

Ethel Dovey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Dovey, is very low tonalistic.

Miss Elma Schmidtman departed last evening for Louisville where she will visit relatives for a few days.

Judge Ramsey to-day issued a license to wed to Bernard C. Schleicher and Miss Dora Miller, both of this city. They were married this afternoon at three o'clock.

Lester Stone, son of J. M. Stone of Union, has taken Chas Grimes' place in Judge Ramsey's office. Charley has formed a partnership with Byron Clark and will hereafter be found in Clark & Grimes' office over Dovey's store.

The following is taken from Tuesday's Lincoln News: "Owing to the intensely cold weather last evening the attendance at the A. O. U. W. memorial meeting at the Baptist church was not large and the exercises were somewhat curtailed. Walter Houseworth, of No. 80, presided, and the Easterday Bros. rendered some excellent music. Walter Hoge read a paper prepared by H. C. McArthur, on the death of No. 9, and G. D. Chapman spoke of the death of No. 15. Grand Master Tate made the principal address, speaking especially of John J. Upchurch, founder of the order, who died five years previous to that day."

A Large Ice Crop.

This morning a HERALD reporter took a ride out on the river where they are cutting ice for next summer. He first visited the place where H. C. McMaken & Son are cutting ice, at the mouth of the Platte river, and watched them load the ice. They loaded about five wagons every ten minutes. It is done by hitching a horse to a long string of cakes of ice in what they call a chute and pulling them up onto a long platform, from where they are loaded into the wagons, loading from five to eight wagons at a time. Mr. McMaken said they would put up about 8,000 tons of ice, and that it was the best ice that had been put up in this city for years.

We next visited the place where F. S. White is cutting ice, about opposite the B. & M. depot. Here they were also getting excellent ice, but they had from ten to fifteen wagons waiting to be loaded, as they load by hand, two men lifting a cake out of the water and putting it into the wagon, making very slow work of it.

We then drove further down to where Wm. Weber's men were cutting ice. They also had a slow way of loading but did it faster than Mr. White's men.

AGREED TO DISAGREE.

That Was the Verdict of the Jury in the Ellenbaum-Bilstein Case.

All day yesterday Judge Ramsey was occupied in hearing the replevin case of Ellenbaum vs. Bilstein. Numerous witnesses were examined and a good deal of conflicting testimony was given. A number of butchers were put on the stand to testify as to whether a man could go into another meat shop and tell whether a certain hide belonged to beef hanging in the shop. They all testified that it could not be done. Ellenbaum introduced as evidence the head and hide of the cow in controversy. S. L. Thomas and his son both testified that they thought the hide belonged to the animal they sold Ellenbaum, as they remembered the cow in question had a white spot on the flank and also white spots on the right front leg, near the hoof. Bilstein swore, as did also Kinkead, that he purchased the cow of a couple of men, but did not know their names, but said they lived nine miles southwest of Plattsmouth. Bilstein also testified that he had made no special effort to find the men whom he bought the cattle of, to prove where he got them. Ellenbaum testified that he had lost two head of cattle, and Kildow, Bilstein's hired man, testified that he had always helped Bilstein butcher, but there were two cattle killed that he did not help. According to Kildow's testimony, these two were killed about the time Ellenbaum says he lost his two. The plaintiff was represented by A. N. Sullivan and the defendant by S. P. Vanatta and Mathew Gering. The case was given to the jury, which was composed of June Black, E. R. Todd, L. D. Bennett, H. M. Gault and Ed Oliver, last night at 8 o'clock. The jury was out all night and at 9:30 o'clock this morning they announced to Judge Ramsey that they had failed to agree on a verdict, and were discharged.

The jury stood three for defendant and two for plaintiff. The jury was discharged and the case will have to be tried again.

Another trial has been called for Monday at 10 a. m.

TROUBLE BREWING.

An Illinois Man Locates His Wife Here, Living With Another Man.

About five years ago there lived in Niota, Illinois, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Schneider, and about that time it is reported that Schneider got into trouble and was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary. While he was serving his time his wife left and he was unable to locate her.

About two weeks ago Chief of Police Fry received the following letter from him, dated at Niota, Illinois:

TO CITY MARSHAL: DEAR SIR:—I would like to inform you that I am looking for a man and woman named Ed Wedmore, and the woman is my wife; she went away with him nearly four years ago. I had lost all track of them. But it is hinted to me that they resided in your town; I want them arrested for adultery if they can be found. Now if you know of them, arrest them and notify me and I will come out there and identify them. GEO. J. SCHNEIDER.

The chief of police after receiving the letter wrote him for the description of the parties, which he furnished. After a short search he located her at Bethlehem, living with a man named Ed Wedmore. Word was telegraphed to Schneider and he came in this morning on the flyer.

Mrs. Schneider never secured a divorce from her husband and has never been married to Wedmore.

Schneider says he had no children when he was living with his wife but now his wife has two, aged respectively two and one year.

Wedmore is working for F. S. White, cutting ice. The woman is attractive and good looking. Schneider went over this morning to see his wife and see if he could not effect a reconciliation. He informed the chief of police that he would return, but as we go to press nothing has been heard of him.

INSTANTLY KILLED.

A Fatal Accident Occurred on the M. P. Near Union.

An accident resulting in the death of Frank Snell occurred yesterday morning. The victim, with his brother, Wm. Snell, and C. E. Huston, were passengers on a Missouri Pacific train. They went out on the platform to take a drink and passed the bottle around. Frank leaned out from the platform to look ahead as the train was crossing the Weeping Water river between Wyoming and Union, when his head struck the bridge timbers and he fell, striking the ice below the bridge. His death was instantaneous. Snell was about thirty years of age, was a single man and worked on a farm near Talmage.

A Dancing Party.

Yesterday arrangements were made with Landlord Hackney for a banquet at the Riley. A number of Glenwood young people were coming over, and after the banquet the Plattsmouth young folks were to come in and indulge in a dance. The Glenwood people failed to materialize, and so did the banquet, but Landlord Hackney had the dining room cleared and the Plattsmouth young folks indulged in the dance. A very pleasant evening was spent. Following are those who participated in the amusements: Will Stadelmann, Maggie Oliver, Will Clements, Janet Livingston, Chas. Sherman, Nannie Moore, Chas. Murphy, Dora Fricke, A. V. Burke, Frankie Stiles, Henry Tartsch, Bertha Wise, Logan Brown, Maud Vivian, John Schulhoff, Delia Tartsch, Cliff Shepherd, Georgia Oliver, Robert Crozier, Tressa Hempel, Ed Schulhoff, Bertha Nitka, Arch Coleman, Edith White, and Lillian Hanna, Chas. Spencer, Mary Skiles, Paul Wurl, Maud Moore, Emil Wurl, Julia Herrmann, Harry Green, Nettie Ballance, Will Anderson, of Glenwood, Iowa; Mamie Stiles, Swouth, Miss Jameson, both of Glenwood, Iowa; Will Streight, Miss Matson, Dave McEntee, J. F. Wellington, Hattie Latham. The Bohemian Orchestra furnished the music.

Supreme Court Decisions.

Alexander vs. Meyer, appeal from Cass county, affirmed. Opinion by Chief Justice Maxwell.

In an action to foreclose a tax lien for taxes paid in 1872, 1873 and 1874, the court below found the tax deeds void and rendered a decree for the taxes and interest. One of the defendants filed no answer and the other attempted to plead adverse possession, but failed to allege that he had been in the exclusive possession of the property. Held, that the statute of limitations must be pleaded either by demurrer or answer or its protection will be waived.

2. No error appearing in the record the judgement is affirmed.

Mr. Sherman Kneec, formerly of this city, now manager of the telephone exchange at Hastings, Neb. was married this morning at Columbus to Miss Eva Amberger.

Hon. W. B. Shryock, of Louisville, is in the city to-day.

Mrs. Maggie Jackson, of McCook, is in the city visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Streight.

H. C. McMaken began yesterday shipping ice to Omaha for the B. & M. He will ship about 15,000 tons.

Mrs. Ellis, of Wymore, came in yesterday to attend the party at H. C. McMaken's and to visit friends.

D. A. Young of Murray was a caller at THE HERALD sanctum to-day. Mr. Young has been having a severe time with the gripe this winter.

In county court the case of M. D. Polk vs. Wm. Neville was called this morning and by consent of both parties was continued until February 4.

Henry Gering, secretary of the Livingston Building & Loan association, is a rustler. Since the first of the year he has secured 17 new shares for the new series, commencing February 18.

G. I. Bluedhorn, editor and proprietor of the Staats Demokrat, the only German paper in Otoe county, died Wednesday evening at his home in Nebraska City. He had an attack of the gripe but was getting better when he was attacked by sciatic rheumatism and it soon reached his heart, causing his death.

The B. & M. bridge over the Platte one mile east of Ashland caught fire about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. No. 2, the flyer, had just entered the bridge when the fire was seen by the watchman. The train was compelled to back up and come over the main line instead of going by way of Omaha. A force of men were working on the bridge last night in order to have it in readiness for travel to-day.

The Evening News of Plattsmouth has got its foot into a bad hole, that is liable to cost them something to get out. It is in regard to the publication of the answer of Charles Blake, to the petition filed by his wife asking the courts to release her from the bonds of matrimony, wherein he attacks the character of Mr. Kennedy in connection with his family troubles. The latter says that there will be blood on the moon before it is settled.—Weeping Water Eagle.

A pleasant day and evening was spent at the residence of H. C. McMaken yesterday, it being the fifty-second birthday of Mr. McMaken. The ladies came in the morning and a quilting bee was held during the day, in the evening the gentlemen came and the evening was spent in an enjoyable manner. During the day the ladies made two quilts besides doing a good deal of talking. There were present during the evening fifty-five including the family. Refreshments of a high order were served during the evening.

The New Court House Clock.

S. L. Wickersham has the new court house clock in running order. The dials are six and one-half feet in diameter; the striking weight weighs 700 pounds and the other weight weighs 300 pounds. The north and the west dials are in place and all that remained to be done at noon was to place the east and south dials in place, but before the men quit work to-night that will be done.

Died.

DECKER—At her home in Louisville precinct, Thursday, January 14, Mrs. Rosau Decker, of la gripe, followed by paralysis.

Deceased was born in May, 1817, near Harrisburg, Pa.; she was married May 13, 1834, to Jefferson Decker, after which they moved to Nebraska, locating at Rock Bluffs. It was at the latter place that Mr. Decker died, and after a short residence there Mrs. Decker moved to Louisville precinct, where she resided until her death.

She was the mother of ten children, eight of whom are now living. Mrs. P. S. Barnes of this city being one of the number. Mrs. Barnes was called to attend her mother Wednesday and was present at her death. She has the sympathy of many friends in her sad bereavement.

The funeral occurred Sunday, the 17th, at Weeping Water, Rev. T. A. Hull officiating. On account of the bitter cold weather not many were permitted to attend.

Deceased was the possessor of considerable property, over 750 acres of land, besides valuable papers, notes, certificates of deposit in the banks, and over $7,000 in money. She left no will.—Weeping Water Republican.

Policeman Johnny Fitzpatrick is reported to-day to be very sick with the gripe.

Manager Young has secured the "Midnight Alarm" for January 20 at the opera house.

The Turn Verein will give a masquerade ball Friday, 12, of February 1892, at Rockwood hall.

The Degree of Honor.

Last night the Degree of Honor installed their newly elected officers for the ensuing year. Following are the officers installed:

Sister of Finance—Mrs. D. F. Foster.

Sister of Treasurer—Mrs. C. S. Forbes.

Sister of Guide—Miss Belle Vermilyea.

Inside Guardian—Miss Lettie Smith.

Sentinel—Val Burkel.

After the installation ceremonies refreshments were served, after which games of every description that would amuse the young and old were indulged in up to a late hour.

Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Amick celebrated the thirtieth anniversary of their wedded life last Tuesday, at their home one mile southeast of Murray, where surrounded by their children they received the congratulations of their many friends and neighbors. A splendid dinner was served and in the evening a like supper, special to the young people, after which those who cared to do so were given the privilege of dancing. Excellent music added to the enjoyment of the evening and it was an occasion long to be remembered by those present.

The guests appointed a committee who were deputed to purchase two easy chairs in which, we hope, this worthy couple may be found seated, surrounded as on last Tuesday by loved ones and friends, on the day of their Diamond wedding.

It was at Plainfield, Indiana, that the happy couple were united and the brides maiden name was Miss Mattie Walton.—Murray Banner.

Kidnapped.

A case of kidnaping occurred this morning three miles west of Murray. At about 8 o'clock a man presented himself at the barn of Jones & Fitzgerald and asked for a team, telling them what he wanted it for—to go and get his child out at Dave Rusterholtz's, and gave them to understand that he was going to get the child at any cost, whereupon he was refused the services of a team. He then went to the stable of C. W. Holmes, but there he said he wanted a team and a driver to take him out to the farm of Rusterholtz, three miles west of Murray, and to get him back to Murray in time to catch the Missouri Pacific train south, and if he missed the train at Murray to take him to Union or Weeping Water, but he did not tell them what he was going for. He was accordingly furnished a team and Cliff Benfer was sent as driver. They left Plattsmouth a few minutes before 9 o'clock, arriving at the residence of Dave Rusterholtz a little before eleven.

The man who done the kidnaping is a son-in-law of Mr. Rusterholtz and father of the child, his wife having died some time ago, and the child in question has been making her home with her grand parents. The man drove up to the house, leaving the driver to watch the team, he went to the house and knocked at the door. The door was opened by one of the inmates and he went in and picked up the little girl commencing talking to her. He then looked up at the clock, remarking that as it was so near dinner time he would have the driver put the team in the barn. He then opened the door, still having the little girl in his arms, and stepped outside. As soon as he got outside of the house he started on a run for the buggy, putting the child in without any wraps on whatever, and ordered the driver to go ahead. Information was at once brought here and dispatches sent to Murray, Union and Weeping Water, notifying them of what had occurred.

C. W. Holmes says he cannot account for the driver running the horses, as Benfer has been in his employ for a long time and was a very careful driver. It is supposed that the man had urged him to whip up so he could catch the train at Murray, and Benfer thinking everything alright had done as directed.

The man was captured at Nebraska City, and officers will be sent after him to-night.

District court is in session to-day clearing up the October docket and getting ready for the March term.

Judge Ramsey issued a marriage license to-day to George F. Keefe and Miss Jennie Conner, both of Eagle.

Mrs. W. R. Olmstead, who has been visiting with the family of J. M. Young, south of town, returned to her home in Waterloo, Neb., this morning.

HIS PLAN FAILED.

Everton Schlegel Disapproves of His Sister's Lover and Tries to Whistle Him—He Gets Badly Wounded and Has His Conqueror Arrested for Assault.

The following from the Lincoln News will be of unusual interest to Mr. Everton Schlegel's friends in this city:

"The assertion that the course of true love never did run smooth is exemplified once more in Lincoln, the principals being well known people. The case is not out of the usual run of such ones, where a handsome daughter falls into love with a young man whose qualities are not appreciated by the young lady's parents and especially by her big brother, who swears dire vengeance upon the head of the young lover, and starts out with the determined intention of putting them into execution.

"The matter is brought to light by the arrest of Ed Cassidy, a young man employed in the Lincoln postoffice, who is charged with assault and battery upon the person of Everton Schlegel, a son of Alex Schlegel, a draughtsman, in the employ of the state, and who is well known at the capitol building. The story as told to the police is that Cassidy and Schlegel met a few days since and a wordy battle ensued, the latter seriously objecting to the former's attention to his sister. Hatred existed between the two and blows followed, after each had exhausted his flow of speech. It is said that young Schlegel was worsted in the fight, and that Cassidy struck the first blow, thereby forming grounds for a case of assault and battery.

"The attachment which exists between Mr. Cassidy and Miss Schlegel is of long standing and the opposition of the parents apparently only serves to increase the affection and bind closer together the loving hearts of the young couple. It is said that they meet by appointment at the homes of friends, where they carry on their love making and are said to be as happy as doves. On several occasions the aid of an officer has been invoked to find them, but to no avail, and the place of their meeting remains a secret to all save themselves.

"Cassidy's case has been set for hearing by Judge Houston at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning, and both sides will probably be there in force to contest it bitterly and at that time new developments may come to light. It would seem better if such matters were amicably adjusted without going into a police court."

An Old Settler Gone.

The editor of this paper received a telegram last night bearing the sad intelligence of the death of W. W. Gullion at his home near Greenwood. We have written many obituaries for publication, but never before did words come so slow to express our bereavement as at this time. The deceased was an uncle of the writer's and one we always loved and was proud to serve. When the cords of relative heart-strings are touched one can then more vividly realize what death means. And so it is with us. We but submit to the working of the Great Ruler who doeth all things well.

Deceased came to Cass county in 1854, and on the 14th day of June built a log house in Plattsmouth. At that time there was but one house in Plattsmouth a trading-house belonging to Samuel Martin. He was the first elected constable in Cass county. On the breaking out of the gold excitement in 1858 Mr. Gullion went to Pikes Peak and Denver, and for six years engaged in freighting across the plains. In 1879 he bought a large farm near Greenwood, where he lived until death claimed him on Wednesday, Jan. 20, 1892, at the age of 65 years. He leaves a loving wife and two sons to mourn their loss. Peace be unto his soul.—Elmwood Echo.

Quite a crowd of young folks assembled at the home of Fred Schlegel last evening. The time was pleasantly passed with games and other amusements, and the crowd did not break up until a late hour.

A large wreck occurred yesterday on the Q at Creston which was the cause of No. 5 being so late. A broken rail ditched the engine and seven loaded cars. Engineer Oscar Swanson was killed and Fireman Thos. Holland and Brakeman W. T. Wilson were seriously bruised. All the injured live at Ottumwa, Iowa.

Impressed as a Transport. PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22—Shipping circles were stirred up to-day over a report that the government has impressed the American line steamer Ohio, to be used in case of war. The officers of the steamship company admitted that the Ohio was taken off a regular trip, but were careful to say that she had not been chartered by the government. From another reliable source it was learned without doubt that the government has exercised its right to take possession of any merchant vessel sailing under the national flag for use when war demands it and under this law has impressed the Ohio.
