The Commissioners' Court is in session the fore part of this week with a full board.

D. L. Blue, the newly promoted main line freight conductor, is moving his family to Lincoln today.

Rev. Mr. Burgess' parish school is very successful, both in numbers in attendance and in the interest taken by pupils.

Joe Ford has engaged the lumber, and will put a new floor in Fitzgerald's hall, which will give him a nobby risk.

We learn that Rieley Bros. several days ago sold their fine team and harness for $500, this is a good round sum even for so good a team.

South Auburn people are all excited over a $6,000 creamery, they are to have; the requisite building having already been contracted for.

The bar association have adopted a schedule of fees, which will be printed and followed in the different courts, from Police to Supreme.

In the replevin suit on trial yesterday between Dr. Meade and Mrs. Stull, a decision was reached for the defense.
 We are informed the case will be appealed.

Jerry Hartman attached some property of Mrs. Orr, on rent account, she replevined the same and yesterday Justice Newberry was busily engaged to see in whom the property legally vests.

The suspense in Iowa will soon be over. On next Tuesday we expect to see the "highly moral" democratic party of that State buried beneath a cyclone of republican ballots. We don't mean a cyclone for speed, but for herculean, unswerving strength.

We learn that Mrs. A. Spiers, a former citizen of this city, and a sister of W. R. Murray died at her home in Kansas last week; Mrs. Spiers had been ill for some time, one of her brothers here was going down this week to see her, not knowing that she was so bad, when he learned by letter the sad news.

A man up at Norfolk, in this State, offers to give $200 to any parties that will start a woolen factory, $100 for the establishment of a creamery, and $100 for the establishment of any other kind of a manufacturing enterprise.
 We wonder how many citizens of Plattsmouth feel as liberally inclined towards their town! From the number of our enterprises the general opinion would be that there wasn't many men of that class here.

Our friend M. McElwain has had the good fortune to receive the appointment of a railroad postal clerkship, on the U. P. between Omaha and Ogden. A more honest, capable, efficient officer, than Mac will make, we are certain could not easily be obtained.
 The HERALD congratulates M. McElwain on his promotion. His family will remain in Plattsmouth for the present, he coming here when off duty.

Wolves About.
 In the woods north of the city there are wolves whose howls make night hideous. There may be fine sport for our sporting men, in taking a wolf hunt. The configuration of the country is such that these woods could be easily surrounded, with men and dogs and these howlers are taken in.

We learn a very sad accident occurred at Akron on the B & M Sunday last. It seems a gentleman (whose name we could not learn) in company with his wife and four bright little ones was on the way from his home in the east to take a position on the B & M as ticket agent at some point on the western division. At Akron he got off the train and under took to cross the track ahead of an incoming engine when he was run down bruised and mangled in such a manner that he died yesterday from the effects of the injury. His helpless wife so far from home and friends was almost paralyzed with grief, and drew many a pitying tear from parties who were witnesses of the unfortunate affair, the company with their usual promptness in such matters furnished transportation for the wife and children to a place where they could be cared for, and they were man with her little cherubs, and started them towards their eastern home which they had so happily left only a few days before. The remains were forwarded by express at the companies expense.

We see from the Lincoln papers the announcement of the death of Elder John M. Yearshaw, he being found lifeless and alone in his bed on Sunday morning. Mr. Yearshaw was an old time minister in the christian church having often been called here on church matters he had formed the acquaintance of many of our citizens who will be sorry to learn of his sudden demise. We clip from the Lincoln News the following notice.

"Father Yearshaw," as he was familiarly known came to Lincoln from Iawa in 1879. He was a member of the Christian denomination and founder of that church and society in Lincoln. The present house of worship was erected principally under his direction. He was for several years, pastor of the society; respected as a devout and faithful believer in the professed religion, and devoted friend of the temperance cause. He was a member of the I. O.
 O. F., and under direction of that body, Undertaker Roberts was instructed to prepare the remains for interment. The funeral occurred this afternoon at 3 o'clock, from the Christian church.

The peculiar circumstances of his death rendered an inquest necessary, but the jury were unable to attribute his demise to any other than natural causes.

The following may sound a little rough to a few Weaver worshippers in Cass county, but that it is true no man acquainted with the Iowa canvass will deny:

"The base, intriguing and hobnobbing with the democratic party by Gen.
 J. B. Weaver the greenback candidate for President is being beautifully exposed by the true friends of the greenback party and the honest leaders of the anti-slavery movement. His duplicity and treachery to the cause of temperance, and his bargain and sale with the saloon democratic party has been laid bare, and the vote for the greenback ticket of Iowa is growing very small and beautifully less, by having such a corrupt leader."—Lincoln News.

From the complexion of the democratic delegation in the third ward, it is the general opinion, that the lie-on and the lambs have "lied" down together; whether there is to be a scriptural miracle enacted by the entire crowd living peacefully together, or whether the slaughter of the lambs will not begin in a few days, is now the query. We are of the opinion that nature will assert herself at the proper time.

A newcomer arrived here, yesterday at the residence of the German preacher. The visitor, it seems, can stand a little unpleasant weather. Strange, though a daughter of the Rev. and Mrs.
 J. Wittenberger, they never seen her before, nor does the proud lady recognize anybody out here in the west. Believing such an entire stranger here, she needed an introduction by an old settler like Dr. Scholokuecht.

In answer to numerous anxious ques-ies, we city from an exchange the fact as to just how it started: "Old Mother Hubbard went to the cupboard to get her poor dog a bone, when she got there the cupboard was bare and so her poor dog got none. She was in a great suit to know what to do for money she had not a cent, so she sold her last suit to buy meat for the brute, and up town in her night gown she went.
 All the ladies who saw it and the string to draw it, declared it the nicest thing out, so now on the street, looking ever so sweet, in their gowns they go racing about."

The Union Pacific yesterday made an important reduction in first-class fares to San Francisco and Portland.
 The fare to San Francisco is now $95 and the rate to Portland, via the Oregon Short Line is fixed at the same figure. This is a reduction of $20 from the former rate to Portland, which was $115. These rates are from Omaha or Council Bluffs, St. Joseph, Kansas City or Leavenworth. The second class fare to Portland is lowered from $55 to $75, and emigrant from $55 to $45.—Republican.

The first bridge on Main street west of Capt. Palmer's has been finished and the grade completed so that the crossing for teams is very good. Many of the west end people have already been using the new street.

The losses in the last week by wholesale clothiers who have made assignments amounts to almost a million dollars.

In Memoriam.
 The funeral obsequies of Mrs. A. P.
 Stout, whose death has previously been announced, took place on Saturday atternoon from the family residence.
 A large concourse of sympathizing friends met to pay their mournful tribute to one so dearly loved, who will be sadly missed by many aching hearts outside her own beloved circle. Her long illness and patient sufferings had enlisted the sympathies of the entire city.

The beautiful floral offerings that decorated the parlors and elegant cas-et that was so soon to hide from our sight that loved form and face, calm, peaceful, almost radiant, in its sweet repose, were all loved tender misadventures, and bleaded in sweetest harmony with the low, soft notes of the piano, and the tender, trembling notes of the singers, as they sang her favorite songs of faith and trust.

The precious words of the loving master as they fell from the lips of the minister, saying, "Let not your hearts be troubled," "Whoever liveth and believeth," then he told us of the many mansions where Jesus with his own soft hand shall wipe all tears away, "and there shall be no death there," no sighings, no heart-aches, no sufferings, no partings. Then in words of burning eloquence of the triumphs of the spiritual over the carnal—of the greatness of the human soul—of God's great love for those who put their trust in Him. Like a heavenly benediction those soothing words fell on our aching hearts, calming and soothing us, even while the blinding tears refused to cease their flow; for we know our dearing sister walked in close communion with her Savior for many years—not weary years—for life with her, though off in physical pain and weakness, was a happy reality, and his cheerful radiance lightened many sad hearts. She loved to gladden the homes of the poor and destitute with her gifts for Christian's sake, and many a lowly cottage echoed back her tender, pleading prayers, for the sinning and suffering ones. She dearly loved the society of the pure and godly, and the church, with its hallowed associations, were her dear delight.

Her intense love for her own precious family—her husband and children made every service rendered them an exquisite pleasure, her last thought and prayer were for them. While the death dews gathered on her tender forehead, and the eyes grew dim to earthly vision she called her heart broken husband to "look through, look through, don't you?" When asked what she saw, she said, "Oh, the beautiful groves, and Cousin Laurinda," a cousin who died many years ago. Her fine appreciation of all that is good and beautiful found expression many times during her life, in rare bits of poetry—the last of which was written on her sick bed some weeks before her death and as it spoke so directly to us of her loving trust—our Bro. Hardman read it with such pathos as only subdued emotion can give to eloquence. Thinking that many friends would love to keep it as a gift from her, we ask you to insert it here.

I know I am not fit, dear Lord,
 To enter thy pure land, But Oh, my Savior died for me, Dear Father, take my hand.
 Yes, take my hand dear Father,
 And make me strong to bear The pain, the disappointment, The weakness and the care.
 The flesh is weak, dear Father, I want so much to live;
 Oh, make me strong to trust thee,
 And resignation give.
 Oh, hold my hand dear Father,
 And lead me all the way To health, if thou dost will,
 Or through the silent way.
 I do not fear the shadows—Thy hand will keep me safe, And Jesus, too, will meet me I know, with smiling face.
 For I have trusted in him, My sins he takes away,
 So he will smile upon
 And lead the sinning way.
 Oh, blessed transformation From weakness and from sin, Each day my heart is pained most sore, Because it reigns within.
 But there, all pure and holy With loved ones gone before, In wondrous field of pleasure To live forever more.

In a beautiful spot in Oak Hill cemetery we laid her away with the glad hope.

"That only a few more years, It may be days—who knows—'Till our poor aching hearts May find that sweet repose;
 And her bright radiant face Will with the seraph band, Be first to greet us in her home—That beautiful fatherland."

If M. B. Reese isn't a stronger, abler and better man, in every respect, than Rosewater's demoted, Mayor, who so signally defeated the great Harvard graduate, at the last election, it is patent a mistake was made in his nomination. We are confident in our belief, however, that what little there is left of Nebraska, outside of Omaha, will not grow lonely in voting for Judge Reese, but that the metropolis may be expected to do its full share towards his election.

The Commissioners in session are transacting a large amount of business, and closing up county work as rapidly as possible. There yet remains three solid months' work at bridges, which Walter White will hurry through as rapidly as possible.

The stringers are being mortised onto the piling on the Fifth street bridge, today, but the crowd isn't so attentive as it was during the operations of the pile driver.

PERSONALS.
 Henry Inhelder, of Cedar Creek is in the city today.
 Mrs. Krenzer was an Omaha passenger this morning.
 W. S. Stretch came in last night, the family, we learn will follow this week.
 Mr. Finley and Mr. Nathan, of the Philadelphia store, are in Fairmont today.
 General Stevenson arrived in the city fresh from his Richardson county home.
 Wm. Neville went to Chester today which is the seat of his railroad operations.
 Willie Cleghorn, one of Louisville's energetic young men is in the city on legal business.
 John O'Keefe came in from the west last night, and left this morning for a brief trip in Iowa.

C. L. Bates, the South Bend druggist is looking after business matters in the county seat today.

For Gorder went to Burlington this morning; vigorous pumping failed to elicit the object of his trip.

W. S. McGowan, of the surveyor general's office, went southward this morning to see the Little Mac's and the madam in Richardson county.

Mrs. Thomas Carter, of Salt Lake City, Utah, arrived in the city last night, and will visit for a week or two with her sister, Mrs. M. B. Murphy.

The HERALD learning that Col. Joe Roberts had forsaken the Drug store, in Union block, and was carrying his head so high common folks could not obtain the usual bland and hearty greeting, called around to find out what was the matter, and see if our boss druggist was actually "getting off his base." The boys there told us to never mind, it would be all right, and that there would be plenty of cigars when Joe got down to business again; that Joe Roberts, Jr., had come to town, and Joe Sr. was consequently wearing his high-heeled boots. Dr. Livingston says it is a fine boy, and that the mother and father are very happy. The HERALD extends congratulations.

This is the season of the year when the sportsman counts his ducks, and then goes after them; like chickens, its
