Mrs. A. N. Sullivan entertained the M. E. social at her home last evening, on Gospel Hill, in a most pleasant and acceptable manner.

The railroad news in today's HERALD will be read with interest, and it shows that the B. & M. is mighty wide awake about these times.

Dr. W. D. Gibbon, of Weeping Water, and Fed Clinton, two old time friends of the HERALD, are in the city today attending district court.

The T. A. M. club is called to meet tonight at Stadelman's parlors, at which time and place all members of the club are urged to be present.

Dr. N. R. Hobbs, of Elmwood, who was attending the State Medical Society, at Omaha, was called down to the city today as a witness in the district court.

The prospects are splendid for farmers these days, and the corn will be nearly all planted this week. Then comes the growing time, the harvest time, good times.

Capt. J. T. A. Hoover, of Louisville, the proprietor of the finest clay banks and fire brick kilns in the State, and the owner of the best private fish ponds and hatchery in this section, is in Plattsmouth today.

There will be no school tomorrow, and a short session Friday, a. m. the scene concluding with the graduating exercises at the opera house, Friday evening. An admission fee to defray expenses will be asked.

Hon. S. G. Owens, of Lincoln, U. S. National bank examiner, is in the city today, and this office has sound and substantial friendship for Mr. Owens, who is one of the Government's most faithful and efficient officials.

The advance riders of Cole's circus were blowing their trumpets in the city today, and any shortage in the paper may be attributed to the fact that we were following them with the rest of the boys—we are always promiscuous around a band wagon.

The question of a patent turbine water wheel, and a trade made upon it, is up, and receiving its hearing in the district court today. The wheel is on exhibition at the trial and we understand that a good Cass county farm is at stake in the trial and settlement of the case.

Mr. Ellis Kiser, a special draughtsman, is in the city, making headquarters at the County Clerk's office, where he is doing some exceptionally fine work upon a plat of the City of Plattsmouth, which will be used in the make up of a State atlas that is being compiled by a Philadelphia map publishing house.

Omaha is unduly blessed these days with what the world is pleased to call "sporting men" but which is a very misleading name by which to denominate the thieves, thugs, dead beats and gamblers who infest that city and organize prize fights. One of these fights was held in Saunders Co. yesterday morning, an excursion train running to the grounds. Coming home the excursionists all fought with not only bare knuckles, but with knives and revolvers, and the train became such a dangerous place that men jumped from it when it was running twenty miles an hour to save their lives.

Four or five were seriously wounded on the home trip, and it is reported that one of the parties died this morning.

This action with non-interference on the part of the city of Omaha, is a standing disgrace, and brands that metropolis of Nebraska as a city given over to the very worst elements. Gamblers, prize-fighters, thieves, thugs and slums all in one common mob, defying law, order and decency, is the picture that reports Omaha to the world at large.

Freight train No. 28, which started east yesterday morning, met with an accident caused by a broken frog out near the Fair grounds. Three cars loaded with cattle were ditched, after about half the train had passed over the break.

The train was loaded with cattle that were being shipped from Smartville to Rockport, Missouri, and belonged to a man named Frank Saunders. The cars were tipped up and the cattle piled together until ten head were smothered or otherwise killed. The dead stock and the injured were put in charge of the foreman of the stock yards, and Mr. Saunders has doubtless put in his bill to the company.

A brakeman on the train, a new man with the company, who was working at braking temporarily, was struck by the hook of a broken chain and somewhat injured. He is suffering from concussion of the brain in a not very serious degree and is under the physician's care. —State Journal.

RAIROAD RUMBLES.

The B. & M's Midnight Raid on Omaha.

An Astonished U. P. Corporation.

Other Railway News.

Last night about 7 p. m. roadmaster Taylor went out to Orecopolis where a special construction train with Division Superintendent Thompson and a full force of some two hundred men with track material was met and the special "excursion" train launched forth to Omaha. At 9 p. m. the train run in there by the B. & M. passenger depot, and in ten seconds time, the two hundred men were crossing Tenth street, going through the alley south of the St. James hotel, to 11th street, where the Union Pacific track and grounds were struck, and as the men rushed the ties and rails from the train across Tenth street, and through the alley to 11th, others of the force commenced laying track, and at midnight ties and rails had been laid along by the U. P. tracks from 11th to 13th, and a most important right of way secured. At midnight Supt. Clark, of the U. P. had an injunction served upon him, restraining that company from interfering with the B. & M. work, and at 2 a. m. the new track was spiked and leveled, and built in length sufficient to hold the right of way.

Manager Kimball who lived near the scene of operation, came down to the scene of work in the night, saw that his company was flanked and outwitted and went back again.

So skillfully and quietly was the work done that the Omaha papers this morning had not heard of it, and Omaha will be astonished to hear the news of the work done, and the flanking movement.

The B. & M. have heretofore through private parties purchased the ground between their depot on 10th street and 11th, where the track was laid, and the new track will continue on toward the west.

WHAT IT MEANS.

The whole plan of the B. & M. is apparent, and that is, that the Ashland-Omaha survey is business, and that the flank movement last night was to get the right of way out of Omaha to the west. The B. & M. were compelled to do this to get at the Omaha Union stock yards, and a prominent gentleman from Omaha informed us this morning that he was satisfied the intent of the B. & M. was to make a passenger line west from Omaha via Ashland.

What this may prove is not evident yet but the B. & M. are red hot for a line along side the U. P. west from Omaha and the right of way was taken in the charge last night.

Transfer to Nebraska City.

The B. & M. officials have been contemplating putting in a car ferry or transfer with their stub train at Nebraska City between that place and across the river at old Eastport. The regular steam ferry boat there, sunk during high water this spring, and since then there has been no ferry or way for teams to cross. The company are having estimates made in the shops here as to the probable cost of making two ferry cars to be run on and off the boat there to do the transferring of teams and wagons as well as their present passenger transfer. The cars will be arranged on the same plan as those used at Omaha over the Union Pacific bridge.

Double Track.

The work of a double track from the bridge here, to Orecopolis Junction, is progressing now, the contractors who have the work of widening the culverts having already commenced work on the one in Happy Hollow, which will be widened some ten feet. The new track will follow the present main line around the bluff to the bottom and thence to the Junction, and will be made at comparative little cost for grading etc., and will prove a most excellent adjunct to the present line in facilitating the movements of trains in and out of the yards here. This with the rock ballast work on the Omaha branch, will keep a large force of extra men employed here for some time as headquarters, for all this work will be at Plattsmouth.

Notice for the Germans, and all who take an interest in learning the German language: Monday, May 19, the German school will begin again and last during vacation of public school. Asking 50 cents a month for each scholar, and expecting it in advance. I welcome, gladly, all children, German and English, who can avail themselves of the opportunity. JOSEPH WITTENBERGER.

Mr. Ed. Olive in charge of Carruth's photo parlors, has taken a magnificent group picture of the members of the dramatic club who presented the 'Staff of Diamonds' one of these pictures is in Phil Young's show window, and it is out with their announcement of the rejection of that play.

Practice Shooting.

Yesterday afternoon members of the sportsmen's club broke glass balls at the fair ground. The average record is good, those who were left the other day coming to the front, and vice versa. The badge held by Smith returned to Jones on the following record: twenty balls eighteen yards rise:

Jones 19, Smith 17, Strode 16, Chapman 14, Bushnell 11.

The following matches were then shot, five single balls.

Table with 3 columns: Player Name, Score 1, Score 2, Score 3. Rows include Jones, Malick, Smith, Chapman, Strode, Bushnell for 1st, 2nd, and 3rd matches.

Rev. Father Lynch.

The HERALD in common with very many others, regrets to learn, that Rev. Father Lynch, who has so faithfully watched over and guarded the Catholic church and its people here during the last four years removes this week to Grand Island, a new field of labor for him where he goes under orders from the bishop.

Personally, the writer regards Father Lynch as one of his firm friends who always has a good word and a cheerful one, and who in every walk in life that he follows is a diligent and faithful worker.

The church here will miss Father Lynch; very much, too, will he be missed by the missionary churches in the county that he has fostered and cared for. Tonight the A. O. H. society tender him a reception at their hall, at which time numbers of his friends will assemble by invitation in an impromptu farewell meeting on the eve of his departure for Grand Island.
