CHILLY FANATICISM

Cranks Who Find Delight in Taking Frigid Plunges in Midwinter.

Hed Unteres THAT INTEREST THE I found myself at the Serpentine at an unusually early hour in the morning. A little way out in the water, in front of Insects, Birds and Reptiles Found in the the diving board, was a ladder lying on Sand-Funny Freaks of the Tarantula the ice, and in front of this ladder were Hawk and the Road Runner-How the two trestles. To the left of the trestles was another ladder lying on the ice. Near the bank I found a policeman who was communicative. The bathers form a kind of club, and number about twasty, he told me. They bathe every morning. No matter what the weather is, in they go just the There's no lack of ingenious, curious same. All classes of people belong to the club, I was further told, and some same from a good distance. One enthusiast is 75 years old. His hair and That's an insect built something like a beard are white as snow.

Just behind us was a very fine old elm tree. "That," said the policeman, "is their favorite tree. That is where they dress and undress." I soon found that his was the case, as the bathers came up. The first man to arrive lost no time in undressing, but went to the tree and threw off his clothes, chatting to the policeman the while. Then he sped gayly to his little patch of water between the trestles. Into the water he jumpedit is very shallow here-and dipping underneath it began to throw out some very large blocks of ice to the right and left of him.

This done, he leaped nimbly on to the diving board, poised himself, plunged and disappeared beneath the water, but only for a few moments. He was out again in that space of time and ran nimbly to the tree, where he quickly dried himself and rather shyly dressed. The others also undressed quickly, mount ed the board and dived, but only once, and they were out like the other man and rapidly drying themselves. They never take more than one plunge in the cold weather. This was the general routine of all the bathers, who seemed to enjoy the bath immensely, uttering delighted "Ahs!" as they went in and came out.

"How do you feel?" said I to one who was drying himself, "cold?"

"No; all of a glow-warm all over." "How do you feel when you go in first -cold?"

"No, not at all. Of course it's use." He went on to say that he had in dulged in the cold plunge bath for twelve years and never missed a day. Nor did any of the others miss if they could help it. Rain, hail or snow-in he went and in they went. "I've been in when it's been 20 degs, below freezing point," he said delightelly; "it's only about five now," and he seemed sad because it was too warm.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Fialuncis, fil, makes the statement that she caught cold, which set tled on her lengs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He old her she was a hopeless victim of consump-tion and that no medicine could cure her Her Druggist suggested Dr. King's new discovery for consumption ; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from the first dose. She continued its use and after taking ten bottles, found herself sound and well now does her own housework and is as well a she ever way .- Free trial bottles of this great discovery at F. G. Fricke & Co's Drug Store agebottles 50c, and $1.

Some years ago Chamberlsin & Co., of Des Momes, Iowa, commenced the manufacture of a cough syrup, believing it to be the most prompt and reliable preparation yet produced for coughs, colds and croup; that the public appreciate true merit, and in time it was certain to become popular. Their most sanguine hopes have been more than realized. Over three hundred thousand bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy are now sold each year, and it is recognized as "the best made," wherever known. It will cure a severe cold in less time than any other treatment. For sale by F. G. Fricke & Co.

Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, 1nd., writes : "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeting arising from Kidney and Laver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman, of same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Laver medicine, made me feet like a new man" J. W. Gaome hardware merchant, same town, says: "Elec-tric bitters is just the thing for a man who fs all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life Unly 50c, a bottle at F. G. Fricke & Co's Drug Store. 2

"Do you wish to know the quickest way to curea severe cold? We will tell you. To cure a cold quickly, it must be treated before the cold has become settled in the system. This can always be done if you choose to, as nature in her kindness to man gives timely warning and plainly tells you in nature's way, that as a punishment for some indiscretion, you are to be afflicted with a cold unless you choose to ward it off by prompt action. The first symptoms of a cold, in most cases, is a dry, loud cough and sneezing. The cough is soon followed by a profuse watery expectoration and the sneezing by a profuse watery discharge from the nose. In severe cases there is a thin white coating on the tongue. What to do? It is only necessary to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in double doses every hour. That will geatly lessen the severity of thy cold and in most cases will effectualle counteract it, and cure what would have been a severe cold in one or two days' time. Try it and be convinced." 50 cent bottles for sale by F. G. Fricke & Co., druggists.

The road runner is a bird somewhat larger than a bluejay, with a saucy break down any breakwater ever built, topknot and a still saucier tail about a foot in length. He runs as fast as a horse ordinarily travels, and if he once gets into the road ahead of a horseman he will race along for hours and can't be driven out of the road. He could skip aside and get out of the way if he wanted to, but he seems to think that it is his mission in life to keep just ahead of that horse, and nothing can divert him from that occupation. He is not in the least alarmed, and when he gains too much of a lead he will stop and seesaw with his tail and chirrup merrily until the horse nearly catches up with him. Then away he goes again, as if his life depended upon winning the

I was riding across a cactus desert once when a pair of road runners that had been racing with me turned out of the trail and became suddenly very much excited about something. They paid no more attention to me, and I rode up near enough to see what was going on. They had run across a big to have back rattier and were preparing to have from with him. One of them had struck on. They had run across a big diamond the snake with his sharp bill and the diamond back had promptly coiled himself in a defensive attitude and was springing his rattle wickedly. One of the birds remained near the snake, jumping about and making a great show of hostility, but keeping beyond reach all the time, while the other gathered little bunches of dry cactus, with spines as sharp as needles and almost as hard, which he dropped close to the reptile. The road runner was as busy as the devil in a gale of wind, and in a few minutes he had piled a regular little corral of cactus spines all around the rattlesnake. Then the pair of them be- CUTICURA RESOLVENT

They are great generals, these road runners, and they always get away with the rattlesnake. That's why nobody ever shoots a road runner in California .--Interview in San Francisco Examiner.
