JOHN FITZGERALD'S CONDITION

A Thoroughly Reliable Statement From the Attending Physiciana

Owing to the prevalence of so many contradictory rumors concerning the illness of Hon. John Fitzgerald, a Journal representative has elicted the following opinion from Dr. Coffman of Omaha, viz: That Mr. Fitzgerald will recover. At present all active symptoms have passed, he is entirely conscious and recognizes and talks in telligently with his friends, who are permitted to visit him. He is still, however in a very feeble state of health from the results of cerebral congestion. The opinion of Dr. Coffman is concurred in by Dr. Garnett of Hot Springs, Ark., who is here in consultation with him. Lincoln Journal.

A Sud Affair.
