GOVERNMENT is only a compact or words to that effect.

John C. Calhoun.

Government is nothing but a sort of Committee arrangement.

J. Sterling Morton.

The importation of Democratic presidential candidates in to the Iowa campaign has "woken up" the boys over there and they are coming out of the woods from all directions; 40,000 and upwards is the way the republicans are claiming the state just now.

Aspert, the democratic candidate for Governor of New Jersey, is having lots of trouble. Some prominent gentlemen in his own party refuse to support him, and he is roundly abusing them for it. The old democratic machine in New Jersey is creaking badly, and is liable to go to pieces.

In order that the Omaha Herald may not forget the fact and have to "run empties" - we desire to remind that some sheet that the representative from Stinking Water yet survives, and that the returns from that ballwick will soon be in, much to the edification of that religious organ.

As our government is only a committee affair, we suppose our anti-map o-y friends might just as well let the job of managing it out to Messrs. Miller, Morton, Savage, Hinman, "Tobe Caster," and the democratic railroad ring of the State to manage. They are organized into a pretty snug committee, and it will save the trouble and worry of organizing another committee, you know.

JUDGE REESE, for so we will soon have to call him was a prominent member of the constitutional convention which framed the constitution of Nebraska. He was one of the "big men" of the convention, and for the reason that that journal seems to have never heard of Reese before. However to that aristocratic anti-nopoly newspaper, all lawyers are obscure except those who reside in Omaha, vote the democratic ticket, and belong to the Herald's minority wing of that organization. Chase was an obscure nocompoop, yet he laid out the Herald's Goliath with his little air gun.

O'DONNELL, the slayer of informer Carey, states that he killed his man in a quarrel; that accidentally discovering the identity of Carey he denounced him to his face; a violent quarrel ensued, both parties drawing revolvers, it was simply a question of which man was the quickest, and Carey was killed. O'Donnell says he has witnesses who can substantiate what he, O'Donnell, says, in regard to the quarrel. Also, he says young Carey, the son of the informer, who testified at the preliminary examination in regard to the shooting, was not present, and did not witness the affray. Evidently O'Donnell intends making a fight for his life.

The democracy of New York placed Isaac H. Maynard at the head of their ticket for secretary of state. Mr. Maynard has been discovered to be a protectionist, consequently a large sized bolt has been organized against him already. When the committee on platform came to consider the tariff plank, Mr. Murtha, its chairman, said:

"There was so much difference of opinion expressed when we came to draw up the tariff plank, and the differences were so irreconcilable, that at last we decided that the safest course would be not to touch the subject at all."

The state platform is silent as to national affairs, taking no grounds whatever.

Having been frequently asked who the gentlemen nominated for regents of the state university are, we answer the inquiry by reproducing the following sketch of these four gentlemen from the Lincoln Journal:

Milton J. Hull, of Clay county, one of the candidates for regent of the university, is a native of Monroe county, Ill., born in 1841, and was bred a farmer. He received an academic and business education, served four years in the Fourth Illinois cavalry during the war, and after he was mustered out taught school for awhile. He settled in Nebraska on a homestead in Clay county in 1871. He removed to Sutton, in '76 becoming deputy county clerk, and soon after engaged in active business in the book and stationery line, and has been postmaster, besides publishing in 1879, the Edgar Review of which paper he is still editor.

John T. Mallier, of Buffalo county, also a candidate for regent for the fall term, was born in Maryland in 1852, and graduated from Dickinson college, Carlisle Pa. in 1876. He came immediately to Nebraska to seek a field of labor, and was principal of the Gibbons academy in Buffalo county for three years. In 1879 he was elected county superintendent common schools and still holds that position. Mr. Mallier is a finished scholar and no man stands higher in popular estimation in his section as an educator.

J. M. Hall, of Harlan, candidate for regent to fill the unexpired term of Hon. L. B. Field, resigned, is a native of Henry county, Ind. He was born in 1838, and was admitted to the bar in Newcastle in 1857, and settled down there in the practice of his profession. He enlisted as a private in the Nineteenth Indiana Infantry during the war, and when the war closed was captain in the 147th Infantry. He resumed the practice of law at Newcastle, and afterwards at Osceola, Ia. He settled at Alma, Harlan county, Nebraska, in 1878, and opened a law office at once. He is also the editor of the Alma Herald, and stands deservedly high in the Republican valley's estimation, which selected him with great unanimity as its representative on the board of regents.

Edward Holmes, of Pierce county, candidate for regent, to fill the unexpired term of Hon. Isaac Powers, resigned to take the office of Attorney General, is well known in this section of Nebraska. His boyhood was spent in Nebraska City. He entered the University of Nebraska soon after its opening, and graduated with the class of '77. For a time he was connected with journalism while he studied law. He was admitted to the bar soon after he was admitted in Lincoln as the partner of his friend and classmate, Hon. Allen W. Field, of this city. But seeking an opening farther west that promised more rapid advancement in his profession, he removed to Pierce two years ago, and is now a banker as well as a lawyer. Mr. Holmes has fine literary tastes and talents, and though only a little past thirty, has made a good reputation in letters as well as in business circles.

VALUE OF FEED CUTTERS.

From the corresponders gazette.
A correspondent asks advice as to the purchase and use of a feed cutter for corn-codder, etc. There seems little doubt that stock will utilize much coarser and bulkier for animals to make much out of when fed in the unprepared or uncut state, and the question as to whether it will pay to cut it, depends mainly upon labor considerations. If there is plenty of labor which can be profitably employed at something less than it will cost to cut it, it is better to employ it in cutting, and these are conditions which are not likely to cut feed when labor can be profitably employed otherwise. Cattle receiving a ration of meal of bran will give a better return for it if fed with a proportion of the hay or fodder. It is also so bulky that it goes entire to the first stomach and is raised for a few feet when labor can be profitably employed otherwise.
