

It is reported that the floods the past week throughout Iowa have completely submerged the Boies boom, and it will probably not be heard of again.

THE CHINESE are about to emigrate to Mexico in a body. We are glad to see them go, but we feel for Mexico and wish her better fortune than to be saddled with such a population.

WHEN you hear a spontaneous howl for Cleveland from any particular section of the country, if you scratch around in the underbrush awhile you will find a man who held some high office under him inciting Cleveland enthusiasm.

HOLMAN'S congress has already appropriated $23,400,000 more than did the "billion dollar congress" at its first session. This is not because Uncle Holman has been extravagant (except as to Indiana appropriations), but because the constantly expanding needs of this great people demand the increase.

WHAT'S DOING IT?

A lot of democrats were quarreling in harmony:

"Shut up," growled an old wheelhorse. "What's the matter with the party is, there are too many 'ites' in it."

"It's?" queried the crowd, "what are ites?"

"That's it; you don't know what's the matter with you," he chuckled. "It's the Clevelandites, and the Hillites, and the Gormanites, and the Palmerites, and the Grayites, and Boiesites, and the gang of them that is doing the harm."

"Old Ironsides."

If the portrait of some grandma who lived in the early days of the century could "materialize," and stepping down, take her place beside the "tailor-made girl" of today, the difference would be no more marked than that between the good ship Constitution and a modern "ocean greyhound." Nevertheless, in spite of the top-heaviness of the old ship as compared with the new, if the two sailed down our harbor, there would be no necessity for an order of "hats off," and our heart-beats would tell us for which rang out the "three times three."

Well does this great foremother of ours command both love and reverence. Stanch was she with the strength of oak from the forest primeval; unwavering ever as the polestar in the path of duty; and like a true woman of the olden time, ere "rights" and "suffrage" had lifted their heads from the nether chaos, she obeyed her master, while he, true and brave man of the olden time that he was, loved and honored her.—From "The Birthplace of Commodore Isaac Hull," by Jane de Forest Shelton, in Harper's Magazine for June.

INTERNAL REVENUE.

During the first 75 years of our national existence there were collected from internal taxation about $22,000,000. Of these $3,000,000 went to pay the debts of the revolutionary war; $4,000,000 to defend ourselves against France at the close of the last century, and $15,000,000 were required to defray the cost of the war of 1812.

From 1820 to 1847 only about $300,000 were derived from internal revenue, and from 1847 to 1863 nothing whatever. Since 1863 the internal taxes have produced a revenue of over $4,000,000,000. This means of revenue is no longer indispensable. Our tariff should be so adjusted as to do away, for the most part, with this form of taxation. We can arrange our custom duties so as to make foreigners pay a large share of our national revenue and so lighten the burden of our own people.

Something was done in this direction by the McKinley tariff.

To further reduce internal taxes would relieve the industries in which distilled spirits are used.

It would relieve the tobacco industry.

It would remove thousands of tax gatherers and decrease the national expenses by several millions.

It would be in accordance with our constitution and our American policy.

It is the policy of the republican party.

It is advocated by all friends of the temperance cause.

The republican national platform of 1888 said:

We favor the entire repeal of internal taxes rather than the surrender of any part of our protective system at the joint behests of the whisky trusts and the agents of foreign manufacturers.

From resolutions of the Union League Club of New York:

We advocate at the earliest practicable day the abolition of the Internal Revenue Department as the safest and wisest means of reducing the surplus and preserving unimpaired the great principle of protection to American industry.

From resolutions of the Union League Club of Philadelphia:

The United States Internal Revenue system of taxation should be repealed by congress, and we call on that body to take the necessary steps to bring this about as early a day as possible.

ENGLISH INTEREST IN DEMOCRACY.

The democrats are going to have hard work to convince the voters of this country that there is nothing in the charge that England will help the democratic party this year. The return of the democratic party to power would mean free trade, and free trade, or any tariff reform approaching free trade, would mean English supremacy. The following extract published in the New York Press, and copied from the London Engineering News, shows the interest that the queen's subjects have in the election on this side of the Atlantic:

"The volume of that export trade has decreased, it is true; the (McKinley) bill was intended to foster native industries, especially the tin plate industry, and this it is doing, to a very satisfactory extent from the American point of view, and just so much has it stimulated American industries at the expense of our own, by just that extent it is regarded with favor by a large majority in the United States, no matter what their shades of political opinion may be. There is a somewhat general idea in this country that the McKinley tariff will be repealed before long, or at all events be so much modified that the sting will be taken out of those clauses most objectionable to British manufacturers; and it is for this reason that the hopes of the democrats for the approaching presidential election are so largely shared in this country."

Do the democrats expect even the Irish-American voters to assist them?

WHY OUR WOMEN FADE.

Many different reasons confront me as to "why our women fade," but I shall touch upon only a few of the strongest, writes Felicia Holt in the June Ladies Home Journal. I look at the many women of my acquaintance; I see lines on brows which can only be brought there by worry, and "worry" I take to be one of the greatest foes to a woman's youth. There are dolls to be sure, who never think, work or act; I do not here discuss such creatures, but woman in her vocation as a sentiment being. In this country, as in no other, do women have to struggle in the effort to keep up an appearance of great wealth they do not possess. It is an age of monopolies and great fortunes are being absorbed by the shrewd financiers; hence, many far more cultivated and refined people must retire, "forgetting the world, be by the world forgot," or undertake a struggle which ends only in the grave. It would seem at the first an unworthy strife, and so it is, not only unworthy but horribly degrading if entered into with the purpose of vying with the more fortunate for the mere possession of money; but alas, it represents to the fastidious and well-born woman all that to which by nature she is justly entitled; works of art, music, literature and the outcome of the ages.
