A. Sullabury, District.

The Louisville pottery is in full blast.

The river at noon today stood 6 ft 6 in above low water mark.

Street Commissioner McCann is doing good work on the streets.

The sale of mail-carried express packages begins tomorrow in Omaha.

It is rumored today that we are to have another school down in the old E. & M. house.

The examination of graduates begins today, the first subject taken up being algebra.

City improvements are booming and Plattsmouth will note the improvement stick way up towards the top this year.

A larger audience witnessed the rehearsal of the Fairy Queen Saturday night than many of the traveling troupes get at their entertainments.

The past week brought with it a large acreage of corn planted in Cass county, and the agricultural bird is assuming quite an altitude in old Cass' farmament.

The state board of equalization will meet at the office of the auditor of public accounts, in Lincoln, Nebraska, on Friday, May 11th, 1888, for the purpose of assessing railroads.

Jos. McVey opened his place of business today after the court had rendered its decision in the remonstrance case. It is the general verdict of all that Joe has kept a well regulated saloon and has not knowingly violated the law.

The Opera house has been engaged for the graduation exercises, which occur on Friday evening, the 15th. Essays, orations, instrumental and vocal music are in course of preparation. Mr. Robert Livingston is the valedictorian.

Mr. Samuel Harris and Miss Gussie Howard were united in marriage at the M. E. church yesterday morning. They took the sleeper for Chicago on their wedding tour last evening. The Herald extends congratulations, and wishes them a happy journey through life.

The celebrated case of Eliza Pettit vs. Sheriff Hyers, M. McElwain and others is on trial today to a jury in the district court. This complaint of Mrs. Pettit is that she was wrongfully jailed by the officers when she was forcibly ejected from the premises in dispute. Damages only $10,000.

The Anna Strenny, who has been in jail for some time in the local city hall, is at last discharged, the grand jury failing to indict him. The poor fellow wants to go to his mother, who lives in Virginia, whom he says is the only person who has any influence over him during his hydrophobic fits.

The thermometer this afternoon stood a way up near the top some place, yet there was one man in town who walked up and down the hot side of the street with an overcoat on, buttoned up to his neck. It may be the poor fellow had no underwear or shirt on, and had to wear the overcoat. We sympathize with him, anyhow, and will suggest to him that he trade the overcoat for a duster.

In the district court this morning Judge Pond in passing upon the appeal in the case of Jos. McVey who was granted license by the city council, said after a careful examination of all the testimony certified from the trial he was of the opinion that the law was low to the district court, he did not think the appeal could be sustained under the law and consequently his honor dismissed the same sustaining the action of the city council. This leaves Mr. McVey in possession of his license and settles the question for the present.

A cow is a great benefit when in her proper place. It does seem that there should be some remedy to prevent cows from eating up people's early vegetables, carrying off people's gates, and breaking down fences. All this might be endured, but when these same cows wear bells, so the owners can laugh at their neighbors annoyance as they hear the gentle trinkle of the bell and know their cow is munching up their neighbor's cabbage and driving sleep from the household, is too much for human endurance. Is there any remedy for this nuisance?

"Vox Populi" was read with interest last Saturday, and caused some of the boys who were on the jury to call around to find the name of the Vox Pop who thinks the jury could not read, in the Holmes-Baley case. We told them that "Vox" had "Popped" out, and was busy engaged in hocking his own bed which he had neglected, to write for "the column," and the boys thought he had better confine his talents to the propagation of bulbous roots. One of them suggested the Herald in its rush of business had let the other fellow get in some work on that column, viz: "Vox Diabell."

The celebrated case of Jacob Levey vs. Levi Golding, was concluded in the District court on Saturday night. The jury rendering a verdict in favor of Golding for the sum of $311.50, and found that the right of property was in Jacob Levey for the amount of the goods purchased in Omaha amounting $117.50, and also the value of certain jewelry. The case elicited a considerable amount of interest on account of the eccentricity of the parties interested, they displaying all the peculiarities of "God's chosen people." Messrs. Morrison and Yaonatis appeared for plaintiff, and Messrs. Beeson & McIntosh for defendants.

PERSONALS.

Bill Greenlate, of Elmwood, came in this morning to attend court.

Warren Coon, of South Bend, a noble son of Vulcan is in town this morning.

Mr. E. J. Moger, a prominent citizen of Harvard, is in the city today on legal business.

Misses Emma and Tillie Funk, two of Lincoln's charming young ladies, are in the city today.

Oliver Ward and Marion Ward, the hardy men, of Louisville, came in this morning to attend court.

Jap Smith of the surveyor general's office went to Falls City this morning to show them how to survey and lay off a race track.

Henry Saxe, Esq., brother of Elias Saxe, of this city, returned to his home in Peoria, Ill., after spending a week in Plattsmouth.

Mrs. J. W. Barnes returned to her home in this city this morning after visiting with friends in Weeping Water for the past week.

George Huber, of the firm of Huber Bros., of Louisville, one of the largest property holders in that burg, came in today to attend court.

C. A. Baldwin and Walter Bennett, Esqrs, of Omaha, are in attendance at the district court, engaged in the case of Eliza Pettit vs. R. W. Hyers, et. al.

D. D. Johnson and Dave Woodard, the rival livery men of Weeping Water, returned to Plattsmouth today to attend to their duties at the district court.

Mr. Ed Baum returned from Lincoln this morning with his eye much improved. There evidently must be something in Lincoln which is good for sore eyes.

A. B. Smith and Lafayette Gilmore, civil engineers for the B. & M. in Neb., went this morning to Reynolds, Thayer county, for the purpose laying off an addition to that enterprising village.

A. B. Todd, Esq., county commissioner, will go this evening to Avoca to bring a man from that village to the county house who has been suffering with inflammatory rheumatism.

Billy Agnew returned this morning to the ranche of Parmele, Atwood, Agnew & Co., in Cass county, where they have over 1000 head of fine cattle, which they expect to increase to 1500 head, soon.

SOUTH BEND LETTER.

SOUTH BEND, NEB., May 6, '88. All is quiet at the Bend, save the wind, which has been on a rampage all day. Nearly everything loose has been blown away; but few persons have hazarded their lives by venturing out of the street. Your correspondent, who is not noted for corpulence, has been wise enough to stay in doors, consequently this letter.

Dr. A. L. Root and son Dr. R. D. Root have moved to the Bend. We are sorry to lose Dr. Stewart, but are fortunate in securing physicians who will fill his place so well. Dr. Stewart and family and T. D. Look and family move to Oregon this week.

M. Seal, the principal of our schools, has become a denizen of the Bend. His wife arrived from Ohio two weeks ago.

Mr. Gouldsmith our milkman, moves to Nebraska city this week, where he will deliver milk to the citizens of the city.

Messrs. Laura McFarland and Maggie Straight came in from their school Friday evening to spend Sabbath in the Bend.

Dan W. Coffey goes to Plattsmouth this week, where we believe he has a situation in a drug store. We did not ask Maggie, but believe he will visit the Bend occasionally.

Will Straight at present is engaged on a conundrum; it is how Providence can separate two of the same mind. Miss Cornelia will be missed by more than Will, as she has been the accomplished organist of the congregational church in the Bend, for some time.

Our hardware and implement man Geo. Hay, has sold several hundred dollars worth of farm implements this spring.

Our butcher makes his regular trips to Elmwood on Fridays. Those wanting meat on his route will do well to call on him, as he is a first class butcher.

A number of the Bendites will be in Plattsmouth this week to attend the trials of Sharp and Kanef.

R. R. Indices. The Syracuse correspondent of the Lincoln Journal has the following: Senator Teft, of Cass county, was in town yesterday, feeling our representative men in regard to a new railroad. The line of the new road most talked about is as follows: Beginning at Plattsmouth, thence southwest by Avoca, Syracuse, Sterling, Beatrice, Fairbury to the Kansas line, connecting with the Diagonal or Wisconsin, Iowa & Nebraska railroad.—Nebraska City News.

The "pot is a boiler," and if this Diagonal wishes to pierce the enterprising prosperous territory of Nebraska, the way is open for this road to pass through this rich section of country. If it doesn't prove itself equal to the propitious circumstances which Dame Fortune is now holding out, other capital and other enterprises are at hand to take up this line of rail road and build it. Remember a railroad ought to be and will be built from the Missouri river southwest into Kansas, and that it will leave the Missouri river at the mouth of the Platte and travel by the way of Avoca, Syracuse, Sterling, Beatrice, Fairbury, and then south into the valley of the Arkansas.

The telephone company have issued a new revised directory and placed in the hands of their patrons. Plattsmouth is now connected with Ashland, Arlington, Blair, Council Bluffs, Elkhorn City, Fremont, Greenwood, Lincoln, Omaha, Papillion, Springfield, South Bend and Waverly.

The Central Restaurant has removed up stairs in the Herold-Todd building, one door east of the court house. The dining hall is in every way a model of neatness and comfort, well ventilated, and finely furnished seating room for fifty persons at a meal. It is the aim of the proprietor to make the Central the bon-ton place of this city. Special rates to families wishing to secure day board. For terms apply at the Restaurant Dining Parlor. S. W. 2593d. Mrs. F. B. McCarty.

River Report.

As furnished officially to the War Department. The river at noon today, stood 6 ft. 6 in. above low water mark, showing a rise of 1 in. since noon yesterday.
