Miss Lydia Harris, of Chicago, has written Mrs. Simpson in this city, regarding her holding a series of piano recitals in this city. Miss Harris writes that she comes to Omaha to give a series of recitals there, and would be pleased to visit Plattsmouth on a like mission. The programme Miss Harris submits is a classical and elaborate, and she is known as one of the finest pianformer editor and proprietor, has been succeeded by Mr. C. A. Ho-mor, recently of Clinton, Ill. In saluting patrons and public the newly installed proprietor remarks, that the Chief will continue to preach republicanism by a editor financially in order to publish a good paper.

THE SPORTSMEN'S CLUB.

Arrangements for the Annual Hunt.

The sportsmen's club met at Smith & Beeson's office Saturday evening with the following members present: G. S.
Smith, Jones, Chapman, Bushnell, Hickey, C. H. Smith, Baker, Nages, Bennett, Matthews, Drummond, Carruth, Wise, Neville, Coffey.

A committee consisting of Jones, Chapman and Carruth, was appointed to make final settlement for glass balls, and clay pigeons used during the summer.

The question of holding the annual hunt was discussed at length and on motion, Thursday and Friday Nov. 1 and 2nd were selected as the days for the hunt the game count to be conclusive by noon of Saturday the 3rd; the game supper and banquet to be held the evening of the 3rd.

The following were appointed as a committee to superintend the count of the game—H. R. Livingston, L. D.
Bennett, J. G. Richey.

Messrs. Geo. S. Smith and W. D.
Jones were elected captains of the two teams for the hunt and were also appointed as a standing committee on the supper.

It was decided that each member participating in the hunt, be allowed to invite to the supper, in addition to himself and lady, one gentleman and lady the losing side in the hunt paying for the hunter's supper. The captains for the hunt selected the following teams:

W. D. Jones, Capt. G. S. Smith, Capt.
Chapman, Nages,
Bennett, Smith C. H.
Livingston, Strode,
Baker, Bushnell,
Hyers, Webber,
Matthews, Wise,
White F. E., Richey,
Black E. W., Coffey,
Crawford, Straight,
Agnew, Schidknecht,
Atwood, Jennings,
Neville, Lewis,
Eikenbary, Carruth,
Shryock.

Mr. E. F. Crampton, whose wife died in this city last July, found the following piece of poetry among some of the effects of the departed lady.

It seems Mrs. Crampton, in her girlhood days, had been a member of the same choir as Mr. Crampton, to which she doubtless refers in the verses below.
At the request of many friends we reprint the article referred to:

"I'll Watch For Thee."

I'll watch for thee up there, Within the pearly gate, I'll stand among the seraph band Who at the portals wait.

And as the ransomed throng With palms of victory come,
And pass the everlasting door,
To gain their heavenly home,

I'll mark with eagle eye The radiant spirits gleam, And gladly welcome every saint To the promised rest.

But when thy lot is freed From earthly toil and pain, And thou art ready to enter in,
With all the blessed train,

With bounding heart and hand I'll sweep my golden lyre, And rush to greet and welcome thee To eaven's rejoicing choir.

Then will I sing the song With blent heart and voice above, The song we used to sing on earth, O! Jesus' dying love.

We'll gather round the throne, Our best love ever sent,
And cast the crown we wrought for us, Adoring at His feet.

And with ten thousand more,
All purchased with His blood, We'll sing the evening and the strain To Christ, the Lamb of God.

Then wait and suffer on A few more years below, Sing yet awhile the song of earth, Though I from earth must go.

In Heaven I'll wait for thee, Wouldst thou art willing here,
My heart will still be joined to thine, I'll wait for thee up there.

Cuckie Burs.

Inasmuch as every farmer has raised more or less of cuckie burs this year, and from the fact that the same burs are very troublesome in becoming entangled in the tails of horses when gathering corn, the farmers can avoid all inconvenience by placing each horse tail in a sack and fastening these sacks to the crupper.

Master Mechanic Hawksworth is today arranging the bank on Fifth Street which has been cutting into his sidewalk every time it rains, in such a manner, that the floods will never father 'Time himself will scarcely be able to efface it. He has taken some sound well soaked coal oil barrels, filled them with kerosene shavings so that they weigh about 800 pounds a piece and fitted them up solidly against the sidewalk, which makes a water way that can't be affected by any quantity of water.

We understand that Joe McVey has leased the two-story frame building between Smith & Black's and Parmelee's building, and last night the city council granted a permit for him to move to the new quarters.

Johnna Curright goes to Omaha, tonight and will forward the election returns as they are received, by telephone here, arrangements having been made with the telephone company to that effect.

The Omaha Grand Jury is after the liquor dealers who have been violating the law, in a lively manner, seventeen indictments having been found against the erring dealers in liquid refreshments.

will give the full proceedings to-morrow.

this county are in the market here having been raised by W. B. Porter Jr.

PERSONALS.

A. W. McLaughlin is in Chicago his week.

Gen'l Stevenson came in from the west last night.

Ed Fitzgerald went to Indianola this morning on a visit.

M. A. Hartigan was attending court in Council Bluffs yesterday.

A. W. Crites returned from court work at Fremont last night.

James Patterson, Jr., started for In-dianola this morning to attend school.

Dr. Sturdivant, of Eight Mile Grove, made the HERALD a pleasant call this morning.

J. E. Morrison went to Crete where he will attend the session of the Grand Lodge of I. O. G. T.

Police Court.

A lively case occupied the time of the police court yesterday. It seems Henry Wood was arrested on the charge of having stolen a revolver, and some money of the Jew firm who deal in second hand goods on lower Main St.
Jacob Levy, Esq., appeared as attorney for the Jews, and S. P. Vanatta, for the defendant, a jury trial being demanded by Levy, the following parties were sworn in as jurors: Joe McVey, A.
Peterson, James Herold, Geo. Dovey and Harvey Sage. Phil Young was summoned, but failing to appear, the court fined him $4.20 and the trial proceeded.

Old habits of the police court, say it was the most laughable affair they ever heard; but it seems "Jack's" eloquent appeal to the jury was not satisfying, as a disagreement was the best that could be done. This so frightened the Israelite that he paid the costs and withdrew the complaint.

This morning Mr. Geo. Bell, mounted on a white charger, rode down Main street at a rather rapid gait, and was overhauled by the police, taken before the court and fined $1.00. His friend, Mr. Stoper, concluded to ride the same steed, which resulted in the same manner to Mr. Stoper. Bell says this is a good town, but he never saw such officers.

A Law Suit.

Before J. C. Newberry's court on Saturday last, was a suit in court in volving ten dollars for board and lodging.

It took the court and four attorneys to find out to whom the ten dollars was due. The case was like some of the feasts of the Jews, it was movable. First the case started up at Newberry's office but on account of the interests clustering around the same it was moved to the spacious dining hall of the Cottage House where when the yellow moon with bashfulness was giving her soft light to the hurrying footsteps of the young people as they were hurrying to choir meeting at the M. E. Church or the skating rink the Court and attorneys were sweating at the petty questions involved in the case before them.
On and on the moments flew till near the Sabbath morn even after the young moon had gone to rest did these learned parties stay by their case indefati-gability, forensic eloquence, pertinacy and periphrasy surpassed its self then they rested and the defeated party has the costs to pay. Lawsuits are just as easy—as easy as falling off a log.

The frisky cucumber still blooms and makes pickles. The tomato still flowers and is setting fruit. The bean still climbs upward, and the busy bee is still gathering nectar, and the young man who last spring left his overcoat with his uncle, as yet has no thoughts of calling on his relative to take it out of soak; his linen duster is good enough yet, though October payday is about to reach him. It is well for him that things are thus, for the expense of learning his solid girl how to wear roller skates has taken all his cash, and left him the alternative of giving up his cigars or using "snipes," when he does smoke. Truly, the weather has been favorable, to not only the farmer but the young man whose winter clothing was put to "soak" last spring.

We are in receipt of a periodical published in Boston, devoted to the theory of better care and treatment for domestic animals, the motto of the paper is "We speak for those who cannot speak for themselves" and contains quite a number of incidents indicating the close approach to human reason of many of the lower animals. The paper is doubtless an able assistant in spreading the humane and growing doctrines of the Society for the prevention of cruelty to animals.

State's Attorney.

At the Academy, last evening, before a very demonstrative audience, Mr.
John Dillon appeared in "State's Attorney," a drama that affords chance for the introduction of a large number of a sking situations. Dillon was in good trim, and met with the heartiest reception throughout. The piece is surely a "go." The young Quakeress was finely given by Miss Nellie Walters; rest of the company are all good.

winter.

new farm near Hastings, this week.
If the weather had been more favorable

Miss Emma Calkins returned home a few days ago, from Georgetown, Colorado, where she has been spending the past three months, visiting among friends, much improved in health.

The base ball nine of this place played with the Cedar Creek nine, on their grounds, last Saturday. At the close of the game the score stood forty-two to twenty-five in favor of the Eight Mile Grove nine. They will play again in two weeks at this place.

Dr. Sturdivant was called one day last week to S. M. Davis'. Upon arriving he tied his horse to a fine, large shade tree and entered the house to see his patient, which he found to be a charming young lady; so he tarried until a late hour; next morning to his dismay, Mr.
Davis found his tree stripped of its bark so bad as to destroy it, and says the Doctor will have to settle the damage by paying for the tree. Be more careful where you tie your horse after this, Doctor.

"Jones" Look Out.

H. C. Van Horn, who settled in Cass county some twenty-eight years ago, sold his farm last week and intends to retire from farming, as he says he is too old to follow a plow. "Van" is being pushed as a candidate for sheriff, but has not decided whether to go into the campaign or not. He wants to come to Nebraska City to reside.—Neb.
