MILITIA CALLED OUT

overnor Pattison Orders the State Guards to the Scene.

THE SITUATION IS CRITICAL.

Homestead Workmen Express Various Opinions, but None Favor Resisting the Militia—The Governor's Actions Surprise Many.

From Monday's Daily.

The entire division of the National Guards of Pennsylvania—about 8,000 men—have been ordered to Homestead to support Sheriff McCleary in suppressing the riot at that place. This action was taken by the governor upon receipt of the following:

PITTSBURG, PA., July 10.—Governor Pattison: The situation at Homestead has not improved. While all is quiet there, the strikers are in control and openly express to me and to the public their determination that the works shall not be operated unless by themselves. After making all efforts in my power I have failed to secure a posse respectable enough in numbers to accomplish anything and I am satisfied that no posse raised by the civil authorities can do anything to change the condition of affairs, and that any attempt by an inadequate force to restore the right of law will only result in further armed resistance and consequent loss of life. Only a large military force will enable me to control matters. I believe that if such a force is sent the disorderly element will be overawed and order restored. I therefore call upon you to furnish me such assistance.

[Signed] W. H. MCCLEARY,
Sheriff.

GOVERNOR PATTISON'S REPLY.

The governor replied as follows:

"To Wm. H. McCleary, sheriff of Allegany county, Pittsburg, Pennsylvania: Have ordered Major General George R. Snowden, with the division of the national guards of Pennsylvania, to your support at once. Put yourself in communication with him. Communicate with me for further particulars.

[Signed] ROBERT E. PATTISON,
Governor."

The governor has issued the following: "General G. R. Snowden: Put the division under arms and move at once, with all munitions to the support of the sheriff of Allegheny county at Homestead. Maintain the peace and protect all persons in their rights under the constitution and laws of the state."

A TOUGH CASE.

Her Place Usurped by Another and She is Compelled to Stand it.

On a farm some fifteen miles from Lincoln and not many miles distant from Eagle, there is at present living a man whose household skeleton is not made known to the public, and who is daily violating all the laws of morality besides breaking the laws of the land. Not quite two years ago this man's wife was declared insane and taken to the asylum at Lincoln.

The man whose name it is not necessary at this time to give to the public, procured the services of a rather good looking young woman to act as housekeeper while the poor wife, whose wrecked and clouded brain was gradually being cleared of the mists which hung over it, caused by hard work and the hard usage of the man who had sworn to protect her, the younger woman and housekeeper had supplanted her place, and occupied the bed that was hers, to all intents and purposes the man's wife. So matters ran until a short time ago the lawful wife was pronounced cured and released to go back and resume the old place in her husband's heart and with her loved ones again.

Whether it was because the poor woman's brain has become so weakened by her long illness and confinement, to such an extent as to render her obtuse to the condition of affairs, is not known, but at the present time the wife and the woman who has been in her place, are both living together with this man in open violation of all laws of decency. Some of the neighbors have been disposed to make the matter public, but so far nothing has been done, and the Call's account will probably be the first open statement. How much longer this shameful condition of affairs will be hushed up in a christian community is a pertinent quere.—Lincoln Call.

The hay was thrown from the wagon and the wagon passed over Mr. Dunn's body, but he escaped with only a few scratches.

Exciting Runaway.

Mrs. C. W. Sherman, Mary Sherman and Nannie Moore were out riding Saturday evening and while coming down Chicago avenue the horse started to run, and but for the presence of mind of the driver, the result might have proven disastrous. The driver although unable to stop the horse kept it in the road. Just in front of Judge Chapman's residence the horse fell down. Nobody was hurt but the occupants of the carriage were pretty badly scared.

Family Jar.

The police were called upon yesterday to settle a family dispute between Frank Whitehead and his wife living on South Tenth street When the police arrived they were having a lively time with the woman getting the best of the deal. The police arrested the man of the house but his wife refused to prosecute. She packed her trunk and left this morning on the 10:30 train for Kansas where her parents reside.

From Tuesdays Daily.

The Chaplain's Collection.

Rev. Benjamin F. Diffenbacher, late chaplain of the Nebraska house of representatives, delivered a very enjoyable lecture at McKendree M. E. church, Massachusetts avenue, last evening. He has collected a large number of stereopticon views of persons, places and public buildings during his six months in Washington, which were thrown on the canvass by Prof. P. B. Murray The chaplain is a ready speaker, and his explanations and comments gave effect to the views presented. It is understood that the lecturer will exhibit his pictures to the people of his state in the near future. Those who feel an interest as all must in the beauties of the National Capital city, and in those illustrious personages whose lives are so interwoven with our country's history, will find that the chaplain's collection has been made with rare judgment, and that his investigations enable him to impart a great deal of valuable information.—Washington Post.

Chaplain Diffenbacher will be at the Presbyterian church Thursday and Friday evenings, July 13 and 14. Admission, 25 cents; children, 10 cents.

ANOTHER BATTLE.

This Time in the Idaho Mines at Wallace.

FOURTEEN MEN WERE KILLED.

The Conflict Was at the Gem and Frisco Mines--The Deadly Work Was Done by Exploding Giant Powder.

WALLACE, Idaho, July 11.—The strained situation in the Coeur d'Alene labor troubles culminated this morning between 5 and 6 o'clock. The Gem and Frisco, non-union mines, were guarded by men behind barricades armed with Winchesters. This morning a miner from the Gem started for Burke. When opposite the Frisco mine he was fired upon. Soon the miners in town armed themselves. They marched in a body toward the Frisco mills. When scarcely within rifle range a volley from the mine greeted them. They scattered and a regular battle ensued. One miner and one non-union man were killed, and perhaps six were wounded during the engagement. The miners in the meantime loaded a Union Pacific car with 750 pounds of giant powder and sent it down the track toward the Frisco mine. Directly in front of the mill the explosion occurred, shattering the mill and making it a complete wreck.

The non-union men then showed the white flag and surrendered. They marched the miners to Union men and guarded them. No indignities were offered after the surrender. While the fight was going on at the Frisco, the Gem guards suddenly began firing volley after volley into the town of Gem, riddling the buildings with bullets. John Ward was wounded in the arm and Gus Carlson, a union miner, was killed. All attempts to recover Carlson's body were met with a volley, and when the body was recovered an hour afterwards he was dead.

At 8 o'clock a truce occurred and the sheriff, district attorney and deputy United States marshals appearing upon the scene, peace negotiations were immediately set on foot and a truce declared, and at 12 o'clock the mine force surrendered to the union men.

The number killed so far as learned was fourteen and about ten wounded, though there may be bodies under the Frisco mill. Besides Carlson, Farry, Cummings and two other unknown men killed and wounded, Hugh Campbell and J. W. Gakardoger will die, also Sam Peters and Pettibone.

Later—It is reported that twenty non-union men were killed in the explosion of the mill at the Frisco mine. No confirmation has been received.

History of the Trouble.

The Frisco and Gem are the only two union mines in the east end of Couer d'Alene. The strike in Couer d'Alene began about nine months ago. The fight was between the miners and Mine Owners' association, organized to resist the demands of the miners union. Twelve miners; including all the leading ones, are included in the organization, and money has been freely contributed to carry on the fight. The former rates of wages were $3.50 per day to miners and shovelers, and the strike of the miners grew out of a reduction in the shovelers wages to $3 per day. All miners working under ground demanded $3.50. There were several acts of hostility when the strike began but the miners union did its best to prevent by peaceable means, men working at the reduced wages. The United States circuit court issued an injunction forbidding anyone interfering with the men employed by the company or the mine property. About two months ago matters were straightened out and work went on as usual, but since the Carnegie trouble began the old question of wages has been revived by the men and resulted in to-day's bloodshed. A Spokane telegram says that the union men at the Poorman and Tiger mines quit work and captured all the non-union men working in the union mine near Burke.

The police court was occupied today with the case wherein Lou Engle had Howard Thompson arrested for calling her hard names and disturbing the peace. The testimony showed a terrible state of affairs existing. The testimony was so bad that the hardened old sinners who have been hanging around police court for such trials blushed. The judge fined Thompson $5 and costs. The Engle woman was arrested but was discharged.

C. L. Graves, of the Union Ledger is in the city to-day on business.

THE COUNTY AND CROPS.

A representative of THE HERALD made a trip through the country last week and makes the following report regarding the outlook for the farmers:

You have heard people complaining on every side about corn crops. Corn looks as well as could be expected, and if the country is blessed with a late fall there will be plenty of corn for all necessary needs. It is bound to cut a little short as it is, but not enough to effect seriously, unless damaged by something unknown at present. At George Bean's, S. I. Long's, S. M. Davis', Peter Meisinger's, and at others whose names we are not familiar with, we noticed fine fields of corn. We also noticed some corn not plowed yet, and some just plowed for the first time, while some have corn laid by and others just laying it by.

WHEAT.

Fall wheat in most places looks good although in some places poor. It is maturing rapidly and soon will be ready to harvest. Spring wheat will be as good as winter wheat, in fact as a general thing it never is, but will be a little short of some years but not below the average. It is maturing fast.

OATS.

Oats will make a good crop unless damaged between now and cutting. They have headed out and the time to harvest will be on hand before the farmers are ready.

RYE.

Wherever there is any ripe it is rank and splendid and now ready to harvest.

HAY.

The farmers have never had better prospects for hay than they have this season. The grass is thick and long and now ready to cut. At many places we heard the "click" of the mower. Clover is being cut now, timothy will do better later.

On the whole our trip was a pleasant one as well as sort of romantic. It is certainly beautiful to behold fields of grain waving backwards and fowards, each shedding its golden lustre.

As a general thing the farmers are very busy, being put behind by the backward spring and now trying to catch up, in order to get ready for harvest.

Mynard.

At Mynard we found a few progressive people who are striving to build up a town there. A. E. B. Kneligh has a neat little blacksmith shop, and August Bach is putting in a good sized general store. They have a handsome little depot and splendid elevators. Arrangements are being made to secure a postoffice, and as soon as this is accomplished there no doubt will be some other improvements.

Eight Mile Grove.

The people in this section of the country are just the same as usual, all busy, and in good cheer. Mr. Jenkins, the postmaster, has on exhibition a salamander, which was drawn out of his well. It is a queer looking animal and is certainly out of its region. How it ever got there is a mystery.

Murray.

At this place we found the people frantic over a social that was to be held that night at the Christian church. This church has been built recently and it adorns the town to no little degree.

The people have just voted on the bond question for a new school house, which was defeated. We think nothing would add more to the wealth and prosperity of the town than a good school building.

Murray has a good brass band and they are alive and active.

Prosperity is certainly due this place.

Eight Mile Grove.

Hot weather, corn plowing, preparing for harvest and politics are the absorbing topics at Right Mile Grove and vicinity

J. Crawford made a flying trip to Council Bluffs and secured his better half. May the newly married couple long live and enjoy the happiness which is rendered possible only by the nuptial knot.

Wm. Zatterson is gradually coming over to the principles of republicanism. He says there should be more protection placed upon cotton, owing to the great competition upon that article.

Sunday School is progressing under the management of I. Woods.

The name of Harrison is upon every lip. He if growing stronger every day, while his antagonist is loosing ground.

We venture to say that never in all our political history has the national campaign year brought broader, deeper and more prevailing questions down closer to the people. There is not an issue that does not touch a vital spot in what most concerns the masses. Our opponents may proclaim and plead their speakers may conjure and manipulate, but our position is preeminently of and for the people. The questions we present are of economy, home, family, labor, personal rights and money. We propose to make of the campaign a a school of education, and the school will swarm with enthusiastic scholars, all intent on knowing what is best for their comfort and prosperity.

We are proud to know that our party has embodied the principle of the McKinley law, in which the principles of protection have been carried to its logical conclusion and no longer leaves a doubt to the readers of republicanism, the position the old party takes upon that subject. Articles which can be manufactured or produced in this country in sufficient quantities to support our own needs, are brought under the shelter of protection, thereby leaving competition among our own people to regulate the prices.

Those articles, which from climatic or other reasons, cannot be produced in this country in sufficient quantities to regulate the price, are put upon the free list.

We of the republican party believe this to be the true theory of protection. Protection on a new article may temporarily, and by some per cent of the duty levied, increase the price, but the price declines as the home manufacture of the article enlarges and home competition sets in.

Example of the above workings of the tariff: Cost of a bar of tin plate (108 lbs.) in Liverpool, Jan., 1891, $4.23, additional duty after July 1, 1891, $1.29. Cost of a box of tin plate after April 1, 1892, $3.02. Who pays the tax? More anon.

JOHN THE REVALATOR.

Bound Over.

The officers yesterday afternoon arrested Jack Britton on the charge of burglary. Some one broke into M. B. Murphy's store last week and carried off a revolver and a pair of combination nippers. When Britton was arrested the revolver was found on his person, and the evidence showed that he sold the nippers to George Dovey for twenty cents. Britton told Dovey he had found the nippers when he sold them. He explained to the court as to how he came in possession of the revolver. He said he was walking along the alley back of Dovey's store, when his attention was attracted to something lying partially under a board, and, upon picking it up, he found it to be a revolver. Murphy identified both the nippers and revolver as his. After hearing the testimony Judge Archer bound him over to the district court in the sum of $50.

WORST FORM ECZEMA

Baffled Best Medical Skill for Eight Months. Cured in Two Months by Cuticura Remedies.

This is to certify that a child of mine had Eczema in its worst form, and which baffled the best medical skill that could be employed here. The little sufferer was wrapped in agony for at least eight months. Six months of that time its suffering was simply untold, then I began the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, in two months the awful disease had ceased its vengeance, and my darling boy had rest, and to all appearance the disease had yielded, but I continued the medicine for several months after no trace could be seen of it on any part of his body. The doctors here watched the disease with much interest, and could only say "Well done!" The case was known far and wide, and everybody was much surprised. But thanks to CUTICURA REMEDIES. Could there be anything on earth that would cause a father to rejoice it surely would be when the little innocent one could have such a remedy of hand. (See portrait herewith.) J. A. NICOLES, Banker Hill, Ind.

A child was brought to me with chronic eczema that had defied splendid treatment from many good doctors. As a regular M. D., should have continued similar treatment, but thought it useless. So put it on CUTICURA. The child is well.
