Mr. Guy Smith, at his birthday party, the other evening, was presented with a large number of very fine presents, from his young friends who were there.
Among them were several very nice books, a number of games, and a fine silver napkin ring.

Last evening the drawing for the chair left over from the Catholic Fair, was had in Judge O'Donohoe's office.
The numbers were put in a hat and after a thorough shaking up, one was drawn out which proved to be 71, on consulting the book it was found M.
O'Connor was the holder of that number, him; it is a fine one and Mike appreciates well as walking several blocks, to call upon us to bring home a small pair of scissors we had carelessly left lying on his table when calling upon him the evening before—said he "I thought perhaps you might experience some al-trouble in getting your Daily out today, ah—without these implements of ah—your profession." While we were looking for the hatchet, in the next room, the Dr. disappeared, and we have not since been able to see him, although the return of the scissors has been men-

The passenger train going west has

THE COMING PRIZE FIGHT.
Mitchell and Slade to Meet on an Island in the Missouri.
The Island Located.

The HERALD promised some light on the prize fight that the dispatches have stated would occur on an island in the Missouri, between Omaha and Kansas City, and which Nebraska City papers have been trying to fool people into believing would occur near that place.
Your reporter has been detailed for several days to get at the bottom of this contest, and with remarkable success.
The location of the fight is fixed upon Gregg's Island, two miles below this city. After several days search up and down the river, this was found to be the spot, and was accordingly selected.
It is easy of access from the Iowa shore, is uninhabited and unsuspected in every respect. Yesterday morning, at an early hour a boat might have been seen, had any one been up to see, dropping down the river, from the foot of Main street, it drifted with the current. Seated in the prow might have been seen a gentleman wearing a white plug hat, dressed in a business suit of dark grey, wearing mutton chop whiskers upon a most resolute face, seated in the stern of the boat, guiding its course with an oar sat your reporter. The run down to the island was made in a remarkable short time, and after fastening our boat to a drift log on the shore, your reporter, followed by the sporting gentleman, made a detour of the island. Down near the south part of the island, a place exactly suited for the event was found; it was a solid piece of sward, entirely free from underbrush, and embraced several acres as level as the floor of the HERALD office. All around this was a dense willow growth that excluded the view from every direction and it is doubtful if a more secluded place could have been found in the west. "This is exactly the place" remarked my companion as he stopped to light a cigar. "I was down at Mississippi City attending Sullivan's great trial, and this is a far superior place, Mr. Fox, and the boys in New York will be jubilant over the success of my trip," and my companion rubbed his hands in glee, as though he already saw the combatants face to face and ready for business. After this, stakes were driven to mark the places for the ring and the limit line for spectators was marked, when another detour of the island was made to secure a suitable landing on the Iowa side of the island. A suitable place found, your reporter watched his companion tear his hankkerchief into strips and fasten them to the willows on the bank to mark the place. The boat was then taken for the home trip and if ever a reporter earned a reputation as an oar-man we did that thing, tacking up stream among the eddies on the Iowa shore, but the game was worth the work.

"Of course you expect this location to be made public" we remarked as about to part company in front of the Perkins house.
"Certainly, that can't be prevented," was his reply "but the time no man will know, until we drop down and its all over, and we're enroute to New York, however you shall know the exact time, and can be present." Thus assured your reporter strolled on, more than satisfied with his trip, and in hopes the HERALD will appreciate it also.

Mark Twain a R R Spring Patron.
[From the Colfax Clipper, Aug. 11, 1883.]
The following characteristic letter was handed us by W. T. Dart, Superintendent of the Magnetic Rock Spring Company, of Colfax, Iowa.—Ed. Clipper.
ELMIRA, N. Y., August 11, 1883.
To the Magnetic Rock Spring Co.
Dear Sirs:—I find the following in your advertising pamphlet:
"Our Magnetic Rock Spring is 335 feet deep, and has a flow of 5,000 gallons in twenty-four hours."
I note this paragraph, also:
"Our Magnetic Rock Spring Water
cures Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Constipation, Dropsy, Paralysis, St. Vitus' Dance, Delirium Tremens, Diabetes, Stomach, Ulcers, Female Blood Diseases, Scrofula, Leucorrhoea, Weakness and General Debility."
I do believe that is what is the matter with me. It reads just like my symptoms. Therefore, please send me, with bill, one barrel of your Magnetic Water, and if I like it I will take the rest.
Also, please instruct me as to dose—for adult. Also, what do you put with it? I mean, what do you put with it to divert your mind from observing that you are taking medicine? Will it go with temperance beverages? I mean, soda water, lemonade, punch, milk, whisky, and such things. I am thus strict because I am a Grandson of Temperance, my father having been a Son of Temperance. Temperance is deeply imbedded in our family. It is for this reason that I ask, and repeat, will it go with temperance beverages?
—will it go with the moisture I have mentioned? If with whisky, what portion of the water is to be combined with what disposition of whisky?
for an adult, as remarked before.
Yours, in alert expectancy,
MARK TWAIN.

INSTANT DEATH.
A Cass County Man Instantly Killed
at Ashland.
Yesterday afternoon the news reached this city of a sad accident at Ashland yesterday, about 11 a. m. resulting in the instant death of Aaron A. Fox, who lives south of that place. The particulars as we learn them are as follows:
The Knights Templar excursion was running wild ahead of Number one and was making no stop at Ashland, but was going through at a high rate of speed. Just at the west of the depot platform, is the main traveled railway crossing and here the accident occurred. Mr. Fox, not seeing the train, had just driven on the track the horses having passed over, when the engine struck the wagon, the box flying in the air and landing on the cab. Mr. Fox met instant death, the top of his head being cut clear off, and the body otherwise mutilated. Where the blame lies we have not learned, but the prevailing opinion is, that the train was running at a high rate of speed, and the buildings prevented the victim seeing its approach; certain it is, too much care cannot be exercised by the rail road company while running trains wild through towns along the line.

The State Fair.
The coming state fair will give most of our state people an opportunity to note the prosperity and progress of Omaha. Its new banks, churches, and hotels, its newly paved streets and its electric lights will be matters of great interest to the outsider.
During the week of the state fair railroad fares will be reduced and everything will be conducted on the cheap plan. As a consequence, many will take advantage of the time to make purchases in the metropolis, and to attend to other duties that can only be performed in the city.
Dr. A. S. Fishback will remain in Omaha during the fair. A large number of patients have signified their intention of attending the exposition, and will receive the doctor's attention here instead of at their homes, where he has been in the habit of treating them. This it will be a busy week for him, for, in addition to many old patients, it must be expected that he will be visited by hundreds of new ones. His fame is well assured. His constant and judicious advertising in the newspapers has secured him an acquaintance as the great west, and stories of his miraculous cures have spread with wonderful rapidity. The man who receives lasting benefit from his treatment is not so ungrateful as to hide the doctor's light under a bushel—he assists it to shine, in order that others may see it, and take advantage of the opportunity. He tells his neighbors, and the letters which he writes to his physician are filled with sincere and honest gratitude, which is the best advertisement in the world. Of these thousands of letters received, Dr. Fishback is able to publish only an extract now and then.
Dr. Fishback makes the treatment of chronic diseases a specialty, and we would advise all to consult him that suffer from nasal catarrh, that offensive and most prevalent of diseases, throat and lung diseases that often are forerunners of consumption, convulsions or epilepsy, nervous troubles, caused by youthful folly or excesses, loss of manhood, female troubles in all their ramifications, kidney and liver diseases, or all diseases arising from former improper treatment.
By consulting Dr. Fishback all will find him a genial, whole souled gentleman and a careful, conscientious physician, worthy of implicit confidence. d&w1t

[From the Colfax Clipper, Aug. 11, 1883.]
The following characteristic letter
per.
ELMIRA, N. Y., August 11, 1883.
To the Magnetic Rock Spring Co.
your advertising pamphlet:
"Our Magnetic Rock Spring is 335
I note this paragraph, also:
"Our Magnetic Rock Spring Water
cures Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Liver
Complaint, Constipation, Dropsy, Par-
alysis, St. Vitus' Dance, Delirium Trem-
ens, Diabetes, Stomach, Ulcers, Female
Blood Diseases, Scrofula, Leucorrhoea,
Weakness and General Debility."
rest.
milk, whisky, and such things. I am
ed with what disposition of whisky?
for an adult, as remarked before.
Yours, in alert expectancy,
MARK TWAIN.

at Ashland.
this city of a sad accident at Ash-
land yesterday, about 11 a. m. resulting
in the instant death of Aaron A. Fox,
who lives south of that place. The par-
lows:
was making no stop at Ashland, but
crossing and here the accident occur-
red. Mr. Fox, not seeing the train,
wild through towns along the line.

The coming state fair will give most
interest to the outsider.
road fares will be reduced and every-
performed in the city.
Dr. A. S. Fishback will remain in Omaha during the fair. A large num-
will receive the doctor's attention here
hundreds of new ones. His fame is
under a bushel—he assists it to shine,
only an extract now and then.
Dr. Fishback makes the treatment
hood, female troubles in all their ramifi-
proper treatment.
man and a careful, conscientious physician, worthy of implicit confidence. d&w1t
