The A. O. H. ball to-night.

The basket social at Mrs. Battery's tonight.

Nebraska chapter No. 2, meets to-night at 7:30.

Mr. Sherman is the apologist for the present police force of this city.

The HERALD office will print the county fair premium list, and will print it themselves, too.

It is a terrible still hunt that is going on, as far as candidates are concerned, for the coming municipal honors.

The city council failed to connect last night. Too many other attractions and no quorum.

The basket social at Mrs. Battery's and the A. O. H. ball tonight. "You pay your money and you take your choice."

The postoffice will be closed tomorrow afternoon from 2 o'clock until 5, out of respect to the death of Postmaster General Howe.

All parties having ads in the Art Loan catalogue will please have them ready for the printer by tomorrow noon.

Some of the boys went up to Omaha this evening to witness the opera of the "Queens Lace Handkerchief."

The new floor has been laid in the rink and the skates run, themselves, now. All that is necessary now is to buckle them on your feet and down you go.

The theatre and dance at the Liederkranz hall last night was a decided success. A large crowd was in attendance both at the play and hop.

The early bird must have had a hard job getting into the ground for his worm this morning. Query: "Did the bird know which way to look for the ground?"

I. Nathan, of Solomon & Nathan is home from New York where he has been purchasing an immense stock for the summer trade. They have made arrangements for extensive advertising and a big trade.

J. V. Weckbach is putting into his store a gas machine similar to the one in the opera house. His goods will all bear inspection in a good light, and he is bound they shall be seen.

There will be a special meeting of the board of trade tomorrow night at D. H. Wheeler & Co's office. A full attendance is requested. The railroad question will be brought up. Turn out everybody.

Regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock, in the Presbyterian church. Each member of the association is requested to be in attendance, as business of importance is to be transacted.

A gabby cuss was taking in the boys, today, on the street, with a knife attraction. The knives were stuck up in a board and the sucker paid 25 cents for the privilege of throwing five rings at the knives, receiving the knife he was fortunate enough to throw the ring on.

Bennett & Lewis have recently fitted up their store room in nice style, giving it a coat of paint inside and out, and putting an attractive gold leaf job of lettering on the windows that can't be equalled in the city. Today they received a $2,000 pound safe, which fixes them in good shape to transact their rapidly increasing business.

Henry Taylor, the man arrested at Oregopolis yesterday afternoon, for an attempt to murder William Morris, was today arraigned, and waived a preliminary examination and was found over in the sum of $500, also placed under $200 bonds to keep the peace.

Henry Gray, a young man who got tangled up with too much tanglefoot, yesterday, and wanted to knife some body, was up before his honor today for disturbing the peace (frank and disorderly) and he catered to the tune of $5 and costs, for which he gave security.

The initial number of the Sunday Morning Optic published at Lincoln by B. P. Marshall and Geo. N. Sroat made its appearance at this office yesterday. It is a bright, newsy, little sheet, the main feature of it being its society news. We welcome the Optic as an exchange and wish it all the success it deserves.

Parson.

Deputy Sheriff Eikenbary is in South Bend today.

The Swedish Lady quartette were passengers to Omaha this a. m.

Geo. A. Ashmun, who is with H. A. Waterman & Son this city, was a passenger to Lincoln this morning.

Capt. H. E. Palmer started this morning for Salina and other points in Kansas.

M. Bushnell, who has been visiting in Plattsmouth the last few days, went to Red Oak this morning.

Messrs. J. M. Roberts and J. M. Patterson were passengers for South Bend on No. 1 this morning.

Tommy Clark, one of Weeping Waters best young men is in Plattsmouth today.

Ernst Wagner, of the B. & M. offices in Lincoln is visiting Plattsmouth today.

D. E. Thompson, division superintendent of the B. & M., is in Pacific Junction and Plattsmouth today.

Mr. and Mrs. Collins and sons, of Falls City, arrived last evening and are visiting at Mrs. Dorrington's.

J. B. Mickle and lady, of Weeping Water, took in the Swedish Quartette last night.

Fred Hayes, formerly of the B. & M., and one of the most popular yard masters ever at this point, was on the K. C. this morning bound for Kansas City.

M. Morris, of Morris Bros., went out to Ashland on a business trip today.

G. E. Dean, the Oregopolis operator leaves today for Friendville to be gone a week or two.

Miss Minnie E. Coghlan returned from Omaha last evening after a short visit with friends and schoolmates.

Workmen's Benevolent and Relief Society.

The HERALD is glad to endorse an organization which has recently been formed in this city, and which is entitled as above. The organization is composed of those working at manual labor or skilled labor, and has for its object mutual aid; not a secret society, or a society for the purpose of agitation in labor circles or unions, but rather an organization to aid each other in sickness, extend aid to the family of any member in the event of the members death, and for self-improvement among themselves. The organization now numbers fifty members, who are in earnest in their work, and who all are a guarantee of the stability and good faith of the organization. They meet each week and have their organization complete, and have adopted their Constitution and By-Laws, which they propose having printed for their use.

The officers of the society are: Master Workman—W. B. Short. Chief Clerk—J. McWilliams. Ass't Clerk—D. B. Smith. Paymaster—George Tuttlury. Time Keeper—Fred Ramsey. Gate Keeper—John Wayman.

Who's Right. The Plattsmouth HERALD warns the citizens of that town to look out for sand-baggers and sluggers after dark, as the city is over-run with roughs and thieves.—Exchange.

The Plattsmouth HERALD might be in better business than advertising our town in such a light. Plattsmouth is not "over-run" with "roughs and thieves," but as far from it as she ever was. The only "roughs and sluggers" about are those who live in the vicinity and are known to the police, and can be taken care of. There has been no cases of sand-bagging in our city, and the police is showing unusual vigilance in preventing disorder. Sand-baggers and thieves will find no soft thing if they foot around Plattsmouth.—Journal.

The HERALD did say that there were roughs and roustabouts in Plattsmouth, and that there were a number of them. We say it again. We say it again with authority of all ears who ought and perhaps do know whereof they speak. On last Saturday night and Sunday more than a dozen persons were stopped on the streets by able bodied men, well dressed men, clear eyed, asking for money. Almost every day the services of the police are needed, but the police are as scarce about that time as the Journal would have us believe the "roughs and sluggers" are; and the assistance of the sheriff or night watch is generally required to make an arrest even of an almost helpless drunken man. There are—at present—a lot of roughs and loafers around town who care nothing for the police, they generally do about as they please, and loud profane talk on the streets is of common occurrence. If the roughs are so well known to the Journal's pet police and can be taken care of, isn't it about time they were choked off a little. We are glad however to know there is no soft thing in Plattsmouth for this class of people.

At the Japanese tea party to be given at Rockwood hall by the ladies of the Presbyterian church, many attractive features are being prepared to enliven the occasion; an art gallery will be among the features of note. A Japanese lady from a distance will be present. Sweets will be served, and each one partaking will be presented with a Japanese cup and saucer, Supper, 35 cents; admission to hall, 10 cents; children, 5 cents.

Louisville Locals.

J. W. Griffin's youngest child was buried Saturday. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Robinson, and was largely attended.

Phillip Huber has dropped the building business, and when not too busily engaged in his store he will amuse himself by selling lightning rods. He and H. Pankovine have formed an alliance, and have started a couple of wagons loaded with conductors.

Last year B. G. Hoover promised the purchasers of platform binders that all the improvements suggested by last year's test would be furnished free this year. Now Ben is discounting G. Washington by furnishing an entirely new and improved machine to replace the old one.

Lute Boedeker has completed his building and moved to town. His meat market will be in running order in a few days.

Mrs. Vinton, of Omaha, is visiting relatives in Louisville.

Burglars gave us a specimen of their handiwork Saturday night. They broke into Ossenkop's saloon and took out about ten dollars in cash, a revolver and about five dollars' worth of pool chips. This house-breaking enterprise is getting monotonous.

Tom Urwin has been indulging in a great many dignified airs of late, all on account of the possession of a new baby. This is Tom's thirteenth responsibility.

John A. McMurphy was a welcome visitor to our town last week. It is said that Mac's visit meant business. We hope he will make another call and stay longer.

S. A. Mitgrim says his partner over-drew his dues from the firm and skipped out last week, leaving him to foot the unpaid bills. Too bad.

Ben Hoover went goose hunting. Ben is big, and he fell on the railroad track with much force. The fall discharged both barrels of his gun, broke the hammers and discouraged Ben. No damage to the track to speak of, and the coroner will not sit on Ben's body yet awhile.

The beautiful opera, "Laila," was rendered in a very creditable manner Saturday evening by Mrs. Wilkinson and class representing fairies and mountain children. Miss L. E. Waterman as "Laila," and Miss Minnie Engel as "Fairy Queen," deserve special mention. The performance closed with solos and duets by Mrs. Wilkinson and Mrs. Cotton.

The Missouri Pacific time is faster than the B. & M., and Mr. McGill beats them both, for he celebrated Easter a week in advance of the rest of us. Like Adam, he said the woman was to blame, and he did eat.

SKEDUNK.

The Swedish Quartette fully sustained their well deserved reputation last night, on their first appearance before a Plattsmouth audience. The audience, a very fair one, was composed of the elite of the city, whose appreciation of the entertainment was expressed by the encores which prevailed at the close of each number on the programme. The singing of the four ladies without the support of an accompaniment of any sort, displayed an attainment in harmony and a concert of intention acquired only by long practice and a thorough familiarity with the work in hand. At times it seemed to proceed more from some perfectly tuned instrument than from the throats of four separate individuals. The recitations of Eda Eliel were gracefully rendered in a manner peculiar to herself, and were enthusiastically received. She is certainly an artist in the profession.

One number was given which was not on the programme, being the rendition of "Lochiel's Warning," by Mr. Geo. Graybill, which was artistically done. Mr. Graybill, as has before been announced, is in Plattsmouth for the purpose of organizing classes in education and vocal culture, and his exhibition last night is a sufficient guarantee to the people of Plattsmouth that he is what he represents himself to be.
