A. Salsburg, Dentist. Eli Perkins, at the Opera House, next Tuesday evening.

No admission to the Fairy Queen rehearsal tonight unless it is positively necessary.

L. A. Williams, the Glenwood tree man, will be in Plattsburgh Friday instead of today as heretofore advertised.

The old stones which have so long and faithfully served the public as a sidewalk in front of the county clerk's office have been taken up today, and a plank walk put down in its place.

After the completion of the G. A. R. which met last evening had concluded their labors, a short time was spent in swapping lies in which Samman and Shannon were the chief disputants.

Mr. M. R. Davey, of Lincoln has been granted a patent for some kind of mechanical lighting. It will be used in the center building of the State Capitol.

The Omaha and Nebraska City folks are greatly alarmed on account of the recent proceeding regarding the issuance in Plattsburgh. They are afraid that serious are being made to notify them that they can get anything they want, so long as they pay for it.

The commissioners received this morning a patient from Ayres for the county home. The unfortunate man has been suffering for a long time with inflammatory rheumatism and has been in a chair for some time on the county.

Mr. J. B. Wheeler this morning met with a very painful but not serious accident. In clearing some brush on the farm he went to pitch an old nail keg over the fence when a nail in the edge of the keg caught the second finger of his right hand penetrating clear through the fleshy portion of the finger.

The Fremont Herald chronicles the announcement that the Tribune is about to begin the publication of a daily, and in the same connection incidentally remarks that "the daily paper is a reflex of the growth and enterprise of a city; and if generously supported as they usually are when they deserve it they are a creditable representative of home interests and a valuable factor in advancing the city's prosperity."

The Journal, of last night, in that model local page which they dot on so much, doubtless feeling the need of a sensational article, took occasion to slander one of Plattsburgh's most prominent citizens, Dr. Jno. Black, by stating that five indictments had been found against him and that he had been fined $50 in each indictment.

The "Boss Crane" of the season struck town this morning. He brings information which has long been sought for by theologians and all others interested in a future state. He delivers the important information in the shape of a pamphlet, bearing the euphonious title, "The Devil and His Angels," who they are, where they came from, and what made them devils; by R. B. Godfrey, a minister of the Gospel.

The informant tells from Fairport, Kansas. We always thought there was something wrong in the "bleeding" state, but did not know that she was the renegade of the "Devil and His Angels." This settles it; and explains many of the devilish acts recorded in the history of that state. He is an enterprising crank, and evidently expects to make money enough from his information to pay off old scores with his satanic Majesty when called upon to square up.

An exchange says, a Des Moines youth of about fifteen summers and probably the same number of winners, set out the other day for initial Pecock's bad boy. The boy was sent from a lower school room to that of the principal in the third story with a note from the teacher stating that he had been a very naughty boy and was therefore sent up for the purpose of receiving a taste of the principal's rawhide. The latter functionary being absent the boy sat down to meditate on his sins. In the meantime another bad boy was sent up stairs to receive the necessary licking. "King boy" number one for the principal, he delivered the paper of punishment. Bad boy number one promptly gathered up the raw hide and proceeded to fill the position of principal pro tem with all the vim of an old timer.

When through he sent bad boy number two back to his room and patiently waited himself to await the coming of the principal, who soon arrived. Bad boy number one then stated what he had done and patiently awaited for his own punishment, which was promptly administered in the usual style.

millinery line, in which they invite necessary examine of dress-makers, they have taken a vacation. Good-bye, boys, we'll see you later.

'Twas All a Joke.

Yesterday afternoon, during the trial of "Little Maul," a job was put up on an innocent and unsuspecting youth, which was successfully executed, and furnished considerable amusement to those who were let into the secret. The young man in question happened along the street, where several others were engaged in conversation, and he was notified that a subpoena had been issued for him in the above mentioned case, and that the officers were then in search of him for testimony on behalf of the state. He "wilted" at once, and proclaimed innocence of any personal knowledge or information of the matter at all, and wanted to know what he should do, as he didn't want to go to court. One of the boys very considerately offered his room as a hiding place, which was accepted, and our unsophisticated young friend forthwith made a start. He referred to Vine street to Main street for his promenade. On his way from Main to Vine he encountered another young man, who caught the idea and stopped him to give him some more voluntary information, and at the same time said that there was a subpoena out for himself, and that he would serve it on him and get him into a couple of weeks. Mrs. P. O'Donohue and family, sister of Judge O'Donohue, of this city, returned to Blair this morning, after visiting in this city for some weeks.

J. M. McNameara, advance agent of Haverly's Comic Minstrels, was in the city last evening and made arrangements with Manager Young to have them appear at the opera house on Saturday night the 19 inst. No one should fail to see them.

Mrs. P. expresses herself as highly pleased with her visit among the scenes of her childhood, but is glad to return again to Plattsburgh, where she will be highly welcomed by her many friends.

Haverly's Minstrels. Haverly's minstrels opened last night. The opera house was crowded with a brilliant audience, many people being present who had not seen the minstrel entertainment other than that which Mr. Haverly's name, as manager, guarantees to be not only of the highest order of artistic excellence, but entirely free from anything that could be construed as offensive. Mr. Haverly's mode of everything new was indeed fully carried out. We will not attempt to individualize, but will simply say in general eulogy any thing in the line of minstrel shows that has ever traveled. They keep the entire audience in raptures of laughter from beginning to end, and a happier or more pleased gathering never left a theatre. —Columbus Journal.

The hot weather has arrived, but none too soon for the enterprising firm of Hat & Co. They have recently placed in their market two very commodious and well equipped refrigerators, one very large, one for quarters, and the other for steaks and smaller cuts. They were offered $200 per cow for a seven months old calf, which they refused. Fine cattle are getting to be appreciated by the farmers of old Cass.

A new wooden trough has been put in on the south side of Main street at the crossing of Fifth to carry the water from the street into the creek.

The city clerk turned over to the city treasurer to-day the $8,000 for school funds, and the school fund rejoiceth exceedingly.

The pay car made its appearance this afternoon and distributed the "filthy" to the railroad boys.

Please remember that for the next 60 days you can get great bargains in boots and shoes and clothing, as I must have my stock in those lines, without fail. (44411) Jos. V. WECKBAUM.
