DRAWING BIG CROWDS.

Large Crowds Were Attending the Exposition.

STANDING ROOM AT A PREMIUM.

The Teachers, Scholars and Parents Are All Working in Harmony--The Hall Was Packed Last Night.

One of the largest crowds that has turned out for a long time in this place turned out last night to the industrial exposition at Rockwood hall. Everybody was well please and none but words of praise were heard to-day.

In our survey of the exhibit yesterday morning, important things were overlooked, others passed by for want of time. Never before in the history of Plattsmouth has so much interest been taken in school work. Children, teachers and parents alike seem interested, which always marks progression.

At the west corner of the Grammar school exhibit hangs the picture of the next president and vice-president—Harrison and Reid—cut out and mounted with cereal border. How thoughtful was the little person who prepared it and how the little voice may ring in shouting for Harrison and Reid after the campaign this fall.

Callie Atwood shows himself to be a mechanic in one way and an artist in another. The wheelbarrow made by him is mechanical in every respect and the picture drawn displays an exquisite taste of art.

Four girls were chosen from the Grammar grade to prepare charts from vegetable seeds, fruit seeds, cereals and flower seeds. The designs are various and one can get the magnificence of them only by going and taking a look for himself.

In the same exhibit is some special work in penmanship by Walt Wescott.

No one can describe the mineral palace by the Seniors. It is artistical througout, mechanical in every way, made completely of geological materials. Great care must have been taken to prepare such a structure, and shows that the class was harmonious and worked together well.

Bugs, bees, butterflies, spiders, skeletons, starfish, coral, sea-fans, sea-urchins, shells, were a few of the things presented by the Freshman class, a better collection of zoological specimens would be hard to find anywhere. And then, too, the drawings of animals not displayed were extraordinary fine Some samples of penmanship by Mabel Young are well worth mention; they exhibit plainly the gradual muscular movement.

The egg collection prepared by Dick Waugh, exhibits many different kinds of eggs, and is really interesting to look at and examine.

In botany the Juniors were compelled to make a certain number of drawings using the microscope to obtain a view of parts to small to be seen with the naked eye, which were all nicely done. Besides this they made Herbariums which are well filled with choice flowers, and neatly and artistically arranged.

Miss Maggie Wright presented some clay moulding which can never be out done by pupils of the same age. A small engine was the best thing shown, which was made by a boy 8 years old. Miss Wright claims to interest her pupils by having them make something round and then gradually have apples, pears, peaches, etc., modled.

On one of the desks were two books prepared by Peter and Jacob Eickhoff, who have only been to this country three years. Judging from their work one would not think them to have ever been foreigners. Their work is above the average and merely shows what pupils who are persistent can do.

Two pictures made by Jessie Niles of pastel, were among the finest things exhibited. One could hardly tell them from oil painting unless he made close examination.

The whole room was neatly decorated with flags, evergreens and flowers. Paper chairs and straw chairs both made of variagated colors were also a part of the decorative work.

Friday during the day the hall was crowded, but on Friday night it was jammed to its utmost. The display was fully as beautiful at night as in the daytime.

Every father and mother was trying to find some work done by his or her child.

The Fourth of July executive committee and the sub-committees met in joint session last evening and after starting things off in the right direction adjourned to meet next Tuesday night.

Interesting Notes From St. John's School.

Now that the necessary arrangements have been made, the sisters will hereafter hold their entertainments in their school hall.

The graduating exercises will take place there next Friday evening, the 24th inst.; the regular closing exercises the following evening, June 25.

The graduating class consisted of five members, viz: The Misses Lily Tighe, Kittie Cummins, Katie Neville, Mabel White and Mary Coffey, but, owing to failing health, Mabel White was forced to withdraw during the past session.

A very successful school year will close June 25.

The work for the Columbian exposition has gone steadily forward. Much time and attention have been given it.

The music pupils have done excellent work—vocal and instrumental—in the different grades of the musical course. The frequent recitals given during the year were not only very interesting, but showed much talent and faithful study.

A gold medal will be awarded Miss Kate Neville Friday evening, she having completed the prescribed course. Miss Katie possesses great musical talent, a beautiful and expressive touch, and by careful study has made rapid progress in this branch. She richly deserves the golden honors she is to receive.

Preparations are being made for a grand musicale, to be given during the summer vacation.

Following is the program for the graduating exercises:

HOW SHE EARNED HER CAR FARE.

A Woman's Ingenious Device for Making Money When She Was Hard Up.

A woman who is now one of the most promising artists in this city, and was lucky enough to get two of her pictures accepted by the Academy, told this story of how she earned her first few pennies in this big town:

"When I came here five years ago I had just twenty-five dollars in my pocket. I got a room—or rather a cubby hole next to the roof—in a boarding house on Fourth avenue. It was three weeks before I got anything to do. Then a place was offered to me as a primary teacher in a private school. The salary when you got it was fair enough in amount. But unfortunately you didn't get it until the end of the month.

"By this time there was such a tremendous hole in my twenty-five dollars that I couldn't afford to move up town. The expressage alone would have made a bankrupt of me, for I had absolutely come to such a pass that I hadn't enough money to pay my car fare to the school and back. I explained the situation to the landlady. She really was a dear old thing. She told me I wasn't to worry about my board bill. She was perfectly willing to wait for her money until the end of the month.

"That was one weight off my mind of course, but I had still to grapple with the car fare problem. I was in a dreadful pickle really. For four days I walked every inch of the way—4½ miles each journey. I used to leave the house at 7 in the morning so as to reach the school promptly at 9.

"Then I found that my French heels were beginning to give out, so I saw that my efforts to save money by pedestrianism would only get me into deeper water. Suddenly I had an inspiration.

"There were three old maiden sisters who occupied the double bedded room on the second floor. They were without exception the fattest women I ever saw. The most etherial of the three weighed 300 if she weighed a pound. They were all saleswomen in one of the big Sixth avenue stores. They used to scramble down to breakfast in the morning in a fluster at the last moment.

"One of them confided to me that it was their shoes which always delayed them. They almost expired every morning in their attempts to button them. She told me in a tone of the utmost resignation that eventually she expected their shoes would be the death of all three of them. Well, what do you suppose I did? I took that woman aside and I said to her: 'Now look here, I'll make a bargain with you. I want to make a little extra money just now, for I am dreadfully hard up. If you and your two sisters will each pay me twenty cents a week I'll come and button your shoes for you every morning.'

"The poor old things fairly jumped at the offer. They insisted on paying my first week's salary—sixty cents—in advance. It left me ten cents to the good you see, because on Saturday there was no school. After the first week they insisted on raising my salary to an even quarter from each. Well, I buttoned their shoes regularly for two months. Then I had to resign my position, as I was moving to a boarding house up town.

"When I bade them goodby the poor old things actually cried over me, and presented me with the loveliest little silver buttonhook you ever saw. I sent them tickets for the private view the other night. They all came, fatter than ever, and went into ecstacies over my pictures. The eldest one told me with tears in her eyes that ever since I left them they had been obliged to abandon button shoes. 'Now, my dear,' she said with a huge sigh of regret, 'we can wear nothing but elastic sides.'"—New York Evening Sun.

The Russians have just had made two 118-ton guns for their Black sea fleet. The English admiralty seems to value its big 110-ton barkers more as torpedo throwers than as mere armor piercing weapons.

Navigation on the Elbe was open during the whole of the month of March this year, whereas last year it was only possible toward the end of the month.
