THREE ENGINES IN A WRECK.

Singular Result of a Failure to Protect the Rear End of a Train--Three Engine Crews Luckily Escape Unhurt.

Three B. & M. engines are in the shops for repairs because of a triune wreck that occurred at the Union depot about 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

Just by sheer good luck no one was severely hurt, but the smash-up will make a $10,000 hole in the company's treasury. A misplaced switch was the cause.

The outgoing Lincoln passenger train was standing on the first track in front of the depot, and the engine, No. 108, in charge of Engineer Frank Kuhn and Fireman C. A. Erwin, had been detached and pulled ahead to take water. Engineer W. T. Lee and Fireman J. M. Fair, on No. 19, had just pulled in from South Omaha with a combination baggage and express car which was to go south on the Kansas City road, and stopped a few feet from No. 108, waiting for an opportunity to pull up to the tank. The switch behind No. 19 was left open, and at this interesting juncture a freight train from the west came in sight around the sharp curve only a few rods away.

On the engine, No. 243, were Engineer George Driffson and Fireman Dolan, and an attempt was made to stop when the misplaced switch was discovered, but it was on a down grade, the rails were slippery with frost and the engine of the freight crashed into No. 19 at a speed of twelve or fifteen miles an hour.

The shock threw No. 19 and the combination car back against No. 108, and the damage was done. The engine crews jumped just before the crash came and were uninjured, with the exception of Fireman Dolan, whose left wrist was severely sprained.

Engine No. 243 was very badly damaged. The front end was entirely torn away, she was thrown from her forward trucks and the drivers left the rails. The entire machine was badly wrenched and will have to be entirely overhauled. Steam was kept up, however, and the engine was able to run to the shops when replaced on the rails a few hours later.

Nos. 19 and 108 both had their headlights and pilots smashed. The combination car lost both platforms and was considerably disarranged. The first car of the freight train was a load of corn, and the entire forward end of it was torn away and several wagon loads of yellow kernels were scattered over the surrounding neighborhood.

The wreck did not delay travel to any great extent, and at noon all evidences of it had been cleared away.

The engineer of the freight expected that the switch would be set as usual to throw his train to the second track, and the sharp curve prevented him from seeing it until he was almost upon it. He claimed that he was running no faster than usual through the yards, though there seems to be a disposition in certain quarters to censure him in this particular. He had a light train, which alone prevented a more serious accident, as greater headway would have insured the smashing of the train of passenger coaches only a couple of car lengths from the water tank.

The union depot escaped without a scratch.—Omaha Bee.

ARRESTED AT BROKEN BOW. W. C. Avery is Arrested. Charged With Seduction.

W. C. Avery, who will be remembered by the citizens of Plattsmouth as the man that compiled the last city directory, has been arrested, charged with seduction. Avery ran a hotel at Greenwood, but was compelled to quit the business on account of carrying on an irregular saloon. He went from Greenwood to Broken Bow, where he has been running a saloon. He was brought to Greenwood last night by Sheriff Halliday of Custer county. While Avery was running a hotel at Greenwood, it is alleged that he had in his employ a widow named Williams, who had always borne a good reputation. She was induced by Avery to fill the place of a wife without having complied with the usual formalities. When Avery left Greenwood he made faithful promises to the widow that he would right all wrongs, but he seems to have been absent-minded, and Mrs. Williams proceeded to find him and bring him to justice. Mrs. Williams being in a delicate condition and liable to be a charge on the county, the commissioners have caused his arrest and intend to make him right his wrongs or suffer the consequences.

THE HERALD respectfully calls the attention of its readers to an account of the battle of Stephenson's Depot. There are several members of the 91st regiment living in this city, that participated in the battle.

AMUSEMENTS.

"Jephthah's and His Daughter" at the Waterman Last Night.

A very fair house witnessed the rendition of Hull's cantata, "Jephthah's Daughter," at the Waterman last night. The cantata was preceded by several vocal numbers by W. A. Derrick and Mrs. E. B. Burris and a cornet solo by Mr. Eigenbroadt. The singing of "My Little Woman," by Mr. Derrick, won a well merited encore, as did the solo of Mr. Eigenbroadt. The orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Beck, did very well, considering that it is a new organization and has not had the experience necessary to smoothe over the rough joints. The cantata itself is not much of a piece. A few of the numbers are of first grade, but the music as a whole is not sustained. The leading character, that of Iphigenia, Jephthah's daughter, was played by Mrs. S. E. Clappe, directress of the entertainment, in a most finished manner. Her acting, especially in the last act, was superb for an amateur. As Jephthah, W. A. Derrick was a disappointment. He has a fine bass voice, but his ability as an actor was away below par. Mr. Pettee, as the Prophet, acted his character fairly well. He is admirably fitted to the role, so far as appearance is concerned, as his real whiskers lend him a very ancient appearance. Frank Dickson in the character of Abdon, Jewish prince, was fine. Frank has real talent in him. J. K. Pollock died like a man on the battlefield; but then, most anybody could die happy under the circumstances. Harry Jaquette, as Camp Guard, played like an actor. Miss Grace Pike, as Naomi, displayed great talent and by her acting and beauty captured the audience. On the whole, the exhibition was as good as any amateur performance can be, and Mrs. Clappe and Miss Pike are to be congratulated upon their success.

Midnight Alarm.

People were turned away from the Grand opera house at both afternoon and evening performances yesterday. "The Midnight Alarm" was produced. The piece is of the spectacular melo-dramatic class with fine scenic and mechanical effects, among which are the Brooklyn bridge scene with boats plying on the East river, the draw bridge scene and the engine house scene, in which is shown a fire engine dragged by handsome horses. The cast of players is above the average, and all are equal to the tasks assigned them. "The Midnight Alarm" will be repeated to-night and at matinee and evening performances to-morrow.—Syracuse Journal.

Secure your tickets for Friday night, and see a great play.
