A Cat Raises Squirrels.

Our fellow townsman, James H. Galloway, tells of a very peculiar way of raising squirrels. About three weeks ago Mr. Galloway's son, while out hunting, found a nest of young squirrels, which were only a day or two old. They were brought to town, but as they were too young to be raised by hand it was necessary to find them a mother. Mr.

Galloway had an old house cat, which had young kittens, and as an experiment all the kittens were killed except one, and the squirrels were put in their places, and strange as it may seem the old mother cat did not seem to no-

Democrat.

The Bishop of Derry. The eloquent bishop of Derry has, I hear, accepted an invitation from the trustees of Columbia college to deliver in New York city during Lent, 1892, a course of lectures on "The Evidences of Christianity.' Remembering that the right reverend prelate is nearing his seventieth year, it is not surprising, in his letter to the hishop of New York accepting the invitation, to find him saying that his decision required a good deal of consideration, but he adds that it is a source of pleasure to him to think of meeting his fordship "and many venerable chiefs of the great and living branch of Christ's holy Catholic church across the ocean." The bishop, by birth an Irishman, was many distinctions, and he was Bamptor lecturer in 1876. As a preacher he stand without doubt in the first rank, and his lectures are likely to find as wide a circle of renders here as on the other side most determined opponent of the prayer book revision undertaken by the synod of his church, and his action in walking out of the synod hall after a solemn pro-

Care in Choosing Drinking Water. More and more as a knowledge of hygiene is spread will people be careful as to the water they drink, for an impure article will as surely injure as impure food. A case in point is just reported of two deaths and twenty-four cases of disease from drinking the water of an old well in Milwankee.

the neighborhood. About all the members this summer partaking of the well water became ill, and their ailment soon developed into typhoid fever. Near by is a foul marsh, the water from which is supposed to have worked itself into the well and thus contaminated it, causing these deaths and all the illness. Didn't Risk Anything.

Unlimited assurance is possessed by a young man from Tennessee, who lately sought admission to West Point, and thus closed his application to the superintendent: "I want only to study military tactics. I want to stay three years. I want forty dollars per month. At the end of the term I want a position over some army of the United States. I want you to send me a round ticket there and back. I think I am both physically and mentally qualified to fill the position. 1 will not be out anything, but I want the position. Please answer this."-Yankee

The Eiffel Tower in a Graveyard. A good grocer of Damery, in the department of the Marne, has astonished his fellow townsmen by erecting in the local cemetery a family mausoleum of cut stone shaped like the Eiffel tower. Duels at Bonn.

Visitors to Bonn are, I hear, aghast at the untoward consequences of the German emperor's dueling speech.
