A. Sullisbury, Dentist.

Matild Fletcher at the opera house tonight.

Two of the notable improvements in the first ward this year will be the new residences of Messrs Leonard and McLaughlin.

The fire boys were out for a little exercise and drill last evening, and trotted up and down Main street to their heart's content.

John Monath the affable barber who succeeded Ed Morley in the Merges basement is already doing a good business; his work commends itself.

Mrs. Eaton's new house adjoining the Christian church is nearly completed, and it is a valuable addition to the resident portion of the city in that vicinity.

The inclemency of the weather gave a deserted appearance to Main street today, and the usual number of street loafers have been housed up some place all day.

The new brick on Main street being built by Lefe O'Neil is up to the roof and presents a creditable appearance. It is in appearance a duplicate of the Lehnhoff building.

Three companies of regulars from the St. Louis bar, acks passed through Louisville on the Missouri Pacific this morning on their way to Fort Walla Walla, Washington Territory.

Yesterday the weather was such, that visions of palm leaf fans and ice cold drinks began to rise up, but today an overcast and sultry hot bill the bill more satisfactorily.

Four new houses over in the first ward have been commenced the last week, and a number of other parties have secured lots for dwellings in the south part of the city which will be commenced at an early day.

Mr. Schindler is hard at work on the walls around his lot on Chicago avenue, where he will build himself a new house. The location is central, and when Mr. Schindler completes his present plans he will have one of the handsomest places in the city.

Several curiosities have been obtained for the Art Loan exhibition too late to get into the printed catalogue, among which are a Japanese idol over 1000 years old, a cup and saucer that belonged to Mrs. Hayes and several other antiquities more than 300 years old.

A new counterfeit dollar is in circulation, it has the same weight and appearance of the genuine dollar, and has a good ring. It is said to resist the acid test until the outer coating has been penetrated, and would readily be taken as genuine. A number of them have been discovered in the treasury.

W. J. Hesser left a handsome little bouquet of flowers at this office, today, and the business manager promptly gobbled it. He protested of course, and claimed a half interest at least, but the claim was rejected, and the last we saw of that bouquet it was well it didn't stay at the office, and we couldn't see the name to whom it was addressed.

In the matter of the application to vacate the warrant under which Jim Woodson was arrested a few days ago, the county court decided that he had no jurisdiction in the matter, and no power to dismiss proceedings which had been commenced in the district court, consequently dismissed the motion. Crites & Ramsey argued for the motion, and M. A. Hartigan against it.

The skating rink was the center of attraction last evening, and one of the largest and nicest crowds that have filled the rink since it was opened, were having a general good time. It is pretty vigorous exercise, and plays had havoc with the paint and frizzes that find their way in there. Among our ladies there are a number of graceful skaters, but they sit down on the floor occasionally just as hard as any body.

Conductor English had charge of the train that bore the Hastings murderers back to that city from Lincoln. He says Ingraham and Green were a tough looking crowd, and Babcock but little better. When they arrived at Hastings, the trio were well frightened at the immense crowd that were at the depot, and the excitement was at a high pitch. Coming back from Red Cloud, English was not surprised to hear of the deed, and says one of the two who were hung attempted to pry, but the other kept silent and died game. Babcock, who pleaded guilty, promised to implicate others and he is now in jail on probation.

Take Notice. We will receive Gaff & Fleishman's compressed yeast every Tuesday and Friday mornings, fresh, at Bennett & Lewis.

Personal.

Mrs. A. E. Read went to Omaha this morning.

Mrs. Spurlock and son returned from Louisville this morning.

Mr. C. Brekenfeld, of Louisville, is in the city today looking after a business place.

Rev. J. T. Baird went to Blue Springs today to attend the Presbytery in session at that place.

R. G. McFarland, of South Bend, is in the city today and gave the HERALD office a pleasant call.

Mr. Will Rogers, of Irontown, Ohio, arrived in the city last evening and is the guest of Charley Duke.

Wm. Neville and Bob Fitzgerald started this morning for their work on the Tecumseh, Beatrice extension of the B. & M.

D. H. Wheeler arrived home last evening from Iowa City, where he accompanied Myron Wheeler who is attending a school of photography in that city.

"Uncle" Sam Barker, one of the big cattlemen of Cass county, is in the city, we presume looking for three and four year old steers.—State Journal.

Our popular young friend, Dave Baum went down to Plattsmouth yesterday to take a position in the First National Bank at that place.—State Journal.

W. B. Hambley, of the C. E. & Q., but who has lately tendered his resignation with that company, was on the train today en route for Santa Fe his new field of labor.

Mr. T. B. Clark and wife, of Papillion, have arrived in the city where they henceforth make their home. Mr. Clark enters the law practice here, forming a partnership with District Attorney Strode. Both Mr. and Mrs. Clark are former Plattsmouth young folks and the HERALD welcomes them home again.

R. D. Stearns, one of Lincoln's five attorneys is in the city today attending to a Sunday school case that came in from the west end of the county. Mr. Stearns found time to send his way to this office and swap stories with the business manager over their respective virtues and relish events that transpired at Nebraska City during convention days last fall.

Old Settlers.

Our registry lists contain the names of three voters who were born in Nebraska, viz: Geo. W. Sroat, one of the proprietors of the Optic, twenty-one years of age, born in Nebraska City; S. M. Kendall, twenty-one years of age born in Plattsmouth, and Plater, twenty-six years of age, born in Otoe county. The oldest inhabitant, according to the registry list, is Elder Platte, who has spent over thirty years in Nebraska. The next oldest is Major John Beth, who has been here only twenty-eight years. There are several names of persons on the list who trod the soil of Nebraska for the first time a quarter of a century ago.—Lincoln Journal.

Matilda Fletcher will lay down the "Law of Happiness" at the opera house tonight. She has been in the lecture field ten or twelve years, during which time she has met with marked success. We have not had a lecture in Plattsmouth this season, and the one tonight gives promise of considerable interest and instruction, as well as an opportunity to laugh. The following synopsis of the lecture recommends it.

Character; Success; The Heart of Man; The Happy Couple; The Old Fashioned Bride; Time for Courtship; The Considerate Lover; The Family Club; Wedding Anthem; Your Future—What Shall It Be? The Man We Love; Query—Does Education Educate?

Listen to the Omaha Republican—"Omaha is the only prominent city that elected a republican mayor. Evidently Chas. are scarce." How long has Omaha been "the only prominent city?" Plattsmouth and Lincoln both elected republican mayors, and both claim some prominence as cities. Some of Omaha's prominence is prominent like a white wart on a "nigger's" face would be—you could tell that it was there, but wasn't a very big thing after all.

The Workmen's Benevolent and Relief Society.

Mr. Editor:—Having noticed an article in the Journal of Monday, speaking of the Workmen's Benevolent and Relief Society, I would like to ask the writer a few questions: First, Is the society a branch of another society? Second, Are all persons eligible? If not, where is the line of distinction? For surely if he is a workman he will answer in the affirmative. Third, Is the society incorporated? If so, their acts are legal. And again, if there should be an accumulation of funds, what is their intention—to hoard it up, or to scatter it broadcast to the suffering poor outside of their society? What are the teachings of the institute? I should judge from what I can learn that their aim is a high one and of noble impulse, but care must be taken or it may be turned into a disturbing element to force some extreme measure. It seems to me that the persons that instigated it have made a great effort to combine labor, for they reach down to the lowest and elevate him, and make him equal to the highest. That one fact is sufficient to command the good wishes and respect of any community, and if such be their aim certain it is that there is a brilliant and prosperous future before them. Having said so much I will await the answers to my questions, and subscribe myself
