fall.

But if they want to know what real exhilerating fun is, first let them spend a whole season in raising a crop of produce and then haul it to market and get from twenty-five to fifty cents a day for their labor.

Election Contest. From Tuesday's Daily

At the exemination of witnesses in the election contest in Omaha yesterday on the part of Mr. Boyd, Mayor Cushing, Judge Wakely, Sheriff Boyd and Police Commissioner Hartman were sworn. Each testified that he considered the Nov. election the quietest that ever occur red in Omaha. Cushing visited many of the polling places during the day and saw no disturbance. He was in constant telephone communication with every voting place, but heard of no riots or assaults. Extra police had been appoint ed for the day and the mayor had request ed the chief to give his men instructions to protect every citizen in his rights. The above testimony sounds very differ ent from what we have been hearing on the other side. Evidently some one is not posted on the election, or there has been a little prevarication going on.
