WASHINGTON, Pa., May 21.—R. B. Scandrett, who is a personal friend of Don Cameron, and presided at the mock republican convention held by the students of Washington and Jefferson College last Friday, received a letter from Senator Edmunds, the quasi nominee for president, saying: "I sincerely thank the young gentlemen for the compliment. I much prefer it to the actual office, the embarrassments and burdens of which I do not desire to assume."

Wahoo, Neb., May 21.—The empanelling of a jury in the Hauley case was abandoned this afternoon on the arrival of Col. Smythe with Judge Hallenbach, of Fremont. The former then made a motion to quash the indictment, on the ground that it did not show that the offense alleged had been committed with felonious intent. The court overruled the motion, and set 7:30 p. m. for the hearing of a motion for a change of venue. At that hour Col. Smythe appeared with Mr. Hallenbach, who has been taken in the case, and asked the indulgence of the court as he had not really had time to prepare for the case, to allow him to move for a continuance. In the morning he claimed he would show ample grounds for the granting of the same. The court granted the request. At the latter hour the motion for a change of venue will also be argued. Failing in gaining a continuance or obtaining change of venue, the case will go immediately to trial.

By judicious crowding, rendered necessary by the situation, the capacity of the city will not fall far short of 13,000 people, and outside accommodations can readily be had for several times that number at boarding houses, etc.

Quarters have been secured at the Sherman house for the delegations from Alabama, Arkansas, Iowa, South Carolina and Tennessee; at the Palmer house for the delegations from Florida, California, Georgia, Kansas, Maryland, Kentucky, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, Rhode Island, Texas, Vermont, Virginia and Wyoming; at the Pacific for the delegates from Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Louisiana, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and the District of Columbia; the delegates from Delaware, Massachusetts, and portions of Maine and New York will be quartered at the Leland; the Tremont will care for the delegates from Michigan, and the West Virginia delegates will go to the Crawford house. There are several other good hotels quite near to the convention hall which will have accommodations for two hundred or more guests each, and strangers visiting Chicago during convention week need have no fear of suffering inconvenience on account of the crowd.

The convention chamber is about ready for occupancy and is not only more complete in all its appointments but is decidedly more attractive and cheery in every way than the chambers of four years ago. The delegates will be pleased with it as the members of the national committee already are. The tickets of admission, numbering 9,151 are being neatly engraved on steel by the Western Bank Note and Engraving company and will be ready for distribution on the day before the convention meets. Each delegate will have six tickets for distribution, while 689 will go to the press and the balance to the alternates, members of the committees, invited guests, subscribers to the fund, and others. The tickets for the press, which includes only the daily papers, and the press associations, will be given out by Mr. New himself, while the other tickets will be apportioned to the chairmen of the various committees. The requisite amount of money for the entire expenses of the convention has been raised by subscription, and everything is in a forward state of completeness. The headquarters of the national republican committee will be located at 127 Dearborn street until a day or two before the convention. The members of the various local committees confer there daily, and the room is considered the general republican headquarters for the time being.

It is now generally considered by those who are on the inside that Senator Logan has abandoned all hope of a presidential nomination, and is arranging his plans to direct his strength where it will do the most good. Not only he, but all other candidates, are strongly opposed to any combination with Arthur. This may not be the personal feeling of the leaders, but it is decidedly the expression of the followers and working politicians. A large majority of the most influential adherents of the anti-Arthur candidates look upon a change in the administration as the first consideration. This, of course, is not a spirit of disloyalty, but in the way of friendly rivalry within the ranks of the party. To secure the
