THE census of England and Wales shows a population of 29,000,000, being an increase of 3,000,000 in the last decade.

THE sun shines again with its accustomed vigor, after an unprecedented fall of rain. The farmers can afford to smile to-day.

THE following additional carriers were appointed yesterday for western cities: Milwaukee, 16; St. Paul, 8; Minneapolis, 9; Omaha, 16; Lincoln, 8, and Plattsmouth none, of course.

CALIFORNIA has made an impressive bid for the democratic national convention by suggesting that free liquors will be served by their hospitable people.

GEN. LEESE, the "Sweet William" bouquet of the alliance party, wants to be judge of the supreme court so bad he can taste it.

THE President of Harvard College says that a majority of its students, on graduation, are Republicans.

ENGLAND must not be handicapped by prejudices, says Premier Salisbury in his recent remarks in favor of giving a larger place to silver in the currency of his country.

THE Rothschilds, the great Jewish bankers that are supposed to carry the fate of nations in their capacious, well-filled vaults, do not seem to have much effect on Russia.

AN Eastern journal says: "Senator Vilas, of Wisconsin, owns 30 acres of cranberries."

INDIANA Democrats will next year make a determined fight to nominate Governor Gray for President.

THE Times' Tin Mining company has put in a plant that will turn out 250 tons of block tin this year.

AN EYE OPENER. Whether a protective tariff really protects this country or not at the expense of foreign powers, the following article from an unbiased and unprejudiced standpoint ought to set the dumbest of free traders to thinking, and cause a few of the scales to fall from their eyes.

"With reference to the proposed German World's Fair to be held in 1896, which has already been mentioned in these columns, the associated press correspondent asked the views of Mr. Werner Von Siemens, the great electrician, who is a leading member of the fair committee.

"We will have no humbug, no Eiffel Tower or similar attraction," said the Privy Councillor, "but we will make a solid showing of what we can do in the way of manufacturing. It will be a business affair throughout.

"Do you, then, believe that commercial war will be pronounced between the Old World and the New World?" the correspondent asked.

"Yes," said Mr. Von Siemens, "if you keep on as you are doing now we shall have to go to war. We will erect a big fence to keep out your grain, your cotton, your meat. We will retaliate. I am naturally a free trader, but I believe in meeting protection with protection."

"Can Europe exist without American grain?"

"Of course we can. We can supply all our wants from Russia or India."

"Do you think that Europe, and Germany especially, will be the gainer by such a policy? Do you know that millions of dollars' worth of your manufactures are exported to America every year? That we could strike a serious blow by simply prohibiting your sugar?"

"Yes, but we shall find other channels of trade. Besides, as America advances in manufacturing she will need less and less of our goods. The day will come, and come soon, when we shall have to fight against your aggressions."

"Will you exhibit at the Chicago Fair?"

"I do not know as yet. At present it seems to me folly to exhibit in a country where people will not buy from us."

"This conversation is significant of the feeling of fear with which American enterprise and the present American policy are regarded in Germany. With her commerce threatened in Central and South America, it is only natural that Germany should show some bitterness of feeling. But on sober reflection German merchants and manufacturers will hardly fail to realize that the best policy is to keep on friendly terms with America, rather than to provoke even more restrictive measures."

Of the nearly 700 steam vessels which were recorded upon the Navy Register in 1865, at the close of the civil war, there now remain only the Lanscater, Pensacola, Hartford, Richmond, Kearsage, Iroquois, Wash, Minnesota, Franklin, Yantic, Monocacy, Michigan, Palos, and Pinta, besides the thirteen single-turreted monitors. This entire fleet carries fewer guns than were carried by three of the original ships of the navy—the Constitution, the Constellation, and the United States—in the war 1812.

THE Italian incident has passed into history. So it seems a late date for an entirely new theory regarding the New Orleans lynching to be sprung upon the world. Signor Corte, who was the Italian Consul at New Orleans on March 14, has, however, informed Premier Rudi of the murdered men were killed simply because they were Italians, and were competing in the labor markets against natives.

THE Omaha World-Herald will never make a representative democratic journal. It lies enough about the tariff to entitle it to a front seat, but there is a subtlety of expression lacking, a sort of a take-it-back-the-next-day air wanting, that well posted democrats don't admire.

THE handsomest county paper we remember to have seen lately reached us to-day. It is the souvenir edition of the New Castle (Ind.) Courier. It is a model of typographical neatness, while its editorial and news-gathering force deserve even stronger compliments than the mechanical department.

Wm. LEASE, having been honored three times with the office of Attorney general by the republican party; since learning that Nebraska Republicans do not care to keep him in office for life has discovered that the g. o. p. is a very shabby affair and is owned by and in the interest of corporations.

THE LADIES HOME JOURNAL. If it is true that "not one American in a hundred knows how to take a vacation" the July number of The Ladies Home Journal has a distinct educational value, for it quite overflows with new and good counsel for summerings; beside the hints for "The Mother in the Country," to which many clever women have contributed, there are helpful words from Mrs. Margaret Bottomo and Dr. Talmage; while in the bright page for "The Woman in the City" the lot of the stay-at-home is shown to be not so dreadful, after all.

Other attractive features are Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher's "Birds in the Home; the sketch and portrait of Mrs. Joel Chandler Harris; A Bride in the Diamond Fields, by W. P. Pond, a bit of Switzerland delicately pictured by Mary J. Holmes and some very excellent fiction, in which "Isabel's Father," by Belle C. Greene, is given a prominent place; "A Soul from Pudge's Corners" by Jessie F. O'Donnell, and Mrs. Whitney's "A Golden Gossip" are continued stories of exceptional strength. One is conscious of the July sunshine flooding the department pages and, in fact, the whole number; better summer reading would be hard to find. One Dollar a Year; Ten Cents a copy; issued by the Curtis Publishing Co., 433-435 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Asked to give it up. New York Tribune: A tin plate consists essentially of a series of pots containing water, sulphuric acid, oil, and metal. The work to be done consists of the passage of these steel plates, held by a pair of tongs, from one pot to the others. And we are actually asked not to engage in this business, consuming nearly 1,000,000 tons of iron ore, 2,000,000 tons of coal and coke, 300,000 tons of limestone, 5,500,000 pounds of lead, and 12,000,000 feet of lumber, all of which lie at our very doors, and which we are competent to turn into steel and roll into sheets—we are asked to give up this great industry upon the ground that we're incompetent to carry the sheets by a pair of tongs through half a dozen pots of water, acid oil, and metal.

HONEST MONEY. The plank of the most importance in the Ohio Republican platform is the one declaring in favor of a sound and stable currency, and the use of both gold and silver as a basis thereof. That is a cardinal Republican doctrine, and can not be safely departed from under any circumstances.

WE are now blest with a currency system that is unexcelled in the world. Our national credit is equal if not superior to that of any other country; and this superior credit is due in large measure to that admirable system of providing first-class money for all purposes of trade and industry.

THE QUESTION OF AMERICAN TIN AS RELATED TO THE MANUFACTURE OF TIN PLATE. For the last few years, says the Utica Observer, "we have been reading glowing accounts of the abundance of ore our tin mines would produce some time or another. Our Republican contemporaries have attempted to justify the tin-plate taxation largely on this feeble possibility of prediction."

Rheumatism Cured in a Day. "Mystic Cure" for rheumatism and neuralgia radically cured in 1 to 3 days. Its action upon the system is remarkable and mysterious.
