THE telegraph wires report that sixty thousand houses were destroyed by fire last Sunday in Tokio, Japan, and that fifty lives were lost also.

THERE were two quite severe earthquakes at Utica, N. Y., yesterday about noon. It was so severe that crockery rattled and in some places caused the plastering to fall from the walls of the buildings.

AN alliance congressman has been applied to by one of his constituents for "some documents showing that the republican party has been false to the farmer." He can't furnish them, of course. There are no such documents.

MR. BRYAN is coming home to see what's the matter with the democrats at Lincoln, for at the convention in that city the other day they pronounced for a double-coinage standard and Mr. Bryan's free silver views were smashed.

THE free wool bill is a measure discriminating directly against the farmer and in favor of the manufacturer. To the farmers of Kansas who are just returning to sheep raising it is a rebuff that will be resented.—Topeka Capital.

ALL of Nebraska's congressmen voted for free wool. It will be different in the next congress. There will be men there who will prefer to have the wool produced in the United States instead of the Argentine Republic or Austria.—Fremont Tribune.

It won't be hard for Chicago to entertain the national democratic convention which meets in that city in June, because democratic harmony will so prevail that all the Chicagoans will have to do will be to hold the coats and hats while the other fellows fight.

TARIFF PICTURES.
The average weekly wages of silk weavers in Macclesfield, England, are $3.16

The broad silk weavers of Paterson, N. J., get on an average $12

The Paterson ribbon weavers get $18 per week.—New York Press.

DEMOCRATIC WAVERING.

The vigorous manner in which some of the western democratic papers are "dropping" Cleveland and the sound money programme since the reverse to their party in Rhode Island has its tragic as well as its humorous side. It is humorous because neither Cleveland nor the anti-silver programme, as such, had anything at all to do with the democratic defeat. Undoubtedly the ex-president is more popular in that section of the country than any other democrat is, and the sentiment against the granting of any further favors to silver, is strong and enduring among the democrats as well as republicans. There is a probability, indeed, that Cleveland interest in the canvass in that state and his speech in Providence added something to the democratic vote, and it is entirely certain that a straddle by that party on the silver question or an open or covert in-dorsement of free coinage would have made the republican majority several thousand greater than it is now. The repudiation of both is tragic because it reveals the desperation of the straits in which the democratic party finds itself. If there were any Hill men left in the country anywhere they would seize this occasion to make capital for their favorite.

This is just what some of the friends of the two or three western free silver men are doing, or what they are attempting to do.

Viewed in either phase the democratic predicament is encouraging to the republicans. The democrats of the west will be strongly tempted now to disregard the advice and scruples of their eastern brethren and put free coinage in the national platform. They see or imagine they see, that hostility to free coinage is not as strong or as general in the older states as they had been led to believe, and they will be likely to come to the conclusion that they can lose nothing any way in putting the matter to a practical test. Such a programme might eliminate Cleveland, as he could not honestly or consistently stand on a free silver platform. But many of the democratic potentates in the west would be willing to go to the extremity and risk the consequences. On the other hand, if the eastern influence dictates the platform as well as the nominee, neither the west nor the south will enter the canvass with much enthusiasm, nor have any high hopes of victory. No matter what shape events in the Chicago convention may take therefore, the outlook for the republicans is encouraging. The drift of politics is entirely in the direction of republican victory in November. The elections which have been held thus far this year reveal this tendency clearly and unmistakably. With or without free silver in the democratic national platform, and with Cleveland or any man at the head of that party's ticket, republican triumph this year seems to be assured beyond all reasonable doubt.—Globe Democrat.

THE Wyoming cattle war is still raging. Several men have been killed on both sides and the state and United States troops have been called out to quell the disturbances. The latest report says that the cattle men are surrounded at the T. A. ranch by about 300 rustlers, who are led by the sheriff of Buffalo county.

The promptness and certainty of its cures have made Chamberlain's cough remedy famous. It is intended especially for coughs; colds; croup and whooping cough, and is the most effectual remedy known for these diseases. 50 cents bottles for sale by F. G. Fricke.

I feel it my duty to say a few words in regard to Ely's Cream Balm, and I do so entirely without solicitation. I have used it more or less half a year, and have found it to be most admirable. I have suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since I was a little boy and I never hoped for cure, but Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many of my acquaintances have used it with excellent results.—Oscar Ostum, 45 Warren Ave., Chicago Ill.

"Irena for the Complexion" removes Pimples, Blackheads, and all Facial Blemishes. Warranted by Brown & Barrett and O. H. Snyder.

The wisdom of him who journeyeth is known by the line he selects; the judgment of the man who takes the "Burlington Route" to the cities of the east, the south, and the west, is never impeached. According to the census of 1890, Chicago takes rank, by virtue of her population of 1,688,576 people, as the eighth largest city on the globe. Most of us desire, at one time or another, to visit a city in which so many persons find homes, and, when we do, we can find no better line than the "Burlington Route." Three fast and comfortable trains daily. For further information address the agent of the company at this place, or write to J. Francis, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, Omaha, Nebraska.

allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They say "Oh, it will wear away," but in most cases it wears them away.
