that is to be the fate of our Sunman and beast ought to ask no aid whenever vacancies occur is a added the idea of a certain high and service, and experience has proved pells all voters to use and that of moral education, the day should that the substitution of soldier for still find ample support in the pro- civiliaus is calculated to produce in it instead; not only that but the cesss of season. A majority of such an effect. It would hardly be Americans perhaps favor the day proper to say that army officers are of election were also left off these because of their religious beliefs always more honest and capable and feeling; but almost the entire than any other men; but it may population ought to confess the fairly be claimed that their training Mue of a season by any former riod. The multiplying millions, the needless work and pain of a way, and all the details are carefulpeople made half wild by liberty. ly and systematically adjusted. the value of all true education and study, whether it comes from the art or the fields or the sanctuary, in in asking the thinkers powerul in the church to discover what kind of Sunday will most truly bless man, not only as a religious being but also as a being capable of a greatness and happiness upon led to war. The government has earth. The occpuation of this coun been put to heavy expense from try by the European Sunday ought time to time by the blunders and that the party in full possession of to be looked upon as only a calamity. Such a day intensifies passion the Sunday was designed to abate. vice and crime. Under it society to the military authorities. can live indeed, but the spectacle is a poor one compared with the vision of a great nation in which Indians have a profound respect the dreamer sees the labors of the week all suspended for one day, the dens of temptation all closed, the churches, the parks, the libaries, the galleries, the fields all open, and frequented by millions of persons in seven touch existence on its

WEW PROOFS OF THE BENEFITS THE M'KINLEY LAW.

nes possible to mankind.

Exeater side. If these millions cannot all feel with the Hebrews that

'od is in these silence, they can all for one day each week that

e is much of nobleness and hap

A correspondent from Buffalo write as follows of the effect of the McKinley law on one industry in

I called this week at the Tift Iron Works, this city, where are manufactured engines, boilers, and machinery of various kinds on an exensive scale but almost exclusively or the home market.

Mr. Charles L. Whiting, who is Mr. Charles L. Writing, who is the manager of the works, said that wholly wrong. It is only by a they were up to their eyes in busi ness, running every department full blast at the present time. ! answer to the question as to whi the effect of the recent tariff legis lation has been on their business he said there could be no doubt that it was on the whole very bene ficial. Among the things that pointed that way were the present prosperous condition of business,in cluding the bright outlook for the the future, and the numerous inquiries for price list, etc., coming eaily from foreign countries, South America in particular.

He thought that the increasing demand for their goods from South America was largely due to the reciprocity clause of the McKinley law, which gave us a great advange in Southern hemisphere would on be a vast and rich market for the products of the American fac-

Mr. Whiting further added: "That in his dealings and other observation in business he has heard no criticsms of the new tariff law either finciples would be opposed at this time to any to any revision of the tariff."

N. Y., had their opportunity Tuesday to pass judgment on the demo- have the state either own or control seat of Sentor Deane and they did it by turning out the democratic an in their place.

In a republican form of government it is difficult to get away from this highest court of the people. Dave Hill captured the New country where he stole seats in the legislature and robbed the people of their reputation he has been rethose of men who have in the past ing the money on long loans. It rather than rewarded with office.

WHAT SHALL WE MAKE OUR SUN- MILITARY OFFICERS AS INDIAN AGENTS.

The action of the house in pasparticularly fits them for the management of Indian agencies awakened intellect which can They go about the work in a row in vice as easily as in virtue, practical instead of a sentimental Their methods tend to lessen causes of complain, and to prevent outbreaks, and in that respect they are much preferable to the processes usually adopted by the Indian agents appointed from civil life. In more than one case the inefficiency of the latter has rascalities of such officials, and the state government for the crime fair dealing with the Indians would will hardly dare, even at the comunquestionably be promoted by mand of David B. Hill, to venture It doubles the opportunity of both turning the business over entirely

There is a point still in the case, and that is the fact that the for military officers, and comparatively little or none at all for civil ones. This is simply saying that the Indian is so constituted that he scorns peaceful and persuasive ideas and appliances, and believe in youth or in old age who one day only in force. He can not be successfully go erned except through his sense of personal fear. When he is coaxed and petted, he takes advantage of those who trust him, and despises them for what he inter prets to be their weakness. But when he is confronted by a man in the uniform of the army, he realizes that he must conduct himself properly, or he will be punished The army has the meaning to him of a power that can not be trifled with, and he submits to the authority of its officers without protest or resistance. This is well understood by those who are actually acquainted with the Indians, but it has never been recognized by those who have had policy. The theory of controlling and civilizing these peculiar people by mild and tempo-

... nature can be affected in any itive and satisfactory degree. to officers af the army are just the men, therefore, to have charge of the work which has been poorly done in the past by civil officials They will be respected and obeyed, and their influence will be on the side of peace at all times and in the insterest of justice and honesty The existing policy does not answer the purpose, and it should be changed as soon as possible, whatever the sentimentalists may say to the contrary.-Globe Democrat.

HOW OUR ROADS MAY BE IM-PROVED.

I would have each state by a legislative enactment do at once two or three things in the direction of his movement, viz.: procure and disseminate information by estab. lishing a bureau where the facts relating to the expense, mechanical construction, care, durability, use and extent of the different kinds of roads shall be known and ascerfrom friend or foe of protection, and tained; than I would have some siness men generally who are op- kind of state supervision and osed to protection on general advisory assistance by a comptent have been so industriously howlengineer and engineers appointed ing for reform while franticly by the state in aid of road and bridge building and reparing upon ury. The Register will be pleased scientific principles and upon a THE voter of Dutchess county, comprehensive and econmical plan state in this regard. While Iowa for the whole state; thirdly, I would has been almost steadily republibratic party's action in stealing the and maintain some through highways, connecting the principal towns in the state, and connecting supervisors and electing republi- these with the principal towns of neighboring states, where they are most needed, either for great public use. The state would thus promote the equealization and the general York legislature by stealing several reduction of expense of construction seats which belonged to republicand maintenance of these main cans. That theft has enabled him roads, and would give a profitably to take snap judgment on his own example and a strong incentive to party and take a new and partisan the adjunct towns to construct betcensus of the state, but in every ter contributory roads as feeders to the main ones. I would have the state divide the expenses of this scheme of road betterment in the buked by having his agents in the tax levy, so that part of it should poards of supervisors defeated in the be apportioned to the whole state. ecent elections. It is a waring to part to the counties through which Hill and the democratic party, the roads ran, and part to the towns. They can not defeat the will of the And, further, I would have this tax the other political burglars associpeople for long, and in the theft last levy kept small and the investment fall Hill but exposed his hand and adequate and quickly made by the ahow that his political methods are business man's method of borrow-profits by those sharing them.

RISING OF THESTORM.

From the small town of Charlotte Monroe county, N. Y., comes a story time the Wisconsin humorist, like no one can tell. Its late ought sing an amendment to the Indian that shows the desperate device to be fair even noble when one appropriatation bill providing that which the democrats of that state tremely funny to see Hill steal a iks about the growth of common the president may detail officers of are ready to resort. When the polls seat for the parts. Since Hill has Ase. The idea of a day of rest for the army to act as Indian agents opened at the recent election for refused to divide, and it is clear supervisors the republicans found that he stole New York only for from revelation, so easily should it move in the right direction. There that the name of their candidate himself, the Cleveland democrats repose upon the wants of our race. can be no dispute about the need had been entirely omitted from the see the reverse side, which is no And if to this conception of rest be of improvement in the Indian official ballots which the law com- funny at all. his democratic competitor inserted names of the republican inspectors so called official ballots, which were printed in the job office of a leading democratic organ of Western New York, published in Roches But the game was not successful > Hardly had the polls been opened when the rascality was discovered and the democratic election officials were compelled to allow the republicans to use pasters so that they could vote for their candidate. It was by methods akin to this that the legislature of the state was made democretic at the election last November and Mr. Flower became governor. So swiftly has come the revulsion against democratic outrages in the legislature upon taking of a state census and basing upon it a redistricting of the State for the election of members of the State Senate and Assembly in such manner as to make both branches of the Legislature Democratic for the ensuing decade. That is the purpose of Hill; that has been his design ever since he rose to supreme power within his party in his State. There is nothing in his public career to render it possible that he will desist from his purpose because of any consideration for the rights of the people or public decency. With him in politics the only question has been whether a thing can be done and whether it will be for his immediate personal benefit to do so. At present it is plainly his opinion that his personal interest demand a State census and a new apportionment of Senators and Assemblymen among the sixty counties of the State, and he is not likely to be turned from his design by the rebuke he and his party have just received at the polls in the spring elections. Some of his followers may hesitate in the Legislature but they will speedily be forced into line.

It is, however, consoling to know as is learned from the late elections that the people of New York are at last aware of the danger with which they are threatened and that they can undo at the next election whatmajority in the Legislature large enough to overcome an executive veto, but if these springe elections are any indication of popular sentiment they will be sure to have it. While Hill is hunting in the South for delegations to the National Democratic convention, the people of his State are nursing the wrath which is to destroy him and his schemes, as his prototype Aron Burr was destroyed.-Inter Ocean.

Iowa's Democratic Reformers. Iowa's democratic senate has 78 servants to wait on its members that are paid regular salaries out of the state treasury, while the republican house has only 56 and yet the republican senate has just twice as many members as the democratic senate. Iowa's tax-payers thus have a conspicuous illustration of the economy and "Jeffersonian simplicity" of the reformers who struggling to reach the state treasto hear from the tax payers of the can, has no debt and low taxation, Indiana has been as constantly democratic, now has a state debt of $9,000,000, and has always had higher taxatisn than Iowa. The Register has constantly warned the tax payers of Iowa of the threatened exigencies or for the great general dangers of democratic government. and the warnings have now been verified in the profligacy of the "reform" democratic senate, the very first opportunity democratic "reformers" have had in over 30 years to get both hands and both feet in Iowa's treasury. Such is "reform' by Iowa's "reform" democratic "reformers." - Register.

DAVID B. HILL can not break into the white house with a jimmy, says Governor Peck, of Wisconsin. The governor then adds, so that he may not be misunderstood. "He and ated with him will come to grief befare election day." This is strong who make a specialty of new delanguage and we are very sorry that Governor Peck did not speak call at their store and see the new been punished by imprisonment would thus be easily paid out of the sooner, when the republicans were things just out in the wall paper drawing their indictment against line.

"the political burglars" who stole the state of New York. But all that most domocrats, thought it was ex-

ELMIRA's election returns constitute the first piece of good news that Cleveland has received since

St. John is trying to rejuvinate the prohibition party with a view of course to securing another contract with the democratic national committee as a campaign speaker at the rate of $50.00 per day.

Real Estate Transfer

Following are the real estate ransfers compiled by Polk Bros., abstracters and publishers of the Daily Report:

Danlei McCurdy and wife to J. J. Shannon w. d. $500 pt lot 1 bk 13, Eagle-R. B. Dunken and wife to R F Schulke, w. d. $3,300 eta swig 2-12-9.

i. S. Wright to S. D. McBesson, w. d. $25 pt lot 1 bk l3 Eagle. H. Lau and wife to Fred Shewe w. d. $7,300 s% of swk and swk of sek 2:11-11. H. W. Beaver to Phillip Treitch, w. d. $3,000 e½ sw¼ 1-12-12.

Lucinia Murray and husband to John Bergman et al w, d $5,300 s% of sw & 30 and n % of n w & 31-12-12. W N Trimble and wife to A E Spiry w. d $4,500 w\(\) nw \(\) 4100.

Same to E M Spirey w. d. $2,400 elg huwly 4 J B Bard to AJ. Allen w. d. 8500 lots 12-17

Geo E Finley and wife to W D Mitter $1.90 pt swi₄ sei₄ 2012.9. M E Finley is same w. d. $7,600 self 33-12.9.

Geo S Conklin and wife to B Auffenkamp w. d. 83,00 nb₂ self and self nelf 1942-9. I. A Miner and wife to A. C. Gaston w. d $100 bit II bic South Park add to Platts bavid W Miller and wife to Josephene B Crone w. d. $3,00 w% of ne% & ne% of ne % H-183.

osephine B Crone and husband to Geo Hall w. d 85,150 same description. Gilbert D Goldsmith and wife to Geo 3 Smyth w. d, $500 elg of sek 1842-10.

Summer B Day and wife to James Schwal w. d. 8,000 w 2 of 2 w 5 of ne 4 22 10 11. Suffivan Hatchins and wife to Frank H Corbett w. d. 83.89 sty of ss ty8 and ewy p) set of swh 7 l0-12. M.A. Vosburg and husband to E. G. Vande burg w. d. $2,500 s/g-ne/c/284146.

R Scotthorn and wife to L Wilson w. d $29 lot 9 bk II Horton's add to Wabash. W.S. Wise et at to Wm Shea w, d $125, lot 5 Wise's out lots add to Piattsmouth.

Wm H Nelson and wife to M D Bailty w. d $1,000, w¹2 of nw ¼ 24-10-9. Anderson Root and wife to Thomas I Sutton, w. d. 50 pt sek of nw k 21-11-44.

Chas A Hanna to Trestee to Adam Hill w. d. 80,300 elg pf sw \(\) 56-12-12. Geo D Mattison and wife to H D Hassne w. d. $1306,25 pt 1942-4.

M A Kunz to W S Watters w. d. $3,000 stg of sw\(\frac{1}{2}\) 10-10. W H Sheldon and wife to Thresa N Fick-ter w. d. $600 pt se % of se % 32 12 14. Eleanor Ross to David Ress w. d. $2,000 wh of sw% and wh of se % of sw % 22 11 13.

David Ross and wife to R E Countryman w. d, $2,30 same description.

Ample Amusement. Wardner has been favored to week of delightful dramatic performances that has been rewarded ever of damage Hill and his tools by generous support from our citcan now do. They will require a izens, as crowded and delighted audiences have been in attendance every evening. The pieces presented embrace drama, comedy farce and a spice of the modern sensation play that appeals to both eys and ear, making realistic the work of the actor in many ways besides in the mere rendition of his lines. To produce the plearing results obtained and to mingle in charming harmony, genuine pathos with as loud and joyous laughter as ever rang through the halls of a theatre, we have been introduced to those goodly representatives of art, mirth, and melody, Eva and Felix Vincent. Both Mr. and Mrs. Vincent are artists in the fullest sense of the word, and the rendering of the various characters they assume leaves nothing to be desired Where so diversified a repertoire of pieces has been offered it is difficult to particularize, and in following am proud of my noble husband!" she said, the joys and sorrows of "Old Phil Stapleton, the native simplicity and arch naivette of the "Bonnie Fish wife," the vicissitudes of "Chip" of the ferry, the quiet but unctious humor of "Silent Bill," for in each and every instance the Vincents have proved themselves equal to the best artists of the day. With out wishing to appear invidious the News cannot refrain from making special mention of the charming rendition of the comedy of "Our Boys." Mr. Vincent was so truly natural as Perkin Middlewick, the actor was forgotten and nothing was seen but the old butterman. His support throughout was of the best and set in an appropriate frame what may be considered one of the very best specimens of American dramatic dramatic art. Similar comment is due to Eva Vincent for her glorious performance of the "Bonnic Fishwife," her Scetch dialect is perfect and we almost fancied ourself within the limits of the "Saut" market when hearing her charming rendition of "Caller Herring." Wardner News.

> Brown & Barrett were successful in securing the agency for Nebraska of the only house in the U.

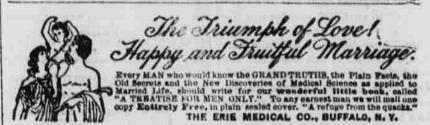

bottles of

Chicago, Ill. I was confined to bed; could not walk from lame back; suffered 5 months; doctors did not help; 2

ST. JACOBS OIL

cured me. No return in 5 years. FRANCIS MAURER. "ALL RIGHT! ST. JACOBS OIL DID IT."

WAVERLAND.

A TALE OF OUR COMING LANDLORDS.

BY SARAH MABIR BRIGHAM. Copyrighied, 1888.

(Not Not came in a deafening roar from the excited crowd.) Well, then, hear who my candidate is, and stand by him. I have for my candidate the name of Lord Waverland! (Cries of, "No landlord!" "No dictation!" filled the air. For a time it maddened and defiant crowd.) But Mr. Parnell continued quietly speak ing. When the confusion ceased we heard:

"Name your candidates." A dozen different names were offered. "You see, my friends," said Mr. Parnell, "that you cannot agree even on a candidate and if you do not elect your man you are giving one more man to your enemies, Do you remember Sarsfield's motto?" "Ireland and Liberty," came in shouts from a thousand voices, that made the very air re-echo back the words. That appeal was decisive; it united them. When Mr. Parnell called my name again, as the proper candidate for our district it was received with a cheer! As the meeting closed the waiting people gathered around to shake hands with their hero. He is young, tall, slender and prepossessing in his manners. His looks declare him to be a perfect gentleman. He cannot be called eloquent, but he impresses his hearers with the feeling that he is thoroughly in earnest, and in sympathy with their cause. When he shook hands and spoke to everyone who could possibly approach him, he sent each one home feeling that he was their friend, and would stand by them with his life if need be.

Thus closed a day that everybody feared would end in a bloody riot. It was this county that had been so fierce and determined that no landlord should be supported, and no "dictation" should be permit ted. Here the secret societies had appeared the most determined. But Mr. Parnell, by his clear cool-headedness, held them in subjection to his powerful will until every man felt that it was for his own good to unite and work with, not against him. I left the park feeling that a stormy campaigu was in store for me. I could not rely upon this man with an iron will to be present to rule the mob as he had done today. I almost dreaded to go home and tell

When I reached home Stella met me at the door saying:

"I know all!" "How did you hear?"

"I was at the village and had communication brought me every half hour. Do you think I would stay at home and know you were in danger, if a riot should take place? No, I must be near and know the worst, at least," she said, as she gave me a welcoming kiss.

"Then you were going to be my guardian angel and watch over me, were you, little woman?" I asked, leading her into the

"Yes, Loyd, if there is such a thing a holding a charm over another's life, I would exercise that power and always shield you from harm. 'You do hold a charm, my sweet, pre clous wife. Your love for me gives me power to resist evil, and for your sake I am ambitious. To-day has brought out possibilities that will call forth all the untried energies of my nature, and I need your help and advice to give me courage to a lively brunette, saucy and ready for misovercome the difficulties that lie before

She raised her clear brown eyes to mine, eloquent with love and trust, saying:

'Dear Loyd, you know you always have all the encouragement I can give you. I with confiding love. "But do you think Mr. Parnell will elect his men?

'Yes, I believe he will. He has now gained his point in one of the worst counties in all Ireland! I think every man went home in sympathy with him and ready to work as he directs. Here comes the Colonel; he'll tell us how quietly they con- counds. duct such meetings in America," I said, welcoming the Colonel with a cordial hand | the Colonel and Johnny O'Rork maneu-

"I think that if a crowd of Americans had been determined to fight as your people seemed to-day, it would have taken more than Parnell to have quieted them; that had been a ruin so long that the ivy though he is a wonderful man, I must confess, so calm, so quiet and yet possessed of so much magnetic force that he can command the obedience of all who come with in the power of his voice. What a general he would make in the army! I do not wonder now why England is uneasy. If he holds to his purpose and can elect his possion. men to stand by him, he will be a power she may well fear and strive to conciliate.' "But England will never grant anything to Ireland that she can avoid." I said.

"No, it is against her principles to admit that she is in the wrong. If she grants any request she will try to put such a mortgage on coming generations that you will never dare to ask anything more," he

"But Parnell will never bind our people by any iron clad mortgages that will trammel the liberty of Ireland," I said, as we went in to dinner.

CHAPTER LIV.-THE PICNIC.

"It is such beautiful weather, let's have a picnic, to-day," said Stella, one morning at breakfast. "Then it's the very last chance we will have while Col. Haynes is with us. Are you really going day after to morrow?" she asked of him

'Yes, Lady Waverland, I must go then, I will stay and see Lord Waverland elected which will take place to morrow, the must tear myself away. But I wu in fa picnic to-day," he said, with animation "A picnic!" cried Myrtle, intensely cited, for, to her, a picnic represente fairy world

"Who shall we ask to join our party asked Stella.

"We'll stop for the St. Clair's. They always ready for pleasure. You remem them; the girls were those good arch that were here the night of our return, explained to the Colonel. Then the Johnny O'Rork. We must ask him Annie's sake. He thinks she is the o girl worth looking at in all the world." "But wait." said Stella. "I must se

there is any thing in the house fit lunch," and away she tripped as happy a lark. "Waverland, you are the most fortun man alive in having won such a glori wife! If I could only find such a dear it woman to brighten my life. I should be happy as a king. You may well say that. I have the woman of all the world that could m me happy. But there are others, fr whom you may choose one just as dear

Soon the arrangements were completed. The old family carriage came to the door, Myrile was inside eagur to start. The funch basket, fishing tackle, some bows and arrows, a croquet set and any and everything that could possibly add pleasare to the party, was placed in a light waron with a number of servants to accompany us. With happy hearts we started for Sir Wren's.

As we passed through the little tenant village we saw many a pleasant face, eager for a smile from the "swate leddy!" 'Are you doing anything to help my cause in the coming election?" I asked of

Only remembering old acquaintances and making a few new ones," she said. "I can see a great change in the condition of the people on your estate since last 'I know they are more comfortable and I think more contented. But who could blame them for being discontented? Hunger and cold would affect even my placid temperament," I said, laughing. Yes, the old adage that 'if you give an Englishman a good dinner, then nothing ean harm him,' holds good the world over," said Col. Haynes. "Here we are at St. Clair's; you are the proper one to invite them, I think," said

Miella to me.

Away I went, like a school boy on a holfday, nearly falling over the shaggy little pug, that came barking at my feet. I rang the door bell and Miss Sarah came herself to answer the call. I made known my ermand and found that four would join us.

At O'Rork's we found three. So we were to have quite a party. When we reached Bir Wren's, Annie came running down the steps to meet us, exclaiming in a gay voice: "What mischief is on foot now? You all book so happy!' "A picnic!" cried Myrtle, eager to tell the news.

"The St. Clair's and O'Rork's will join us," said Stella, as we entered the hall. Sir Wren entered into the pleasure with the young people and declared he was going too. When the company had gathered, we all started for the lake. The St. Clair girls were fine looking, sensible and full of fife. George, their brother, was just budding into manhood, and was preparing for admission to the bar. Nellie O'Rork was chief. Johnny was the wit of the party. making us laugh at his original witticisms m spite of ourselves. The young lady who was visiting the O'Rork's was a fashiona-

When we arrived at the lake we left our carriages in the care of the drivers, giving orders for our provisions and implements of pleasure to be brought to the Turk's cottage in about an hour. We entered the yacht, cruised about a while to enjoy the seenery, then landed at the cottage. we separated into groups as best suited us, and began to ramble over the beautiful ble belle and a languid beauty.

I was very much amused to see the way wered to gain Annie for a companion in their walks. But Annie was ready for mischief, and putting her arms about Stel-M's waist she led the way to the old abbey had mantled its broken walls and made them an object of beauty, and the tall yew tree in front shaded it from the sun.

"What a delightful place this must have been! Such a quiet retreat from everything that could vex or annoy!" said Annie, with half serious and half comic ex-

"Just think," said Nellie O'Rork, "here once stood a grand old cathedral with holy men and women reverently kneeling before their sacred shrines; but now the selemn eyed owl and web-winged but hold their nightly revelries here and conduct the service.

"Just see," said Stella, "how nature has covered these brown and broken walls and windows with twining vines whose tiny reotlets creep and cling among the creviese from nave to transcept."

"Nature always loves the beautiful and hastens with her offerings to cover all things repulsive or disagreeable." said the Solonel, as we stood looking at the old

Pains. From the abby we walked through the choister, whose broken pavement seemed will to scho the tread of ancient friars, telling o'er their beads and mingling with their prayers the loves of their early days. Continued on Seventh Page