Indians Who Ride in Fine Carriages.

The Sionx nation is rapidly becoming a nation of aristocrats. During the past lew weeks many fine new carriages have crossed over here to the Sioux reservation, and all of them belonged to members of the Sioux nation who came here at different times and purchased them. paying for the same in good hard cash. Carriage dealers are now, in cousequence, doing a rushing business with the Indians, and the demand for the finest and most expensive carriages is in- I. Webster, will be the orators creasing, all the prominent and wealth- for the occasion. ier Indians appearing determined not to be outdone by any other member or members of the tribe.

The purchase by one Indian of an elegant carriage is sure to arouse the jealousy of some other Indian, and then some rustling is done. Cattle or anythus obtained the fortunate Indian will hurry to a wagon and carriage dealer and purchase the finest carriage that can be procured. The Lower Brule and Crow Creek Insoon travel about in a carriage of his ewn. If the carriage manufacturers would paint their carriages a gaudier color it would result in largely increased sales, on the frontier at least, but at the rate the Indians are purchasing it is quite probable that they are satisfied with the plain colors.—South Dakota Cor. To Have New Eyellds.

7th of May, is in the city for the purpose of having the skin grafting process tried on him. Mr. Chaffee was very severely roasted. The skin was burned off his face and neck, and ten holes were left in his head. The most serious scorching was that upon the eyelids. They were completely burned off both eyes, and in their stead at present is the raw, inflamed and swollen flesh. The sight is most repulsive, but Mr. Chaffee bears his misfortune with great fortitude.

When asked if his injuries were painful, he replied: "Yes, sir, they hurt me right smart at times, but it takes a great deal to make me grunt. I can stand a heap. You ought to have seen me when I was burned. My ears were as big as your fist and my head as big as a half bushel measure. I was a regular sight. You can ask my wife there," and he referred the reporter to a pleasant woman who sat near.

The work of putting new cyclids upon would cut the material for Mr. Chaffee's eyelids out of the patient's arm. Except for his burns Mr. Chaffee was in a healthy condition, and his own cuticle would perhaps knit more rapidly than that from another person. The new eyelids will be bereft of eyelashes, but utility and a cure is what is sought after rather than beauty in this case.-Pitts burg Post.

Twenty Pound Salmon for a Cent Apiece. has so glutted the market that for some school. Everybody invited. time these silver sided beauties have been selling at five cents apiece, but the price took a tumble yesterday and several fishermon sold a boat load of fine calmon, weighing about twenty pounds each, at the pitiful price of one cent apiece. One cent for a twenty pound silver salmon, the finest quality of that excellent fish, is the lowest price perhaps that a food fish ever sold for in this or any other country, but salmon are so plentiful that people do not know what to do with them.

It is estimated that enough fish could be taken there in one day to fill 1,000 barrels. Fishermen say they can make big money by selling salmon at a cent apiece to the canneries if they will only buy all they can catch. One man caught fourteen with a gill hook attached to a hoe handle yesterday, and another man claims to have found them in such numbers in shallow water in the Dungeness that he threw them out with a pitchfork and soon got fish enough to last for a month.-Fort Townsend Leader.

Sharks in Long Island Sound. An unusual number of large sharks was reported during September in Long Island and Fisher's Island sounds. To these the name of man eater is generally applied. As a matter of fact, however, the true man eating shark (Carebarodon carcharias) is rarely seen on ove coast. This species grows to a length of twenty-five feet and to the weight of one ton, being surpassed in size only by the basking shark. It is a relative of the enormous shark whose teeth occur fossil in the phosphate beds of South Carolina. Any shark measuring nine or ten feet in length is liable to be called a man eater. and not without warrant, for all of them will attack man with slight provocation or when suffering from hunger.-Forest Gutta percha is the gum of the percha tree, which grows in the Malayan islands and that locality. The price of this article has more than doubled within two years, chiefly because of the wastefulness of the natives in collecting the gum by felling the trees and the increased demand for it in insulating electric wires.

The peach crop of Maryland was so great that a fine crop has been left on the trees, as it would not pay to pick them. Thousands of trees will be dug up on account of the rapid spread of the yellows.

"An American Boy."

The three-act musical comedy, 'An American Boy," will be seen for the first time before a Plattsmouth audience at Waterman's opera house Thursday evening, Oct. 29. The company has just closed a successful engagement at Harrey Chaffee, of East Valley, a well the People's theatre, Chicago, and known oil contractor, who was badly the papers of that city speak well of burned by a natural gas explosion on the the performance. ☐ The comedy is a new departure to the stage, and is void of all sensation, the character of the boy part in the play being manly and bold.

Music, singing, dancing and refined specialties are a sparkling feature of the performance, and the American Boy Trio, the Union Quartette and the many new features make the new comedy a brilliant success.

During the play the following specialties will be introduced:

Act I .- Song and chorus, "Only a Boy," by Willie McDermott. Act II.—Dance Imagination, Frankie St. John; "The Tramp," Geo. K. Robinson; the universal favorite, Lizzie Anderson, in her specialties; ballad-"The Street Singer," Harry the unfortunate contracter is to be done by Dr. F. D. Edsall, who said that he introducing national airs by entire company; Spanish dance, ballad and chorus, by Harry N. Welch; the Union Quartette; the American Boy Trio; the Four Rubes, and many new and novel features.

There will be a game social Friday evening, Oct. 30, at the residence of V. V. Leonard on Sixth and Locust streets. The proceeds will be devoted to the interests of The present wonderful run of salmon | the commercial class of the high Beautiful words never spoken, Whispers of cheer that might save Hearts drifting, weary and broken, Down to the night of the grave. Silence more deadly than passion, Glauces that slander can send, Fram'd in the world's devilish fashiou To murder the heart of a friend.

Looks, spotless virtue impeaching, Souls lying crush'd on the plain, With tear frozen cyclids beseeching The touch of love's sunlight again.
Burdens to bear for the weaker,
Jewels to dig from God's mine;
And gems, fairer still, to the seeker In the angels' tiara that shine.

Within us the soul's silent treasure Waiting the kiss of the light; Sweet scented blossoms of pleasure Our fingers may cuil from the night. Fruit shining ripe on toll's mountains, Pearls that sleep under life's sea; Music in God's laughing fountains Undream'd of by you or by me.

Larks singing down in love's meadow. Throsties that pipe by the hill; Out of time's darkness and shadow Whispers that comfort and thrill. Voices within ever singing. Melody soften'd by tears,

The phoenix of hope at last springing Serene from the ashes of years.

Greeley Before the Camera. Horace Greeley dreaded the camer. more than any man I ever saw. He was brought to my studio by Whitelaw Reiand Sam Sinclair, famous in his day a one of the great workers on The Tribune. The great editor had just been nominated for the presidency of the United States. He came into my studio with an armful of papers, threw himself carelessly in the chair, adjusted his glasses, turned to the editorial page of The Tribune, began reading one of his own articles, and, without raising his eyes to me, said, "Fire away!" He had a great armful of papers, which he threw on the floor at his feet. When I was ready to take the picture I posed him properly and made a very good impression. I took him in several positions, and I noticed that every time there was a moment's delay with the camera he picked up his papers and began reading with

At the same time I took a group portrait of Greeley, with Whitelaw Reid on one side and Sinclair on the other. I doubt if any of those pictures are in existence. But the photograph then made at the first sitting of Greeley alone is the one generally accepted as the best likeness. I have in my possession a letter from him acknowledging the receipt of the pictures-at least I suppose that is what it does, for it has taxed the ability of experts in chirography to decipher it. I regard it, however, as a pleasant memento of the great journalist and statesman .- A. Bogardus in Ladies' Home
