gle in the republican national conven tion, promises to be vigorous and friendty. The meeting will be called to order at 12 o'cleck on Tuesday, June 2d, y Senate, Sabin, of Minnesota, chair man a the national committee, and it is altogether probable that Senator Hoar, who is one of the delegates-atlarge from Massachusetts, will be made temperary charman. His services of presiding at the convention here in 1880 gave general satisfaction and there seems to be a general feeling that the position should again be tendered to him. Col. Roberts, of Illinois, and C. C. L. Wegner, who were made secretaries four years ago, are not delegates this year, and an effort wall be made to name State Schator C E. Fuller, of Illinois, and Andrew D. White, of New York, as secretaries. All these men are so well versed in parliamentary assembly will move along smoothly in their hunds.

It is not hundred others. generally known that Sabin has a mild attack of the presidential fever, but such was found to be the case when two of his workers were stumbled upon to day who ineautiously admitted that he was one of the dark horses. Several other candidates, and no less than sixty dark horses are actively negotiating for accommodations during the meeting.

Work is actively progressing on the hall and the north end of the exposition building is being turned into a most inviting convention chamber. The auditory will be about half the size of that of 1880, and the acoustic properties are being greatly enhanced by the ly. Sections and half sections in proportion in the lands. boarding up of the outlying lobbies and placing immense sounding boards in front and rear and also under the ceiling. The old glare of the kalsomined walls will also be relieved to a great extent by the judicious use of fresco in tints pleasing to the eye. The audience will face north instead of south, as in the last convention, and the arrangement of the seats, aisles and entrances will be a marked improvement upon the old chamber. Altogether, the 1,640 delegates and alternates and the 10,000 spectators, reporters and guests will be agreably surprised at the pleasing appearance of the convention hall a few weeks hence.

The twenty three members of the branch finance committee of the local committee of the sub committee of the National republican committee are actively at work raising the necessary funds for defraying the expenses of the convention, and have secured about $15,000 and will no doubt swell the fund to $25 000. This committee has about 800 tickets for distribution among the subscribers to the fund, and it is supposed that one ticket will be given to each subscriber paying $50, or three tickets for each $100. Of course no contract is made to that effect, but such is the plan generally understood. B. P. Moulton is chairman of the finance committee and no doubt will re ceive subscriptions by mail or in person at the head-quarters of the republican national committee, 127 Dearborn street, room 7. The reports of the committee on finance, transportation, dress, music, employes, etc., will be made in a few days. All the delegates to the convention having been selected, a well known journalist here who has attended every republican national convention since Liucoln's first nomination, has carefully compiled the list with a view to the result!
