Good Logic.

Never judge a man by his appearance. A shabby coat may contain an editor, while the man wearing a high toned plug hat and sporting a dude cane may be one of his delinquent subscribers. -Milford Nebraska.

The Golden Gate Special.

A royal train consisting of five Pullman coaches with a baggage and dining car passed through this city last evening a few minutes behind the flyer, bound for Chicago and the east. It was the most magnificent train ever seen in this city. The coaches were all heated by steam from the engine and lighted throughout by electricity. The tourists aboard were homeward bound from a trip to the Pacific coast, where they had gone from Philadelphia by the Southern route. The train was in charge of Conductor Weeks, while Joe McCoy held the levers on the 240, which had been specially fitted up here in the shops with steam-heating and dynamo connections purposely for the trip. The train left Denver on St. Patrick's Day in the evening and arrived at Chicago at an early hour this morning. We venture the prediction to, that in the entire tour these people have found no railway well up in equipments and fine bed as the royal O.

Public Sale.

H. W. Beaver will, on Monday of April, at the Beaver stead near Cullom, sell at public auction, a large lot of stock and farming implements. W. D. Jones is the auctioneer.

Married.

At the home of the bride's parents yesterday, two miles south-west of this city, Mr. Thomas E. Williams to Miss Lilah Shepherd; Rev. Buckler officiating. The groom is a well known and highly respected resident of this county, a bright, active, honest young man whose influence will be felt. He owns a good farm six miles south-east of Louisville where for the present, the happy couple will reside. The bride is the charming daughter of the Widow Shepherd, and has lots of friends in this city. Many elegant and useful presents were given the bride as a substantial testimonial of friendship and good will. The wedding feast, which was indeed a royal repast well worthy of the important occasion, was partaken of by the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wiles, Mr. and Mrs. R. Schildknecht, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Newcomer, Misses Addie Spoiri, Essie Quinn, of Salem, Kan, Laura Smith, of Glenwood, Iowa, Rose Noble and Messrs. W. Laird and J. S. Charley and Marten Will.

THE HERALD takes pleasure in exchanging its heartiest and best wishes for the future happiness of the worthy bride and groom. THE First ward is sure of a good anchorman this year. Wm. D. Jones is a man of the people, bright, enterprising and full of public spirit and can be depended on for what he honestly believes in. Now, Jones, might pass for a philosopher, a statesman, and possibly a humorist. But as a wit, we follow the line. What do we want a wit in the council, anyway? It is too much of it there now. Let the witty man exercise his winking proclivities on the street. It has nothing to do but to annoy everybody in the county with stock of wall paper before the end of the year. -Gering & Co.

Legislative Notes.

The maximum freight bill was up in the senate and came near being killed, but was finally allowed to pass the committee of the whole. Enough was done, however, that it will meet its death when it comes to final passage. The bill making a judicial district out of the counties of Cass and Ohio, has been favorably acted upon and will doubtless become a law. It also makes a district out of Lancaster county and gives them three judges. The two-cent railroad fare bill which passed the house, was killed without much ceremony in the senate yesterday. The Louisville reformatory bill, we are sorry to note, was defeated in the house by a vote of 39 to 59. It was a much needed law, but the farmers did not want it because it was not located out west.

F. E. White made a hard fight against the appropriation of an additional $100,000 for the western sufferers, for which he deserves much credit. The professional politicians however got in their work and the bill was ordered engrossed for a third reading. The new judicial bill provides for twenty-four judges of the district court and fifteen districts. The bill to cut down the income of the clerk of the supreme court from about $15,000 a year to $2,000 seems to meet with some quiet but effective opposition in certain quarters. No one has yet given a good reason why the reduction should not be made. Peter Bates has begun work on the rooms in the Riley block, fitting them up for the post-office. Troy, son of Meek Davis, leaves tomorrow for Shenandoah, Iowa, where he will attend the Great Western Normal school and business institute. The funeral of Willie Hargraves, the sixteen year old son of William Hargraves, residing south of town, took place yesterday at the Horning cemetery. Mrs. John Clark returned to her home at Weeping Water, after a pleasant visit with the family of Timothy Clark. Mr. J. F. Shafer was delighted to get a letter this morning from his partner announcing the fact that a claim which they owned jointly, near Custer, had developed a splendid find in gold and silver, making it a valuable piece of dirt. Down at Nebraska City a man walking along the public thoroughfare of that burgh reading the signs on the six-story blocks, fell through the sidewalk and had to be sawed out. Up here when a man falls through we dig him out.

Omaha Ranks Twentieth. Omaha is included in the number of large cities in the United States having a population of 100,000 and upwards. There are twenty-eight altogether, and the following is the list, in regular order, commencing with the largest and running down to the smallest, according to the census reports of 1890: New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Brooklyn, St. Louis, Boston, Baltimore, San Francisco, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Buffalo, New Orleans, Pittsburgh, Washington, Detroit, Milwaukee, Newark, Minneapolis, Jersey City, Louisville, Omaha, Rochester, St. Paul, Kansas City, Providence, Indianapolis, Allegheny and Denver.

A Social Evening. The Rebeccas and Odd Fellows heartily enjoyed themselves last evening at their hall. The special occasion being a party send-off with testimonials of esteem for Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Karnes. It seems Mr. and Mrs. Karnes were at the hall to do some work in rehearsal, and unbeknown to them a crowd was gathered up and one of the most pleasant surprise parties of the season was the result. Mrs. Karnes was presented with a laboratorily finished hanging lamp and Mr. Karnes a handsome watch and milk set. Col. Vanatta made the presentation speech and spoke feelingly of the high estimation in which Mr. and Mrs. Karnes were held by the order and people of this city. Mr. Karnes was taken "all of a heap" and could not do himself justice in replying to the kind words he had just heard. Mrs. Karnes was visibly affected, especially at the thought of moving away from her friends, but she made an appropriate reply, heartily thanking them for their kindly mementos which would be especially respected, coming from those she respected so highly. Choice refreshments were served and a general social good time had until a late hour, when all repaired to their homes feeling glad that they had been in attendance at so pleasant a party.

A Bloody Threat.

The recent exhibition of the will of the people of New Orleans should be a valuable lesson to our Platts-mouth friends who have trampled law, right and justice under their feet for many years in the matter of the county seat. There is a time in the affairs of men and communities that calls for retribution occasionally. The mafia of New Orleans had carried their tactics too far, revenge swift and sure has overtaken them. Platts-mouth in the matter of the county seat is no better than the Italian gang, and deserve punishment in kind for what they have inflicted upon others. Weeping Water Eagle.

The Weeping Water Eagle comes out in favor of a clock for the new court house. Thanks.

The HERALD failed to chronicle the arrival of a girl at the home of Sig Green at the proper time. But it's a nice girl just the same.

The HERALD received an invoice of ten thousand envelopes this morning which will be printed at once for one firm. How is that for an order?

County Attorney H. D. Travis had to give up his court business last week on account of sickness. He came home Saturday and has since that time been confined to his bed with la grippe. -Weeping Water Republican.

Mr. John Martindale, a representative citizen of Miami county, Ohio, in company with Mr. George Lloyd, made the HERALD a pleasant call today. Mr. Martindale had been visiting the family of Mrs. Macy, residing south of this city, and was on his way home.

G. W. Fairfield, of Scotts Bluffs county, has recently been in Platts-mouth and has revived the scheme to build a canal from the Platte to the city to furnish water for manufacturing purposes. The plan is thought to be feasible and if carried out would be of great benefit to the city. -Weeping Water Republican.

An Engineer's Pluck.

We clip the following article from the State Journal. Mr. Dan Cummings, spoken of, used to reside here and also at Louisville. He was generally known by the B. & M. boys who sympathize with him in his affliction. Dan E. Cummings, an old time engineer of this city, had the misfortune to break his left leg about two inches above the ankle last Friday night at Pringle station, Custer county. Mrs. Cummings, in writing to a friend in this city, says that the train was stopping at the water tank and he went out on top to lighten the gland on the air pump. The wrench slipped suddenly and he fell off the engine to the ground. There was no surgeon at Pringle and Cummings was carried to his engine and ran the train himself into Custer City, a distance of twenty miles. The B. & M. railway physician says he will be laid up for eight or ten weeks. Mrs. Cummings was telegraphed for at Alliance and is now with him. Mr. Cummings is one of the best engineers on the road, a man noted for his sterling qualities and social disposition. He has many friends in Lincoln who will be grieved to learn of his misfortune.

A Long Walk.

Last fall when David Foltz moved from Cheyenne county to this place he was the proprietor of a "Sooner" dog; that is the dog would sooner live in Cheyenne than in Cass county. David missed his dog, mourned his loss, and accused all the boys in town of killing him. Therefore, when David received a letter from his former home notifying him that his dog, weary and foot sore, had arrived there overland and alone, he apologized to his friends for the accusation of murder, ceased to mourn and donned his usual smile. The fact is the dog walked over 300 miles, afoot and alone, and reached his former rendezvous in Cheyenne county, where sand fleas and dog ticks add comfort to the canine life. -Wabash News.

Legislative Notes.

The committee on miscellaneous subjects yesterday morning considered house bill 368, Sternsdorff's gas bill. Originally the bill fixed $1.50 per 1000 cubic feet as the maximum rate to be charged for gas. Sternsdorff appeared before the committee and stated that after careful investigation he found the gas companies could stand even a lower rate. Then the rate was cut down to $1.25 per 1000, and the bill was recommended to pass. Heath's bill providing that all the laws passed by the legislature shall be printed in two papers in each county of opposite political faith, was recommended by the committee to pass. This is a meritorious measure and should become a law. The Rock Bluff mail carrier failed to show up yesterday. As there is no snow on the ground he can't be rabbit hunting; consequently the postmaster is at a loss to know what has become of him.

Judge Chapman will adjourn court tonight (Wed. April 3rd), as he has to open court in Nebraska City Monday.

Will Adams announces the arrival of an eight pound girl at his house south of town. Will told us his grandpa yet he wears tin buttons merely.

Miss Mattie Smith entertained a company of her young friends very pleasantly at the home of her parents on Court House Hill Thursday evening.

The daughters of Rebecca in this city are a very prosperous organization as is evidenced by the fact that they are about to order some fine paraphernalia at a cost of over $200.

George Wainwright telephoned his folks here this morning that he had met with a misfortune at Nebraska City where he was at work, and he got his arm broken in a runaway of his team. He will be home some time this evening.

Profession Noble was presented a cane by the county officials today, in order to help him out in another overland trip about Weeping Water. The cane was found in the cellar of the old court house, which is being torn down.

The Keystone National Bank of Philadelphia, with a capital of $1,500,000, has closed its doors. The city of Philadelphia was a depositor to the amount of $400,000. As to whether matters can be adjusted so as to pay out is not yet known.

Asher Clark's delivery team got lost from the wagon yesterday and had quite a run up Chicago avenue. In crossing the bridge near Judge Chapman's residence one of the horses was crowded off into the ditch below, yet strange as it may seem was not hurt and the harness was but slightly damaged.

Mr. L. E. Karnes owns a nice home in Frazeyburg, Ohio, where his family will remove soon. Mr. Karnes will remain here for a time and then join them. He says he can make money on less wages by living in his own property. Platts-mouth will lose most excellent citizens in the removal of Mr. and Mrs. Karnes.

The building committee of the Baptist church obtained figures of all the lumber yards in Platts-mouth and two in Omaha and on purely business principles gave the bill for the new South Park church to J. D. Graves & Co. of this city. Just as soon as the weather will permit, the lumber will be placed on the ground, and the work will go forward with a large force of workmen.

The HERALD, a few days ago, made mention of the fall from grace of Mr. H. W. Zink and of his being charged with embezzlement. His preliminary examination took place in Lincoln Thursday, when he was bound over to appear at the next term of the district court. The bond was fixed at $1,000; being unable to find bondsmen, he now meditates over his evil-doings in the county jail. A sad, sad ending of what once promised to be a bright career. His poor wife whom he married when the horizon was brighter, is bowed down with grief, almost to distraction. Her condition has excited the sympathy of the neighbors and she is made to feel as comfortable as possible.
