TOO MUCH ANTIPOSE TISSUE

The Great Ball Game Between the Fats and Leans Results in a Victory for the Fats.

There was a sight for the Gods to gaze upon yesterday at the ball park. For many days the city has been stirred to its utmost depths by stories of the coming battle and many a family has been broken and seared by a vague feeling of unrest. For days past have W. L. Brown, Mike Murphy, Kelly Fox, D. C. McGinty, C. W. Sherman, Byron Clark and Ed Oliver and others of their ilk been boasting of the triumph that was to be; and yesterday they earned a noble victory. They way-laid and sand-bagged an elongated swindle-shanked mass of humanity and a cold unfeeling crowd wept not, neither did it wail. To picture it—Mike Murphy, weight 376, Bill Brown, 372; McGinty, weight 359; W. Kelly Fox, weight 357; Byron Clark, weight 352; Billy Weber, weight 349; Claus Breckenfeld, weight 347 plus 12 pounds of voice; Ed Oliver, weight 347 net; Bill Bushing, 306 in the clear; C. W. Sherman, 1,200 candle power; Frank Carruth, weight 300 18 karat, and sundry other heavy weights pitted against Matt Gering, weight 3 lbs and 6 oz.; H. C. Hackney, weight 5 lbs 4 oz.; Frank Dickson, weight 9 lbs even; H. N. Dovey weight 7 lbs 6 oz, McKinley scale; R. B. Windham, weight 6 ft 11 in. South scale; Fred Lehnhoff, weight 6 feet 2 in.; Fred Herrmann, weight 610 majority; W. C. Showalter, weight 585cts docket fees; Frank Morgan, weight 76cts special clearance sale; W. A. Humphrey, 6 ft and 11 in. hom ocephatic dose, and divers other persons of greater bulk and less weight. It was indeed a massacre. Ami Todd, armed to the teeth, officiated as umpire and by rank decisions forever blasted his prospects for the county treasurership. He was notoriously in favor of the fats and dark rumors of corrupt practices and growlers were numerous.

McGinty went into the box for the fats and pitched a fine game, Councilman Browne with awe, essayed to catch but owing to his great corporeosity and the slimmness of the protector and in a measure to his great brain cap and such a small mask he was forced to retire to second left field. His inability to hold McGinty's sharp in and out drops greatly amused the audience. He distinguished himself, however, at the bat pounding Dickson all over the lot. In the first inning he knocked the ball over the fence for a home run bringing in Lumber Deal Bill Browne in front of him. The race from third to home was very exciting. Dave also made a marvelous catch of a high hit fowl after a long run winning wild applause. In the midst of the uproar some villian in the grand stand started to whistle "Down Went McGinty," and he now sleeps beneath the daisies. Mc went into catch in the fourth inning and W. Kelly Fox pitched the game out. Kelly will have to brace up and put more English on 'em or Dickson will knock him out of the box this fall.

Henry Bons had an exciting collision on first base with Hackney of the Riley hotel and the slim man got first blood. Mike Murphy and Bill Cushing did the principal base running for the fats and their slides to bases were immense.

Claus Breckenfeld officiated as coacher and his violent demonstrations at times caused apprehension among his colleagues.

Buck Adams played second but for fear of being protested called himself Byron Clark. He fielded in marvelous style.

Dickson and Gering pitched for the leans and Gering has signed as change pitcher with the Nonpareils. He has a good head and when he thought that the batsman meditated hitting the ball he gave him his base on balls. At one time he became enraged at the umpire and Todd had to press him with his little finger to restore the equilibrium of his mind.

Dr. Humphrey and Roe Craig both became afflicted in their lower limbs during the game and fell to the ground with unusual speed and vigor.

Frank Morgan became abstracted during a delay in the game and tried to coax Showalter to buy a new hat of him. Showalter was rescued after a great loss of wind and played the game out under police protection.

Fred Herrmann tried to use Ed Oliver's ear for a tax receipt in the third inning and greatly amused the spectators.

Windham on first played the game of his life.

Unruh, Oliver and Carruth and numerous others of the fraternity request that no mention be made of their short-comings and we gladly comply with their request. Carruth was a little weak at the bat and when he faced Matt Gering he was visibly affected. Oliver played professional ball and gave the lean pitchers a choice roast. Unruh will get his work in today. Score.

The will was made in 1878, and was deposited for along time in the vault of Cass county in charge of County Judge Russell. It was withdrawn from there by her husband and sent to England. Mr. H. not hearing from it or her for a long time, thought that a new will had been made, and that he was not in it. His surprise can be imagined when he received the will last week, and a certificate of the death of the lady attached.

Does Not Return to Dust.

Many strange things have been told concerning the secrets of the grave. Within the past few months discoveries have been made in Missouri and Iowa that people have been buried alive, but the strangest discovery was made in Colchester a few days ago, viz., that, after having been buried twenty-one years, the body of Miss Flora Hume is in as perfect a condition as the day she died.

Twenty-one years ago the lady died in St. Paul of pneumonia and the body was brought to Colchester and buried in the Argyle cemetery. That cemetery has long since fallen into disuse, and recently it was laid out in nicely improved grounds. The few graves in it were removed, and among the dead was the body of Miss Flora Hume. It was inclosed in a metallic case. This was covered with a heavy coat of rust. When the cover was removed there lay the body perfectly intact. The features were readily recognized by relatives, and the clothing looked perfectly fresh. Even a ribbon of delicate tint about the neck was as bright and fresh as when it had been first put on.

The face was not in the least discolored, and the body was full and round. In fact, the corpse looked as though it might have been buried only a few hours.—Quincy (Ill.) Herald.

In a Miser's Hut.

A dispatch from Columbia, S. C., says: "Uncle Billy Bost, an eccentric character of Cabarrus county, N. C., is dead. He was a bachelor, about eighty years old. His only companions were two dogs and an old negro. His real estate consisted of 1,800 acres of land, which he left to his nephews. He had a safe which was thought to hold thousands of dollars, but when it was opened the only money found was a nickel. However, in bureau drawers, in old cupboards, in pitchers and jars, in old clothes closets, in old stockings and in cracks in his miserable house was found $10,000 in gold, besides a large quantity of gold dust and bullion and a few hundred dollars in greenbacks.

"In the search a package from a Charlotte bank was found containing $700 that had never been opened. This was received by him in 1880. He had corn and bacon on hand four years old, and some hay that had been stacked for twenty-five years. He made his will only three weeks ago, and there is much talk of contesting it, for some of his kin have been left without anything."

The Way an Artist Reasons.

Here is a characteristic story about the great Parisian man milliner: A lady of high position once ventured to remonstrate with the great man because he had charged her £120 for a ball dress. "The material," she said, "could be bought for twenty pounds, and surely the work of making up would be well paid with five pounds more." "Madam," replied the milliner, in his loftiest manner, "go to M. Meissonier, the painter, and say to him, 'Here is a canvas, value a shilling, and here are colors, value four shillings. Paint me a picture with these colors on that canvas and I will pay you one and threepence.' What will he say? He will say, 'Madam, that is no payment for an artist.' I say more, I say, if you think my terms too high, pay me nothing and keep the robe. Art does not descend to the pettiness of the higgler."—London Tit-Bits.
