PATTERSONS POOR PLAY

Sammy, After Pitching a Great Game, Presents it to Blair.

A GAME FULL OF FIRE AND GINGER.

The Locals Outplay the Visitors but Lose Through Bad Luck--Home Runs Made by Miller and Perrine--Patrick Catches a Fine Game.

Blair 4, Plattsmouth 3.

From Mondays Daily

Friday's ball game was of the kind that caused the people to chill and sweat by turns. It was a great game of see-saw and the game wasn't won until the last man had been retired in the ninth inning. It was Plattsmouth's game, but the visitors had more luck than some people have hair, and they pulled the game out in the last inning in a manner that surprised the cranks.

Blair started the game by getting a man around the circuit in the first, and repeated the act in the third. This gave them a lead of two runs and the people looked sad.

Then Schuthoff came to bat and by great ball playing managed to make a score for the home club. Neither club scored in the fourth, and Blair drew a blank in her half of the fifth.

Then Miller came to bat for Plattsmouth. He of the fleet foot and powerful arm, and redeemed his wild and wonderful work of the day before by swiping one of Connors' curves over the fence for a home run. This feat was greeted with a loud and vigorous demonstration by the crowd. Some of them rose up and opened their faces in a vigorous howl that tore the shingles off of the grand stand and swept out over the village like a cyclone. And there were others, too, they who bet on Blair—that wailed and wept and gnashed their teeth in insane rage. After it was all over Miller was presented with a floral offering in the shape of a bouquet.

Neither side scored in the sixth and seventh, and Blair couldn't make anything but outs in the eighth. Blair came nearer scoring in the seventh than the multitude relished, but so long as they didn't make it the run didn't count. Keims bat accidentally collided with one of Patterson's shoots and the ball lit in a chicken coop over on the other side of the lot. Keim thought that he had all day to make that run in, and there's where he made a mistake. When he got to the home plate he found Patrick waiting for him, and the umpire said he was out. He pretended that he didn't believe it and the whole club raised a roar and rushed out to argue the matter, but had to give up.

Well, Mr. Perrine did the act in the eighth. He lamed the ball over the fence for another run, and once more the crowd roared with a wild and ever increasing vigor. Perrine also received a bouquet. He also won the game as an incident. Then the Blair club went in to win and they won awful easy. Bailey got to first and Brott got to first, and Bailey got to third and Brott got to second, and then Keim batted an easy one to Patterson and he twisted it into such a throw that when the dust had cleared away Bailey and Brott had scored and the batter was on first base, and Yapp had a great big look of sorrow in his face. Then the side went out. Then, after two men had gone out the home club, Schulhoff lifted a ball for two bags and stole a third, but he never got any further. Miller went out in an easy fashion and the game was over. Patrick caught a superb game and was the recipient of a fine bouquet and great applause. Sam Patterson pitched a game that was elegant. He struck out eleven men and had only five hits made off him, and they were of the scratch order. Yapp played first like he always does—in great shape. "Buck" Adams played second as usual. The rest of the home club played their usual strong game, and it was hard luck to lose the game in the manner they did.

Graver caught a fine game for the visitors. Connors pitched a fine game, holding the locals down to four safe hits, although two of them were home runs. The rest of the Blair team put up their usual game and played ball in a marvelous manner. They are a great set of ball players and made as good an impression on the crowd as any club that has been here this season. The attendance was not near up to expectations and is very discouraging.

The following is the score:

Children's Day.
One of the most delightful entertainments of the season was given at the M. E. church last night by the Sunday school. Children's Day was observed by all of the Sunday schools in the city, by a change from the usual program and a wealth of floral offerings. The M. E. folks put their entertainment off till evening and the church would not hold more than half the crowd that sought an entrance. One of the chief attractions was the Pearl gatherers, Miss Blanch Kennedy as Queen sat on a neatly improvised throne named "Religion" while the pearl gatherers with gilded banners representing Righteousness, Education, Love, Industry, Gentleness, Innocence, Obedience, Nazareth called to report to the Queen. Innocence was represented by Mrs. Niles' class of little ones and was alone worth seeing. The interesting and impressive lessons of the Pearl gatherers was interspersed with music, a duet by Mrs. Niles and Mrs. C. S. Johnson. A Quartet by the same parties consisting of W. Sherman and R. B. Windham was specially good. The little folks with their dialogues, declamations and singing was the event of the evening. The solo by Sadie Black being worthy of special mention. Little Miss Dunstan and some other little girls sang a duet beautifully. It was a field day for the little folks and showed a remarkable amount of training on the part of their teachers.

To The A. F. & A. M.
WHEREAS, There is now in progress of construction a court house in Cass county, Nebraska, and we believe it is the desire of its many citizens to lay the corner stone with appropriate ceremonies Therefore be it

Resolved, That in behalf of the citizens of said county we hereby extend an invitation to the Plattsmouth lodge No. 6, A. F. & A. M., in connection with all other lodges of A. F. & A. M., in said county, to prepare appropriate program of ceremonies under the rules and laws of said order for the laying of said corner stone on June 29, 1891.

Resolved, Further, that to all other organizations of said county an invitation is hereby extended to participate in said ceremonies. By order of the county commissioners of Cass county, Nebraska. Done this 15th day of June, 1891. BIRD CUTCHELD, County Clerk.

To view a Sunday ball game o'er the fence recently built. Is, within itself, an acknowledgment of guilt. Better be made and witness without fear. Than perch yourself on a hill, without a conscience that is clear. If it's wrong, in the sight of God, to go to a Sunday game. Pay your admission fee, and openly shoulder your blame. It is certainly not degrading, and less in keeping with Divine Will. To view the entire proceedings from any position on the hill. As we're to be finally judged by the remarks that people make. About our Sunday conduct, and the record that we make. Or will we receive favor in the immaculate For doing in all things what we think to be the right? If your conscience forbids you to go, a you would go any other day. It would be much to your interest, to unhesitatingly stay away. As your example on the outside, will lead those to share your fate. Who would not think for a moment, of entering at the gate.

THE PYTHIAN MEMORIAL.
Members of the Order Strew Garlands O'er the Graves of the Pythian Dead.

In spite of the heat of yesterday the Knights of Pythias of Plattsmouth revived and attested the fraternal memories they cherish for the Pythian dead. At 10:30 the knights assembled at their castle hall and attended the M. E. church in a body and listened to an excellent discourse delivered by Rev. Buckner.

At 2 o'clock memorial services were held at the castle hall conducted by the lodge, they having a very pretty ritualistic service. D. O. Dwyer delivered an appropriate and able address, paying a glowing tribute to the Pythian dead. After which the knights fell into line and marched to the cemetery headed by the B. & M. band, where the graves of six were strewn with flowers, only two, however, belonging to Gaunt let Lodge, No. 47, of this city—Byron Drew and J. Z. Ballenger, who was buried at Lincoln. The others belonging to different lodges.

The lodge room was very artistically decorated with flowers and especially two chairs set apart for the two deceased members. A large number of the friends of the order assembled at the hall to participate in the memorial service and all expressed themselves well pleased with the Knights of Pythias Memorial service.

The B. & M. band played some very appropriate music, the fines, that has been heard in this city and especially the first dirge played by them, it can't be beat.

P. E. O. Convention.
Mrs. Houseworth and Miss Eda Gering returned Saturday evening from a largely attended state convention of the P. E. O. Society and as usual the Plattsmouth representatives occupied front seats. From the telegraphic reports in the Bee we clip the following items in relation to the Plattsmouth delegation.

"Mrs. Mary Houseworth of Plattsmouth who is the corresponding secretary of the national grand chapter, read a paper pertaining to the order entitled 'Who Can Tell,' which is highly commended as a great literary production. Miss Eda Gering of Plattsmouth read a paper on 'The Use of the Black Ball.' She exhibited considerable skill and ability in handling this question, and her deductions could be wisely and safely followed by all societies who have occasion to use the ballot. Numerous requests were made for the publication of her paper, but this society is very jealous in keeping its documents and thoughts for the sole and exclusive use of the sisterhood, and hence the request could not be complied with for the edification and curiosity of man.

The river is still rising. Two more new passenger engines came yesterday, No's 23 and 24. The M. P. water tank and wind mill at La Platte will be completed this week.

The Platte river is way up just now, much higher than the Missouri, and covers all the lowlands along its banks. Supt. McClelland the purchaser of the Palmer property from Mr. Waugh will occupy it as soon as it is vacated.

It rained hard all night last night at Lincoln and flooded the lower part of the town. No damage reported by the wind.

The Difference.
Why do we frown on the ballet While the doublette we adore? One's dress is too far from the ceiling If the other's too far from the floor. —St. Paul Pioneer Press.

The rails of the M. P. track across the Oreapolis bridge are laid just six inches from each rail of the B. & M., making it look almost like one track.

Mrs. Wickersham and son, nearest relatives of our friend, S. L. Wickersham, the jeweler, will visit friends at their former home in Lincoln for a month.

The material for the M. P. depot is being unloaded and work may be expected to begin at any time. The contract calls for the completion of the building by July 1st, a date not far distant.

Master Fritz Fricke is abroad today with a neck on him that looks like a bad case of mumps. By inquiry we found that the little fellow, in his play, had been poisoned by a treacherous vine.

A freight car blew off the Havelock switch last evening and followed a freight train into Waverly. No harm was done though a serious wreck must have occurred had the freight been headed for the west.

We are sorry to state that an information has been filed against Jerry Danlith charging him with insanity. The board will probably examine him to-morrow. Mr. D's health has been poor for some time and his loss of mind is attributed to that fact.

The heavy rain of last week did much more damage out in the country than was at first supposed. Out about Wabash field after field had to be replanted. In the listed corn the furrows were washed full, even on level ground thus entirely destroying the corn that was up.

Murray is to have a grand Army Post, George Edson living south of Murray was in town to-day to see Assistant Adjutant General McMaken in relation thereto, and present the necessary petition which is already signed by a sufficient number of charter members.

Howard W. Zink, the attorney who was convicted of embezzling $439 belonging to a widowed client, was arranged before Judge Tibbets of Lincoln for sentence. Zink made a pathetic plea for mitigation of sentence, and at the conclusion Judge Tibbets sentenced him to three years at hard labor in the penitentiary, sentence to begin June 13, 1891.

Columbus Relics.
The World's Fair Directory is recommended by its foreign affairs committee to appropriate $50,000 for the purpose of building at Jackson Park a fac simile of the ancient convent of La Rabida, of Palos, Spain. It is believed that this would be the most appropriate structure possible in which to exhibit the large number of relics of Columbus which is being collected. If the project is carried out, as it seems probable it will be, this building and its contents will doubtless be one of the exhibition attractions which no visitor will be content to leave without seeing.

It was at the door of the convent of La Rabida that Columbus, disappointed and downhearted, asked for food and shelter for himself and child. It was here that he founded an asylum for a few years while he developed his plans and prepared the arguments which he submitted to the council at Salamanca. It was in one of the rooms of this convent that he met the Dominican monks in debate, and it was here also that he conferred with Alonso Pinzo, who afterwards commanded one of the vessels of his fleet. In this convent Columbus lived while he was making preparations for his voyage, and on the morning he sailed from Palos he attended himself the little chapel. There is no building in the world so closely identified with his discovery as this, and fortunately its architecture is of such a character as to permit of a reproduction at a comparatively small cost, and at the same time furnish a picturesque view and appropriate group among the splendid buildings that will be erected at Jackson Park. It will not only be of itself a monument to Columbus, but it will furnish commodious and convenient show rooms for the collections and relics of Columbus that are to be exhibited. Besides a large collection of maps, manuscripts, books and pictures that are being secured there will be among them public and private collections both from Europe and the United States. Many of the articles being of great value, it is proposed to bring them all together in this building, where they will be secure from fire and all other dangers.

Concordia in Ruins.
Negre telegraphic reports reach us to the effect that the beautiful little city of Concordia, Kansas, was visited by a cyclone last night which completely demolished more than half the town. Concordia is located on the Republican river, 35 miles south of Hebron, Nebraska. The wires are all down, and no authentic report can be given as to the details of the disaster or as to whether any lives were lost or not.

It is reported that the agents of certain eastern companies, particularly those doing a firm business in this state, have taken advantage of the failure of the Nebraska Fire and are industriously engaged in circulating all kind of reports detrimental to Home companies. This is not surprising. These same Eastern companies were the leaders in spending several thousand dollars in one winter some years ago trying to get the legislature of this state to pass a law that would kill off every Home company, and they have never omitted at any session of the legislature to try to have some bill passed detrimental to the interests of state companies. Had they succeeded, it would have given them unlimited swing, to take such rates, pools and contracts, as would enable them to bleed not only the people, but the agents, and to continue to take over a million and a half of money out of this state each year, and they have never missed an opportunity to throw a club at Home companies. Why send a million and a half dollars out of Nebraska every year for Eastern insurance, and complain of hard times. Insure in Home companies, and keep your money at home. Home companies loan their money in Nebraska, and it is kept in circulation in our own state. Not a dollar is loaned in Nebraska by Eastern Insurance Companies nor can they by the laws of the Eastern states, loan their money in the West.
