

ALL READY TO MOVE

Beautiful Train Fully Equipped.

Artistically Decorated—Well Filled With Products of Nebraska Soil—Don't Fail to be at the Station at 4:30 To-day.

From Thursday Daily

THE HERALD has made a special effort to ascertain the exact hour at which the advertising train will reach this city. We are informed by a special telephone message just received from Omaha that everything is in readiness and the train will leave Omaha at 4 p. m., arriving here at 4:30 or probably a few moments later.

We are reliably informed that the train as regards decorations and general equipment is a model of beauty and ingenious art rarely excelled and on the whole it presents an appearance fully in keeping with the resources and capabilities of our state.

The Cass county exhibit will be found in the last car of the train, and all should make a special effort to view that portion of the display, as in many respects Cass county's display surpasses that of any other county participating in the enterprise.

Samuel Waugh and H. N. Dovey will accompany the train from this place. The former goes as the Cass county delegate. The selection is a good one, Mr. Waugh being well versed regarding the needs of Cass county, her resources and etc., and he can impart this information to the wonder-stricken easterners in a credible and convincing manner. Mr. Dovey goes as a representative of the State Business Men's Association. To the faithful and efficient work of Mr. Dovey in looking after the interests of Cass county in the matter great credit is due. He will assist Mr. Waugh in extolling the merits of his country.

A Wedding.

MARRIED—At the residence of the bride in this city on the 14th day of October, 1881, John Philips to Mrs. Elizabeth Walker.

The Omaha Lynchers.

Up to date twenty-four warrants have been issued for the arrest of the leaders in the recent lynching affair. County Attorney Mahoney apparently, desires to do his duty in the matter, even tho' he does work against a tremendous public sentiment.

To Test the Eight Hour Law.

At Nebraska City yesterday Richard Smith commenced suit against L. Levi, by whom the former has been employed for some time, for the sum of $56 alleged due him for extra work as per the provision of the eight hour law. The case will be watched with interest.

Judge Russell, of Weeping Water, our next county judge, made a pleasant call at THE HERALD sanctum to-day. Mr. Russell says that indications in his section of the country point to the election of the entire republican ticket.

Grow Sugar Beets.

Sugar beets of colossal proportions were exhibited at the Cass county fair this fall, and a prominent german farmer testifies that the soil here is better adapted to their growth than of Germany where they grow profusely. In view of this our farmers are certainly afforded an excellent opportunity of engaging in a profitable industry. The government pays a bounty of two cents per pound upon beet sugar, but aside from that the diversification of the farming industry and the profits accruing from the sale of beets could not fail to remunerate fully for the labor employed.

A Pleasant Event.

A jolly crowd of young people gathered at the home of Franz Ballance last evening for a social time. The evening was passed playing games, in rhetorical exercises and music—vocal and instrumental. Before the guests repaired to their respective homes refreshments were served. At 12 o'clock the company disbanded, all feeling that the geniality and hospitality of the host could rarely be excelled. The following were present: Misses Walker, Alice Murray, Mollie Ballance, Lucile Simpson, Gertrude Hilton, Rose Myers, Mattie Smith, Edith Patterson, Clara Green and Messrs. Wendell Foster, Henry Snyder, Gus Myers, Ed Stiles, Glen Caruth and Tom Miller.

A large delegation of the Masque lodge of this city leaves to-day for Union to participate in the burial of James Chalfant. Sr. The deceased has been a member of the order for many years and is held in high esteem by the members.

The court house is rapidly nearing completion.

A. L. Timblin, of Weeping Water, is in the city today.

A. C. Loder came in from Greenwood this morning.

The Presbyterian synod of Nebraska is in session at Omaha to-day.

The merchants of Eagle are putting in street lamps at their own expense.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Barstow, who have been visiting at Altoona, Pa., came in this morning on No. 5.

H. C. Grimes, who has spent the past three days with his family, left this morning for a northern trip.

A class in Spanish has recently been organized at the night school. Classes of all stages of advancement will be maintained, thus all who apply will be accommodated.

Nebraska City is excited over the mysterious disappearance of an old resident by the name of Danou. He is about seventy years old, six feet tall, has gray moustache and beard.

Republican clubs are being formed in different sections of the state and they are having a telling effect upon the moulding of public opinion in their respective localities.

Grand Island hotel men have been badly taken in by an oily-tongued swindler who worked an advertising fake on them. It is usually the case when home enterprises are neglected.

A Serious Mistake.

Byron Clark has been suffering with a severe cold for several days and yesterday afternoon, by mistake, he discovered that he had taken ammonia. His condition is not considered critical, but he will probably suffer some inconvenience for several days owing to the burning of his tongue and throat.

Mrs. Clark and daughter, Rose, of Beaver City, are the guests of Frank Davis' family.

Mrs. Fred Murphy of Cedar Creek came in this morning to visit with Mrs. A. Patterson.

Mr. Schildknecht, brother of Dr. Schildknecht, accompanied by his wife, left this morning for Norfolk Nebraska.

Bird Critchfield, accompanied by his father-in-law, Mr. Hague, who has been visiting in the city the past week, left this morning for Beatrice and other western points.

A Small Blaze.

Last evening at 8:15 the fire alarm was sounded and in a few moments hundreds of people were enroute for the scene of the disturbance which proved to be the residence of C. A. Printz on the corner of Eighth and Rock streets. The fire had been placed under control before the fire company reached the place. The damage done is trifling as only a small portion of the roof was damaged.

It is apparently the work of an incendiarian.

No truth was ever more convincingly proven than has the cheapening of sugar by putting it on the free list proven that the tariff is a tax.—Journal.

Such argument as the above cannot fail to disgust the average reader. Any intelligent man knows there is as much difference between a protective and a revenue tariff as there is between black and white. A tariff upon West India sugar, Brazilian coffee or China tea is a tax, pure and simple, and supporters of the protective tariff claim nothing else. It is for that reason that the republican party provided in the McKinley bill for the free admission into our ports.

A protective duty is levied primarily for the purpose of creating home production of the commodity, thus rendering us not dependent upon the foreign monopoly, and history proves unmistakably that it has that effect. A tariff levied upon commodities we cannot produce but must import is a tax paid by the consumer, and a revenue duty. A tariff which renders us capable of breaking the foreign monopoly, and lowering the price to the consumer, is not a tax.

THE New York Sun (dem.) is not inclined to drop into the free trade channel into which its party is drifting. As evidence of this we submit the following questions which that paper propounds to Congressman Springer, of Illinois:

1. Why has the depression in agriculture been so severe? And why does it promise to be lasting in Great Britain, a free trade country?
2. Is it the Morrill tariff or the McKinley tariff that is the cause of the short crops in Europe this year?
3. Why do trusts and monopolies exist and flourish under the regime of free trade as in Great Britain?
4. Why have the greatest fortunes made in the United States been made outside of the great protected industries?

NEBRASKA ON WHEELS

The Desire to Represent Our Wealth Fully Realized.

CARS ARTISTICALLY DECORATED.

The Train—Charming Arrangement of the Displays—Cass County to the Front—The Exhibitors—A Commendable Enterprise.

The advertising train of which a great deal has been said the past few weeks through the columns of nearly every paper in Nebraska, arrived in the city at 4:45 last evening enroute for its long pilgrimage through the eastern and middle states.

In the neighborhood of 2,000 interested spectators had assembled at the station at this place long before the train was due, all waiting patiently to get a glimpse of the train designated to represent the products of Nebraska soil and designed to envelop the citizens of the east in a halo of amazement and wonder.

The train embraces an engine, baggage car, two coaches besides two pullman cars for the representatives. The engine and baggage-car are furnished, gratuitously, by the U. P. The baggage car will be used for an office and repository for the advertising matter to be carried on the trip. The exterior portion is appropriately though not so profusely decorated as the cars in which the exhibits are placed. These are large passenger coaches with seats removed.

The use of the first car was donated by Fremont Elkhorn & Missouri Valley R. R. This car is artistically decorated with corn of all colors and varieties; it reminds an observer of a corn palace, on a small scale. Small grains and grasses are also used with good effect, and flags, bunting and banners float from the top and adorn the sides. But the exterior, embellished as it is, does not afford the observer an adequate conception of the wondrous capabilities of our people, as does a trip through the car. In this car the counties of Box, Butte, Buffalo, Adams, Holt, Dodge, Hayes, Cumming, Sheridan and Douglas have exhibits. The display of each county occupies a space of 12x10 feet with every available inch well filled with creditable samples of every product that grows in the Northwest.

The B. & M. car, if possible, is even more profusely decorated and elaborately equipped than the other, being completely covered with corn, grains, grasses, flags, bunting and banners arranged with an aptitude rarely excelled. The counties of Merrick, Kearney, Antelope, Burt, Hall, Cass, Polk, Custer, Boone and Lancaster are represented in this car.

We were particularly interested in the display of Cass county and after a hasty comparison we were firmly convinced that it compares favorably with the displays of other counties and the exhibit of fruit, beyond question, surpasses any exhibit on the train. Among the Cass county exhibitors, R. F. Dean, of Murray, has apples and beets and a head of cabbage weighing twenty-eight pounds.

Will Murray, Plattsmouth, fifty ears red and white corn that are seldom equaled.

J. B. Thompson, of Cedar Creek, has a head of cabbage weighing twenty-seven pounds, and fifty ears of giant corn.

Wm. Crawford, of Plattsmouth, has peanuts, beets, carrots, onions, okra, asparagus in fact the finest collection of garden fruit that can be found in Cass county.

C. Bengen, of Plattsmouth, furnishes fine specimens of wheat and oats.

H. Eickenbary, a ninety-eight pound squash; and Mrs. Eickenbary has a very fine collection of canned fruit.

W. J. Koons, the photographer, displays a good photograph of the high school, the Hotel Riley and the B. & M. bridge.

V. V. Leonard furnishes a fine photograph of the court house.

Ed Somers has a barrel of the finest apples that could be picked from a collection of 1000 bushels.

W. J. Hesser displays some specimens of plants that can leave no doubt as to the possibilities of our climate in that direction.

H. C. McMaken furnishes a photograph of an apple tree whose limbs support twenty-three bushels of fine apples; also, some very fine varieties of apples.

Other displays are made, the names of the exhibitors of which we did not learn.

That this enterprise will have the effect apprehended there can be little doubt. Advance agents have already been sent and advertising matter is being scattered along the route notifying the people of the train and the marvelous resources it will represent. The newspapers in every county through which they pass will have a favorable mention of the train, thus turning the thoughts of thousands of people in the direction of Nebraska.

H. N. Dovey, H. C. McMaken and Mrs. Samuel Waugh are entitled to special mention for their zealous and untiring efforts in behalf of the Cass county exhibit.

The Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias in session at Lincoln elected the following grand lodge officers for the ensuing year: Grand Chancellor, W. S. Hamilton, Lincoln; Vice Chancellor, W. W. Conklin, North Platte; Grand Prelate, F. M. Van Horn, Chadron; Grand Master Exchequer, Chas. G. Alton, Ainsworth; Grand Keeper of Records and Seal, Harry M. Shaeffer, Lincoln; Grand Master and Arms G. M. Wright, Ft. Omaha.

The Democratic Rally.

From Saturday's Log

Congressman Bynum, of Indiana, one of the leading democrats in the country, expounded the tariff idea as entertained by his party, at the opera house last evening.

It was rather surprising, in view of the national reputation of the speaker and the fact that there was no other attraction in the city, that the attendance was not greater. Barely two-thirds of the chairs were occupied.

Mr. Bynum is a pleasant speaker and he delivered probably the best free trade speech that it has ever been the privilege of our people to hear. The speaker dwelt first upon the early tariff legislation. He disapproved the fact as taught by history, that when we depended upon foreign countries for our goods that exorbitant prices were charged, and that since we have been able, by the aid of protection to compete with these countries, the price to the consumer has gradually been lessened. He also seemed to think that our laboring people were ready to be placed upon a par with the paupers of the old country.

The McKinley bill came in for its full share of abuse. He would have us believe that every provision of the bill is detrimental "to the farmers, because it built a great wall around the United States." He failed to remember that the bill has opened up markets for the American farmer never before enjoyed, and, consequently our imports are larger, by far, than ever before. He admitted, however, that the balance of trade since the bill became a law had been in our favor. A great wall, to be sure!

He ridiculed the idea of manufacturing tin in America and claimed that we should still depend upon the Wales monopoly, contending that those tender-hearted, generous people would look after the interest of the American working-man. This may be the democratic plan but the republicans say that if we expect to buy tin at reasonable prices we must in the future as in the past, break the foreign monopoly.

He admitted that the American received from 50 to 75 per cent higher wages than the British laborer, but claimed that it was twice as efficient as that of the old country, hence the tariff did not really raise the price of labor. He failed to tell us that these foreign countries manufacture the finest goods in the world; he did not remember that when America desired the services of the finest workmen she went to foreign countries for them. Mr. Bynum remembered this, but a mention of the fact would not serve his purpose. We would not reflect discredit upon American labor; for, considering our age and experience we have made greater strides toward perfection than any country, but those foreign countries have the experience of 1000 years against our 100.

The distinguished gentleman is a smooth speaker, yet he should give the people of the northwest credit for being intelligent and informed upon these matters which he is dealing with and notwithstanding his eloquent place for free trade we notice the fact remains—and all men know it—that we are much richer, much happier, much more prosperous in every respect in these "calamity" days of protection than we were in that golden period of democratic bliss when old Jimmy Buchanan and free trade had full sway in "the fifties," the period to which Mr. Bynum anchored his Trojan horse in starting forth on his war on protection. The fact was so apparent that the democratic party's mission is to traduce American institutions and the republican mission to champion those institutions that every one leaving that meeting could not help but see it. The democratic liver is out of fix and we see no way to reorganize it.

Congressman Bryan made a few remarks upon local issues, eulogizing, principally, the county ticket. His "twin sister" Edgerton was not even alluded to. Mr. Bryan's speech was short, enthusiastic and well received.

ENVELOPED IN FLAMES.

The Era Office at South Bend Burned. Last Thursday.

The intelligence has been received that the Era office at South Bend was burned last Thursday evening. It appears that the front portion of the office had been rented to Granville Barbee for the purpose of having a masquerade ball. The dancing had just begun when by accident, a large lamp was tipped over resulting in its explosion which at once set fire to the building. Ready hands extinguished the flames before the building was destroyed but it is estimated that a damage of $200 will be sustained.

It is with regret that we note the above, as the Era has just launched upon the waters of Journalism and to be dashed against the breakers so soon is discouraging. The Editor J. M. Burge with his accustomed pluck and perseverance will go forward with his enterprise.

Society Work at High School.

The literary society entitled the "E. Q. V's" held a very interesting meeting at the high school yesterday.

PROGRAM.

Essay—"Egyptian Religion"..... Ida Smith
Debate—"Resolved, That the Life of an Author is Preferable to that of a Musician"..... Annie Adams, Cora Schlegel
Reading of Euclid..... Lizzie Jaquette
The most interesting feature of the program was the impromptu debate, Annie Adams taking the affirmative and Cora Schlegel the negative. Many favorable points were brought out on both sides of the question, but the judges decided that the life of an author was preferable to that of a musician.

A Sudden Death.

A telegram was received by Fred Stadelman this morning that Josie, his daughter, who has been at Orange, New Jersey, for some time, died at 4 o'clock this morning. Mr. Stadelman and family will receive the sympathy of all our people in their sudden and sad bereavement.

T. B. Stephenson, independent candidate for district judge, is in the city.

J. A. Basom, of the Murray Banner, came in to hear Congressman Bynum last evening.

Mrs. W. N. McLennan is receiving a visit from her brother, who resides in Nebraska City.

Weeping Water Items.

From the Republic.

The new corn that has been brought in looks magnificent.

Louis Ashmun is hard at work with Mr. Mills building houses for the farmers in our vicinity.

Miss Minnie Treat will leave in a few days for Minneapolis, to spend six weeks or two months with relatives.

Dr. Salisbury is a rustler and he is making visits everywhere he becomes acquainted. He will fill the office of clerk of the court with dignity and respect.

Williams, the man who was arrested for assault with intent to do great bodily harm upon Si Mears, of Victoria, plead guilty to assault and battery and was fined $5 and costs, amounting to about $60. The case was disposed of on Monday.

Wash Davis' boy and a son of Geo. Towle ran away from home last week. They bought tickets for Nebraska City. Their parents feel very bad over the affair but we think the boys will soon get back, after finding out by experience there is no place like home.

From the Eagle.

Mrs. M. F. Wolcott returned from an extended visit among her people at Geneseo, Ill., last Saturday evening. Her father, Col. Perry, accompanied her home.

The Nehawka bank made a profit of 65 per cent on its capital stock during the past year. That record knocks the holders of government bonds into the shade.

The editor of the Eagle, at Eagle, was presented with a peach last week that measured eight and one-half inches in circumference. That peach had more cheek on it than the editor. It was a Cass county product raised by Mrs. J. Forsythe.

In last week's issue of THE HERALD items taken from the Eagle were by mistake credited to the Eagle. Thanks, Mr. Eagle, for advice given.—Ed.

When baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became a Man, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

PATRIC GIVE AWAY.

The schools are flourishing.

Sad! The young lady wears "the ring" again.

Several of our teachers are taking a course in the night school.

Miss May Dutton was a visitor at the high school one day this week.

Miss Britt, daughter of Rev. Britt, was a pleasant caller at the high school one day this week.

If there were a few more applicants, there would be a class organized in short-hand and type writing at the night school. Can't we have the necessary few?

The high school receives valuable instruction and practice in penmanship, that no young man or young lady can afford to miss who has an opportunity to attend school.

In the absence of Prof. McClelland the principal was called upon to "bring up with the rod" a boy or two from the lower rooms, Monday. Who said that the superintendent had nothing to do?

Alumna John Adams accompanied by Mr. S. Dempster, an old friend and school-mate of boyhood boys across the water, now of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, visited at central building Monday.

The fire alarm sounded at central building Friday a. m., and the house was quickly emptied of all the pupils from top to bottom. This practice is valuable thing to the pupils as a fresh air intermission as well as providing a sure fire escape, should one occur.

Prof. Halsey has a good class composed of the juniors and seniors of the high school, in natural philosophy. The class very clearly settled, by debate, the proposition, "Which has the property of elasticity to the greater degree: air or water? A question that would puzzle the minds of a great many of the older people of our city.

Miss Laura Russell, who has been stopping at the residence of A. B. Knotts, returned to her home at Weeping Water today.
